

From: Diana Dellamere
To: Lupo, Jon Paul; Williams, Dominic
Cc: Jamie Van. Bramer; Kai Feder
Subject: Thank you for meeting with us this morning
Date: Tuesday, June 09, 2015 7:23:52 PM

---

Dominic and Jon Paul:

Thank you again for meeting with us earlier today. I know it's a challenging time of year for you, so we really appreciated you making the time for us to share some of Lyft's thoughts and concerns (on both the immediate discussions taking place over the TLC's for-hire vehicle app regulations and also the overall future of our industry). We look forward to working with City Hall on a long-term, big picture approach to regulating for-hire vehicles in New York City and are eager to work with you and the TLC on proactive, comprehensive reforms to address the consumer driven changes in the market.

In the meantime (and in the much shorter term) I would just like to once again reiterate how important we believe it is important not to rush the TLC's vote on the new app regs this month. As I mentioned, we are working closely with the TLC staff on a number of specific issues in the proposed regs and have had very productive discussions on specific language. We are hopeful we can arrive at workable solutions on many of these items, however, we remain extremely concerned that the sheer scope and complexity of the proposed regulations are such that there simply may not be enough time to thoughtfully address them all in this timeframe without unintended consequences for competition.

Again, thanks so much for your time and consideration. We will keep in touch and my cell number is listed below.

Diana

--

Diana Dellamere
Public Policy Manager
917.929.4549

From: David Estrada
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic
Subject: Re: Tomorrow at City Hall
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:25:32 PM

---

Hi Jessie yes I'll call you.

On Wednesday, July 22, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Excellent.

Do you have a few minutes to check in by phone about if or how you'd want to speak publically about tomorrow's meeting? I'm at [REDACTED]

From: David Estrada mailto:[dave@lyft.com]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 3:40 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic
Subject: Re: Tomorrow at City Hall

Thanks Jessica. We look forward to participating.

On Wednesday, July 22, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi David –

I just spoke to Dom, who told me that you are in town. Apologies for the short notice but tomorrow afternoon we are pulling together a meeting with First Deputy Mayor Tony Shorris and tech transportation leaders from FHV dispatch apps, multi-modal tech and other transportation companies, and select business partners and industry organizations. Looking at 3 PM tomorrow in City Hall.

Really hope you can make it.

Warmly,
Jessie

---

Jessica Singleton

Chief Digital Officer @nycgov

@jessay286

--

-Dave

David Estrada

VP Government Relations

650.492.8357

--

-Dave

David Estrada

VP Government Relations

650.492.8357

From: Tarlow, Mindy
To: [REDACTED]; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Fw: FHV
Date: Thursday, August 06, 2015 6:29:14 PM

---

Sent from my BlackBerry 10 smartphone on the Verizon Wireless 4G LTE network.

Original Message

From: Shorris, Anthony <AShorris@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Sent: Thursday, August 6, 2015 6:17 PM

To: Tarlow, Mindy; Williams, Dominic

Subject: FHV

[REDACTED]

<http://gawker.com/here-are-the-internal-documents-that-prove-uber-is-a-mo-1704234157>

Anthony E. Shorris
First Deputy Mayor
City of New York
City Hall
New York, NY 10007
212-788-3191

From: Replogle, Michael
To: Luigi Casinelli \(TIMS\)
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Satya Muthuswamy \(TIMS\); Sklavounakis, Chris
Subject: Re: Urgent
Date: Monday, August 10, 2015 11:00:41 PM
Attachments: 150810.EDC.FHV.Study.ScopeofServicesDRAFT.PDF

---

Thanks. I'll be on the lookout for the rest.

Michael Replogle
Deputy Commissioner for Policy
New York City Department of Transportation
55 Water Street, 9th Floor
New York, NY 10041 USA
+1.212.839.7235 office
+1.347.931.8394 mobile
mreplogle@dot.nyc.gov

On Aug 10, 2015, at 10:54 PM, Luigi Casinelli (TIMS) <luigi.casinelli@hdrinc.com> wrote:

Hi Michael,

As promised attached is the scope of services. We will send the fee before 9 AM tomorrow.

See you tomorrow.

Luigi

Cheerio,

Luigi Casinelli, P.E., PTOE
M 646.413.0891

hdrinc.com/follow-us

---

From: Casinelli, Luigi
Sent: Monday, August 10, 2015 9:00 PM
To: 'Replogle, Michael' <mreplogle@dot.nyc.gov>
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Satya Muthuswamy PE, PTOE (satya@kldcompanies.com) <satya@kldcompanies.com>; Chris.Sklavounakis@hdrinc.com

Subject: RE: Urgent

Hi Michael,

We are finalizing the scope and fee right now.

I will get the detailed scope out tonight and the fee should follow tonight, but most likely in the AM before our meeting.

Luigi

---

From: Replogle, Michael [<mailto:mreplogle@dot.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, August 10, 2015 8:56 PM

To: Casinelli, Luigi <Luigi.Casinelli@hdrinc.com>

Subject: Urgent

Hi Luigi,

I haven't seen anything yet on my email. Please send asap — before our 9:30 am Tuesday meeting -- your response to the RFP - at least financials. Thanks very much.

Best regards,

Michael Replogle
Deputy Commissioner for Policy
New York City Department of Transportation
55 Water Street, 9th Floor
New York, NY 10041 USA
+1.212.839.7235 office
+1.347.931.8394 mobile
mreplogle@dot.nyc.gov

*****
*****

This message and any attachments are solely for the individual(s) named above and others who have been specifically authorized to receive such and may contain information which is confidential, privileged or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, any disclosure, copying, use or distribution of the information included in this message and any attachments is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us by reply e-mail and immediately and permanently delete this message and any attachments.

Thank you.

NYC – Department of Transportation

*****
*****

FOR-HIRE VEHICLE CONGESTION, TRAFFIC, AND VEHICLE EMISSIONS STUDY CITY OF NEW YORK

SCOPE OF SERVICES

BACKGROUND

The Project Team (HDR & KLD Engineering P.C.) has been commissioned by the City of New York (CITY) to conduct an analysis of congestion, traffic, and vehicle emissions related to the for-hire vehicle (FHV) industry (the “Traffic Study”). The Traffic Study will be conducted in parallel with a general study of the for-hire vehicle industry, which will include a comprehensive analysis of the industry with the aim to articulate a strategy for managing and regulating New York City’s FHV transportation services.

Three key questions were asked by the CITY as follows:

1. What are the likely factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the Manhattan core?
2. How are FHV currently operating within the Manhattan core and other congested parts of the City?
3. What will be the effect on mobility, traffic congestion and emissions of various FHV growth and regulatory scenarios?

The “Project Team” will work closely with McKinsey & Company, Inc. (PRIME) who is conducting the general study, including using policy scenarios developed in the general study as inputs for the Traffic Study analysis.

GENERAL ASSUMPTIONS ON DATASET TO BE PROVIDED BY THE CITY

- Up to 5 years of yellow taxi trip records, including pick-up/drop-off locations, trip distance and trip duration.
- Up to 6 months of green taxi trip records and yellow/green taxi breadcrumb GPS data.
- A to-be-determined set of trip records and breadcrumb GPS data from Uber and potentially other FHV industry providers; dates and spatial coverage also TBD.
- NYC DOT Midtown in Motion data (MIM) on vehicle speeds in midtown.
- Taxi Medallion Increase EIS (2013) and other traffic studies deemed relevant.
- Existing traffic data including counts (crossings and screen lines) and travel times where available.
- New York State Department of Environmental Conservation air quality data (from 12 monitoring sites in NYC).
- NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene air quality data set(s) and potentially (neighborhood level air quality study).
- CEQR project data (traffic and air quality) of Manhattan based projects (over the last five years) from the Mayor’s Office of Sustainability.
- NYMTC BPM Model 2010 which includes Taxi and FHV.
- NYCDOT Taxi Data Analyses and Summaries for the years 2009-2014.

SCOPE OF SERVICES

The following tasks are proposed as part of the current project to explore the answers for the three key questions identified above:

TASK 1 - ANALYSIS OF CONGESTION IN THE MANHATTAN CORE AND MAJOR TAXI/FHV HUBS IN QUEENS, BRONX, BROOKLYN, STATEN ISLAND (IF DATA IS AVAILABLE)

1.1. Existing Traffic Conditions.

The existing traffic data will be summarized into 29 taxi analysis zones developed by NYCDOT. According to the detail of the data, the data will be aggregated using estimated VMT and VHT by time/day of week and geography. (AM peak, Midday and PM Peak of average weekday). The Project Team will review yellow and green taxi GPS, BusTime, Midtown in Motion data, latest traffic counts and develop existing traffic condition information as follows:

- The Project Team will develop tables of trips and travel time by zone and by time of day.
- The Project Team will review NYCDOT analysis of pre-2015 taxi data and analyze 2015 Taxi Data to evaluate the changes due to increase of Taxi Medallions.
- The Project Team will review the existing NYBPM 2010 mode trends including trip purpose, trip length and origin-destination trip distribution to see whether it accurately estimates the current taxi data. If the data is reasonably accurate, the BPM shall be used to project data future trips in Task 3.

1.2. Contributing Factors

Based on the travel time data evaluation, the Project Team will first determine if there are measurable congestion changes in midtown core. Then a high-level of analysis will be conducted of possible factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion using available data sets. Also the causality/correlation to the traffic patterns will be assessed for each of these factors. For two selected screenlines representing the boundaries of the Manhattan core, the Project Team will conduct a qualitative review of factors as follows:

- Analyze vehicular traffic volumes/ changes entering the Manhattan core.
- Analyze bus traffic volumes/changes entering the Manhattan core.
- Consider pedestrian traffic at selected locations (up to 3 locations)
- Map changes in roadway capacity in the Manhattan core.
- Map locations and types of major transit improvements in the Manhattan core.
- Review the construction permits and analyze trends on construction activity and economic indicators.
- Review commercial delivery activity by time of day and by taxi analysis zone in the Manhattan core.
- Review recent growth in the FHV sector such as trips by taxi analysis zone and FHV traffic volumes entering the Manhattan core.
- Review of travel time provided by the CITY using EZPass tag readers.
- Review other relevant data provided by the CITY.

Deliverables:

The deliverables will be in 11X17 page size of graphic including the following:

- NYCDOT Taxi GPS analysis zones
- Travel time changes by taxi analysis zone and by time of day before and after increase of Taxi Medallions
- Travel time changes by taxi analysis zone and by time of day before and after recent FHV growth
- Travel distance changes by taxi analysis zone and by time of day before and after recent FHV growth
- Vehicular traffic volumes/ changes entering the Manhattan core and other areas if data is available.
- Bus traffic volumes/changes entering the Manhattan core and other areas if data is available.

- Changes in roadway capacity in the Manhattan core and other areas if data is available.
- Locations and types of transit improvements in the Manhattan core and other areas if data is available.
- Number of construction permits and trends on construction activity
- Commercial delivery activity by time of day and by taxi analysis zone in the Manhattan core.
- FHV trips by taxi analysis zone and FHV traffic volumes entering the Manhattan core.

Assumptions:

- Up to two screenlines representing the boundaries of the Manhattan core.
- Three peak periods for time of day data analysis.
- Weekday data analysis
- One typical weekday average will be used in the assessment
- NYCDOT will provide the following data sets:
  - Pre-2015 Taxi data
  - 2015 Taxi data
  - Screenline count reports and data sets from 2009 to 2015 and other relevant count data
  - Construction permits in the midtown core from 2009 to 2015
  - One set of data for with FHV operation increase
- The 29 Taxi Zones will be used as a basis for data aggregation.
- A brief (3 to 5 page) memorandum consisting general observations and trends will be provided.
- Economic activity shall be provided by the CITY.
- Traffic data collection will not be included as part of this project.

TASK 2 – ASSESSMENT OF CURRENT FHV OPERATIONS

The Project Team will review current FHV operations in Manhattan and citywide as follows:

- Map the available FHV (including Uber) pick-up and drop-off locations and routing information (if available) overlaid with NYCDOT taxi analysis zones (29 zones total, including 18 zones in Manhattan) and census tracts citywide and within the CEQR-identified CBD areas.
- Compare FHV (including Uber) pick-up/drop-off activity centers and time-of-day activities to those of yellow and green taxis for time periods with available FHV data (up to the past 3 years).
- Assess FHV (including Uber) activity patterns between revenue trips, including cruising times and distances, as well as dwelling hot-spots of FHV awaiting e-hails.
- Assess Vehicle-Miles-Traveled (VMT), Vehicle-Hours-Traveled (VHT) and the average speed of FHV (including Uber) trips for zones citywide and within the CBD, compared to other travel speed data sources (e.g. taxi speeds, Midtown In Motion).

Deliverables:

The deliverables will be in 11X17 page size of graphic including the following:

- FHV pick-up and drop-off locations and routes in Manhattan overlaid with NYCDOT taxi analysis zones.
- FHV pick-up and drop-off locations and routes in Manhattan overlaid with census tracts in CBD.
- FHV pick-up and drop-off locations and routes in Manhattan overlaid with census tracts citywide.
- Comparison of pick-up/drop-off activity with yellow and green taxis by time of day with FHV data up to past three years.
- Graphics for FHV activity patterns between revenue trips, including cruising times and distances, as well as dwelling hot-spots of FHV awaiting e-hails.
- Graphics with FHV Vehicle-Miles-Traveled (VMT), Vehicle-Hours-Traveled (VHT) and the average speed for zones citywide.

Assumptions:

- Up to two screenlines representing the boundaries of the Manhattan core.
- Three peak periods for time of day data analysis.
- Weekday data analysis
- The CITY will provide the FHV data
- Supplemental surveys will not be included as part of this project.
- A brief (3 to 5 page) memorandum consisting general observations and trends will be provided.
- If no FHV data is available, the CITY will provide assumptions for future analysis.

TASK 3 - FUTURE SCENARIOS

The Project Team will estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years assuming no changes are made to existing TLC regulations. Based on the scenarios provided by the PRIME, the Project Team will also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The changes in the taxi and FHV fleet size and activity shall be based on the industry analysis and policy options conducted as part of the overall study.

For the no action and one scenario, the Project Team will estimate current and projected vehicular tailpipe emissions for criteria pollutants and GHGs based on VHT, VMT, average speed and other traffic activity inputs at a zonal level in Manhattan CBD and by borough. The Project Team will summarize both the traffic and emissions metrics for the set of FHV regulatory and operating scenarios analyzed. The Project Team will summarize NYC air quality trends over time in general and summarize NYC air quality by criteria pollutants for neighborhood level in detail based on the data provided by the CITY and state or federal air quality databases. The Project Team will also summarize CEQR data on traffic and air quality impacts over the last five years based on the data provided by the CITY.

Deliverables:

The deliverables will be in 11X17 page size of graphic including the following:

- Summary maps of zonal traffic and emissions metrics for baseline and projected conditions including the following:
  - a. NYC air quality trends over time (broad lens).
  - b. NYC air quality by criteria pollutants for neighborhood level (detailed/contextual lens).
  - c. Map of CEQR data on traffic and air quality impacts over the last five years
- Comparison tables of policy options and corresponding metrics.
- Formulations of future projections of FHV activity levels and corresponding metrics such as zonal VMT, VHT, pick-up/drop-off density maps, etc.
- A brief (3 to 5 page) memorandum summarizing analysis methodology, data used and outcomes will be provided.

Assumptions:

- Three peak periods for time of day data analysis.
- Weekday data analysis.
- A detail MOVES model is not part of this scope of services.
- An existing MOVES emission factor database is available to allow calculation of emission inventories for the desired calendar year of analysis, for the no-action vs. the FHV alternative.
- No four-step travel demand model runs will be used.

TASK 4 – PROJECT MANAGEMENT/COORDINATION AND WORKING MEETINGS

A coordination meeting (kick-off meeting) between the Project Team and Stakeholders shall be conducted to discuss and review the goals and objectives of the study. The meetings shall address a number of technical issues with respect to existing and future condition scenarios.

It has been estimated that four (4) Project Team representatives shall attend three in-person (3) coordination and/or progress meetings. Furthermore, this task includes the preparation and distribution of email meeting minutes. The Project Team will conduct weekly status meetings (up to 8) with all agencies and PRIME either in-person or conference call (depending on the key agenda items relevant for that week).

TASK 5 – ADDITIONAL ANALYSIS

The Project Team shall evaluate the feasibility of two additional scenarios developed during the course of the study. Prior to beginning this task, the Project Team and the PRIME shall agree to the required hours for each alternative prior to commencing any work. Same assumptions in Task 3 will be applied to this Task.

TASK 6 – FINAL REPORT AND PRESENTATIONS

The Project Team will complete a draft final report will include the contents of the three memorandums and recommendations from the relevant agencies. It is anticipated that the Project Team will address two rounds of consolidated comments. Three hard copy bound reports are to be provided along with a PDF version. Additionally, up to two presentations shall be prepared for major milestones.

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Fw: Invitation to discuss taxi/for-hire vehicle industry
Date: Friday, August 14, 2015 10:49 00 AM

---

[REDACTED]
McKinsey & Company | [REDACTED]
Office: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]
Assistant: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
----- Forwarded by [REDACTED] /NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 08/14/2015 10:48 AM -----

From: [REDACTED] /NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY
To: [REDACTED] /NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY@mckinsey, [REDACTED] /NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY@mckinsey
Date: 08/13/2015 09:31 PM
Subject: FW: Invitation to discuss taxi/for-hire vehicle industry

---

Hi [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]

Please see the request below. I'd like to respond to them by first thing in the morning if possible.

What kind of questions / information should we be willing to share with them in advance?

My feeling is we provide a few sentences: "We'll be having an open-ended conversation to better understand how the black car / e-dispatch segment differs from other FHVs in its operations. We'd also like to understand how the segment views its contributions toward city goals, such as providing geographic coverage. Finally, we'd like to hear your ideas for how the city can improve its regulations with respect to blacks cars / e-dispatch and FHVs more generally."

This is a slightly more expansive version of what I already told them, but may be enough. Let me know what you think.

From: Nicole Benincasa [<mailto:nic@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2015 7:26 PM
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Greg McCurdy; Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: Invitation to discuss taxi/for-hire vehicle industry

Hi [REDACTED]

Thank you for reaching out. We are looking forward to discussing the current state of the for-hire industry with you. I've CCed Greg McCurdy, our Policy Counsel, and Josh Mohrer, our NYC General Manager, as they should be involved in the conversation and are both available at the end of next week. Can we please have the discussion on Thursday or Friday of next week?

In order to determine if anyone else from our team should be included, can you please provide an agenda/a list of topics for the conversation?

Best,
Nicole

	Nicole Benincasa Senior Policy & Regulatory Associate e: nic@uber.com   w: www.uber.com/nyc
--	--

On Thu, Aug 13, 2015 at 12:21 PM, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com> wrote:

Hi Nicole,

As part of a study with New York City government on the current state of the for-hire vehicle industry and how it is regulated, we'd like to meet with you to discuss this topic Would you be able to meet on Monday afternoon (8/17) at the Taxi and Limousine Commission Offices at 33 Beaver St ?

The purpose of the meeting is to better understand the black car / e-dispatch market and how it fits into the broader transportation network of NYC, in addition to your thoughts on recent changes in the industry

Please let me know if Monday afternoon works for you, and I'll send along a time and invitation I look forward to hearing from you

Best,
[REDACTED]

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

From: Ana Ariño
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"
Cc: Peter Hill; Tarlow, Mindy; Sidis, Joshua; Lee Ann Steidel
Subject: FHV Study
Date: Friday, August 14, 2015 1:48:10 PM
Attachments: McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 8.14.15.docx

---

[REDACTED], and [REDACTED],

Attached, please find the contract amendment for the For-Hire Vehicle Study. This document includes the general study scope, edited to reflect recent discussions of the project, and the traffic study scope and budget.

Josh and Mindy are sorting out one last piece related to the external validators, but we wanted to get this to you asap for your review. Please let me know if you have any questions.

If there are no additional changes coming from Ops or comments from you, you can return 4 original signed copies to:

Peter Hill
NYCEDC
110 William St., 4th Floor
New York, NY 10038

Best,
Ana

ANA ARIÑO
Senior Vice President, Strategic Planning
New York City Economic Development Corporation
www.nycedc.com
212-312-3552 (w)
[REDACTED] (c)

NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
STANDARD FORM OF AMENDMENT OF CONSULTANT CONTRACT

This is an amendment to the Contract entered into by New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC), a not-for-profit corporation organized pursuant to the Laws of the State of New York, having an office at 110 William Street, New York, New York 10038, and the Consultant:

Consultant's Name:	McKinsey & Company, Inc. Washington, D.C.
Address:	1200 19 th Street, NW, Suite 1100, Washington, DC
Contract No:	26640049	Contract Date:	July 1, 2015	Project No:	2664
Project Name:	On-Call Management and Economic Development Consulting Services
Type of Services:	Consulting Services
A copy of the Contract and copies of any and all prior amendments are attached hereto as Exhibit A.
The Contract is hereby amended as follows:
Amendment No:	1	Effective Date:	August 30, 2015
TYPE OF AMENDMENT
<input type="checkbox"/> Extension of Term	Extension Date:
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Increase in Maximum Contract Price	Original Maximum Contract Price	$	1.00
	Total Prior Increases	$	0.00
	Amount of Current Increase	$	2,062,740.00
	Revised Maximum Contract Price	$	2,062,741.00
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Amended Scope of Services - See attached Exhibit B
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Other (as described below) - See attached Exhibit(s) C
Exhibit C – Amended Payment Schedule
NYCEDC Executive Committee Approval Date:	April 30, 2015
Capitalized terms used herein shall have the meanings set forth in the Contract, as previously amended, unless otherwise defined herein. Except as provided herein and in the pages attached hereto, if any, all terms and conditions of the Contract, as previously amended, remain unchanged and in full force and effect.
MCKINSEY &amp; COMPANY, INC. WASHINGTON D.C.			NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
By:		By:
Printed Name:		Printed Name:
Title:		Title:
Date Signed:		Date Signed:

EXHIBIT A

THE CONTRACT AND PRIOR AMENDMENTS

(Incorporated by Reference)

EXHIBIT B

AMENDED SCOPE OF SERVICES (APPENDIX B OF THE CONTRACT)

The Scope of Services (Appendix B of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following Task Order assignment:

I. Background

New York City Economic Development Corporation (“NYCEDC”) and the Mayor’s Office of Operations (“Operations”) are engaging the Consultant to conduct a comprehensive analysis and to articulate a strategy for managing and regulating New York City’s (the “City”) for-hire vehicle (“FHV”) transportation services. The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (“TLC”) establishes and enforces professional and uniform standards of for-hire services and ensures public safety. TLC licenses and regulates all aspects of the City’s yellow medallion taxicabs, FHV such as Boro Taxis, community-based liveries and black cars, commuter vans, paratransit vehicles (ambulettes), and certain luxury limousines. Over the past two years, the City has experienced a significant shift in the composition of its FHV transportation industry, specifically the introduction of a range of private, non-medallion FHV that are less regulated by the City.

The Consultant will provide consulting support and develop a new plan for the City that provides a policy construct for a more comprehensive regulatory structure that accommodates the broader range of FHV (medallion and non-medallion). The priorities guiding this analysis and the resulting policy framework will be determined by the City and communicated to the Consultant. The Consultant will investigate, provide recommendations, and suggest an implementation plan that investigates at least five areas related to the City’s FHV industry:

1. Industry/business sector analysis
2. Assessment of present conditions
3. Stakeholder analysis
4. Current regulations/regulatory policies and procedures
5. Future potential for regulatory reform

In addition to the services described above and in Tasks 1 through 4 below (the “General Study”), the Consultant will engage a subconsultant to conduct a study of FHV congestion, traffic, and emissions (the “Traffic Study”), as described in Tasks 5 through 7 below. The Traffic Study will be conducted in parallel with the General Study, and the Consultant will ensure alignment between these tasks, including using policy scenarios developed in the general study as inputs for the Traffic Study analysis, and outputs of the Traffic Study to inform the final policy analysis in the General Study. In the Traffic Study, the Consultant will address the following questions:

1. What are the likely factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the Manhattan core?
2. How are FHV currently operating within the Manhattan core and other congested parts of the City?

3. What will be the effect on mobility, traffic congestion and emissions of various FHV growth and regulatory scenarios?

II. Services – General Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will provide consulting services to include:

1. An analysis of for-hire transportation industry
  - a. This should include a review of medallion and non-medallion FHV including analysis of all relevant data and metrics, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, accessibility standards, as well as best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries.
2. Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.
  - a. This will involve detailed analysis of the as-is condition of the industry, along with a review of protocols and procedures, personnel and training practices, regulations, and financing. The review will also document the experiences and views of individuals directly employed by the for-hire industry as well as public and private stakeholders.
3. Develop a robust analysis of policy options and an overall policy framework, including a roadmap, for the City’s regulatory policies going forward for the for-hire transportation industry.
4. Support the City in developing implementation plans for recommendations.

Task 1 An analysis of for-hire transportation industry

Task 1.1 Review of industry.

- Review all relevant metrics for the for-hire transportation industry, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, consumer protections, and accessibility standards.

Task 1.2 Conduct a review of best practices.

- Identify best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries, highlighting for consideration transportation models, such as ride sharing, that limit the impact on congestion of core sectors while continuing to serve the needs of the public.

Task 1 Deliverables: A report including all elements outlined in Tasks 1.1 and 1.2 above. The reports should be in Microsoft Word or PowerPoint format with data provided in Excel and submitted electronically.

Task 2 Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.

Task 2.1 Building on the findings from Task 1, as well as data and materials from the Traffic Study being conducted in parallel to this effort, the Consultant shall compile and synthesize information on the current processes, protocols, procedures, regulations, personnel and training practices in the for-hire transportation industry, including but not limited to the tasks below. Existing materials will be shared with the Consultant.

- Identify and document core business protocols and procedures, including all elements of rules and regulations in the medallion and non-medallion for-hire transportation industry
- Identify and document current training practices around driver and passenger safety
- Identify and document pricing protocols and protections for passengers
- Identify and document revenue sources and strategies
- Incorporate relevant information, as available, from a parallel effort that will analyze congestion and traffic flow in heavily used areas of the city

Task 2.2 Identify baseline performance metrics for for-hire transportation operations that will help drive and guide recommendations for a proposed regulatory structure.

Task 2 Deliverables: A report detailing the organizational structure, regulations and policies, current processes, and baseline performance metrics for the for-hire transportation industry. The report should be in Microsoft Word or PowerPoint format and submitted electronically.

Task 3 Develop a robust analysis of policy options and an overall policy framework, including a roadmap, for the City’s regulatory policies going forward for the for-hire transportation industry.

Task 3.1 The Consultant shall produce a report detailing a robust analysis of policy options for developing a for-hire transportation system that is safe, inclusive, and reliable; operates in a manner that provides operational and financial support to meet the overall needs of the city’s mass transit system; and ensures that the system is regulated in accordance with the City’s interests and policy objectives. The overall policy framework will be evaluated and refined with the Mayor’s Office. The Consultant will then prepare briefing and decision documents for the Mayor’s Office, covering each strategic area and help facilitate decision-making by the Mayor’s Office through a series of meetings.

Task 3 Deliverables: Policy framework and roadmap for a regulatory structure that accommodates the increasingly complex for-hire transportation environment, including all elements outlined above. The report should be in Microsoft Word or PowerPoint format with any data and data analysis provided in Excel and submitted electronically.

Task 4 Support the City in developing implementation plans for recommendations.

Task 4.1 The Consultant shall support the City in developing project plan for implementing recommended changes. The report should:

- Provide a detailed plan for transitioning to and implementing recommended changes
- Develop recommendations to effectively communicate any plans with key stakeholders

- Develop protocols for monitoring progress and measuring improvements

Task 4 Deliverables: Implementation plans, including all elements outlined in Task 4 above. The reports should be in Microsoft Word or PowerPoint format with any data and data analysis provided in Excel or Project and submitted electronically.

III. Services – Traffic Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will engage subconsultants to provide consulting services to include:

Task 5 Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core

The Consultant will:

- Examine the current level of congestion in the Manhattan core using yellow and green taxi GPS, BusTime, Midtown in Motion data, as well as available traffic counts. The Consultant will analyze travel speeds by time/day of week and by geography using the 29 taxi GPS analysis zones developed by NYCDOT.
- Conduct a high-level of analysis of factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the midtown core using available data sets. This analysis will include a qualitative review of factors including: traffic volumes entering the Manhattan core, economic factors, changes in road capacity, construction activity, delivery activity, recent growth in the FHV sector, and other relevant factors.
- Develop a qualitative assessment of the role of FHV growth in growing congestion in the Manhattan core, as well as lay out a list of other likely congestion sources that merit further study.

Task 6 Assessment of Current FHV Operations

The Consultant will:

- Map the available FHV (including Uber) pick-up and drop-off locations and routing information (if available) overlaid with NYCDOT taxi analysis zones (29 zones total, including 18 zones in Manhattan) and census tracts citywide and within the CBD.
- Compare FHV (including Uber) pick-up/drop-off activity centers and time-of-day activities to those of yellow and green taxis for time periods with available FHV data (up to the past 3 years<sup>1</sup>);
- Assess FHV (including Uber) activity patterns between revenue trips, including cruising times and distances, as well as dwelling hot-spots of FHV awaiting e-hails.
- Assess Vehicle-Miles-Traveled (VMT), Vehicle-Hours-Traveled (VHT) and the average speed of FHV (including Uber) trips for zones citywide and within the CBD, compared to other travel speed data sources (e.g. taxi speeds, Midtown In Motion).

---

<sup>1</sup> The study should look back as far as FHV data are made available, up to the 5 years that yellow taxi data are available.

Task 7      Future Scenarios

The Consultant will:

- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years assuming no changes are made to existing TLC regulations. The Consultant shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The changes in the taxi and FHV fleet size and activity shall be based on the industry analysis conducted as part of the overall study.
- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years under a range of regulatory and pricing scenarios. The Consultant shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The scenarios will be based on the policy options developed as part of the overall study.
- For the no action and other scenarios, estimate current and projected vehicular tailpipe emissions for criteria pollutants and GHGs based on VMT, average speed and other traffic activity inputs at a zonal level, e.g. Manhattan CBD, by borough.
- Summarize both the traffic and emissions metrics for the set of FHV regulatory and operating scenarios analyzed. Likely deliverables to include: summary maps of zonal traffic and emissions metrics for baseline and projected conditions; comparison tables of policy options and corresponding metrics; formulations of future projections of FHV activity levels and corresponding metrics such as zonal VMT, VHT, pick-up/drop-off density maps, etc.; and a summary report of analysis methodology, data used and outcomes.
- Show NYC air quality trends over time (broad lens).
- Show NYC air quality by criteria pollutants for neighborhood level (detailed/contextual lens).
- Map CEQR data on traffic and air quality impacts over the last five years.

Anticipated Datasets

The City will provide the Consultant with access to:

- Up to 5 years of yellow taxi trip records, including pick-up/drop-off locations, trip distance and trip duration.
- Up to 6 months of green taxi trip records and yellow/green taxi breadcrumb GPS data.
- A to-be-determined set of trip records and breadcrumb GPS data from Uber and potentially other FHV industry providers; dates and spatial coverage also TBD.
- NYC DOT Midtown in Motion data on vehicle speeds in midtown.
- Taxi Medallion Increase EIS (2013) and other traffic studies deemed relevant.
- Existing traffic data including counts (crossings and screen lines) and travel times where available.
- New York State Department of Environmental Conservation air quality data (from 12 monitoring sites in NYC).
- NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene air quality data set(s) and potentially (neighborhood level air quality study).

- CEQR project data (traffic and air quality) of Manhattan based projects (over the last five years) from the Mayor's Office of Sustainability.

IV. Timeline

The Consultant will complete this Project Assignment by November 1, 2015. Tasks 5 through 7 will be completed by October 16, 2015.

EXHIBIT C

AMENDED PAYMENT SCHEDULE
(EXHIBIT 1.A TO APPENDIX C OF THE CONTRACT)

The Payment Schedule (Exhibit 1.A to Appendix C of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following schedule applicable to this Task Order only:

The Maximum Payment for each portion of the Services shall be the respective amounts set forth for in the following table:

Task 1:	An analysis of for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 2:	Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 3:	Develop a robust analysis of policy options and an overall policy framework, including a roadmap, for New York City’s regulatory policies going forward for the for-hire transportation industry	$ 790,000
Task 4:	Support the City in developing implementation plans for recommendations	$ 260,000
Task 5:	Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core	$ 144,593
Task 6:	Assessment of Current FHV Operations	$ 107,693
Task 7:	Future Scenarios	$ 130,454
Total Fees		$ 2,062,740

No multiplier, overhead, administrative fee, other mark-up, Subcontractors’ Costs, or Allowable Additional Costs will be paid under this Task Order, unless agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation.

The Consultant shall submit to the NYCEDC Project Manager, not more than once per calendar month, a Requisition setting forth in detail, for the period for which partial payment is requested (i) Percentage of Services performed by Consultant during Requisition period; (ii) Allowable Additional Costs incurred with all required documentation, provided that such costs were agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation; and (iii) total amount of payment requested.

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Roth_Jeffrey (TLC); Leyva_Erika (TLC); Valdivia_Midori (TLC)
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Sidis_Joshua; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Fw: Invitation to discuss taxi/for-hire vehicle industry
Date: Friday, August 14, 2015 8:53:02 PM

---

Hi Jeff, Erika, and Midori,

I wanted to flag for you that Lyft sent the note below, saying they were surprised at being invited to a forum with competitors for the listening sessions. We'd prefer if your team respond to their note to explain the reason for industry groups being convened as a whole by category (e.g. all black car bases, all taxi drivers, all livery bases).

Much appreciated,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

----- Forwarded by [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 08/14/2015 08:06 PM -----

From: Joseph Okpaku <joseph@lyft.com>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Date: 08/14/2015 07:21 PM
Subject: Re: Invitation to discuss taxi/for-hire vehicle industry

---

I can be available via phone on Thursday at noon; however, I'm a little surprised at the format. Am I correct in understanding that you would want industry competitors to openly discuss what they think of the current state of the industry and regulatory structure? As I said, I'm happy to participate but I frankly doubt that many of the participants will be comfortable discussing what aspects of the regulatory structure they consider favorable or unfavorable with other competitors in the meeting. I was expecting this to be a one on one discussion.

Best,

Joe

--
--

Joseph Okpaku
Director of Public Policy
415.890.3429

What if your phone replaced your car and you met a new friend every day? Watch

Lyft Across America

On Fri, Aug 14, 2015 at 10:23 AM, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com> wrote:

Hi Joseph,

Thanks for your response and availability. I want to clarify my original email to make sure you're aware that this invitation is to a listening session that will include other representatives from the black car / e-dispatch sector. We'll be having similar listening sessions with other industry segments (e.g. drivers' groups) as well.

Because we're wrangling schedules across several stakeholders, Tuesday won't be possible. Can you or someone from your team be available for a meeting at noon ET on Thursday instead?

Best,

[REDACTED]

From: Joseph Okpaku [mailto:joseph@lyft.com]
Sent: Thursday, August 13, 2015 8:08 PM
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Re: Invitation to discuss taxi/for-hire vehicle industry

[REDACTED]

Thanks for the invitation. The only time that my two colleagues and I are all available next week is Tuesday between noon and 2 pm EST, and we would have to participate over the phone. Would that work?

--
--

Joseph Okpaku

Director of Public Policy

415.890.3429

What if your phone replaced your car and you met a new friend every day? Watch

Lyft Across America

On Thu, Aug 13, 2015 at 9:15 AM, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com> wrote:

Hi Joseph,

As part of a study with New York City government on the current state of the for-hire vehicle industry and how it is regulated, we'd like to meet with you to discuss this topic Would you be able to meet on Monday afternoon (8/17) at the Taxi and Limousine Commission Offices at 33 Beaver St ?

(The internet tells me you're based in the Bay Area, and we can arrange a dial-in if you won't be in NYC on Monday )

The purpose of the meeting is to better understand the black car / e-dispatch market and how it fits into the broader transportation network of NYC, in addition to your thoughts on recent changes in the industry

Please let me know if Monday afternoon works for you, and I'll send along a time and invitation I look forward to hearing from you

Best,
[REDACTED]

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Ana Ariño
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Sidis_Joshua; Lee Ann Steidel; Tarlow_Mindy; Peter Hill; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Re: FHV Study
Date: Monday, August 24, 2015 4:55:58 PM
Attachments: McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 8.21.15 mck edits.docx

---

(See attached file: McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 8.21.15 mck edits.docx)

Good afternoon Ana and Peter - attached is the For-Hire Vehicle Study award with some very minor edits. We are requesting that the section for Task 4 be updated to reflect the fact that McKinsey will be providing leadership support, based on our negotiations with the City,

Thank you!

Regards,

[REDACTED]

▼ Ana Ariño ---08/14/2015 01:48:24 PM-- [REDACTED] Attached, please find the contract amendment for the For-Hire Vehicle S

From: Ana Ariño <aarino@edc.nyc>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: Peter Hill <phil@edc.nyc>; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Date: 08/14/2015 01:48 PM
Subject: FHV Study

---

[REDACTED], and [REDACTED],

Attached, please find the contract amendment for the For-Hire Vehicle Study. This document includes the general study scope, edited to reflect recent discussions of the project, and the traffic study scope and budget.

Josh and Mindy are sorting out one last piece related to the external validators, but we wanted to get this to you asap for your review. Please let me know if you have any questions.

If there are no additional changes coming from Ops or comments from you, you can return 4 original signed copies to:

Peter Hill
NYCEDC
110 William St., 4th Floor
New York, NY 10038

Best,
Ana

ANA ARIÑO
Senior Vice President, Strategic Planning
New York City Economic Development Corporation
www.nycedc.com
212-312-3552 (w)

[REDACTED] (c)
[attachment "McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 8.zip" deleted by [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY]

=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
=====+

NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
STANDARD FORM OF AMENDMENT OF CONSULTANT CONTRACT

This is an amendment to the Contract entered into by New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC), a not-for-profit corporation organized pursuant to the Laws of the State of New York, having an office at 110 William Street, New York, New York 10038, and the Consultant:

Consultant's Name:	McKinsey & Company, Inc. Washington, D.C.
Address:	1200 19 th Street, NW, Suite 1100, Washington, DC
Contract No:	26640049	Contract Date:	July 1, 2015
Project No:	2664
Project Name:	On-Call Management and Economic Development Consulting Services
Type of Services:	Consulting Services

A copy of the Contract and copies of any and all prior amendments are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

The Contract is hereby amended as follows:

Amendment No:	1	Effective Date:	August 30, 2015
---------------	---	-----------------	-----------------

TYPE OF AMENDMENT

<input type="checkbox"/> Extension of Term	Extension Date:
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Increase in Maximum Contract Price	Original Maximum Contract Price	$ 1.00
	Total Prior Increases	$ 0.00
	Amount of Current Increase	$ 2,062,740.00
	Revised Maximum Contract Price	$ 2,062,741.00

Amended Scope of Services - See attached Exhibit B

Other (as described below) - See attached Exhibit(s) C
Exhibit C - Amended Payment Schedule

NYCEDC Executive Committee Approval Date: April 30, 2015

Capitalized terms used herein shall have the meanings set forth in the Contract, as previously amended, unless otherwise defined herein. Except as provided herein and in the pages attached hereto, if any, all terms and conditions of the Contract, as previously amended, remain unchanged and in full force and effect.

MCKINSEY & COMPANY, INC. WASHINGTON, D.C.		NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
By:		By:
Printed Name:		Printed Name:
Title:		Title:
Date Signed:		Date Signed:

EXHIBIT A
THE CONTRACT AND PRIOR AMENDMENTS
(Incorporated by Reference)

EXHIBIT B

AMENDED SCOPE OF SERVICES
(APPENDIX B OF THE CONTRACT)

The Scope of Services (Appendix B of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following Task Order assignment:

I. Background

New York City Economic Development Corporation (“NYCEDC”) and the Mayor’s Office of Operations (“Operations”) are engaging the Consultant to conduct a comprehensive analysis and to articulate a strategy for managing and regulating New York City’s (the “City”) for-hire vehicle (“FHV”) transportation services. The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (“TLC”) establishes and enforces professional and uniform standards of for-hire services and ensures public safety. TLC licenses and regulates all aspects of the City’s yellow medallion taxicabs, FHV such as Boro Taxis, community-based liveries and black cars, commuter vans, paratransit vehicles (ambulettes), and certain luxury limousines. Over the past two years, the City has experienced a significant shift in the composition of its FHV transportation industry, specifically the introduction of a range of private, non-medallion FHV that are less regulated by the City.

The Consultant will provide consulting support and [REDACTED] a new plan for the City that provides a [REDACTED] for a more comprehensive [REDACTED] picture that accommodates the broader range of FHV (medallion and non-medallion). The priorities guiding this analysis and the resulting [REDACTED] will be determined by the City and communicated to the Consultant. The Consultant will investigate, provide recommendations, and suggest an implementation plan that investigates at least five areas related to the City’s FHV industry:

1. Industry/business sector analysis
2. Assessment of present conditions
3. Stakeholder analysis

[REDACTED]

In addition to the services described above and in Tasks 1 through 4 below (the “General Study”), the Consultant will engage a subconsultant to conduct a study of FHV congestion, traffic, and emissions (the “Traffic Study”), as described in Tasks 5 through 7 below. The Traffic Study will be conducted in parallel with the General Study, and the Consultant will ensure alignment between these tasks, including [REDACTED] developed in the general study as inputs for the Traffic Study analysis, and outputs of the Traffic Study to inform the [REDACTED] in the General Study. In the Traffic Study, the Consultant will address the following questions:

1. What are the likely factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the Manhattan core?

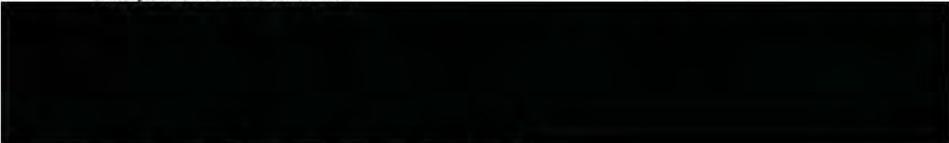

2. How are FHV currently operating within the Manhattan core and other congested parts of the City?
3. What will be the effect on mobility, traffic congestion and emissions of various FHV growth and regulatory scenarios?

II. Services – General Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will provide consulting services to include:

1. An analysis of for-hire transportation industry
  - a. This should include a review of medallion and non-medallion FHV including analysis of all relevant data and metrics, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, accessibility standards, as well as best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries.
2. Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.
  - a. This will involve detailed analysis of the as-is condition of the industry, along with a review of protocols and procedures, personnel and training practices, regulations, and financing. The review will also document the experiences and views of individuals directly employed by the for-hire industry as well as public and private stakeholders.

3.

4. Support the City in developing implementation recommendations.

Task 1 An analysis of for-hire transportation industry

- Task 1.1 Review of industry.
- Review all relevant metrics for the for-hire transportation industry, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, consumer protections, and accessibility standards.

Task 1.2 Conduct a review of best practices.

- Identify best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries, highlighting for consideration transportation models, such as ride sharing, that limit the impact on congestion of core sectors while continuing to serve the needs of the public.

Task 2 Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.

Task 2.1 Building on the findings from Task 1, as well as data and materials from the Traffic Study being conducted in parallel to this effort, the Consultant shall compile and [REDACTED] on the current processes, protocols, procedures, [REDACTED] practices in the for-hire transportation industry, including but not limited to the tasks below. Existing materials will be shared with the Consultant.

- Identify and document core business protocols and procedures, including all elements of rules and regulations in the medallion and non-medallion for-hire transportation industry
- Identify and document current training practices around driver and passenger safety
- Identify and document pricing protocols and protections for passengers
- Identify and document revenue sources and strategies
- Incorporate relevant information, as available, from a parallel effort that will analyze congestion and traffic flow in heavily used areas of the city

Task 2.2 Identify baseline performance metrics for for-hire transportation operations that will help drive and guide recommendations for a proposed regulatory structure.

Task 2 Deliverables: A report detailing [REDACTED] structure, regulations and policies, current processes [REDACTED] ics for the for-hire [REDACTED]

Task 3.1 The Consultant shall produce a report detailing a robust analysis [REDACTED] options for developing a for-hire transportation system that is safe, inclusive, and reliable; operates in a manner that provides operational and financial support to meet the overall needs of the city’s mass transit system; and ensures that the system is regulated in accordance with the City’s interests [REDACTED] objectives. The [REDACTED] will be evaluated and ref [REDACTED] e Mayor’s Office. The Consultant will then [REDACTED] and decision documents for the Mayor’s Office, covering each strategic area and help facilitate decision-making by the Mayor’s Office through a series of meetings.

Task 3 Deliverable [REDACTED] structure that accommodates the increasingly complex for-hire transportation environment, including all [REDACTED]

III. Services – Traffic Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will engage subconsultants to provide consulting services to include:

Task 5 Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core

The ~~€~~Subconsultant will:

- Examine the current level of congestion in the Manhattan core using yellow and green taxi GPS, BusTime, Midtown in Motion data, as well as available traffic counts. The ~~€~~Subconsultant will analyze travel speeds by time/day of week and by geography using the 29 taxi GPS analysis zones developed by NYCDOT.
- Conduct a high-level of analysis of factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the midtown core using available data sets. This analysis will include a qualitative review of factors including: traffic volumes entering the Manhattan core, economic factors, changes in road capacity, construction activity, delivery activity, recent growth in the FHV sector, and other relevant factors.
- Develop a qualitative assessment of the role of FHV growth in growing congestion in the Manhattan core, as well as lay out a list of other likely congestion sources that merit further study.

Task 6 Assessment of Current FHV Operations

The ~~Subc~~Consultant will:

- Map the available FHV (including Uber) pick-up and drop-off locations and routing information (if available) overlaid with NYCDOT taxi analysis zones (29 zones total, including 18 zones in Manhattan) and census tracts citywide and within the CBD.
- Compare FHV (including Uber) pick-up/drop-off activity centers and time-of-day activities to those of yellow and green taxis for time periods with available FHV data (up to the past 3 years<sup>1</sup>);
- Assess FHV (including Uber) activity patterns between revenue trips, including cruising times and distances, as well as dwelling hot-spots of FHV awaiting e-hails.
- Assess Vehicle-Miles-Traveled (VMT), Vehicle-Hours-Traveled (VHT) and the average speed of FHV (including Uber) trips for zones citywide and within the CBD, compared to other travel speed data sources (e.g. taxi speeds, Midtown In Motion).

Task 7 Future Scenarios

The ~~Subc~~Consultant will:

- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years assuming no changes are made to existing TLC regulations. The ~~Subc~~consultant shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The changes in the taxi and FHV fleet size and activity shall be based on the industry analysis conducted as part of the overall study.
- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years under a range of regulatory and pricing scenarios. The ~~Subc~~consultant shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The scenarios will be based on the policy options developed as part of the overall study.
- For the no action and other scenarios, estimate current and projected vehicular tailpipe emissions for criteria pollutants and GHGs based on VMT, average speed and other traffic activity inputs at a zonal level, e.g. Manhattan CBD, by borough.
- Summarize both the traffic and emissions metrics for the set of FHV regulatory and operating scenarios analyzed. Likely deliverables to include: summary maps of zonal traffic and emissions metrics for baseline and projected conditions; comparison tables of policy options and corresponding metrics; formulations of future projections of FHV activity levels and corresponding metrics such as zonal VMT, VHT, pick-up/drop-off density maps, etc.; and a summary report of analysis methodology, data used and outcomes.
- Show NYC air quality trends over time (broad lens).

---

<sup>1</sup> The study should look back as far as FHV data are made available, up to the 5 years that yellow taxi data are available.

- Show NYC air quality by criteria pollutants for neighborhood level (detailed/contextual lens).
- Map CEQR data on traffic and air quality impacts over the last five years.

Anticipated Datasets

The City will provide the Consultant with access to:

- Up to 5 years of yellow taxi trip records, including pick-up/drop-off locations, trip distance and trip duration.
- Up to 6 months of green taxi trip records and yellow/green taxi breadcrumb GPS data.
- A to-be-determined set of trip records and breadcrumb GPS data from Uber and potentially other FHV industry providers; dates and spatial coverage also TBD.
- NYC DOT Midtown in Motion data on vehicle speeds in midtown.
- Taxi Medallion Increase EIS (2013) and other traffic studies deemed relevant.
- Existing traffic data including counts (crossings and screen lines) and travel times where available.
- New York State Department of Environmental Conservation air quality data (from 12 monitoring sites in NYC).
- NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene air quality data set(s) and potentially (neighborhood level air quality study).
- CEQR project data (traffic and air quality) of Manhattan based projects (over the last five years) from the Mayor's Office of Sustainability.

IV. Timeline

The Consultant will complete this Project Assignment by November 1, 2015. Tasks 5 through 7 will be completed by October 16, 2015.

EXHIBIT C
AMENDED PAYMENT SCHEDULE
(EXHIBIT 1.A TO APPENDIX C OF THE CONTRACT)

The Payment Schedule (Exhibit 1.A to Appendix C of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following schedule applicable to this Task Order only:

The Maximum Payment for each portion of the Services shall be the respective amounts set forth for in the following table:

Task 1:	An analysis of for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 2:	Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 3:	Develop a robust analysis of policy options and an overall policy framework, including a roadmap, for New York City’s regulatory policies going forward for the for-hire transportation industry	$ 790,000
Task 4:	Support the City in developing implementation plans for recommendations	$ 260,000
Task 5:	Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core	$ 144,593
Task 6:	Assessment of Current FHV Operations	$ 107,693
Task 7:	Future Scenarios	$ 130,454
Total Fees		$ 2,062,740

No multiplier, overhead, administrative fee, other mark-up, Subcontractors’ Costs, or Allowable Additional Costs will be paid under this Task Order, unless agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation.

The Consultant shall submit to the NYCEDC Project Manager, not more than once per calendar month, a Requisition setting forth in detail, for the period for which partial payment is requested (i) Percentage of Services performed by Consultant during Requisition period; (ii) Allowable Additional Costs incurred with all required documentation, provided that such costs were agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation; and (iii) total amount of payment

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Tachow, Mindy; Sidis, Joshua; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: FW: Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues
Date: Tuesday, August 25, 2015 10:16:36 PM

---

----- Message from "POLITICO Pro" <states-alert@politico.com> on Wed, 26 Aug 2015 02:03:04 GMT -----
From: "POLITICO Pro" <states-alert@politico.com>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues

Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues

By Dana Rubinstein

10:02 p.m. | Aug. 25, 2015

Add Uber to the myriad obstacles facing the agency that runs New York City's subways and buses.

If the San Francisco-based car hail company with the more than $50 billion valuation continues its swift growth in New York City, the Metropolitan Transportation Authority might soon find one of its funding sources a bit less reliable, according to the Citizens Budget Commission.

In recent years, Uber's black cars have become a dominant force on city streets, while yellow taxi trips have begun to wane.

Because yellow taxi riders must pay a 50-cent, MTA-supporting surcharge on every trip, "if yellow cab trips decrease, MTA revenues will decrease as well," said Maria Doulis, vice president of the commission, which on Wednesday will release a report detailing the taxi revolution's fiscal implications for the MTA.

An advance copy provided to POLITICO New York warns of a coming "erosion" in MTA revenue, something the report says should be of particular concern due to the MTA's already chronic funding gaps.

Every day, New York's menagerie of yellow and green taxis, black and livery cars, provide 764,000 rides. Each year, they generate $4.4 billion in revenue.

Half a decade ago, when the state and its MTA were struggling through budget crises, New York levied a sales tax on black cars, with its revenue shared by the city and state and, to a miniscule extent, the MTA. The state also levied that 50-cent surcharge on yellow taxis and then, after they were authorized, green taxis, too. That money goes to the MTA.

This year, the MTA should get about $94 million from the taxi industry, the vast majority of it from the surcharge.

The Citizens Budget Commission report argues that, with Uber and its ilk upending the taxi industry, that tax structure might soon be less effective.

For-hire car usage has increased a lot in recent years, thanks to Uber, along with population, tourism and job growth.

"In 2011, New York City had 6.2 taxis, liveries, and black cars per 1,000 residents; by 2015 that figure reached 8.5," according to the report.

At the same time, yellow taxi trips fell 11 percent from 2011 to 2014, and are expected to continue falling in 2015.

This year, the commission estimates yellow taxis will complete more than half of all trips, but will account for just 44 percent of revenue. The black car sector, which is dominated by Uber, will account for 42 percent, according to the commission.

The MTA's share of that growth is not expected to keep pace.

If the existing high growth rate persists, by 2019, the MTA's taxi-derived revenues will fall to $91 million.

"Continuation of the current trend is unfavorable for the MTA under the existing tax structure," the report states.

Among other things, the commission suggests extending the 50-cent surcharge to black cars (something Mayor Bill de Blasio is open to and Uber adamantly opposes) or lowering the overall sales tax and dedicating all of it to the MTA, something Uber might be more amenable to.

Uber had no comment.

“Depending upon the level of tax, a ‘reformed’ sales tax would increase MTA revenues by as much as $225 million in 2019,” reads the report, though it would also “require the State and City to forfeit sales tax revenue from this industry.”

You've received this POLITICO Pro content because your customized settings include: Albany (all articles) .

To change your alert settings, please go to your Pro settings page.

This email alert has been sent for the exclusive use of POLITICO Pro subscriber [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com. Forwarding or reproducing the alert without the express, written permission of POLITICO Pro is a violation of federal law and the POLITICO Pro subscription agreement. Copyright © 2015 by POLITICO LLC. To subscribe to Pro, please go to www.politicopro.com.

If you believe this has been sent to you in error, please safely unsubscribe.

+=====+

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

+=====+

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Tarrow, Mindy
Subject: Fw: Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues
Date: Tuesday, August 25, 2015 11:34:17 PM

---

Mindy -

[REDACTED]

best,
Sarah

[REDACTED] McKinsey & Company | + [REDACTED]

— Forwarded by [REDACTED] NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 08/25/2015 11:30 PM —

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Sent: Tuesday, August 25, 2015 10:16 PM
To: Tarrow, Mindy; Sidis, Joshua; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: FW: Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues

[REDACTED]

----- Message from "POLITICO Pro" <states-alert@politico.com> on Wed, 26 Aug 2015 02:03:04 GMT -----

From: "POLITICO Pro" <states-alert@politico.com>

To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com

Subject: Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues

Report warns MTA revenue could erode if Uber growth continues

By Dana Rubinstein

10:02 p.m. | Aug. 25, 2015

Add Uber to the myriad obstacles facing the agency that runs New York City's subways and buses.

If the San Francisco-based car hail company with the more than $50 billion valuation continues its swift growth in New York City, the Metropolitan Transportation Authority might soon find one of its funding sources a bit less reliable, according to the Citizens Budget Commission.

In recent years, Uber's black cars have become a dominant force on city streets, while yellow taxi trips have begun to wane.

Because yellow taxi riders must pay a 50-cent, MTA-supporting surcharge on every trip, "if yellow cab trips decrease, MTA revenues will decrease as well," said Maria Doulis, vice president of the commission, which on Wednesday will release a report detailing the taxi revolution's fiscal implications for the MTA.

An advance copy provided to POLITICO New York warns of a coming "erosion" in MTA revenue, something the report says should be of particular concern due to the MTA's already chronic funding gaps.

Every day, New York's menagerie of yellow and green taxis, black and livery cars, provide 764,000 rides. Each year, they generate $4.4 billion in revenue.

Half a decade ago, when the state and its MTA were struggling through budget crises, New York levied a sales tax on black cars, with its revenue shared by the city and state and, to a miniscule extent, the MTA. The state also levied that 50-cent surcharge on yellow taxis and then, after they were authorized, green taxis, too. That money goes to the MTA.

This year, the MTA should get about $94 million from the taxi industry, the vast majority of it from the surcharge.

The Citizens Budget Commission report argues that, with Uber and its ilk upending the taxi industry, that tax structure might soon be less effective.

For-hire car usage has increased a lot in recent years, thanks to Uber, along with population, tourism and job growth.

“In 2011, New York City had 6.2 taxis, liveries, and black cars per 1,000 residents; by 2015 that figure reached 8.5,” according to the report.

At the same time, yellow taxi trips fell 11 percent from 2011 to 2014, and are expected to continue falling in 2015.

This year, the commission estimates yellow taxis will complete more than half of all trips, but will account for just 44 percent of revenue. The black car sector, which is dominated by Uber, will account for 42 percent, according to the commission.

The MTA’s share of that growth is not expected to keep pace.

If the existing high growth rate persists, by 2019, the MTA’s taxi-derived revenues will fall to $91 million.

“Continuation of the current trend is unfavorable for the MTA under the existing tax structure,” the report states.

Among other things, the commission suggests extending the 50-cent surcharge to black cars (something Mayor Bill de Blasio is open to and Uber adamantly opposes) or lowering the overall sales tax and dedicating all of it to the MTA, something Uber might be more amenable to.

Uber had no comment.

“Depending upon the level of tax, a ‘reformed’ sales tax would increase MTA revenues by as much as $225 million in 2019,” reads the report, though it would also “require the State and City to forfeit sales tax revenue from this industry.”

You've received this POLITICO Pro content because your customized settings include: Albany (all articles) .

To change your alert settings, please go to your Pro settings page.

This email alert has been sent for the exclusive use of POLITICO Pro subscriber [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com. Forwarding or reproducing the alert without the express, written permission of POLITICO Pro is a violation of federal law and the POLITICO Pro subscription agreement. Copyright © 2015 by POLITICO LLC. To subscribe to Pro, please go to www.politicopro.com.

If you believe this has been sent to you in error, please safely unsubscribe

----- Forwarded by [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 08/25/2015 11:32 PM -----

From: [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY
To: "Tarrow, Mindy" <mtatrow@cityhall.nyc.gov>, "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Cc: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>, [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>, [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>
Date: 08/25/2015 01:24 PM
Subject: Fw: Whiteboard: Report maps New York City's 'informal' transit network

Mindy, Josh -

The report mentioned below from the New Yorker on the informal transit network (i.e. unlicensed commuter vans) will likely be of great interest to Dom, given our discussion yesterday.

We should think about how we can incorporate this view of the shadow transit network into the study -- it helps us see what type of trips are happening in the "white spots" on the maps of taxi/FHV trips we reviewed last week.

best,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

----- Forwarded by [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 08/25/2015 01:16 PM -----

From: POLITICO Pro <states-alert@politico.com>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Date: 08/25/2015 01:13 PM
Subject: Whiteboard: Report maps New York City's 'informal' transit network

Report maps New York City's 'informal' transit network

By Dana Rubinstein

12:50 p m. | Aug. 25, 2015

A New Yorker writer spent a year exploring New York City's dollar van industry, which he says in a new report is made up of "informal transportation networks" that fill the gaps in the city's transportation system.

While the city licenses some dollar-van routes, its regulations are stringent and most dollar-van drivers operate outside them.

"Today, dollar vans and other unofficial shuttles make up a thriving shadow transportation system that operates where subways and buses don't—mostly in peripheral, low-income neighborhoods that contain large immigrant communities and lack robust public transit," writes Aaron Reiss.

See the multimedia report here: <http://nyr.kr/1rB0pnT>

You've received this POLITICO Pro content because your customized settings include: City Hall (all whiteboards) .

To change your alert settings, please go to your Pro settings page.

This email alert has been sent for the exclusive use of POLITICO Pro subscriber ██████████@mckinsey.com. Forwarding or reproducing the alert without the express, written permission of POLITICO Pro is a violation of federal law and the POLITICO Pro subscription agreement. Copyright © 2015 by POLITICO LLC. To subscribe to Pro, please go to www.politicopro.com.

If you believe this has been sent to you in error, please safely unsubscribe

+ =====+

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

+ =====+

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Subject: RE: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study
Date: Wednesday, August 26, 2015 3:49:57 PM

---

Hi Bruce,

Please see the tasks our consultant is currently undertaking. I thought this could be a good baseline for our conversation today as well as your role.

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures
- Traffic Study Task 4: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Traffic Study Task 5: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Traffic Study Task 6: Future Scenarios

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, August 26, 2015 12:38 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

OK - 4 pm works for me.

On Wed, Aug 26, 2015 at 11:21 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Bruce,

My day is a packed in the middle. How about 4pm?

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, August 26, 2015 10:24 AM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

Joshua - what is a good time to talk today?

On Tue, Aug 25, 2015 at 4:38 PM, Bruce Schaller <bruceschaller2@gmail.com> wrote:
Joshua - good, let's follow up tomorrow. Also want to go over scope and overall strategy of the study.

Regards,

Bruce Schaller

718-768-3487
cell 347-563-7379

On Tue, Aug 25, 2015 at 4:24 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Thank you Will.

Hi Bruce, thank you for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I will be reaching out to you tomorrow to sort through the mechanics of bringing you on board.

Talk to you then,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Carry, William mailto:[WCarry@dot.nyc.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, August 25, 2015 2:27 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua; Bruce Schaller (bruceschaller2@gmail.com)
Cc: Russo, Ryan; Replogle, Michael
Subject: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

Josh – Ryan and I spoke to Bruce, cc'd here, and he is happy to participate in the FHV study as an independent expert. As discussed, his fee will be $20,000. I explained to him that Operations will be doing this through a small purchase and that you are the key point of contact. Please let me know if you have any questions. Thx.

*****

Will Carry
Senior Director for Special Projects
Office of the Deputy Commissioner for Policy
New York City Department of Transportation
55 Water Street, 9th Floor
\(212\) 839-6657
wcarry@dot.nyc.gov

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Subject: RE: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study
Date: Thursday, August 27, 2015 4:23:29 PM

---

Great!

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, August 27, 2015 4:23 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

Yes.

On Aug 27, 2015 4:13 PM, "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Robert Bruce Schaller Schaller Consulting?

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, August 27, 2015 4:12 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

I was a sub on a contract with TLC so maybe so? Can you see, either under my name or Schaller Consulting.

On Aug 27, 2015 4:06 PM, "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
You are in FMS correct?

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, August 26, 2015 12:38 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

OK - 4 pm works for me.

On Wed, Aug 26, 2015 at 11:21 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Bruce,
My day is a packed in the middle. How about 4pm?

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, August 26, 2015 10:24 AM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

Joshua - what is a good time to talk today?

On Tue, Aug 25, 2015 at 4:38 PM, Bruce Schaller <bruceschaller2@gmail.com> wrote:
Joshua - good, let's follow up tomorrow. Also want to go over scope and overall strategy of the study.

Regards,

Bruce Schaller
718-768-3487
cell 347-563-7379

On Tue, Aug 25, 2015 at 4:24 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Thank you Will.

Hi Bruce, thank you for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I will be reaching out to you tomorrow to sort through the mechanics of bringing you on board.

Talk to you then,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Carry, William mailto:[WCarry@dot.nyc.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, August 25, 2015 2:27 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua; Bruce Schaller (bruceschaller2@gmail.com)
Cc: Russo, Ryan; Replogle, Michael
Subject: Bruce Schaller - FHV Study

Josh – Ryan and I spoke to Bruce, cc'd here, and he is happy to participate in the FHV study as an independent expert. As discussed, his fee will be $20,000. I explained to him that Operations will be doing this through a small purchase and that you are the key point of contact. Please let me know if you have any questions. Thx.

*****

Will Carry
Senior Director for Special Projects
Office of the Deputy Commissioner for Policy
New York City Department of Transportation
55 Water Street, 9th Floor
\(212\) 839-6657
wcarry@dot.nyc.gov

From: Peter Hill
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; Sidis, Joshua; Lee Ann Steidel; Tarlow, Mindy; Ana Ariño
Subject: RE: FHV Study
Date: Friday, August 28, 2015 9:29:47 AM
Attachments: image009.png
image010.png
image011.png
image012.png
image013.png
image014.png
image015.png
image016.png
image017.png
image018.png
image019.png
image020.png
image021.png
image022.png
McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 8.26.15 EDC edits \(tracked\).docx

---

[REDACTED],

[REDACTED], it was good to see you yesterday. Attached, please find EDC's revisions (tracked) to the For-Hire Vehicle contract amendment you had sent on Monday. As discussed, there are three main changes here:

- Clarified that Task 4 (implementation planning) will be supported by McKinsey
- Removed the language about use of name/attribution
- Clarified the Subcontractor relationship for the Traffic Study

Let me know if you have any questions; otherwise, please return 4 original signed copies to me:

Peter Hill
NYCEDC
110 William St. 4th Floor
New York, NY 10038

Best,
Peter

PETER HILL
Assistant Vice President, Strategic Planning
New York City Economic Development Corporation
www.nycedc.com

212-312-3704 (w)
PHill@edc.nyc

---

From: Peter Hill
Sent: Monday, August 24, 2015 4:57 PM
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; Ana Ariño
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com"; 'jsidis@cityhall.nyc.gov'; Lee Ann Steidel; 'mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov'; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com'
Subject: RE: FHV Study

Peter Hill
NYCEDC
110 William St., 4th Floor
New York, NY 10038

Best,
Ana

ANA ARIÑO
Senior Vice President, Strategic Planning
New York City Economic Development Corporation
www.nycedc.com
212-312-3552 (w)

██████████ (c)

[attachment "McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 8.zip" deleted by ██████████ ██████████ NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY]

=====+

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

=====+

NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
STANDARD FORM OF AMENDMENT OF CONSULTANT CONTRACT

This is an amendment to the Contract entered into by New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC), a not-for-profit corporation organized pursuant to the Laws of the State of New York, having an office at 110 William Street, New York, New York 10038, and the Consultant:
Consultant's Name:		McKinsey & Company, Inc. Washington D.C.
Address:		1200 19 th Street, NW, Suite 1100, Washington, DC 20036
Contract No:		Contract Date:		Project No:
26640049		July 1, 2015		2664
Project Name: On-Call Management and Economic Development Consulting Services
Type of Services: Consulting Services
A copy of the Contract and copies of any and all prior amendments are attached hereto as Exhibit A.
The Contract is hereby amended as follows:
Amendment No:		Effective Date:
1		August 30, 2015
TYPE OF AMENDMENT
<input type="checkbox"/> Extension of Term		Extension Date:
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Increase in Maximum Contract Price		Original Maximum Contract Price $ 1.00
		Total Prior Increases $ 0.00
		Amount of Current Increase $ 2,062,740.00
		Revised Maximum Contract Price $ 2,062,741.00
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Amended Scope of Services - See attached Exhibit B
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Other (as described below) - See attached Exhibit(s) C
Exhibit C - Amended Payment Schedule
NYCEDC Executive Committee Approval Date:				April 30, 2015
Capitalized terms used herein shall have the meanings set forth in the Contract, as previously amended, unless otherwise defined herein. Except as provided herein and in the pages attached hereto, if any, all terms and conditions of the Contract, as previously amended, remain unchanged and in full force and effect.
MCKINSEY &amp; COMPANY, INC. WASHINGTON D.C.			NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
By:		By:
Printed Name:		Printed Name:
Title:		Title:
Date Signed:		Date Signed:

EXHIBIT A
THE CONTRACT AND PRIOR AMENDMENTS
(Incorporated by Reference)

EXHIBIT B

AMENDED SCOPE OF SERVICES
(APPENDIX B OF THE CONTRACT)

The Scope of Services (Appendix B of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following Task Order assignment:

I. Background

New York City Economic Development Corporation (“NYCEDC”) and the Mayor’s Office of Operations (“Operations”) are engaging the Consultant to conduct a comprehensive analysis and to articulate a strategy for managing and regulating New York City’s (the “City”) for-hire vehicle (“FHV”) transportation services. The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (“TLC”) establishes and enforces professional and uniform standards of for-hire services and ensures public safety. TLC licenses and regulates all aspects of the City’s yellow medallion taxicabs, FHV such as Boro Taxis, community-based liveries and black cars, commuter vans, paratransit vehicles (ambulettes), and certain luxury limousines. Over the past two years, the City has experienced a significant shift in the composition of its FHV transportation industry, specifically the introduction of a range of private, non-medallion FHV that are less regulated by the City.

The Consultant will provide consulting support and assist the City in developing a new plan for the City that provides a construct for a more comprehensive structure that accommodates the broader range of FHV (medallion and non-medallion). The priorities guiding this analysis and the resulting framework will be determined by the City and communicated to the Consultant. The Consultant will investigate, provide recommendations, and suggest an implementation plan that investigates at least five areas related to the City’s FHV industry:

1. Industry/business sector analysis
2. Assessment of present conditions
3. Stakeholder analysis

██████████
~~5-4-~~Analysis of potential outcomes of regulatory scenarios

In addition to the services described above and in Tasks 1 through 4 below (the “General Study”), the Consultant will engage a subconsultant ██████████ to conduct a study of FHV congestion, traffic, and emissions (the “Traffic Study”), as described in Tasks 5 through 7 below. The Traffic Study will be conducted in parallel with the General Study, and the Consultant will ensure alignment between these tasks, including using scenarios developed in the general study as inputs for the Traffic Study analysis, and outputs of the Traffic Study to ██████████

Study, the Consultant will address the following questions:

1. What are the likely factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the Manhattan core?

2. How are FHV currently operating within the Manhattan core and other congested parts of the City?
3. What will be the effect on mobility, traffic congestion and emissions of various FHV growth and regulatory scenarios?

Comment [PSH1]: While we do not expect to be making public our work with McKinsey on this project, we cannot agree to this term—as we have not on the base retainer contract or previous projects

Since EDC and McKinsey are signing this agreement and not the City, we can only represent EDC and McKinsey actions

II. Services – General Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will provide consulting services to include:

1. An analysis of for-hire transportation industry
  - a. This should include a review of medallion and non-medallion FHV including analysis of all relevant data and metrics, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, accessibility standards, as well as best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries.
2. Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.
  - a. This will involve detailed analysis of the as-is condition of the industry, along with a review of protocols and procedures, personnel and training practices, regulations, and financing. The review will also document the experiences and views of individuals directly employed by the for-hire industry as well as public and private stakeholders.
3. Develop a robust analysis of options and [REDACTED] options for an overall framework, including a roadmap for the City’s consideration in its approach [REDACTED] the for-hire transportation industry.
4. Support the City in developing implementation plans- to implement the City’s recommendations.

Task 1 An analysis of for-hire transportation industry

Task 1.1 Review of industry.

- Review all relevant metrics for the for-hire transportation industry, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, consumer protections, and accessibility standards.

- Task 1.2 Conduct a review of best practices.
- Identify best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries, highlighting for consideration transportation models, such as ride sharing, that limit the impact on congestion of core sectors while continuing to serve the needs of the public.

Task 1 Deliverables: A report including all elements outlined in Tasks 1.1 and 1.2 above.

Task 2 Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.

Task 2.1 Building on the findings from Task 1, as well as data and materials from the Traffic Study being conducted in parallel to this effort, the Consultant shall compile and synthesize the fact-base on the current processes, protocols, procedures, regulations, personnel and training practices in the for-hire transportation industry, including but not limited to the tasks below. Existing materials will be shared with the Consultant.

- Identify and document core business protocols and procedures, including all elements of rules and regulations in the medallion and non-medallion for-hire transportation industry
- Identify and document current training practices around driver and passenger safety
- Identify and document pricing protocols and protections for passengers
- Identify and document revenue sources and strategies
- Incorporate relevant information, as available, from a parallel effort that will analyze congestion and traffic flow in heavily used areas of the city

Task 2.2 Identify baseline performance metrics for for-hire transportation operations that will help drive and guide recommendations for a proposed regulatory structure.

Task 2 Deliverables: A report detailing the fact-base on the organizational structure, regulations and policies, current processes, and baseline performance metrics for the for-hire transportation industry.

Task 3 Develop a robust analysis of options and [REDACTED] for an overall framework, including a roadmap, for the City's consideration in its approach [REDACTED] the for-hire transportation industry.

Task 3.1 The Consultant shall produce a report detailing a robust analysis of options for developing a for-hire transportation system that is safe, inclusive, and reliable; operates in a manner that provides operational and financial support to meet the overall needs of the city's mass transit system; and ensures that the system is regulated in accordance with the City's interests and objectives. The overall framework will be evaluated and refined with the Mayor's Office. The Consultant will then [REDACTED] and decision documents for the Mayor's Office, covering each strategic area and help facilitate decision-making by the Mayor's Office through a series of meetings.

Task 3 Deliverables: Framework and roadmap for a structure that accommodates the increasingly complex for-hire transportation environment, including all elements outlined above.

Comment [PSH2]: We had agreed that the City would conduct the implementation planning with support from McKinsey—that is why this is budgeted for in the price proposal

III. Services – Traffic Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will engage ~~subconsultants~~ Subcontractors to provide consulting services to include:

Task 5 Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core

~~The Subconsultant~~ The Consultant or its Subcontractor will:

- Examine the current level of congestion in the Manhattan core using yellow and green taxi GPS, BusTime, Midtown in Motion data, as well as available traffic counts. The ~~Subconsultant~~ Subcontractor will analyze travel speeds by time/day of week and by geography using the 29 taxi GPS analysis zones developed by NYCDOT.
- Conduct a high-level of analysis of factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the midtown core using available data sets. This analysis will include a qualitative review of factors including: traffic volumes entering the Manhattan core, economic factors, changes in road capacity, construction activity, delivery activity, recent growth in the FHV sector, and other relevant factors.
- Develop a qualitative assessment of the role of FHV growth in growing congestion in the Manhattan core, as well as lay out a list of other likely congestion sources that merit further study.

Task 6 Assessment of Current FHV Operations

The ~~Subconsultant~~ Consultant or its Subcontractors will:

- Map the available FHV (including Uber) pick-up and drop-off locations and routing information (if available) overlaid with NYCDOT taxi analysis zones (29 zones total, including 18 zones in Manhattan) and census tracts citywide and within the CBD.
- Compare FHV (including Uber) pick-up/drop-off activity centers and time-of-day activities to those of yellow and green taxis for time periods with available FHV data (up to the past 3 years<sup>1</sup>);
- Assess FHV (including Uber) activity patterns between revenue trips, including cruising times and distances, as well as dwelling hot-spots of FHV awaiting e-hails.
- Assess Vehicle-Miles-Traveled (VMT), Vehicle-Hours-Traveled (VHT) and the average speed of FHV (including Uber) trips for zones citywide and within the CBD, compared to other travel speed data sources (e.g. taxi speeds, Midtown In Motion).

Task 7 Future Scenarios

The ~~Subconsultant~~ Consultant or its Subcontractor will:

- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years assuming no changes are made to existing TLC regulations. The ~~Subconsultant~~ Subcontractor shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The changes in the taxi and FHV fleet size and activity shall be based on the industry analysis conducted as part of the overall study.
- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years under a range of regulatory and pricing scenarios. The ~~Subconsultant~~ Subcontractor shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The scenarios will be based on the policy options developed as part of the overall study.
- For the no action and other scenarios, estimate current and projected vehicular tailpipe emissions for criteria pollutants and GHGs based on VMT, average speed and other traffic activity inputs at a zonal level, e.g. Manhattan CBD, by borough.
- Summarize both the traffic and emissions metrics for the set of FHV regulatory and operating scenarios analyzed. Likely deliverables to include: summary maps of zonal traffic and emissions metrics for baseline and projected conditions; comparison tables of policy options and corresponding metrics; formulations of future projections of FHV activity levels and corresponding metrics such as zonal VMT, VHT, pick-up/drop-off density maps, etc.; and a summary report of analysis methodology, data used and outcomes.

<sup>1</sup> The study should look back as far as FHV data are made available, up to the 5 years that yellow taxi data are available.

- Show NYC air quality trends over time (broad lens).
- Show NYC air quality by criteria pollutants for neighborhood level (detailed/contextual lens).
- Map CEQR data on traffic and air quality impacts over the last five years.

Anticipated Datasets

The City will provide the Consultant with access to:

- Up to 5 years of yellow taxi trip records, including pick-up/drop-off locations, trip distance and trip duration.
- Up to 6 months of green taxi trip records and yellow/green taxi breadcrumb GPS data.
- A to-be-determined set of trip records and breadcrumb GPS data from Uber and potentially other FHV industry providers; dates and spatial coverage also TBD.
- NYC DOT Midtown in Motion data on vehicle speeds in midtown.
- Taxi Medallion Increase EIS (2013) and other traffic studies deemed relevant.
- Existing traffic data including counts (crossings and screen lines) and travel times where available.
- New York State Department of Environmental Conservation air quality data (from 12 monitoring sites in NYC).
- NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene air quality data set(s) and potentially (neighborhood level air quality study).
- CEQR project data (traffic and air quality) of Manhattan based projects (over the last five years) from the Mayor's Office of Sustainability.

IV. Timeline

The Consultant will complete this Project Assignment by November 1, 2015. Tasks 5 through 7 will be completed by October 16, 2015.

EXHIBIT C
AMENDED PAYMENT SCHEDULE
(EXHIBIT 1.A TO APPENDIX C OF THE CONTRACT)

The Payment Schedule (Exhibit 1.A to Appendix C of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following schedule applicable to this Task Order only:

The Maximum Payment for each portion of the Services shall be the respective amounts set forth for in the following table:

Task 1:	An analysis of for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 2:	Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 3:	Develop a robust analysis of policy options and an overall policy framework, including a roadmap, for New York City’s regulatory policies going forward for the for-hire transportation industry	$ 790,000
Task 4:	Support the City in developing implementation plans for recommendations	$ 260,000
Task 5:	Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core	$ 144,593
Task 6:	Assessment of Current FHV Operations	$ 107,693
Task 7:	Future Scenarios	$ 130,454
Total Fees		$ 2,062,740

No multiplier, overhead, administrative fee, other mark-up, Subcontractors’ Costs, or Allowable Additional Costs will be paid under this Task Order, unless agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation.

The Consultant shall submit to the NYCEDC Project Manager, not more than once per calendar month, a Requisition setting forth in detail, for the period for which partial payment is requested (i) Percentage of Services performed by Consultant during Requisition period; (ii) Allowable Additional Costs incurred with all required documentation, provided that such costs were agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation; and (iii) total amount of payment for Services rendered.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: Bruce Schaller
Subject: Re: FHV study
Date: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:45:16 PM

---

I am waiting for one piece information and literally have the email queued up to send. Sorry for the delay!

> On Aug 31, 2015, at 12:44 PM, Bruce Schaller <bruceschaller2@gmail.com> wrote:
>
> Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?
>
> Regards,
> Bruce

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Subject: RE: FHV study
Date: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04:53 PM

---

Got it. Thank you!

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

94 Windsor Place
Brooklyn, NY 11215

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,
Bruce

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: Bruce Schaller \(bruceschaller2@gmail.com\) (bruceschaller2@gmail.com)
Subject: FHV: Paperwork
Date: Monday, August 31, 2015 5:01:21 PM
Attachments: Doing Business Data Form - July 2008.pdf
Tax Affirmation.pdf
MacBride Principal.pdf

---

Hi Bruce,

I hope you had a good weekend. Please see the attached paperwork for you to fill out and return to the City. You can either mail it back to us or scan and email.

The Consultant Agreement is on its way so please keep an eye out for that email.

We will schedule a meeting for later this week to kick off our engagement.

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

Security settings or invalid file format do not permit using Doing_Business_Data_Form_-_July_2008.pdf (773816 Bytes).

TAX AFFIRMATION

The undersigned proposer or bidder affirms and declares that said proposer or bidder is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt, contract or taxes and is not a defaulter, as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the proposer or bidder to receive public Contracts except _____

Full name of Proposer or Bidder _____

Address

_____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

CHECK ONE BOX AND INCLUDE APPROPRIATE NUMBER:

A- INDIVIDUAL OR SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP*
SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER

-----

B - PARTNERSHIP, JOINT VENTURE OR OTHER UNINCORPORATED ORGANIZATION EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

-----

C - CORPORATION
EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

-----

BY _____ SIGNATURE

_____
TITLE

If a corporation place seal here

Must be signed by an of officer or duly authorized representative. Please Affix notary on this page.

*Under the Federal Privacy Act the furnishing of Social Security Numbers by bidders on City contracts is voluntary. Failure to provide a Social Security Number will not result in a bidder's disqualification. Social Security Numbers will be used to identify bidders, proposers or vendors to ensure their compliance with laws, to assist the City in enforcement of laws as well as to provide the City a means of identifying of businesses, which seek City contracts.

MACBRDE PRINCIPLES PROVISIONS
FOR NEW YORK CITY CONTRACTORS

ARTICLE I. MACBRIDE PRINCIPLES
NOTICE TO ALL PROSPECTIVE CONTRACTORS

Local Law No. 34 of 1991 became effective on September 10, 1991 and added section 6-115.1 to the Administrative Code of the City of New York. The local law provides for certain restrictions on City contracts to express the opposition of the people of the City of New York to employment discrimination practices in Northern Ireland and to encourage companies doing business in Northern Ireland to promote freedom of workplace opportunity.

Pursuant to Section 6-115.1, prospective contractors for contracts to provide goods or services involving an expenditure of an amount greater than ten thousand dollars, or for construction involving an amount greater than fifteen thousand dollars, are asked to sign a rider in which they covenant and represent, as a material condition of their contract, that any business in Northern Ireland operations conducted by the contractor and any individual or legal entity in which the contractor holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest and any Individual or legal entity that holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest in the contractor will be conducted in accordance with the MacBride Principles of nondiscrimination in employment.

Prospective contractors are not required to agree to these conditions. However, in the case of contracts let by competitive sealed bidding, whenever the lowest responsible bidder has not agreed to stipulate to the conditions set forth in this notice and another bidder who has agreed to stipulate to such conditions has submitted a bid within five percent of the lowest responsible bid for a contract to supply goods, services or construction of comparable quality, the contracting entity shall refer such bids to the Mayor, the Speaker or other officials, as appropriate, who may determine, in accordance with applicable law and rules, that it is in the best interest of the city that the contract be awarded to other than the lowest responsible bidder pursuant to Section 313(b)(2) of the City Charter.

In the case of contracts let by other than competitive sealed bidding, if a prospective contractor does not agree to these conditions, no agency, elected official or the Council shall award the contract to that bidder unless the entity seeking to use the goods, services or construction certifies in writing that the contract is necessary for the entity to perform its functions and there is no other responsible contractor who will supply goods, services or construction of comparable quality at a comparable price.

PART A

In accordance with section 6-115.1 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, the contractor stipulates that such contractor and any individual or legal entity in which the contractor holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest and any individual or legal entity that holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest in the contractor either (a) have no business operations in Northern Ireland, or (b) shall take [awful steps in good faith to conduct any business operations they have in Northern Ireland in accordance with the MacBride Principles, and shall permit independent monitoring of their compliance with such principles.

PART B

For purposes of this section, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "MacBride Principles" shall mean those principles relating to nondiscrimination in employment and freedom of workplace opportunity which require employers doing business in Northern Ireland to:

(1) increase the representation of individuals from underrepresented religious groups in the work force, including managerial, supervisory, administrative, clerical and technical jobs;

(2) take steps to promote adequate security for the protection of employees from underrepresented religious groups both at the workplace and while traveling to and from work;

(3) ban provocative religious or political emblems from the workplace;

(4) publicly advertise all job opening and make special recruitment efforts to attract applicants from underrepresented religious groups;

(5) establish layoff, recall and termination procedures which do not in practice favor a particular religious group;

(6) abolish all job reservations, apprenticeship restrictions and different employment criteria which discriminate on the basis of religion;

(7) develop training programs that will prepare substantial number-s of current employees from underrepresented religious groups for skilled jobs, including the expansion of existing programs and the creation of new programs to train, upgrade and improve the skills of workers from underrepresented religious groups;

(8) establish procedures to assess, identify and actively recruit employees from underrepresented religious groups with potential for further advancement; and

(9) appoint a senior management staff member to oversee affirmative action efforts and develop a timetable to ensure their full implementation.

ARTICLE II. ENFORCEMENT OF ARTICLE I.

The contractor agrees that the covenants and representations in Article I above are material conditions to this contract. In the event the contracting entity receives Information that the contractor who made the stipulation required by this section is in violation thereof, the contracting entity shall review such information and give the contractor an opportunity to respond. If the contracting entity finds that a violation has occurred, the entity shall have the right to declare the contractor in default and/or terminate this contract for cause and procure the supplies, services or work from another source in any manner the entity deems proper.

In the event of such termination, the contractor shall pay to the entity, or the entity in its sole discretion may withhold from any amounts otherwise payable to the contractor, the difference between the contract price for the uncompleted portion of this contract and the cost to the contracting entity of completing performance of this contract either itself or by engaging another contractor or contractors. In the case of a requirements contract, the contractor shall be liable for such difference in price for the entire amount of supplies required by the contracting entity for uncompleted term of its contract. In the case of a construction contract, the contracting entity shall also have the right to hold the contractor in partial or total default in accordance with the default provisions of this contract, and/or may seek debarment or suspension of the contractor. The rights and remedies of the entity hereunder shall be in addition to, and not in lieu of any rights and remedies the entity has pursuant to this contract or by operation of law.

AGREED

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

DATE: _____

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Sam Schwartz"
Subject: RE: Paperwork
Date: Monday, August 31, 2015 6:45:51 PM
Attachments: Doing Business Data Form - July 2008.pdf
Tax Affirmation.pdf
MacBride Principal.pdf
FHV Consultant Agreement 8 31 2015 SamSchwartz v f.doc

---

Sam,

Attached you will find all four documents needed to begin your engagement with the City. Please let me know what, if any, questions you may have. We would like to set up a time to bring you up to speed. What does the rest of your week look like?

Safe travels!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz mailto:[sschwartz@samschwartz.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 5:22 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Joshua,

Please send me the paperwork. I probably will have a few questions. I'm traveling the next couple of days but should be able to get back to you shortly.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.

President + CEO

sschwartz@samschwartz.com

phone:  \(212\) 598-9010 x 110598-9010)

toll free:  \(877\) 726-7249726-7249)

322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS

Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound

Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

-

Sam Schwartz Engineering
+ Ingenuity | Accessibility | Integrity
D.P.C.

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [<mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:28 PM
To: 'sam@samschwartz.com' <sam@samschwartz.com>
Subject: FHV: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

My name is Joshua Sidis and I am with the Mayor's Office of Operations. Thank you again for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I am working on bringing you onboard as an adviser for the FHV study. I am happy to answer any questions. Let me know if you would like to have a call or if I should just send over the paperwork.

Talk to you soon,

Joshua Sidis
Mayor's Office of Operations
212-788-4881
253 Broadway, 10th flr.

Security settings or invalid file format do not permit using Doing_Business_Data_Form_-_July_2008_1.pdf (773816 Bytes).

TAX AFFIRMATION

The undersigned proposer or bidder affirms and declares that said proposer or bidder is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt, contract or taxes and is not a defaulter, as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the proposer or bidder to receive public Contracts except _____

Full name of Proposer or Bidder _____

Address

_____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

CHECK ONE BOX AND INCLUDE APPROPRIATE NUMBER:

A- INDIVIDUAL OR SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP***
SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER

-----

B - PARTNERSHIP, JOINT VENTURE OR OTHER UNINCORPORATED ORGANIZATION
EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

-----

C - CORPORATION
EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

-----

BY _____ SIGNATURE

_____
TITLE

If a corporation place seal here

Must be signed by an of officer or duly authorized representative. Please Affix notary on this page.

*Under the Federal Privacy Act the furnishing of Social Security Numbers by bidders on City contracts is voluntary. Failure to provide a Social Security Number will not result in a bidder's disqualification. Social Security Numbers will be used to identify bidders, proposers or vendors to ensure their compliance with laws, to assist the City in enforcement of laws as well as to provide the City a means of identifying of businesses, which seek City contracts.

MACBRDE PRINCIPLES PROVISIONS
FOR NEW YORK CITY CONTRACTORS

ARTICLE I. MACBRIDE PRINCIPLES
NOTICE TO ALL PROSPECTIVE CONTRACTORS

Local Law No. 34 of 1991 became effective on September 10, 1991 and added section 6-115.1 to the Administrative Code of the City of New York. The local law provides for certain restrictions on City contracts to express the opposition of the people of the City of New York to employment discrimination practices in Northern Ireland and to encourage companies doing business in Northern Ireland to promote freedom of workplace opportunity.

Pursuant to Section 6-115.1, prospective contractors for contracts to provide goods or services involving an expenditure of an amount greater than ten thousand dollars, or for construction involving an amount greater than fifteen thousand dollars, are asked to sign a rider in which they covenant and represent, as a material condition of their contract, that any business in Northern Ireland operations conducted by the contractor and any individual or legal entity in which the contractor holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest and any Individual or legal entity that holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest in the contractor will be conducted in accordance with the MacBride Principles of nondiscrimination in employment.

Prospective contractors are not required to agree to these conditions. However, in the case of contracts let by competitive sealed bidding, whenever the lowest responsible bidder has not agreed to stipulate to the conditions set forth in this notice and another bidder who has agreed to stipulate to such conditions has submitted a bid within five percent of the lowest responsible bid for a contract to supply goods, services or construction of comparable quality, the contracting entity shall refer such bids to the Mayor, the Speaker or other officials, as appropriate, who may determine, in accordance with applicable law and rules, that it is in the best interest of the city that the contract be awarded to other than the lowest responsible bidder pursuant to Section 313(b)(2) of the City Charter.

In the case of contracts let by other than competitive sealed bidding, if a prospective contractor does not agree to these conditions, no agency, elected official or the Council shall award the contract to that bidder unless the entity seeking to use the goods, services or construction certifies in writing that the contract is necessary for the entity to perform its functions and there is no other responsible contractor who will supply goods, services or construction of comparable quality at a comparable price.

PART A

In accordance with section 6-115.1 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, the contractor stipulates that such contractor and any individual or legal entity in which the contractor holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest and any individual or legal entity that holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest in the contractor either (a) have no business operations in Northern Ireland, or (b) shall take [awful steps in good faith to conduct any business operations they have in Northern Ireland in accordance with the MacBride Principles, and shall permit independent monitoring of their compliance with such principles.

PART B

For purposes of this section, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "MacBride Principles" shall mean those principles relating to nondiscrimination in employment and freedom of workplace opportunity which require employers doing business in Northern Ireland to:

(1) increase the representation of individuals from underrepresented religious groups in the work force, including managerial, supervisory, administrative, clerical and technical jobs;

(2) take steps to promote adequate security for the protection of employees from underrepresented religious groups both at the workplace and while traveling to and from work;

(3) ban provocative religious or political emblems from the workplace;

(4) publicly advertise all job opening and make special recruitment efforts to attract applicants from underrepresented religious groups;

(5) establish layoff, recall and termination procedures which do not in practice favor a particular religious group;

(6) abolish all job reservations, apprenticeship restrictions and different employment criteria which discriminate on the basis of religion;

(7) develop training programs that will prepare substantial number-s of current employees from underrepresented religious groups for skilled jobs, including the expansion of existing programs and the creation of new programs to train, upgrade and improve the skills of workers from underrepresented religious groups;

(8) establish procedures to assess, identify and actively recruit employees from underrepresented religious groups with potential for further advancement; and

(9) appoint a senior management staff member to oversee affirmative action efforts and develop a timetable to ensure their full implementation.

ARTICLE II. ENFORCEMENT OF ARTICLE I.

The contractor agrees that the covenants and representations in Article I above are material conditions to this contract. In the event the contracting entity receives Information that the contractor who made the stipulation required by this section is in violation thereof, the contracting entity shall review such information and give the contractor an opportunity to respond. If the contracting entity finds that a violation has occurred, the entity shall have the right to declare the contractor in default and/or terminate this contract for cause and procure the supplies, services or work from another source in any manner the entity deems proper.

In the event of such termination, the contractor shall pay to the entity, or the entity in its sole discretion may withhold from any amounts otherwise payable to the contractor, the difference between the contract price for the uncompleted portion of this contract and the cost to the contracting entity of completing performance of this contract either itself or by engaging another contractor or contractors. In the case of a requirements contract, the contractor shall be liable for such difference in price for the entire amount of supplies required by the contracting entity for uncompleted term of its contract. In the case of a construction contract, the contracting entity shall also have the right to hold the contractor in partial or total default in accordance with the default provisions of this contract, and/or may seek debarment or suspension of the contractor. The rights and remedies of the entity hereunder shall be in addition to, and not in lieu of any rights and remedies the entity has pursuant to this contract or by operation of law.

AGREED

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

DATE: _____

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC located at 611 Broadway, New York, NY 10012, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor’s Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Sam Schwartz Engineering DCP agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 67 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $300 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.
2. The Consultant's invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, Consultant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.
2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.

4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term “entity” as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term “member” as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Subject: RE: FHV study
Date: Monday, August 31, 2015 8:20:30 PM
Attachments: FHV Consultant Agreement 8 31 2015 Bruce Schaller vF.doc
FHV Consultant Agreement 8 31 2015 Bruce Schaller vF.pdf

---

Bruce,

Attached, please find the consultant agreement. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to reach out.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,
Bruce

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE (FHV) TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, located at 94 Windsor Pl, Brooklyn, NY, 11215, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor’s Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 73 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.
2. The Consultant's invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, Consultant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.
2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.

4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such

person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term “entity” as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term “member” as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE (FHV) TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, located at 94 Windsor Pl, Brooklyn, NY, 11215, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor’s Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 73 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.
2. The Consultant's invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, Consultant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.
2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.

4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such

person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term “entity” as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term “member” as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study
Date: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 1:46:17 PM
Attachments: FHV Consultant Agreement 8 31 2015 Bruce Schaller vF with edits.doc

---

Joshua - I made a small number of edits visible in MS Word track changes. Please review and once agreed upon, I can execute the agreement and also send you a pdf of the forms.

I think there should be an EFT form which I don't see here....?

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 8:20 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Bruce,

Attached, please find the consultant agreement. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to reach out.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,

Bruce

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE (FHV) TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, located at 94 Windsor Pl, Brooklyn, NY, 11215, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor’s Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

Memoranda requested in the course of the study will address the topic and issues from the list below:

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 73 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.

2. The Consultant ~~s shall~~ invoice invoice on a monthly basis. Invoicess should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and

3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with ~~two~~ two (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.

4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, ~~Consultant~~, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.

2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
  3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.
  4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such

person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term “entity” as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term “member” as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Subject: RE: FHV study
Date: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 9:07:37 AM
Attachments: FHV Consultant Agreement 9 1 2015 Bruce Schaller vF.doc
FHV Consultant Agreement 9 1 2015 Bruce Schaller vF.pdf

---

These look fine Bruce. I made the changes. Not sure about the ETF. You should have all the docs.

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 1:46 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Joshua - I made a small number of edits visible in MS Word track changes. Please review and once agreed upon, I can execute the agreement and also send you a pdf of the forms.

I think there should be an EFT form which I don't see here....?

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 8:20 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Bruce,

Attached, please find the consultant agreement. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to reach out.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,
Bruce

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE (FHV) TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, located at 94 Windsor Pl, Brooklyn, NY, 11215, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor’s Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

Memoranda requested in the course of the study will address the topic and issues from the list below:

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 73 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.
2. The Consultant shall invoice on a monthly basis. Invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.

2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
  3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.
  4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such

person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term “entity” as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term “member” as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE (FHV) TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, located at 94 Windsor Pl, Brooklyn, NY, 11215, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor’s Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

Memoranda requested in the course of the study will address the topic and issues from the list below:

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 73 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.
2. The Consultant shall invoice on a monthly basis. Invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.

2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
  3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.
  4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such

person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term “entity” as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term “member” as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

From: [redacted]@mckinsey.com
To: Brindisi, Francesco (OMB)
Cc: alejandro.solis@hdrinc.com; Casinelli, Luigi; Pelaez, Finah; [redacted]@mckinsey.com; Sidjs, Joshua; [redacted]@mckinsey.com; [redacted]@mckinsey.com
Subject: SF FHV study - related to economic projection model
Date: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 11:31 54 AM
Attachments: UCTC-FR-2014-08.pdf

---

Francesco,
Please find attached the study done on San Francisco mentioned on today's call regarding the economic projection model.

best,
[redacted]

[redacted] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [redacted]

Rayle, Shaheen, Chan, Dai, and Cervero 1

ABSTRACT

The rapid growth of on-demand ride services, or ridesourcing, has prompted debate among policy makers and stakeholders. At present, ridesourcing's usage and impacts are not well understood. Key questions include: how ridesourcing and taxis compare with respect to trip types, customers, and locations served; whether ridesourcing complements or competes with public transit; and potential impacts on vehicle miles traveled. We address these questions using an intercept survey. In spring 2014, 380 complete surveys were collected from three ridesourcing "hot spots" in San Francisco. Survey results are compared with matched-pair taxi trip data and results of a previous taxi user survey.

The findings indicate ridesourcing serves a previously unmet demand for convenient, point-to-point urban travel. Although taxis and ridesourcing share similarities, the findings show differences in users and the user experience. Ridesourcing wait times are markedly shorter and more consistent than those of taxis, while ridesourcing users tend to be younger, own fewer vehicles and more frequently travel with companions. Ridesourcing appears to substitute for longer public transit trips but otherwise complements transit. Impacts on overall vehicle travel are ambiguous. Future research should build on this exploratory study to further understand impacts of ridesourcing on labor, social equity, the environment, and public policy.

University of California Transportation Center
UCTC-FR-2014-08

App-Based, On-Demand Ride Services:
Comparing Taxi and Ridesourcing Trips and User Characteristics in San Francisco

Lisa Rayle, Susan Shaheen, Nelson Chan,
Danielle Dai, and Robert Cervero
University of California, Berkeley

August 2014 (See attached file: UCTC-FR-2014-08.pdf)

+ ===== +
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+ ===== +

---

University of California Transportation Center
UCTC-FR-2014-08

App-Based, On-Demand Ride Services:
Comparing Taxi and Ridesourcing Trips and User Characteristics in San Francisco

Lisa Rayle, Susan Shaheen, Nelson Chan,
Danielle Dai, and Robert Cervero
University of California, Berkeley
August 2014

---

DISCLAIMER

The contents of this report reflect the views of the authors, who are responsible for the facts and the accuracy of the information presented herein. This University of California Transportation Center document is disseminated under the sponsorship of the U.S. Department of Transportation's University Transportation Centers Program and California Department of Transportation, in the interest of information exchange. The U.S. Government and State of California assume no liability for the contents or use thereof.

App-Based, On-Demand Ride Services:
Comparing Taxi and Ridesourcing Trips and User Characteristics in San Francisco

University of California Transportation Center (UCTC) Working Paper

Lisa Rayle (corresponding author)

Doctoral Student
Department of City and Regional Planning
University of California, Berkeley
228 Wurster Hall #1850
Berkeley, CA 94720
(617) 899-3379; lrayle@berkeley.edu

Susan Shaheen, Ph.D.

Adjunct Professor, Civil and Environmental Engineering
Co-Director, Transportation Sustainability Research Center
University of California, Berkeley
408 McLaughlin Hall, Berkeley, CA 94720
(510) 642-9168; sshaaheen@berkeley.edu

Nelson Chan

Survey Researcher, Transportation Sustainability Research Center
University of California, Berkeley
1301 South 46th Street, Building 190, Richmond, CA 94804
(510) 984-2291; ndchan@berkeley.edu

Danielle Dai

Student, Master of City Planning, MS Transportation Engineering
Department of City and Regional Planning
University of California, Berkeley
228 Wurster Hall #1850
Berkeley, CA 94720
(732) 977-9359; ddai@berkeley.edu

Robert Cervero

Professor of City and Regional Planning
Department of City and Regional Planning
University of California, Berkeley
228 Wurster Hall #1850
Berkeley, CA 94720
(510) 642-1695; robertc@berkeley.edu

August 2014

ABSTRACT

The rapid growth of on-demand ride services, or ridesourcing, has prompted debate among policy makers and stakeholders. At present, ridesourcing's usage and impacts are not well understood. Key questions include: how ridesourcing and taxis compare with respect to trip types, customers, and locations served; whether ridesourcing complements or competes with public transit; and potential impacts on vehicle miles traveled. We address these questions using an intercept survey. In spring 2014, 380 complete surveys were collected from three ridesourcing "hot spots" in San Francisco. Survey results are compared with matched-pair taxi trip data and results of a previous taxi user survey.

The findings indicate ridesourcing serves a previously unmet demand for convenient, point-to-point urban travel. Although taxis and ridesourcing share similarities, the findings show differences in users and the user experience. Ridesourcing wait times are markedly shorter and more consistent than those of taxis, while ridesourcing users tend to be younger, own fewer vehicles and more frequently travel with companions. Ridesourcing appears to substitute for longer public transit trips but otherwise complements transit. Impacts on overall vehicle travel are ambiguous. Future research should build on this exploratory study to further understand impacts of ridesourcing on labor, social equity, the environment, and public policy.

KEY WORDS: On-demand ride services, ridesourcing, taxis, ridesharing, intercept survey, travel behavior

INTRODUCTION

The recent emergence of app-based, on-demand ride services has sparked debate over their role in urban transport. By leveraging advances in technology, ride service companies such as Uber, Lyft, and their competitors—also known as "Transportation Network Companies" (TNCs) or, more colloquially, "ridesharing"—promise to increase reliability and reduce wait times of point-to-point transportation. We refer to these services as "ridesourcing." These services have directly challenged existing regulations and practices that have over the years shaped the taxi industry, raising questions about appropriate regulatory and public policy responses.

Supporters view ridesourcing as part of a suite of transport options that serves previously unmet demand for fast, flexible, and convenient mobility in urban areas. By providing an attractive alternative to driving, these services can potentially reduce auto use, ownership, and environmental problems. Ostensibly, taxicabs would fill the role played by ridesourcing services (1–4), but in many cities they have not, due to regulations and monopolistic behavior that restrict supply and give rise to reliability and service quality problems (3–6). Critics, however, charge that ridesourcing services unfairly flout existing regulations, compete with public transit, increase congestion at peak times, mislead consumers through opaque pricing practices, and endanger public safety. This position holds that ridesourcing is no different from a taxi service and, as for taxis, regulations are needed to counteract negative externalities and other market failures inherent in the sector (7). It rests on the argument that governments should enforce regulations consistently and, as quid pro quo for complying with regulations, taxi companies are entitled to certain market protections (8).

As city leaders revise policies on ridesourcing services, there is an urgent need for independent analysis of their mobility and environmental impacts. In this paper, we explore ridesourcing's role in urban transportation, particularly in comparison with taxis, through an intercept survey of ridesourcing users in San Francisco. While the survey represents a limited sample of users, the results nevertheless suggest that ridesourcing services fill an important urban mobility gap. By comparing survey data with existing taxi usage data, we find that ridesourcing serves a similar demand to taxis, although some characteristics of users and trips differ considerably. In addition, our data show a substantial portion of sampled ridesourcing trips are spatially and temporally not well served by public transit, suggesting a complementary relationship with transit, at least for some trips. Ridesourcing users also appear to be less likely to own an automobile. These exploratory findings provide an initial picture of the ridesourcing market that, we believe, calls for further investigation. We begin the paper by describing the context for these services, including definitions and reviewing related literature and policy developments. After explaining the survey methodology, we discuss results and conclude with discussions on policy implications and suggestions for future research.

BACKGROUND

In recent years, advances in information and communication technology have enabled new services that provide a wide variety of real-time and demand-responsive trips. Companies such as Lyft, Sidecar, and Uber have emerged offering smartphone applications to link riders with community drivers. Passengers request a ride from a private passenger vehicle driven by a (usually) non-commercially licensed driver through the mobile application, which then communicates the passenger's location to drivers via GPS. These apps charge a distance-variable fare, approximately 80% of which goes to the driver, with the remaining to the ridesourcing service. Many of these applications maintain a rating system that allows for drivers and passengers to rate each other after the trip is completed. A passenger's credit card information can be saved within the system to facilitate future trips. Complete characterization of ridesourcing is difficult though, as the services are quickly evolving.

In recent months these services have grown rapidly in terms of customers, drivers, and geographic areas served. In their current state, these services appear similar to taxis, which has caused a great deal of policy confusion and tension around "fairness" in regulatory treatment between taxis and ridesourcing companies. Proponents of these services maintain they differ from taxis in that they are dynamically linking passengers together to share a ride.

Much debate has gone into defining these services. At this time, there is no consensus on terminology. Other names include: "Transportation Network Companies (TNCs)," "real-time ridesharing," "parataxis," "ridematching," "on-demand rides," and "app-based rides." We chose to refer to these services as "ridesourcing" because we believe it succinctly conveys the essential technology—a platform used to "source" rides from a driver pool.

Ridesourcing has roots in ridesharing and shares traits of traditional taxis. While the line is unclear, some distinctions can be drawn. Despite the claims of some ridesourcing supporters, ridesourcing differs from ridesharing, which involves the grouping of travelers in a private vehicle, each heading to a similar destination, with the goal of reducing congestion, travel costs, fuel consumption, and vehicle emissions (9). In comparison, ridesourcing drivers usually do not share a destination with passengers; instead, the driver's motivation is fare income. Some proponents nevertheless envision ridesourcing becoming more similar to ridesharing by allowing unrelated passengers to share a ride, for example. Indeed, companies have recently introduced shared rides as an option. However, ridesourcing in its current state more closely resembles a taxi in that a driver offers a ride in exchange for a fare. Ridesourcing proponents maintain that, unlike taxis, ridesourcing enables more efficient use of vehicles that drivers already own. Some also argue that ridesourcing differs from traditional taxis due to the efficiency and reliability of the matching platform and pricing mechanisms, along with the accountability of the rating system. On the other hand, ridesourcing's apparent efficiency advantages may also be explained by its exemption from the supply restrictions that often govern taxis. Taxi companies are increasingly adopting app-based dispatch, further blurring the line between the two. Not surprisingly, regulatory agencies have struggled with how to define these services and what regulations, if any, to impose.

In this study, we surveyed users of three main ridesourcing companies: Uber, Lyft, and Sidecar. Uber offers several options that include both ridesourcing and professional driver services. The cheapest, uberX, matches travelers with "regular" drivers who usually do not have a commercial vehicle license. uberX is more of a “pure” ridesourcing service than Uber Black and Uber SUV, which use dedicated vehicles and drivers with a for-hire license. However, most users would categorize Uber Black and Uber SUV as more similar to uberX than to a taxi or limousine service, reiterating the fuzzy definitions of these services. Lyft and Sidecar both offer ridesourcing services that provide on-demand rides through a network of “community” drivers.

RELATED LITERATURE

At present, we are not aware of any published literature on ridesourcing, so we rely on related research on ridesharing and taxis to provide insights into expected usage characteristics and potential impacts. Empirical evidence indicates that ridesharing can provide transportation, infrastructure, and environmental benefits, although the exact magnitude of these impacts is not well understood. While not specific to ridesharing alone, one report estimated that using ICT to optimize logistics of individual road transport could reduce 70 to 190 million metric tons of carbon dioxide emissions by 2020 in the U.S. (10). Individually, ridesharing participants benefit from shared travel costs, travel-time savings from high occupancy vehicle lanes, reduced commute stress, and often preferential parking and other incentives (9). Despite its benefits, there are several barriers to increased ridesharing use, including reluctance to sacrifice the flexibility and convenience of the private automobile (11), desire for personal space and time (12), and personal security concerns about sharing a ride with strangers. For decades, federal and local governments have promoted various ridesharing policies. While these policies may have had some success, ridesharing’s modal share declined after the 1970s (9), but according to census data has increased slightly in recent years.

Taxis have historically accounted for a very small share of urban travel and are much less extensively studied than other forms of transport. Despite their small modal share, taxis fill a critical gap by providing transportation when driving or other public transit modes are not possible (3, 4). Notably, authors have found taxis to be both complements and substitutes for public transit (1, 2).

Research suggests unregulated taxi services can create public costs, and almost all large- and medium-sized cities have regulated taxis since the 1930s (3). The taxi industry has at various times suffered from numerous market imperfections, supplying the rationale for regulation (3, 7). Lack of information is a problem in street-hail and cab-stand markets: riders cannot compare information on price or service quality before choosing a vehicle, resulting in poor service quality. Low barriers to entry in these markets tend to enable over-competition, leading to aggressive and unsafe driver behavior, poor vehicle maintenance, and congestion (7). Regulatory responses include restrictions on market entry and supply (i.e., medallion systems); fare regulation; and vehicle and driver safety standards. The literature concurs that some regulation is necessary for safety reasons, although there is a fair amount of debate over the conditions in which supply controls are needed to prevent destructive competition (3, 7, 13). Moreover, as technology evolves, hailing a for-hire vehicle no longer requires standing on a street corner or placing a telephone call, and rating systems might resolve the lack-of-information problem. These advances bring into question how the need for regulation may have changed.

POLICY DEVELOPMENTS

Not surprisingly, transportation innovation has begun to outpace policy. This became evident shortly after ridesourcing services launched in San Francisco, California in summer 2012. Without formal definitions and lacking understanding about public safety and transportation-related impacts, policymakers were compelled to consider whether these new services, which called themselves “ridesharing,” fell under the classical definitions of ridesharing, for-hire vehicle services, or peer-to-peer taxis services. In August 2012, the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) issued cease and desist letters to Lyft, SideCar, and Uber, which were followed by citations of US$20,000 apiece in November 2012 for purported illegal operations (14). After holding public workshops, the CPUC established a new category of motor vehicle carriers, known as Transportation Network Companies (TNCs), in September 2013. CPUC defined a TNC as an operator that “provides prearranged transportation services for compensation using an online-enabled application or platform (such as smartphone applications) to connect drivers using their personal vehicles with passengers” (15). Under the new rules, companies that approved to operate as a TNC were required to get a license from the CPUC, conduct criminal background checks of all drivers, have a driver training program, maintain a “zero tolerance” policy on drugs and alcohol, and maintain at least US$1 million per incident insurance coverage. In June 2014, CPUC adopted additional policy guidance regarding secondary insurance during two key stages of TNC operations: 1) “app on” and 2) in-service (i.e., passenger(s) in the vehicle). This required secondary insurance during “app on” operations, as well as additional coverage for uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage, and comp and collision coverage during tripmaking (15). In August 2014, the California legislature approved Assembly Bill 2293, which is awaiting the Governor’s signature. Key provisions include the separation of personal auto insurance from the commercial activities of TNCs, establishing insurance requirements of $50,000 per an individual and $100,000 total primary liability coverage during periods when a TNC driver is logged in but not handling service calls, reaffirms the CPUC’s oversight of TNCs, and provides an expedited approval process for TNC insurance products. If signed into law, the main provisions would take effect July 1, 2015.

In spring 2014, Seattle attempted to cap the number of ridesourcing vehicles, similar to the limits imposed on the number of taxi medallions. In July 2014, Seattle’s ordinance was repealed removing the cap on these vehicles and increasing the number of new taxi licenses (16). On the East Coast, initial program launches in New York City, Washington, D.C., and Philadelphia resulted in vehicle citations and impounded vehicles. In New York City, the Taxi and Limousine Commission issued citations and impounded vehicles, which ultimately resulted in the withdrawal of Sidecar operations, and a temporary restraining order was imposed that prevented the launch of Lyft services in the city. A similar restraining order was also enacted in St. Louis, Missouri. Washington, D.C. amended the municipal regulations to govern the operations of ridesharing companies that “digitally dispatch” vehicles-for-hire (17). In Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Parking Authority, which regulates taxicabs and for-hire vehicles initially impounded vehicles and issued citations against Sidecar drivers but later permitted the service to operate as long as rides were free of charge.

A list of approved, discarded, pending, and proposed public policy actions in the U.S., as of August 2014, is included in Table 1. Policy remains in a state of flux as governments in and outside the U.S. continue to debate the issue.

Table 1 Existing and Proposed Ridesourcing Public Policies

Approved Legislation:

California: The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) requires Transportation Network Companies (TNCs) to conduct criminal background checks of all drivers, have a driver training program, maintain a “zero tolerance” policy on drugs and alcohol, and maintain at least $1 million per incident insurance coverage, $5,000 medical payment coverage, $50,000 comprehensive and collision coverage, and $1 million uninsured/underinsured motorist coverage per incident.

Colorado: SB 125 establishes a framework for ridesourcing services to provide commercial liability insurance coverage when a driver logs onto the mobile app and is available for hire.

Chicago, IL: City Council Substitute Ordinance 2014-1367 requires ridesourcing companies to provide $1 million in liability coverage and $1 million of coverage for drivers from the time a ride is accepted until completion.

Nashville, TN: Municipal ordinance passed amending local codes pertaining to vehicles for hire.

North Carolina: The General Assembly passed a law prohibiting the regulation of “digital dispatching” services by local governments.

Pennsylvania: The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PPUC) approved Yellow Cab Company's application to establish a peer-to-peer ridesharing service, known as Yellow X.

Seattle, WA: The city council passed an ordinance requiring commercial insurance coverage for ridesourcing companies whenever a driver is "available" to drive.

Pending Legislation:

Baton Rouge, LA: Proposed ordinance would amend the parish code to allow for ridesourcing companies to operate without having to follow rules of the Taxicab Control Board.

California: In August 2014, the California legislature approved Assembly Bill 2293. Key provisions include the separation of personal auto insurance from the commercial activities of TNCs, establishing insurance requirements of $50,000 per an individual and $100,000 total primary liability coverage during periods when a TNC driver is logged in but not handling service calls, reaffirms the CPUC's oversight of TNCs, and provides an expedited approval process for TNC insurance products. If signed by California's Governor, the law's main provisions would take effect July 1, 2015.

Charlotte, NC: The City Council Community Safety Committee is considering possible regulation of ridesourcing companies.

Columbus, OH: Proposed ordinance would amend the city's vehicle for-hire regulations to encompass peer-to-peer transportation services.

District of Columbia: The D.C. Taxi Cab Commission has issued proposed rules to regulate ridesourcing companies. B20-753 establishes minimum commercial insurance requirements for ridesourcing services and imposes new regulations on the inspection and licensing of for-hire vehicles by a new District.

Illinois: HB 4075 (The Ridesharing Arrangements and Consumer Protection Act) requires that drivers working more than 18 hours a week obtain special licenses and vehicle registration; ridesharing cars be less than four years old; and that vehicle dispatchers insure drivers who do not have insurance. HB 5331 decreases the required insurance coverage to $350,000 to mirror the insurance requirement of Chicago taxis.

King County, WA: The county is considering an ordinance that would regulate ridesourcing companies similar to taxis.

Minneapolis, MN: The city council is considering regulations for ridesourcing companies that would address a wide array of issues including insurance and inspections.

New Jersey: AB3362 would mandate the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission to establish insurance and safety requirements for ridesourcing companies.

Rhode Island: HB 8298 and SB3146 is a joint resolution to establish a special legislative commission to study the Public Motor Vehicle Act and the impact of innovative technologies on transportation services and report back to the state's General Assembly by March 31, 2015.

Virginia: HB908 and SB531 relax regulations that apply to ridesourcing companies.

Wisconsin: The Madison and Milwaukee City Councils are considering municipal ordinances to regulate ridesourcing.

Vetoed/Inactive Legislation:

Arizona: HB2262 limited an insurer's ability to exclude commercial activity in its contract by stating an exclusion for "commercial, fee or livery activities" is only applicable during a ridesourcing trip but not while a driver is looking for passengers.

Georgia: HB 907 originally sought to prohibit ridesourcing companies from operating in Georgia. The bill was later amended to regulate ridesourcing companies.

Maryland: HB 1160 and SB 919 would have exempted ridesourcing companies from regulation and oversight that taxicab companies and drivers must adhere to.

Oklahoma: SB1703 was intended to address insurance issues with ridesourcing companies and exempt its drivers from commercial operator insurance requirements.

Washington: HB2782 would have directed the Joint Transportation Committee to study ridesourcing companies and issue a report to the state legislature on insurance, safety, and barriers faced by taxicab companies.

Cease and Desist Orders:

Ann Arbor, MI: Cease and desist letters issued to Uber and Lyft.

Columbus, OH: City orders Uber and Lyft to cease and desist operations.

Nebraska: Cease and desist letters issued to Lyft and Uber by the Nebraska Public Service Commission.

New Mexico: Cease and desist order issued to Lyft by the Public Regulation Commission.

St. Louis, MO: Cease and desist order issued by the taxi commission.

Texas: Cease and desist orders issued by Austin, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Virginia: Cease and desist orders issued to Uber and Lyft by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Temporary Restraining Orders:

Kansas City, MO: Temporary restraining order filed against Lyft.

New York City: Temporary restraining order filed against Lyft.

Sources: Property Casualty Insurers Association of America

Jergler, D. "Uber, Lyft, Sidecar Toe-to-Toe with Insurers State-by-State" The Insurance Journal. June 27, 2014. <http://www.insurancejournal.com/news/national/2014/06/27/332942.htm>

Daus, Matthew. "Ridesharing Applications: Illegal 'Hitchhiking-for-Hire' or Sustainable Group Riding?" May 2013

<http://docs.cpuc.ca.gov/PublishedDocs/Published/G000/M098/K126/98126852.PDF>

<http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/Enforcement/TNC/>

It is in this environment of evolving technology and policy that we conducted this study. At present, the emergence of ridesourcing companies draws attention to a gap in the transportation system not quite met by the taxi and ridesharing market. With characteristics similar to taxis, but also the potential to realize some of the benefits of both taxis and ridesharing, ridesourcing poses a challenge for regulators. In this working paper, we hope to contribute initial empirical evidence to this discussion.

METHODOLOGY

To collect data on ridesourcing users and trips, we conducted an intercept survey of ridesourcing customers in San Francisco during May and June 2014. First, we investigated suitable locations and times where there appeared to be a large number of ridesourcing trips and potential respondents. The three most suitable neighborhoods were (see Figure 2):

- 1) Mission District (Valencia Street between 16th Street and 19th Street, and 16th Street between Mission Street and Guerrero Street);
- 2) Marina District (Chestnut Street between Pierce Street and Laguna Street); and
- 3) North Beach (Columbus Avenue between Broadway and Union Street).

Pretests suggested an adequate intercept response rate was likely only in evenings and during peak hours—Thursdays from 5:30pm to 8:30pm, Fridays 6:30-9:30pm, and Saturdays 7:30-10:30pm. In June, surveying on Wednesdays from 6:30-9:30pm was added, and Saturday surveying was shifted to 6:30-9:30pm. While ridesourcing companies and drivers suggest that many trips are taken throughout the day, including the AM and PM commute, pretesting conducted downtown during those commute times yielded an extremely low response rate; hence, we did not attempt to survey at these times and locations.

Surveyors targeted two types of potential respondents: those who had just completed a ridesourcing trip ("intercept trips"), and those who had used ridesourcing within the last two weeks ("previous trips"). Both types responded to identical surveys. Surveyors were instructed to prioritize intercepting anyone exiting a ridesourcing vehicle. These respondents were asked about the trip they just completed (i.e., an intercept trip). For the "previous trips," surveyors were instructed to intercept every fifth person encountered, to reduce selection bias. These respondents were asked to recall the last ridesourcing trip they had taken, within the past two weeks. Those approached who did not have time to complete a survey were given a link to an equivalent online survey, which they could complete later on a computer or smartphone. Of the 757 approached to participate in the survey, 380 completed a response (i.e., response rate of 50.2%). Of the N=380 completed responses, 294 (77%) were about trips within San Francisco, but 21 (6%) had at least an origin or destination elsewhere in the Bay Area, and 24 (6%) answered about trips entirely outside of San Francisco. Another 41 (11%) were discarded due to other errors (e.g., missing origin/destination, unintelligible locations). This analysis focuses mainly on trips taken within San Francisco. Of those 294 trips, 316 (83%) were "previous trips," while 64 (17%) were “intercept trips.” For analysis of demographics and non-location-specific topics, we include all Bay Area trips, as noted in the findings.

The survey asked 18 questions regarding trip origin and destination, trip purpose, previous and alternative modal choice, car ownership, and basic demographics. After survey completion, respondents received a US$5 gift card to a local coffee vendor. Survey instruments were pre-tested and modified slightly based on user feedback.

We compare ridesourcing survey data with data from three other sources: the American Community Survey (ACS) 2012 one-year estimates, a survey of taxi users conducted for the San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency (SFMTA) in early 2013, and trip logs from one medium-sized taxi company in San Francisco from October 2013. The SFMTA taxi user survey was a telephone survey of a representative sample of San Francisco households that asked questions about respondents’ typical taxi usage. The taxi log data includes origins, destinations, fare, distance, and passenger data for all trips provided by the company’s vehicles. To enable a matched comparison between taxis and ridesourcing, a random sample of taxi trips was generated to match the day of week and time of day of surveyed ridesourcing trips. For example, for each surveyed ridesourcing trip that took place on Fridays between 7-8 PM, one taxi trip was randomly selected from the same Friday, 7-8 PM time period. From the approximately 150,000 logged taxi trips, 290 trips overlapped with ridesourcing trips. While the dates of the ridesourcing survey did not align with the taxi trip logs, all observations excluded summer vacation and rainy seasons, factors that can influence travel behavior.

Limitations

Like all intercept surveys, this survey was not completely representative of the ridesourcing market. Data were collected from three San Francisco neighborhoods, capturing primarily evening trips to dining and entertainment venues. While these social, evening trips likely comprise a large—and perhaps the largest—part of the ridesourcing market, other types of trips are underrepresented. Informal conversations with drivers tell us many people use ridesourcing services for their commute, airport trips, and other errands. Thus, the survey does not adequately capture these trips. Respondents did not represent all ridesourcing users in San Francisco or the greater Bay Area. The survey oversampled users who were likely to be in the survey locations in the evenings. Given these limitations, we intend this as an exploratory study that can guide future research.

RESULTS

In this section, we discuss key findings from the intercept survey including user demographics, trip characteristics, and reasons for using ridesourcing. We compare ridesourcing survey data with census and taxi data and public transit availability.

Ridesourcing Market Share

Of all surveyed trips, uberX provided the majority (53%), while other Uber services (black car, SUV) represented another 8%. Lyft provided 30% of trips, Sidecar 7%, and the remainder were other services. This is consistent with anecdotal information on the market share of each service.

Respondent Demographics

Respondents were generally younger and better educated than the average population in San Francisco (see Figure 1). The age distributions for ridesourcing and frequent taxi users skew younger than that for the city as a whole. Compared with frequent taxi users, as reported in the SFMTA taxi survey, ridesourcing survey respondents were generally younger, although this difference may be influenced by the sampling method—individuals surveyed may be younger on average than the actual ridesourcing user base. Respondents were 60% male and 40% female. The gender imbalance may be a consequence of higher response rates among males or perhaps more men were out at the survey locations and times.

Figure 1 (a) Age distribution of survey respondents compared with frequent taxi users and city population (N=310). (b) Income distribution of survey respondents and San Francisco population (N=316)

Respondents were relatively well educated—84% of customers had a bachelor's degree or higher. In comparison, only 54% of San Francisco residents 25 years of age and older had a bachelor's or graduate degree in 2012. Surveyed ridesourcing customers matched the income profile of San Franciscans fairly closely, with the prominent exception that households making less than US$30,000 were underrepresented (Figure 1). A high percentage of respondents (12%) refused to answer. Note that we do not have income and education data for taxi users.

Respondent Home Locations

In terms of home zip codes, respondents were most likely to live in the Marina, Russian Hill, Nob Hill, and Castro neighborhoods (Figure 2). When compared with general population density of the city, the Tenderloin neighborhood is noticeably underrepresented, as is the Outer Mission in the southern part of the city.

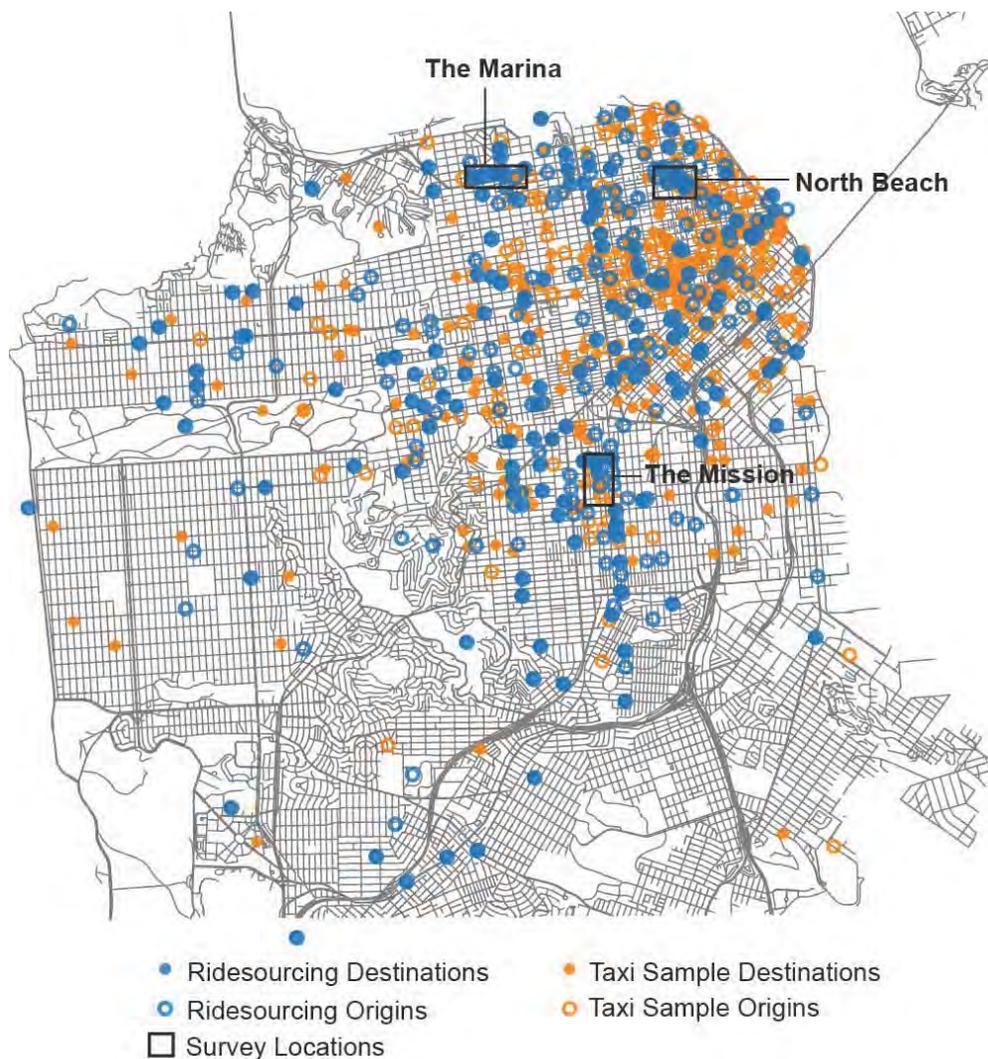

Source: 2012 ACS 1-year estimate

Figure 2 Respondent home zip code location (San Francisco only, N=271), compared with population density.

Trip Origins and Destinations

The survey captured trips from across San Francisco and elsewhere in the Bay Area, as did the sampled taxi trips (matched for day and time). The spatial distribution of trip origins and destinations within San Francisco is shown in Figure 3. As expected, the ridesourcing destinations are concentrated in the three survey locations, while the taxi origins and destinations are somewhat more concentrated in the downtown area. Still, both cover similar areas: for the sampled taxi trips, more than half (58%) of ridesourcing trips began within 200 m of the taxi trip, and 81% within 400 m. (The same numbers for destinations were 51% and 86%, respectively.) Since we lack data on the overall spatial distribution of ridesourcing trips, we cannot say how representative our data are.

Figure 3 Sampled ridesourcing and taxi trips in San Francisco (Ridesourcing N = 294, Taxi Sample N = 290)

Trip Purpose

As expected, trips were mainly social and leisure trips. Of all responses, 67% were social/leisure (bar, restaurant, concert, visit friends/family). Only 16% were work, 4% were to or from the airport, and 10% were other (doctor's appointment, volunteer). A large percentage (47%) of trips began somewhere other than home or work—a restaurant, bar, gym, etc.—and 40% were home-based. Although the survey did not ask about connections with public transit, 4% named a specific transit station as their origin or destination, suggesting that many respondents used ridesourcing to access transit. Almost half (48%) occurred on Friday or Saturday. While evening hours are heavily represented, the survey did capture trips at times throughout the day and night.

Trip Distance and Vehicle Occupancy

Surveyed ridesourcing trips were slightly shorter than matched taxi trips, but they carried more passengers. Trip distances and travel times were calculated by entering the geocoded origins and destinations into Google Directions API; trip lengths therefore reflect the street network distance. Of ridesourcing trips with a destination in San Francisco, the average length was 4.9 km (3.1 miles), while equivalent taxi trips were on average 6.0 km (3.7 miles).

Vehicle occupancies were somewhat higher than for taxi trips and about the same as for driving journeys-to-work. Half of ridesourcing trips had more than one passenger, and the average number of passengers was 1.8. For the matched taxi sample, the average was only 1.1. According to the 2011 ACS, the average vehicle occupancy for work trips of San Francisco workers, it was 1.15. For surveyed ridesourcing journeys-to-work trips within San Francisco, the average occupancy was nearly the same, 1.14.

Combining trip distance and vehicle occupancy, ridesourcing provided more overall mobility in fewer vehicle kilometers/miles. The average passenger kilometers/miles traveled for ridesourcing was 8.3 km (5.14 miles), while vehicle kilometers/miles traveled (averaged to 5.0 km (3.12 miles)). Those figures for taxis were 6.5 km (4.02 miles) and 6.0 km (3.70 miles), respectively. Therefore, for the sampled trips, ridesourcing was somewhat more efficient.

Wait Time

Ridesourcing wait times are dramatically shorter than typical taxi dispatch and hail times (Table 1). When calling a taxi to their home, only 35% of San Francisco residents said they usually waited less than ten minutes on a weekday during the day; on nights and weekends, this figure dropped to 16%. By comparison, close to 90% of ridesourcing respondents said they waited ten minutes or less, at all times, and 67% waited five minutes or less. Ridesourcing wait times are also much more consistent than those of taxis: whereas taxi waits vary greatly by time and day, ridesourcing customers could expect a wait of ten minutes or less regardless of day or time.

The discrepancy in wait times might result from location biases in our sample, since most surveyed ridesourcing trips did not begin at home, while taxi survey asked about home location. However, when we analyzed the data by city zone, as defined in the taxi survey, the pattern of shorter and more consistent wait times held (Table Table 2). Ridesourcing response times were longer in Zone 1 (which includes downtown) than other parts of the city, but the difference was very small compared with the variation in taxi times. For instance, on a weekday before 6pm, 88% of ridesourcing wait times in Zone 1 were ten minutes or less, whereas only 43% of taxi dispatches were as quick. Wait times for taxi street hails show the same pattern of longer and less consistent wait times relative to ridesourcing. The lowest wait times for street hails were in Zone 1 during weekdays; even then only 53% of respondents said they could hail a taxi in ten minutes or less. Ridesourcing's short wait times and consistency across time and location represent an important difference between ridesourcing and taxis from the user's perspective.

Table 2 Ridesourcing Wait Times Compared with Taxi Dispatch and Hail Times

	Ridesourcing <sup>a</sup>					Taxi Dispatch to Home <sup>b</sup>					Taxi Hail Near Home
	All	Zone <sup>d</sup>				All	Zone				All	Zone
		1	2	3	4		5	1	2	3		4	5	1	2	3	4
Mon-Fri 4am-6pm
<= 10 mins	93%	100%	n/a	83%	100%	35%	43%	42%	23%	25%	36%	39%	53%	46%	6%	24%	30%
10-20 mins	7%	0%	n/a	17%	0%	41%	41%	42%	41%	48%	38%	29%	32%	27%	17%	29%	36%
> 20 mins or never <sup>c</sup>	0%	0%	n/a	0%	0%	23%	16%	16%	36%	27%	26%	32%	15%	27%	78%	48%	33%
N	97	43	24	n/a	6	14	79	57	39	56	47	226	81	48	18	42	33
Mon-Fri 6pm-4am
<= 10 mins	92%	100%	n/a	93%	100%	16%	17%	16%	14%	6%	27%	33%	38%	40%	0%	24%	36%
10-20 mins	6%	10%	n/a	7%	0%	47%	43%	54%	45%	54%	35%	31%	39%	21%	17%	31%	38%
> 20 mins or never	1%	2%	n/a	0%	0%	37%	40%	30%	41%	40%	38%	36%	23%	38%	83%	44%	26%
N	144	61	30	n/a	15	23	77	56	29	52	37	230	82	42	18	45	39
Sat-Sun
<= 10 mins	88%	85%	100%	n/a	89%	16%	23%	16%	12%	7%	17%	25%	33%	18%	0%	20%	32%
10-20 mins	12%	15%	0%	n/a	11%	39%	28%	36%	54%	50%	37%	35%	43%	36%	19%	33%	32%
> 20 mins or never	0%	0%	n/a	0%	0%	45%	49%	47%	35%	43%	46%	39%	24%	45%	81%	48%	37%
N	75	39	13	n/a	8	9	75	55	26	56	41	232	86	44	16	46	38

<sup>a</sup> The survey question read, "About how long did you wait for your ride (from the time you made the request to the time the vehicle arrived)?"

<sup>b</sup> Taxi survey questions read: "Thinking about the times you've used a San Francisco taxi in the past 6 months, approximately how long does it take..." "...for a cab to arrive to your home after you've called taxi dispatch?" and "... to hail a cab in a street near your home?"

<sup>c</sup> The taxi survey included the response option, "Often never arrives." This was not included in the ridesourcing survey.

<sup>d</sup> Zones are defined to include the following neighborhoods: Zone 1—Chinatown, Civic Center/Downtown, North Embarcadero, Potrero Hill, SOMA; Zone 2—Laurel Heights/Anza Vista, Marina, Pacific Heights, Richmond, Sea Cliff, Presidio, Western Addition; Zone 3—Inner Sunset, Sunset, Lake Merced; Zone 4—Diamond Heights, Excelsior, Outer Mission, Haight-Ashbury, Ingleside, Noe Valley, Upper Market, West of Twin Peaks; Zone 5—Bayview/Hunters Point, Mission, Bernal Heights, Portola, Visitacion Valley.

n/a indicates there were too few observations available to calculate percentage.

Vehicle Ownership and Driving Frequency

Ridesourcing serves many residents who do not own a car. While the majority of respondents said they had a vehicle at home, the proportion that was car-less (43%) was greater than that for frequent taxi users (35%) and for the overall city population (31%). Ninety percent of vehicle owners said they had not changed their ownership levels since they began using ridesourcing and those who did were as likely to own more cars as those with fewer, so the change likely had little to do with the presence of ridesourcing. However, ridesourcing appears to have allowed some people to drive less frequently. Of respondents who owned a car, the majority said they drove about the same as before they started using ridesourcing; however, 40% said they drive less.

Modal Shift and Induced Travel

Respondents were asked if they still would have made the trip had ridesourcing services not been available and, if so, how they would have traveled. An overwhelming 92% replied they still would have made the trip. This suggests ridesourcing has a small but not inconsequential (8%) induced travel effect. Of those who would have still made the trip, a large number (39%) said they would have used a taxi, while 33% said bus or rail, and 6% drive (Table 3).

Table 3 How Would You Have Made This Trip If Uber/Lyft/Sidecar Were Not Available?

	All respondents	Do you have a car at home?
		Yes	No
Taxi	39%	41%	35%
Bus	24%	17%	33%
Rail (BART, streetcar, Caltrain)	9%	7%	10%
Walk	8%	9%	6%
Bike	2%	2%	3%
Drive my own car	6%	10%	0%
Get a ride with friend/family	1%	1%	2%
Other*	11%	12%	10%
Total	100%	100%	100%
N	302	175	124

* "Other" includes several responses indicating the respondent would have used another ridesourcing service, even though they were instructed not to.

The cross-tabulation of reason by alternative mode suggests speed (shorter wait times and travel times) and convenience make ridesourcing more appealing than the alternatives (Table 4). Those who would have taken the bus are drawn to the ease-of-payment and travel time savings of ridesourcing. Those who would have taken a taxi prefer convenience—ease of call and payment and perceived shorter wait times—of ridesourcing. Note that those who would have taken a taxi do not consider ridesourcing to generally be cheaper, faster, or more reliable; the convenience factor seems to be key. Those who would have otherwise driven might have been drawn to the ability to avoid parking hassles and drinking and driving.

Table 4 Reasons For Choosing Ridesourcing By Alternative Mode

Reasons for choosing ridesourcing	How would you have made this trip, if Lyft/Uber/Sidecar were not available?
	Bus	Rail	Taxi	Walk	Bike	Drive	Get a ride	Other
Ease of payment	10%	14%	25%	8%	0%	14%	0%	13%
Short wait time	12%	16%	17%	14%	0%	11%	0%	16%
Fastest way to get there	24%	22%	9%	16%	25%	6%	0%	8%
Easy to call car	11%	8%	11%	16%	8%	8%	13%	8%
Didn't want to drive after drinking	8%	8%	10%	4%	8%	19%	0%	19%
Don't need to park	9%	10%	7%	10%	8%	25%	13%	8%
Reliable	8%	6%	7%	6%	0%	11%	13%	9%
Comfort/safety	8%	6%	5%	4%	8%	3%	0%	8%
Cost (cheaper than alternatives)	5%	6%	3%	8%	17%	0%	0%	8%
No public transit option	2%	0%	2%	8%	0%	0%	38%	2%
Could not get taxi	1%	0%	0%	2%	8%	3%	25%	0%
Other reason	2%	4%	3%	2%	17%	0%	0%	3%
Total	100%	100%	100%	100%	100%	100%	100%	100%
N	139	50	236	49	12	36	8	64

Reasons for Choosing Ridesourcing

When asked why they chose ridesourcing, variations on speed and convenience were the main attractions (Figure 4), but other reasons were important too. More than 20% said they wanted to avoid drinking and driving. Only 2% said they couldn't get a taxi, and only 4% said public transit was not available, suggesting that ridesourcing is not necessarily directly competing with taxis, trains, and buses as much as appealing to customers in the marketplace.

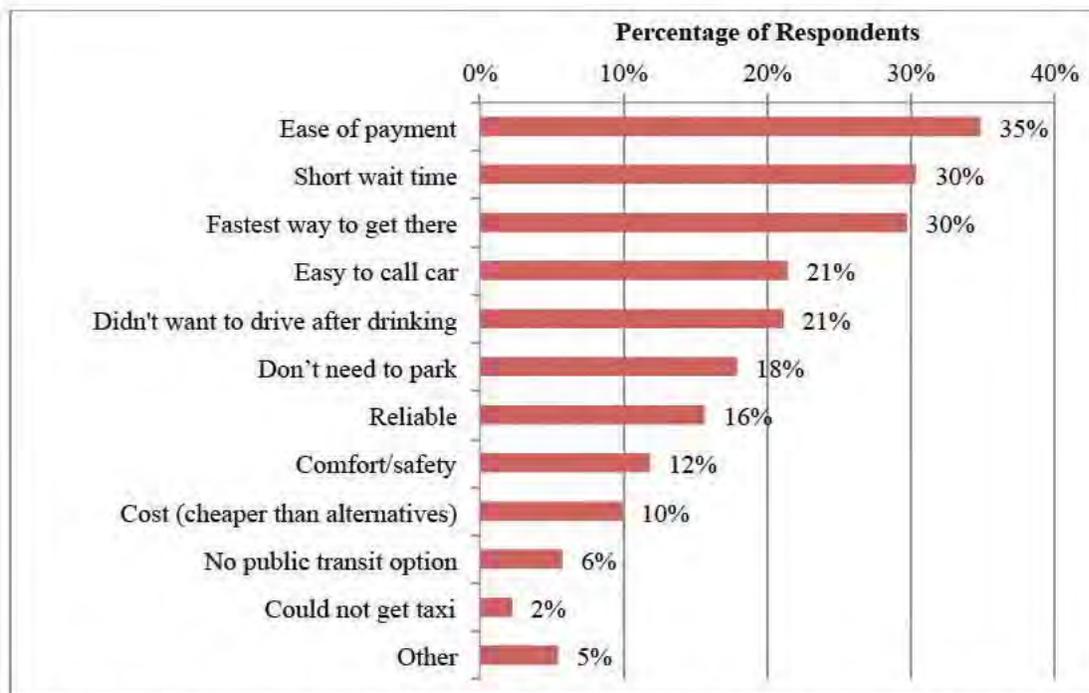

Figure 4 Responses to "What are the top two reasons you used [X service] for this trip? (N = 313).

Reasons for using ridesourcing varied by alternative mode. Among those who would have taken the bus, the most common responses were "fastest way to get there" (24%) and short wait time (12%). For those who would have taken a taxi, the top reasons were about convenience—25% said ease of payment, 17% said short wait time, and 11% said easy to call car. These particular respondents did not consider ridesourcing to be generally cheaper or more reliable—only 3% said they chose ridesourcing due to cost and only 7% cited reliability. Users who would have otherwise driven appeared to want to avoid driving hassles. Of these respondents, the greatest number (25%) said "don't need to park" and 19% "didn't want to drive after drinking." Overall, speed (shorter wait times and travel times) and convenience appear to make ridesourcing more appealing than the alternatives.

Public Transit Analysis: Complement or Substitute

To investigate whether ridesourcing complements or competes with public transit, we measured transit accessibility at origins and destinations of ridesourcing and taxi trips. If a trip begins and ends within a typical walking distance, 400 m (1/4 mi) of a rail transit station (streetcar, subway, or commuter train) and during service hours, it is a possible transit substitute. Even in this case, the trip could serve a complementary role to transit—e.g., the trip would require transfers, the traveler is carrying heavy items, is running late, or feels unsafe walking to the transit stop. We calculated transit accessibility by selecting origins and destinations of trips lying within a 400m buffer of rail transit stations and within 200 m (1/8 mi) of bus stops. Trips included only those made during normal transit service hours.

Of all trips with destinations in San Francisco, 28% began and ended within 400m of rail transit and 85% within 200m of a bus stop (Table 5). That is, just over a quarter of trips at most were plausibly rail transit substitutes. Many more (85%) were accessible by bus, but may have involved transfers, so it is hard to discern how many would be transit substitutes. In comparison, very slightly more taxi trips (32%) were accessible by rail at both ends, and 76% were in bus stop areas.

Table 5 Public Transit Accessibility of Ridesourcing and Taxi Trips, by Car Ownership and by Mode Otherwise Used (Trips ending in San Francisco)

	Trip Begins and Ends:*		Total	N
	< 400m of rail station	< 200m of bus stop
Taxi trips	32%	76%	100%	290
All ridesourcing trips	28%	85%	100%	297
Automobile at home?
Yes	32%	86%	100%	170
No	24%	83%	100%	127
How would you have otherwise made this trip?
Bus	17%	91%	100%	66
Rail	48%	87%	100%	23
Taxi	34%	84%	100%	107
Walk	13%	79%	100%	24
Bike	0%	71%	100%	7
Drive	39%	89%	100%	18
Get a ride	0%	50%	100%	4
Other	45%	90%	100%	29

* Includes trips during public transit service hours only, 5am-1am Monday through Saturday, and 7am-1am on Sunday.

Automobile owners were more likely to make trips that could be transit substitutes than were non-owners. Those who said they would otherwise have driven were more likely to make trips that were transit-accessible at both ends. Among those who said they would otherwise take rail, less than half (48%) took trips that began and ended within 400m of a rail transit station, higher than for driving (39%) and taxi (34%). In other words, half of declared rail replacements would require a long walk or a transfer, indicating rail was not an easy substitute for ridesourcing in these cases—although these represent less than 5% of the total survey sample.

DISCUSSION

The survey data provide some evidence of ridesourcing's relation to taxis and public transit and the impact on automobile use and overall mobility. The data suggest that ridesourcing services and taxis serve a similar market demand: the plurality of ridesourcing users said they would otherwise have used a taxi for the same trip, and the trips covered similar areas and trip lengths. While we lack primary data on this, in-vehicle trip time for each is likely comparable. Yet, users of each service experienced very different wait times. Ridesourcing response times were not only much shorter overall, they were markedly more consistent across day, time, and location. Furthermore, we have no reason to suspect the wait time data are significantly biased by the survey sampling method. Users themselves indicated short wait time was a top reason for using ridesourcing. Additionally, customers can view wait time and vehicle location on their phone after requesting a ride. Previous studies have found short wait times and real-time arrival information to be critical for public transit (17, 18), and these factors are likely equally critical for ridesourcing users.

Compared with taxi users, surveyed ridesourcing customers own fewer vehicles and travel with more companions. Both of these findings might be associated with less vehicle travel—ridesourcing might allow users to own fewer cars, and passengers get more mobility for less VKT/VMT—at least for the surveyed trips. However, these findings might be a consequence of the sampling method, ridesourcing user age, or both. People at the survey locations might be younger and more social than average and hence might be less likely to own a car and more likely to travel in groups.

The survey provides evidence that ridesourcing both complements and competes with public transit, at least with respect to individual trips. About a third of respondents said that they otherwise would have used transit, and respondents often chose ridesourcing due to its travel time savings. The majority of trips were accessible by bus, but many of these would require transfers, and far fewer could easily have been made by rail transit. The 43% of ridesourcing users without a vehicle likely use public transit at least occasionally, and some ridesourcing trips began or ended at a specific transit stop. Ridesourcing therefore appears to substitute for long transit trips, but otherwise it complement transit.

The survey provides some evidence that ridesourcing enables lower levels of driving among vehicle owners. However, so far ridesourcing seems to have had little impact on auto ownership, which is not surprising given the newness of these services. Notably, a large number of car owners used ridesourcing to avoid drinking and driving—clearly a positive effect—although we cannot say if taxis would have performed this function equally. We also found a small induced travel effect of people who took trips they otherwise would not have. It is possible the data underestimate this effect. San Francisco contains several neighborhoods with poor transit access, poor taxi availability, or scarce parking. Travelers who previously avoided these neighborhoods might now consider them accessible, perhaps without being conscious of the effect. Without ridesourcing, they may have chosen a different destination or forgone the activity altogether; our intercept survey may not have captured this decision-making process. Thus, our results should be interpreted as a lower bound on the induced travel effect.

To reiterate the study limitations, the survey was not representative of the ridesourcing market, but oversampled social and leisure trips. Therefore, it likely underrepresented trips made for work purposes, airport trips, and other errands. Despite this limitation, our intercept survey provides the best data available on this emerging service. At present, ridesourcing is a new and controversial subject, and access to industry and membership data for research purposes is limited. Since data on ridesourcing market size and user characteristics are unavailable, we are unable to describe the sample relative to the larger user population.

San Francisco may not be a typical market for ridesourcing. As the birthplace of these services, San Francisco probably has the highest adoption rate, implying a greater density of drivers and users, and hence efficiency, compared with other cities. The city is well-suited for ridesourcing for several other reasons: it has a strongly restricted taxi supply (5), scarce parking, an incomplete public transit system, an urban form that lies somewhere between walkable and car-oriented (19), and a large population of highly paid young professionals. Cities like Boston, Seattle, and Washington, D.C. share these traits, although other cities in which ridesourcing operates do not.

CONCLUSIONS

As a relatively new transportation option, ridesourcing is not yet well understood. In this paper, we presented exploratory evidence of its role in urban transportation using an intercept survey of ridesourcing users in San Francisco. We compared the survey results with data from a previous taxi survey and taxi trip logs. The findings suggest ridesourcing meets a latent demand for urban travel, appealing to generally younger, well-educated users looking for short wait times and fast point-to-point service, while avoiding the inconveniences of driving like parking and having to drink and drive. Despite similarities, ridesourcing differs from taxis in important ways, especially in consistently shorter waiting times. Ridesourcing competes with public transit for some individual trips, but otherwise serves as a complement. Finally, ridesourcing might replace some private automobile use, but because it might also induce travel, the impacts on overall VKT/VMT and traffic volume are uncertain.

Although still exploratory, these findings nevertheless indicate ridesourcing enriches mobility options for city dwellers, particularly in large, dense cities like San Francisco where parking is constrained and public transit incomplete. Thus, outright bans on ridesourcing would negate these mobility gains. Ridesourcing may also have negative aspects not captured in our survey results, and further work is needed to better understand its impacts.

Future research should investigate the potential hypotheses outlined in this study using more representative data. Access to ridesourcing trip and user data would provide a much more detailed and representative picture. Other aspects could be captured using online or household surveys. Future research could attempt to measure the induced travel effect or the possible long-term impact on driving and vehicle ownership. It is still unclear which advantages of ridesourcing arise from essential characteristics of the services versus from its exemption from taxi regulations. Studies could also expand the scope to include other neighborhoods in San Francisco or other cities. As ridesourcing and similar travel modes rapidly evolve, other questions will surely emerge.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We thank the University of California Transportation Center and Transportation Sustainability Research Center at UC Berkeley for supporting this research. The San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency very helpfully provided us with taxi data. Thanks also go to the student researchers who helped with data collection and processing: Dylan Baker, Apaar Bansal, Shuchen Gong, Lindsay Lewis, Brandon Harrell, An-Yu Liu, Rebecca Lopez, Kevin Otis, Samuel Penny, Diwen Shen, Christine Vandevoorde, and Isabel Viegas. Ian Johnson assisted with the taxi data. The contents of this paper reflect the views of the authors and do not necessarily indicate sponsor acceptance.

CORRECTION

This paper was updated 9/2/2014 to include approved and pending legislation in California.

REFERENCES

1. King, D. A., J. R. Peters, and M. W. Daus. Taxicabs for Improved Urban Mobility: Are We Missing an Opportunity? Presented at the Transportation Research Board 91st Annual Meeting, 2012.
2. Austin, D., and P. Zegras. Taxicabs as Public Transportation in Boston, Massachusetts. Transportation Research Record: Journal of the Transportation Research Board, Vol. 2277, 2012, pp. 65–74.
3. Gilbert, G., and R. E. Samuels. The Taxicab: An Urban Transportation Survivor. University of North Carolina Press, Chapel Hill, 1982.
4. Wohl, M. The Taxi's Role in Urban America: Today and Tomorrow. Transportation, Vol. 4, 1975, pp. 143–158.
5. Hara Associates. Best Practices Studies of Taxi Regulation: Taxi User Surveys. SFMTA, San Francisco, 2013.
6. Cervero, R. Paratransit in America: Redefining Mass Transportation. Praeger, Westport, CT, 1997.
7. Schaller, B. Entry controls in taxi regulation: Implications of US and Canadian experience for taxi regulation and deregulation. Transport Policy, Vol. 14, 2007, pp. 490–506.
8. Kahn, A. E. The Economics of Regulation: Principles and Institutions. The MIT Press, 1988.
9. Chan, N. D., and S. Shaheen. Ridesharing in North America: Past, Present, and Future. Transport Reviews, Vol. 32, No. 1, 2012, pp. 93–112.

10. Global e-Sustainability Initiative. SMART 2020: Enabling the Low Carbon Economy in the Information Age. United States Report Addendum. 2008.
11. Dueker, K. J., and I. P. Levin. Carpooling: Attitudes and Participation. Technical Report No. 81. Center for Urban Transportation Studies, Institute of Urban and Regional Research, University of Iowa, Iowa City, IA, 1976.
12. Bonsall, P., H. Spencer, and W. Tang. What makes a car-sharer? Transportation, Vol. 12, No. 2, pp. 117–145.
13. Dempsey, P. S. Taxi Industry Regulation, Deregulation, and Reregulation: The Paradox of Market Failure. Publication ID 2241306. Social Science Research Network, Rochester, NY, 1996.
14. California Public Utilities Commission. Carrier Investigation. <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/transportation/Passengers/CarrierInvestigations/>. Accessed Aug. 8, 2014.
15. California Public Utilities Commission. Transportation Network Companies. <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/PUC/Enforcement/TNC/>. Accessed Jul. 16, 2014.
16. Soper, T. Seattle prepares to legalize Uber, Lyft on Monday. <http://www.geekwire.com/2014/taxi-seattle/>. Accessed Jul. 16, 2014.
17. District of Columbia Taxicab Commission. Application for Operating Authority Digital Dispatch Service (DDS). 2013.
18. Turnbull, K., and R. H. Pratt. Traveler Response to Transportation System Changes Handbook, Chapter 11: Transit Information and Promotion. Publication TCRP Report 95. Transportation Research Board, Washington, D.C., 2003.
19. Evans, J. E. Traveler Response to Transportation System Changes Handbook, Chapter 9: Transit Scheduling and Frequency. Publication TCRP Report 95. Transportation Research Board, Washington, D.C., 2004.
20. Henderson, J. Street Fight: The Politics of Mobility in San Francisco. University of Massachusetts Press, Amherst, 2013.

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study
Date: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 1:33:46 PM
Attachments: Consultant agreement.pdf
Forms.pdf

---

Joshua - attached is the signed consulting agreement and the completed forms. Let me know if you need anything else.

Bruce

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 10:09 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great! Thanks.

I look forward to working with you as well.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 9:15 AM

To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Good - I'll get these back to you, signed, later today. I guess I need the one document notarized as well.

Let me know plans for meeting times.

I look forward to working with you on this important -- and complex -- set of issues.

Bruce

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 9:07 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

These look fine Bruce. I made the changes. Not sure about the ETF. You should have all the docs.

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 1:46 PM

To: Sidis, Joshua

Subject: Re: FHV study

Joshua - I made a small number of edits visible in MS Word track changes. Please review and once agreed upon, I can execute the agreement and also send you a pdf of the forms.

I think there should be an EFT form which I don't see here....?

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 8:20 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Bruce,

Attached, please find the consultant agreement. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to reach out.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM

To: Sidis, Joshua

Subject: Re: FHV study

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM

To: Sidis, Joshua

Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,

Bruce

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT TO SUPPORT FOR-HIRE VEHICLE (FHV) TRANSPORTATION STUDY

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York ("City"), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter "City") has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, located at 94 Windsor Pl, Brooklyn, NY, 11215, from September 1st, 2015 through December 31st, 2015. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31st, 2015 the Mayor's Office of Operations determined a need for a Consultant to provide onsite/remote support services;

WHEREAS, in response to said opportunity, the Consultant, Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting agreed to provide said services;

WHEREAS, the City procured these services via the micro-purchase;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant meets its requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.

Towards the end of the engagement, the Consultant may be asked to deliver a memorandum expressing their interpretation of recommendations to the City. Additional memos providing input and feedback on the project may be requested throughout the engagement, with no more than one memoranda requested per week.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

Project Tasks

Industry Study

- Task 1: Analyze for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Document and baseline current for-hire transportation market
- Task 3: Define and analyze options for regulatory structures

Traffic Study

- Task 1: Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core
- Task 2: Assessment of Current FHV Operations
- Task 3: Future Scenarios

Project Deliverables

Memoranda requested in the course of the study will address the topic and issues from the list below:

- Review for-hire vehicle industry:
  1. Review all relevant metrics for for-hire transportation industry
  2. Assess rules, regulations, and standards
- Conduct a review of best practices:
  1. Identify best practices from other jurisdictions or relevant industries
  2. Highlight for consideration other transportation models
- Define policy goals for the market
- Conduct detailed analysis of players in the for-hire market, including:
  1. Current protocols and procedures for regulatory compliance
  2. Current safety training practices
  3. Pricing protocols and protections for passengers
  4. Revenue sources and strategies
  5. Congestion and other findings from traffic study
- Assess baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations against priority metrics
- Build preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework
  1. Create briefing and decision documents around regulatory options

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 73 hours billed whichever is sooner.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $20,000 for the services set forth in this Agreement.
2. The Consultant shall invoice on a monthly basis. Invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

I. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.

2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
  3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.
  4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except.

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20__

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

THE CONSULTANT

BY: [Signature]

TITLE: Principal

New York state driver license # 917273026

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This 2nd day of September 2015

[Signature]

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

SEP 02 2015

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such

person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or

- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term "entity" as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term "member" as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

- 1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event Consultant fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the Consultant, or affecting the performance of this contract.

TAX AFFIRMATION

The undersigned proposer or bidder affirms and declares that said proposer or bidder is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt, contract or taxes and is not a defaulter, as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the proposer or bidder to receive public Contracts except _____

Full name of Proposer or Bidder Schaller Consulting

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____

CHECK ONE BOX AND INCLUDE APPROPRIATE NUMBER:

A- INDIVIDUAL OR SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP*
SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER

_____

B- PARTNERSHIP, JOINT VENTURE OR OTHER UNINCORPORATED ORGANIZATION
EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

C- CORPORATION
EMPLOYER IDENTIFICATION NUMBER

BY Robert Michael Schaller
SIGNATURE

Principal
TITLE

If a corporation place seal here

Must be signed by an of officer or duly authorized representative. Please Affix notary on this page.

*Under the Federal Privacy Act the furnishing of Social Security Numbers by bidders on City contracts is voluntary. Failure to provide a Social Security Number will not result in a bidder's disqualification. Social Security Numbers will be used to identify bidders, proposers or vendors to ensure their compliance with laws, to assist the City in enforcement of laws as well as to provide the City a means of identifying of businesses, which seek City contracts.

Section 2: Principal Officers

Please fill in the required identification information for each officer listed below. If the entity has no such officer or its equivalent, please check "This position does not exist." If the entity is filing a Change Form and the person listed is replacing someone who was previously disclosed, please check "This person replaced..." and fill in the name of the person being replaced so his/her name can be removed from the Doing Business Database, and indicate the date that the change became effective.

Chief Executive Officer (CEO) or equivalent officer  This position does not exist

The highest ranking officer or manager, such as the President, Executive Director, Sole Proprietor or Chairperson of the Board.

First Name: Robert MI: B Last: Schaller

Office Title: Principal

Employer (if not employed by entity):

Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): [REDACTED] Home Phone #: [REDACTED]

Home Address: [REDACTED]

This person replaced former CEO: on date:

Chief Financial Officer (CFO) or equivalent officer  This position does not exist

The highest ranking financial officer, such as the Treasurer, Comptroller, Financial Director or VP for Finance.

First Name: MI: Last:

Office Title:

Employer (if not employed by entity):

Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): Home Phone #:

Home Address:

This person replaced former CFO: on date:

Chief Operating Officer (COO) or equivalent officer  This position does not exist

The highest ranking operational officer, such as the Chief Planning Officer, Director of Operations or VP for Operations.

First Name: MI: Last:

Office Title:

Employer (if not employed by entity):

Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): Home Phone #:

Home Address:

This person replaced former COO: on date:

Section 3: Principal Owners

Please fill in the required identification information for all individuals who, through stock shares, partnership agreements or other means, own or control 10% or more of the entity. If no individual owners exist, please check the appropriate box to indicate why and skip to the next page. If the entity is owned by other companies, those companies do not need to be listed. If an owner was identified on the previous page, fill in his/her name and write "See above." If the entity is filing a Change Form, list any individuals who are no longer owners at the bottom of this page. If more space is needed, attach additional pages labeled "Additional Owners."

There are no owners listed because (select one):

- The entity is not-for-profit
- There are no individual owners
- No individual owner holds 10% or more shares in the entity
- Other (explain): Robert Bruce Schaller (see above)

Principal Owners (who own or control 10% or more of the entity):

First Name: _____ MI: _____ Last: _____
 Office Title: _____
 Employer (if not employed by entity): _____
 Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): _____ Home Phone #: _____
 Home Address: _____

First Name: _____ MI: _____ Last: _____
 Office Title: _____
 Employer (if not employed by entity): _____
 Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): _____ Home Phone #: _____
 Home Address: _____

First Name: _____ MI: _____ Last: _____
 Office Title: _____
 Employer (if not employed by entity): _____
 Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): _____ Home Phone #: _____
 Home Address: _____

Remove the following previously-reported Principal Owners:

Name: _____ Removal Date: _____
 Name: _____ Removal Date: _____
 Name: _____ Removal Date: _____

Section 4: Senior Managers

Please fill in the required identification information for all senior managers who oversee any of the entity's relevant transactions with the City (e.g., contract managers if this form is for a contract award/proposal, grant managers if for a grant, etc.). Senior managers include anyone who, either by title or duties, has substantial discretion and high-level oversight regarding the solicitation, letting or administration of any transaction with the City. At least one senior manager must be listed, or the Data Form will be considered incomplete. If a senior manager has been identified on a previous page, fill in his/her name and write "See above." If the entity is filing a Change Form, list individuals who are no longer senior managers at the bottom of this section. If more space is needed, attach additional pages labeled "Additional Senior Managers."

Senior Managers:

First Name: Robert MI: B Last: Schaller (see above)

Office Title: _____

Employer (if not employed by entity): _____

Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): _____ Home Phone #: _____

Home Address: _____

First Name: _____ MI: _____ Last: _____

Office Title: _____

Employer (if not employed by entity): _____

Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): _____ Home Phone #: _____

Home Address: _____

First Name: _____ MI: _____ Last: _____

Office Title: _____

Employer (if not employed by entity): _____

Birth Date (mm/dd/yy): _____ Home Phone #: _____

Home Address: _____

Remove the following previously-reported Senior Managers:

Name: _____ Removal Date: _____

Name: _____ Removal Date: _____

Certification

I certify that the information submitted on these four pages and 0 additional pages is accurate and complete. I understand that willful or fraudulent submission of a materially false statement may result in the entity being found non-responsible and therefore denied future City awards.

Name: Bruce Schaller

Signature: [Signature] Date: 9-2-15

Entity Name: Schaller Consulting

Title: Principal Work Phone #: 718-768-3487

Return the completed Data Form to the agency that supplied it.

For information or assistance, call the Doing Business Accountability Project at 212-788-8104.

MACBRIDE PRINCIPLES PROVISIONS
FOR NEW YORK CITY CONTRACTORS

ARTICLE I. MACBRIDE PRINCIPLES
NOTICE TO ALL PROSPECTIVE CONTRACTORS

Local Law No. 34 of 1991 became effective on September 10, 1991 and added section 6-115.1 to the Administrative Code of the City of New York. The local law provides for certain restrictions on City contracts to express the opposition of the people of the City of New York to employment discrimination practices in Northern Ireland and to encourage companies doing business in Northern Ireland to promote freedom of workplace opportunity.

Pursuant to Section 6-115.1, prospective contractors for contracts to provide goods or services involving an expenditure of an amount greater than ten thousand dollars, or for construction involving an amount greater than fifteen thousand dollars, are asked to sign a rider in which they covenant and represent, as a material condition of their contract, that any business in Northern Ireland operations conducted by the contractor and any individual or legal entity in which the contractor holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest and any Individual or legal entity that holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest in the contractor will be conducted in accordance with the MacBride Principles of nondiscrimination in employment.

Prospective contractors are not required to agree to these conditions. However, in the case of contracts let by competitive sealed bidding, whenever the lowest responsible bidder has not agreed to stipulate to the conditions set forth in this notice and another bidder who has agreed to stipulate to such conditions has submitted a bid within five percent of the lowest responsible bid for a contract to supply goods, services or construction of comparable quality, the contracting entity shall refer such bids to the Mayor, the Speaker or other officials, as appropriate, who may determine, in accordance with applicable law and rules, that it is in the best interest of the city that the contract be awarded to other than the lowest responsible bidder pursuant to Section 313(b)(2) of the City Charter.

In the case of contracts let by other than competitive sealed bidding, if a prospective contractor does not agree to these conditions, no agency, elected official or the Council shall award the contract to that bidder unless the entity seeking to use the goods, services or construction certifies in writing that the contract is necessary for the entity to perform its functions and there is no other responsible contractor who will supply goods, services or construction of comparable quality at a comparable price.

PART A

In accordance with section 6-115.1 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, the contractor stipulates that such contractor and any individual or legal entity in which the contractor holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest and any individual or legal entity that holds a ten percent or greater ownership interest in the contractor either (a) have no business operations in Northern Ireland, or (b) shall take [awful steps in good faith to conduct any business operations they have in Northern Ireland in accordance with the MacBride Principles, and shall permit independent monitoring of their compliance with such principles.

PART B

For purposes of this section, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "MacBride Principles" shall mean those principles relating to nondiscrimination in employment and freedom of workplace opportunity which require employers doing business in Northern Ireland to:

(1) increase the representation of individuals from underrepresented religious groups in the work force, including managerial, supervisory, administrative, clerical and technical jobs;

(2) take steps to promote adequate security for the protection of employees from underrepresented religious groups both at the workplace and while traveling to and from work;

(3) ban provocative religious or political emblems from the workplace;

(4) publicly advertise all job opening and make special recruitment efforts to attract applicants from underrepresented religious groups;

(5) establish layoff, recall and termination procedures which do not in practice favor a particular religious group;

(6) abolish all job reservations, apprenticeship restrictions and different employment criteria which discriminate on the basis of religion;

(7) develop training programs that will prepare substantial number-s of current employees from underrepresented religious groups for skilled jobs, including the expansion of existing programs and the creation of new programs to train, upgrade and improve the skills of workers from underrepresented religious groups;

(8) establish procedures to assess, identify and actively recruit employees from underrepresented religious groups with potential for further advancement; and

(9) appoint a senior management staff member to oversee affirmative action efforts and develop a timetable to ensure their full implementation.

ARTICLE II. ENFORCEMENT OF ARTICLE I.

The contractor agrees that the covenants and representations in Article I above are material conditions to this contract. In the event the contracting entity receives information that the contractor who made the stipulation required by this section is in violation thereof, the contracting entity shall review such information and give the contractor an opportunity to respond. If the contracting entity finds that a violation has occurred, the entity shall have the right to declare the contractor in default and/or terminate this contract for cause and procure the supplies, services or work from another source in any manner the entity deems proper.

In the event of such termination, the contractor shall pay to the entity, or the entity in its sole discretion may withhold from any amounts otherwise payable to the contractor, the difference between the contract price for the uncompleted portion of this contract and the cost to the contracting entity of completing performance of this contract either itself or by engaging another contractor or contractors. In the case of a requirements contract, the contractor shall be liable for such difference in price for the entire amount of supplies required by the contracting entity for uncompleted term of its contract. In the case of a construction contract, the contracting entity shall also have the right to hold the contractor in partial or total default in accordance with the default provisions of this contract, and/or may seek debarment or suspension of the contractor. The rights and remedies of the entity hereunder shall be in addition to, and not in lieu of any rights and remedies the entity has pursuant to this contract or by operation of law.

AGREED

BY:

TITLE: Principal

DATE: 9-2-15

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Sidis_Joshua; Timmeny_Daniel (TLC); Roth_Jeffrey (TLC)
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Uber reply to us
Date: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 1:39:55 PM

---

Team -

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

----- Forwarded by [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 09/02/2015 01:38 PM -----

From: [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY
To: "Jonathan Hall" <jvh@uber.com>, "Michael Allegretti" <allegretti@uber.com>
Cc: [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY@mckinsey, [REDACTED] NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY@mckinsey, "Nicole Benincasa" <nic@uber.com>
Date: 09/02/2015 11:57 AM
Subject: RE: Follow up

---

Thanks for putting us in touch, Michael.

Jonathan, looking forward to connecting again once the agreement is finalized. Talk to you soon.

Best,

[REDACTED]

From: Jonathan Hall [<mailto:jvh@uber.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, September 2, 2015 11:51 AM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Nicole Benincasa
Subject: Re: Follow up

Thanks Michael. Barrett and team - please don't be shy, I'm happy to answer questions.

Best,

Jonathan

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 8:49 AM, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Hi [REDACTED]

Nice to be connected with you and apologies for the delayed reply...

I don't think at this stage we are able to provide any primary data beyond what we will be giving to the TLC, and to which you guys will of course have direct access. Those data sharing agreements are still being finalized, so especially right now, it would seem premature.

With that said, I am connecting you directly to Jonathan Hall, who is one of our data experts, so that once you start your work and get a better understanding of knowledge gaps that might exist, he can be on call to gather feedback on our end and respond back to you with any additional data-related questions that you might have.

Many thanks and looking forward to working with you.

Michael

On Fri, Aug 28, 2015 at 2:27 PM, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com> wrote:
Hi Nicole and Michael,

Thanks so much for welcoming us into your office last week, and for providing this extra background material.

In our wide-ranging conversation we discussed the idea of using primary data to better understand and communicate some of the important aspects of Uber's business model. Let us know if that's something you can talk about further – happy to have that discussion, including the FOIL implications of sharing directly with McKinsey.

All the best,

From: Nicole Benincasa mailto:[nic@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, August 26, 2015 1:33 PM
To: [redacted]@mckinsey.com; [redacted]@mckinsey.com; [redacted]@mckinsey.com
Cc: Michael Allegretti
Subject: Follow up

Hi [redacted]:

I hope you're having a good week. On behalf of the entire Uber team, I wanted to thank you again for taking the time to meet with us on Thursday and learn about the current status of the for-hire industry in NYC.

As a follow up to the items we discussed, please see the attached/linked documents:

- 1 "Overview of Safety at Uber" one-pager
- 2 "The New York City Council on Transportation: Oversight Hearing on App Technology and the Transformation of the Taxi and For-Hire Vehicle Industries" December 3, 2014 (submitted to the public record)
- 3 "The New York City Council on Transportation: Int. No. 556 Written Testimony" (dynamic pricing) January 12, 2015 (submitted to the public record)
- 4 "Dynamic Pricing" one-pager
- 5 "Uber Accessibility" one-pager
- 6 "Uber + MADD" one-pager
- 7 "Three Septembers of uberX in New York City" October 29, 2014
- 8 "4 Years Moving NYC" May 4, 2015
- 9 "Taking 1 Million Cars off the Road in New York City" July 10, 2015

Please let me know if you have any questions about these documents, or if you would like to schedule a second meeting with the Uber team.

Best,
Nicole

	Nicole Benincasa Senior Policy &amp; Regulatory Associate e: nic@uber.com   w: www.uber.com/nyc
--	---

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

--
michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

+=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+=====+

From: Sam Schwartz
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Sam Schwartz
Subject: Re: Paperwork
Date: Thursday, September 03, 2015 9:32:39 AM

---

I do have a few questions. Please see below:

Contract reads: “During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.”

1. What companies are being studied?
2. Once the contract is over, am I able to work for any and all the companies studied without exception?
3. Disclosure: My firm now consults for Via. We also have a request to work for a few other firms but not Uber. Any problem with this?
4. My firm also is completing a report for Transit Center on TNC's and other app services nationwide.

The contract is with “Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC.” The contract then goes on to talk about the “Consultant,” but never defines the word “Consultant.”

1. Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC is the entity that I'd want to be under contract
2. I will use staff as well.

Contract language: “Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.” [A brief outline of the scope is in the contract.]

Questions:

1. Who specifically is in charge at the Mayor's Office that will be directing the work?
2. Who are the FHV study partners?
3. Will I have access to all documents related to the study as they are prepared and in draft?
4. Will I be able to question the consultants directly?
5. Are the consultants required to share data with me?

Contract language: “The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 67 hours billed whichever is sooner.”

1. Does the contract period end automatically on December 31, 2015, or can the City unilaterally extend the contract period and the accompanying conflict of interest bar?
2. Once the report, drafts or data sets are released to the public, will I be able to discuss them publicly and not be in breach of the confidentiality clause with respect to the material made public?

3. Other than the restriction that he not release confidential information, am I barred in any way during the contract period from commenting publicly on the study, the companies being studied, or the for hire vehicle industry?

Contract language: "The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow [sic] (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee."

1. Who is MIS?

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.
President | CEO

Sam Schwartz Engineering D.P.C.

On Sep 3, 2015, at 8:57 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nycov> wrote:

Good morning Sam,

When you have a chance can you please fill out the paperwork and return by mail or scan and email to me? Also, please let me know your availability for a meeting next week.

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 5:57 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

Just a gentle nudge here. Would love to get the four docs signed and returned to us as soon as you can. If you have any questions on the consultant agreement please let me know. Thanks.

You can mail them to

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Or

Fill them out, scan them and email them to me.

Thanks!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 6:46 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Sam,

Attached you will find all four documents needed to begin your engagement with the City. Please let me know what, if any, questions you may have. We would like to set up a time to bring you up to speed. What does the rest of your week look like?

Safe travels!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [<mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com>]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 5:22 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Joshua,

Please send me the paperwork. I probably will have a few questions. I'm traveling the next couple of days but should be able to get back to you shortly.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.

President + CEO

sschwartz@samschwartz.com

phone: (212) 598-9010 x 110

toll free: (877) 726-7249

322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS

Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound

Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

Sam Schwartz Engineering
+ Ingenuity | Accessibility | Integrity
D.P.C.

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [<mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:28 PM

To: 'sam@samschwartz.com' <sam@samschwartz.com>

Subject: FHV: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

My name is Joshua Sidis and I am with the Mayor's Office of Operations. Thank you again for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I am working on bringing you onboard as an adviser for the FHV study. I am happy to answer any questions. Let me know if you would like to have a call or if I should just send over the paperwork.

Talk to you soon,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Sam Schwartz"
Subject: RE: Paperwork
Date: Thursday, September 03, 2015 2:02:24 PM

---

See my responses in Red

---

From: Sam Schwartz [mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 9:32 AM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Sam Schwartz
Subject: Re: Paperwork

I do have a few questions. Please see below:

Contract reads: “During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.”

1. What companies are being studied? All companies licensed by TLC in the FHV market.
2. Once the contract is over, am I able to work for any and all the companies studied without exception? I am 99% positive that is true. I will ask and get to 100% before the end of the day.
3. Disclosure: My firm now consults for Via. We also have a request to work for a few other firms but not Uber. Any problem with this? As it related to the above sentence: We would need you to suspend your service with them during the contract period. If you would like to discuss a protracted contract period, I am happy to figure out dates with you.
4. My firm also is completing a report for Transit Center on TNC’s and other app services nationwide. I will have an answer by COB

The contract is with “Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC.” The contract then goes on to talk about the “Consultant,” but never defines the word “Consultant.”

1. Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC is the entity that I’d want to be under contract. I will rectify this. Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC is the “consultant”
2. I will use staff as well. Great

Contract language: “Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.” [A brief outline of the scope is in the contract.]

Questions: Let's have a quick, 10 minute call to talk through the first two questions.

1. Who specifically is in charge at the Mayor's Office that will be directing the work?
2. Who are the FHV study partners?
3. Will I have access to all documents related to the study as they are prepared and in draft? I believe you will.
4. Will I be able to question the consultants directly? Yes.
5. Are the consultants required to share data with me? I do not know. Not to be cagy, what kind of data (in what format) would you like shared?

Contract language: "The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 67 hours billed whichever is sooner."

1. Does the contract period end automatically on December 31, 2015, or can the City unilaterally extend the contract period and the accompanying conflict of interest bar? I do not think we have the ability to unilaterally extend this contract. There is also the max number of hours of 67 which is a threshold not to exceed.
2. Once the report, drafts or data sets are released to the public, will I be able to discuss them publicly and not be in breach of the confidentiality clause with respect to the material made public? Will have an answer by COB
3. Other than the restriction that he not release confidential information, am I barred in any way during the contract period from commenting publicly on the study, the companies being studied, or the for hire vehicle industry? Will have an answer by COB

Contract language: "The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow [sic] (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee."

1. Who is MIS? In this instance I do not know. I think this should be changed to HR. I will find out.

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.
President | CEO

Sam Schwartz Engineering D.P.C.

On Sep 3, 2015, at 8:57 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nycov> wrote:

Good morning Sam,

When you have a chance can you please fill out the paperwork and return by mail or scan and email to me? Also, please let me know your availability for a meeting next week.

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 5:57 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

Just a gentle nudge here. Would love to get the four docs signed and returned to us as soon as you can. If you have any questions on the consultant agreement please let me know. Thanks.

You can mail them to

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Or

Fill them out, scan them and email them to me.

Thanks!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 6:46 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Sam,

Attached you will find all four documents needed to begin your engagement with the City. Please let me know what, if any, questions you may have. We would like to set up a time to bring you up to speed. What does the rest of your week look like?

Safe travels!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [<mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com>]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 5:22 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Joshua,

Please send me the paperwork. I probably will have a few questions. I'm traveling the next couple of days but should be able to get back to you shortly.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.

President + CEO

sschwartz@samschwartz.com

phone: (212) 598-9010 x 110

toll free: (877) 726-7249

322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS

Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound

Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

Sam Schwartz Engineering
+ Ingenuity | Accessibility | Integrity
D.P.C.

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [<mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:28 PM

To: 'sam@samschwartz.com' <sam@samschwartz.com>

Subject: FHV: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

My name is Joshua Sidis and I am with the Mayor's Office of Operations. Thank you again for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I am working on bringing you onboard as an adviser for the FHV study. I am happy to answer any questions. Let me know if you would like to have a call or if I should just send over the paperwork.

Talk to you soon,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@Mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@Mckinsey.com; "Pelaez, Einah" (Einah.Pelaez@hdrinc.com); Luigi.Casinelli@hdrinc.com
Subject: FW: follow-up from Placemeter
Date: Thursday, September 03, 2015 2:44:46 PM
Attachments: image002.png
image001.png

---

Is this sort of thing worthwhile?

From: Stanislav Parfenov [<mailto:stanislav@placemeter.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 10:19 AM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Florent Peyre; Singleton, Jessica; Furnas, Benjamin; Velani, Sonam
Subject: Re: follow-up from Placemeter

Hi Sonam and Joshua,

Thank you for the kind words and your interest in Placemeter!

I am combining the answers to both of your e-mails into this one. I apologize in advance for a lengthy e-mail.

Below are some examples of related work, which shows the variety of camera arrangements and setups that we can work with:

- NYCDOT, New York: working on several projects, including traffic counts for Vision Zero traffic analysis (trajectories of vehicles and pedestrians), freight deliveries and plaza analysis using prerecorded videos.
- City of Boston: doing traffic data collection using their cameras in real-time at key location near Boston City Hall.
- ARUP and MoMA: on-going project, where we use MoMA's cameras to count daily foot traffic inside the museum using security cameras. Part of the big study to improve way-finding and behavior analysis inside the museum.
- Park Slope 5th Ave BID, Brooklyn: this project involves deployment of smart phones enabled with our app to count foot traffic along 5th Ave in Brooklyn. Merchants then use our data to measure foot traffic on 5th Ave by their stores.
- Center City District, Philadelphia: counting foot traffic in real-time in front of Philadelphia City Hall for Center City District BID. An array of camera canvases the park, which allows to measure foot traffic in real-time.
- National September 11th Memorial Museum, New York: Measuring pedestrian activity at the 9/11 Memorial Site, providing directional pedestrian counts at key entrances at the Memorial Plaza.
- DCDOT, Washington DC: a pilot project with DCDOT to measure parking turnover at different neighborhoods using time-lapse recorded videos.

These examples above, showcase our flexibility to work with both public and private agencies or a combination of private/public partnerships.

In terms of what data we can collect now:

- Pedestrian counts (directional, e.g. with one measurement point we can count not only volume but also separate pedestrian flow into direction people are walking)
- Bicycle counts (directional)

- Vehicular (directional), including intersection turning movements and midblock counts

Coming later this year:

- Speed - we will be able to provide speed measurements for pedestrians, bicycles and vehicles
- Dwell time - allows to measure length and frequency of illegal double parking events along the streets, as well as levels of congestion at various facilities (at escalators, doorways, intersections, special events, etc.)
- Automatic vehicle classification - would allow with a single measurement point to separate the traffic flow into counts of cars, buses, trucks and bicyclists on the roadway. This would allow to measure the entire traffic flow on each street of the city which is equipped with the camera. We also plan to expand the number of classes for trucks and other vehicles to provide more robust vehicle classification breakdown. Especially, to tailor towards vehicle classification counts requirements for organizations like NYMTC.

If you have any questions about data that we can currently collect vs future data collection, please let me know and I would be glad to address them.

Sonam,

I will be attending Smart Cities Conference in DC from September 15-17, so I won't be able to meet with you on 15th. Is there some other time and day that you are available?

Thank you very much again Sonam, Joshua and Jessie for inviting us to be a part of the TAG Team and getting our input. We are very excited and would love continue the dialogue.

Looking forward to talking soon and please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Thank you,
Stanislav

On Tue, Sep 1, 2015 at 6:13 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi all.

Stanislav, thanks for attending today's meeting! Florent, I look forward to working with you.

I have seen your work and think the product is very cool. Before I make a connection with our consultant I need a little deeper understanding on the data you have so I can connect you with the right person. Would you mind sending a few bullet points on the datasets and the format they can be delivered?

Thank you in advance,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Florent Peyre mailto:[florent@placemeter.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 5:44 PM
To: Velani, Sonam
Cc: Stanislav Parfenov; Singleton, Jessica; Sidis, Joshua; Furnas, Benjamin
Subject: Re: follow-up from Placemeter

Sorry I couldn't make it!

We're excited about the potential. The key raw material for us is video - whether it's pre-recorded or it's live video feeds from existing outdoor cameras. Happy to give you access to zones that we already monitored (or are actually monitoring) as well.

Stanislav who spent 6 years at the NYC DOT, with some time specifically on taxis etc. will be the right contact from our side but we'd be excited to push forward the idea of continuous measurement - this is something we feel very passionate about.

Stanislav will also send you some information about what we're doing today with people like the City of Boston, the DOT, Arup, the Park Slope 5th Avenue BID, Center City District in Philadelphia or 9/11 Memorial Park.

Looking forward to continue the conversation.
Best,

Florent

On Tue, Sep 1, 2015 at 4:33 PM, Velani, Sonam <SVelani@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Stanislav,

Thanks for attending, we always appreciate good ideas!

The deadline for submitting data for the FHV study is September 11. Josh will follow up with you directly to set up some time to speak to our consultants on specific data requests and how you can submit the pedestrian / traffic data you've already collected.

More broadly, it would be great to discuss continuous data collection efforts. Before we meet, can you please send us some information on what you're already doing with DOT, as well as examples from other cities that you're working with that are good examples of broader engagement? Are you available at 1pm on Tuesday, September 15?

Cheers,
Sonam

---

Sonam Velani

Policy Advisor

Deputy Mayor for Housing & Economic Development

City of New York

SVelani@cityhall.nyc.gov

O: 212-341-5081

C: 347-574-1204

From: Stanislav Parfenov mailto:[stanislav@placemeter.com]

Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 3:32 PM

To: Singleton, Jessica; Velani, Sonam; Sidis, Joshua

Cc: Florent Peyre

Subject: follow-up from Placemeter

Dear Jessie, Sonam and Josh,

It was great meeting you all today!

We, at Placemeter, are very interested and delighted to be a part of this dialogue. I think that the study on taxis and FHV's is a very complex topic, but it offers a huge opportunity to make a true progress and difference in the way NYC functions, as well as day-to-day lives of New Yorkers and visitors.

I am very interested in having a meeting with you sometime soon to discuss more in detail what we envision the continuous data collection efforts to look like. I think and hope that this study can go beyond a standard policy or a traffic engineering study and can lead to a setup of new standards of continuous data collection established by the City.

It was mentioned that the deadline for the comments and initial data gathering is set for September 10th or 11th, did I catch it correctly? This is rather short time, but I can make myself available tomorrow or Thursday this week, or Wednesday through Friday of next to meet. Let me know what day/time works best for you.

Thank you and looking forward to talk to you soon!
Stanislav

Stanislav Parfenov

Solutions Architect, PLACEMETER

c: 310 404 9330 | e: stanislav@placemeter.com | w: www.placemeter.com

--

Florent Peyre

Co-Founder and COO, PLACEMETER

c: 917 225 4579 | e: florent@placemeter.com | w: www.placemeter.com

GET STARTED WITH A FREE DEMO

“With modern tools, such as cheap cameras and algorithms that can detect pedestrians, cities can be better and more cheaply understood than ever before.”

—The Washington Post

We could soon live in a world where you could see at a glance exactly how many people are in one place at one time. That's powerful stuff.

- Fortune Magazine

From: Williams, Dominic
To: [REDACTED] /NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY: [REDACTED]
Subject: FW: Concerns
Date: Thursday, September 03, 2015 6:02:08 PM

---

From: <Joshi>, Meera Joshi <joshim@tlc.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, September 3, 2015 at 4:58 PM

Subject: Concerns

[REDACTED]

- Author: Issie Lapowsky. Issie Lapowsky Business
- Date of Publication: 09.03.15. 09.03.15
- Time of Publication: 4:30 pm. 4:30 pm

NYC Enlists Tech Types to Help Fix Its Uber Problem

Getty Images

Uber and the City of New York have called a ceasefire in the battle they waged against each other earlier this summer over the city's plans to cap the expansion of the ride-hailing industry. Just months after all the name-calling and mudslinging came to a standstill, the two super powers are working on plans to co-exist peacefully.

Now, New York City is enlisting some big-league help to figure out what that plan will be. This week, the city held the first meeting of its newly formed Technology Advisory Group, a panel convened to consider the question of what to do about Uber. The group's two dozen members include academics from New York University and Columbia, venture capitalists like Fred Wilson, and representatives from tech companies, Uber itself among them.

The services in question are more fundamental to our day-to-day life than in most other cities. Arun Sundararajan, NYU Stern School of Business

The goal is to reorient the city's regulatory framework around the transportation industry as it exists today, rather than the way things used to be.

"The first meeting was about telling everyone that the rules we have are from another time," says Jessie Singleton, New York's chief digital officer, who is organizing the group. "We've done a pretty good job of adapting that framework to support innovation, but now we're resetting the table."

In some ways, Singleton says, this moment in time is similar to the early 1980s, when the rise of the two-way radio began allowing taxi companies to dispatch vehicles to specific locations. That technology led to the creation of the black car market in New York, which unlike yellow cabs, must be dispatched in advance, instead of hailed on the street.

"We have these historic examples of when technology has caused the city to acknowledge the importance of creating either a new framework or adapting an old one," Singleton says.

More Data

Getting these new frameworks right in New York City is particularly important, says NYU Stern School of Business professor Arun Sundarajan, who is a member of the advisory board. "The services in question are more fundamental to our day-to-day life than in most other cities," he says. "A number of cities around the world will look to New York as the template, as the model of how you deal with this kind of digital disruption in a forward-looking way."

Throughout the year, the advisory group members will assess issues like safety, labor, managing congestion, accessibility, and geographic coverage of for-hire vehicles. They'll also provide the city with the data and insight they need to complete an ongoing study of the for-hire vehicle market. That study was a major point of contention between Uber and the city this summer, as Mayor de Blasio proposed capping Uber and other for-hire vehicles until a study of their impact on the city was completed.

As part of the agreement to drop the cap proposal, the city said it would allow these companies to continue to operate throughout the duration of the study. In return, Uber would work with the city to provide data on its operations in New York. Now, the city is asking the rest of its advisory group to share even more data and research on the industry.

“It’s a hotly followed topic in academic institutions, and a lot of tech transportation companies are built on data-driven platforms,” Singleton says. “Many of the questions around congestion and consumer choice and equitable growth and safety of drivers and passengers are questions they might have key insights and assets to help answer.”

A New Structure

It’s important to note, however, that the advisory group won’t be responsible for coming up with a final plan for for-hire vehicles in the city. Rather, they’ll help inform the study upon which the city will base its long-term plans. Singleton says it’s too early to share exactly which regulations are likely to change. But Sundarajan, for one, says he found the first meeting promising.

“I’ve seen discussions like this before in other contexts, and the sense I got was that there was a genuine openness to considering new solutions and to inviting new data sources and ideas for analysis,” he says. “It wasn’t, ‘These are the regulations, and how do we tweak them?’ It was more, ‘What’s a new structure? How can we solve our problems and lead the rest of the world forward?’”

In some ways, this approach reflects just how powerful Uber is. This summer the city found itself on the wrong end of Uber’s ire, and was easily cast as a backward-looking bureaucracy. Now, the city seems to have figured out that the only way to control a juggernaut like Uber is to work with, instead of against, it.

“The stakes are higher in New York. I see this is part of a process of careful thinking,” Sundarajan says. “I’m optimistic and keeping my fingers crossed this openness and desire to come up with the right solution, not just any solution, will persist.”

*Allan J. Fromberg
Deputy Commissioner for Public Affairs
NYC TLC
33 Beaver Street
212-676-1013*

From: Sam Schwartz
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork
Date: Friday, September 04, 2015 2:14:08 PM
Attachments: VIM - Not Just Another Acronym.pdf

---

Joshua,

Please see attached. I'd make it required reading for those working on the study.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.
President + CEO
sschwartz@samschwartz.com
phone: (212) 598-9010 x 110
toll free: (877) 726-7249
322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS
Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound
Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, September 04, 2015 1:52 PM
To: Sam Schwartz <sschwartz@samschwartz.com>
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

As per our call earlier today, due to timing and other constraints, the City of New York will no longer pursue your services through a micro purchase. We look forward to working with you in other pro bono capacities on this project.

I will send you materials to look over while you are away to get you up to speed for a potential meeting on the 16th or 17th. If you have materials to help us understand your view of the current state of the for-hire-vehicle industry, please send them along.

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [<mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com>]

Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 9:32 AM

To: Sidis, Joshua

Cc: Sam Schwartz

Subject: Re: Paperwork

I do have a few questions. Please see below:

Contract reads: “During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.”

1. What companies are being studied?
2. Once the contract is over, am I able to work for any and all the companies studied without exception?
3. Disclosure: My firm now consults for Via. We also have a request to work for a few other firms but not Uber. Any problem with this?
4. My firm also is completing a report for Transit Center on TNC's and other app services nationwide.

The contract is with “Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC.” The contract then goes on to talk about the “Consultant,” but never defines the word “Consultant.”

1. Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC is the entity that I'd want to be under contract
2. I will use staff as well.

Contract language: “Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.” [A brief outline of the scope is in the contract.]

Questions:

1. Who specifically is in charge at the Mayor’s Office that will be directing the work?
2. Who are the FHV study partners?
3. Will I have access to all documents related to the study as they are prepared and in draft?
4. Will I be able to question the consultants directly?
5. Are the consultants required to share data with me?

Contract language: “The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 67 hours billed whichever is sooner.”

1. Does the contract period end automatically on December 31, 2015, or can the City unilaterally extend the contract period and the accompanying conflict of interest bar?
2. Once the report, drafts or data sets are released to the public, will I be able to discuss them publicly and not be in breach of the confidentiality clause with respect to the material made public?
3. Other than the restriction that he not release confidential information, am I barred in any way during the contract period from commenting publicly on the study, the companies being studied, or the for hire vehicle industry?

Contract language: “The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow [sic] (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.”

1. Who is MIS?

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.
President | CEO

Sam Schwartz Engineering D.P.C.

On Sep 3, 2015, at 8:57 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nycov> wrote:

Good morning Sam,
When you have a chance can you please fill out the paperwork and return by mail or scan and email to me? Also, please let me know your availability for a meeting next week.

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 5:57 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Hi Sam,
Just a gentle nudge here. Would love to get the four docs signed and returned to us as soon as you can. If you have any questions on the consultant agreement please let me know. Thanks.

You can mail them to

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Or

Fill them out, scan them and email them to me.

Thanks!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 6:46 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Sam,

Attached you will find all four documents needed to begin your engagement with the City. Please let me know what, if any, questions you may have. We would like to set up a time to bring you up to speed. What does the rest of your week look like?

Safe travels!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [<mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com>]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 5:22 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Joshua,

Please send me the paperwork. I probably will have a few questions. I'm traveling the next couple of days but should be able to get back to you shortly.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.

President + CEO

sschwartz@samschwartz.com

phone:  \(212\) 598-9010 x 110598-9010)

toll free:  \(877\) 726-7249726-7249)

322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS

Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound

Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

Sam Schwartz Engineering
+ Ingenuity | Accessibility | Integrity
D.P.C.

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [<mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:28 PM

To: 'sam@samschwartz.com' <sam@samschwartz.com>

Subject: FHV: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

My name is Joshua Sidis and I am with the Mayor's Office of Operations. Thank you again for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I am working on bringing you onboard as an adviser for the FHV study. I am happy to answer any questions. Let me know if you would like to have a call or if I should just send over the paperwork.

Talk to you soon,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

VIM: Not Just Another Acronym

by Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E. and Shauna Tarshis Colasuonno

A funny thing happened as we reversed a lane of the Queens Midtown Tunnel (QMT). The project worked better than expected! East Midtown Manhattan, clogged on some days until midnight, was relatively free flowing even during the evening rush hours. Yet, the project simply involved the reversal of a single lane of a four-lane facility. The reversed lane, at first, handled only 700 vehicles per hour. On the Queens side of the Tunnel, the queue entering Manhattan was extended by, at most, 400 vehicles. But by 4 PM, after one hour of operation, a widespread area of Manhattan was peculiarly devoid of congestion. Removing 1,100 vehicles from the street system per hour seemed inconsequential when compared to more than 30,000 vehicles entering Midtown each hour, the daily entry of 200,000 vehicles, and the fact that most of Midtown Manhattan's 11 avenues were each handling more than three times the reversed lane's volume.

At the same time as the QMT reversal project, the City was considering the licensing of six thousand vehicles as radio limousines. As traffic engineers we knew that this proposal, counter to public intuition, would have a dramatic effect on Midtown traffic resulting in much slower speeds and thus less overall service and mobility during the critical rush hours. But the public had been inundated with stories of huge increases in

QUEENS MIDTOWN TUNNEL REVERSAL TYPICAL CONDITIONS (3 - 7 PM) BEFORE

AFTER

37,000 Vehicles = 97,000 Passengers      10,000 Vehicles = 15,000 Passengers

Note dramatic impacts in Manhattan.

Figure 1. Typical before and after conditions at the Queens Midtown Tunnel. Note dramatic impacts in Manhattan.

traffic, and a record 1.5 million vehicles using Manhattan's bridges and tunnels daily in 1981; so what harm could 6000 more vehicles do?

After careful investigation, a relatively simple way was discovered to describe the phenomena at the QMT and explain to lay people the dramatic negative impact on traffic flow and net service of the limousine proposal for the public. In addition, a good tool was found to quantitatively relate level of service (in terms of speed) to possible changes in vehicle density or new traffic flow patterns.

Deriving Vehicles in Motion

The investigation takes advantage of the data obtained during the transit strike of 1980 when the accumulation of the number of vehicles in the Central Business District (CBD — Manhattan south of 60th Street) was used as a barometer to correlate with congestion. As seen in Table I, the total number of vehicles in the CBD ranges between 139,000 and 181,000 during the business day. Since many of these vehicles are parked, we have to isolate those vehicles in motion (VIM) which contribute to traffic congestion. Thus we have:

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Vehicles in Motion} = \\ \text{Accumulation} - \text{Vehicles Parked} \end{aligned} \quad (\text{Eq. 1})$$

Data for parked vehicles exists from previous studies by the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission and the "New York City Parking Management Study"<sup>1</sup>. We can therefore estimate the VIM in the CBD for three time periods as given in Table I.

However, significant problems prevent the use of this data. For example, the data sets used in Table I were 3 to 4 years apart and zoning changes affecting parking were enacted during the intervening time. There is a need for a more accurate way to determine VIM.

Using data from the NYC Department of Environmental Protection, Bureau of Science and Technology, we present an alternate and more exact method for determining VIM. Vehicles in Motion can be related to the number of Vehicle Miles Travelled (VMT). This is based on the fact that VMT in a given area in one hour is equal to the sum of each vehicle in motion during any portion of the hour multiplied by the distance that it travels during that hour. Written as an equation, this is expressed as follows:

$$(\text{VMT})_{hr} = D_1 + D_2 + \dots + D_x + \dots + D_n = \sum_{x=1}^n D_x \quad (\text{Eq. 2})$$ where D = distance vehicle number x travels in one hour

n = total vehicles in motion during the hour

VMT can also be determined by multiplying the average number of VIM during the hour multiplied by the average distance travelled in the hour (which is speed in MPH). Therefore:

$$\text{VMT} = \overline{\text{VIM}} \times \overline{\text{MPH}} \quad (\text{Eq. 3})$$

Transposing, to get VIM during a given hour:

$$\overline{\text{VIM}} = \text{VMT} / \overline{\text{MPH}} \quad (\text{Eq. 4})$$

Assessing the Limousine Proposal

With a formula for deriving VIM, it is possible to calculate the current VIM and compare it to the changes in VIM which would accompany the licensing of 6000 new limousines to the traffic in the CBD. To be consistent in determining the affect of the limousines an assumption was made that limousine usage patterns would to a first approximation mimic taxi-usage. Thus most limousine trips would be in the Midtown Core of Manhattan: an area bounded by 34th and 59th Streets and 1st to 8th Avenues (see Figure 1).

Within this core impact area there are 11 avenues with individual lengths of 1.25 miles. The 26 streets in the Core are each 1.19 miles long. Travel time studies conducted twice a year throughout Midtown Manhattan provide accurate speed data. Extensive screenline volume counts are available for both avenues and streets. From these data, VMT is determined by aggregating segment volumes by segment distances. The VIM Equation 4 is applied below for the impact area with an example for the 8-9 AM time period taken from Table II using the fact that  $(\text{VMT})_{\text{hour}} =$ (Average Volume × Average Distance). Indicating that during the time period 8 to 9:00 AM 5201 vehicles are in motion on the average.

The same hourly analyses can be performed using data for other periods. The data is presented in Figure 2 (the second curve showing taxis in motion will be discussed later).

The results are surprising. As seen from Figure 2, the maximum number of vehicles in motion at any moment in the Midtown Core of Manhattan is below 9,000. Therefore, the benefits that accrue from removing 1,100 vehicles with the QMT lane-reversal are apparent. In addition, our feared negative impact on traffic of the addition of thousands of limousines to the Midtown Core can be determined. If we assume that limousines are attracted to Midtown to the same extent that taxis are, about 1/3 of the total number would operate in the Core at any one time. This would increase traffic density by more than 20% which, in rush hours, would produce traffic congestion approaching gridlock and an overall net decrease in service to the public. During the critical hours, traffic would be so severe that passengers would simply be spending time sitting in the additional limousines and taxis rather than getting to their destinations. In effect, the limousines would provide seating space on the streets of Manhattan at approximately $25 per hour.

Since the policy implications of the analysis above are significant, cross-checks for correctness of the results are essential. Several methods were tried and all supported the order of magnitude obtained from Equation 4. Three of the cross-checks were:

1. An estimate was made of the absolute number of vehicles that could fit in Midtown if all available lanes were filled with vehicles. If we add all the moving lane space, assuming an average of 20 feet per vehicle, the Midtown core moving vehicle lanes can hold a maximum of 27,000 vehicles. This sets a theoretical upper limit for VIM. From observations and experience, a peak density of 1/3 of the physical maximum seems reasonable.
2. An extrapolation for VIM was obtained from photographs of street traffic. From blowups of photographs of a small area of Midtown streets, cars were counted and interpolations to the entire area were made. This

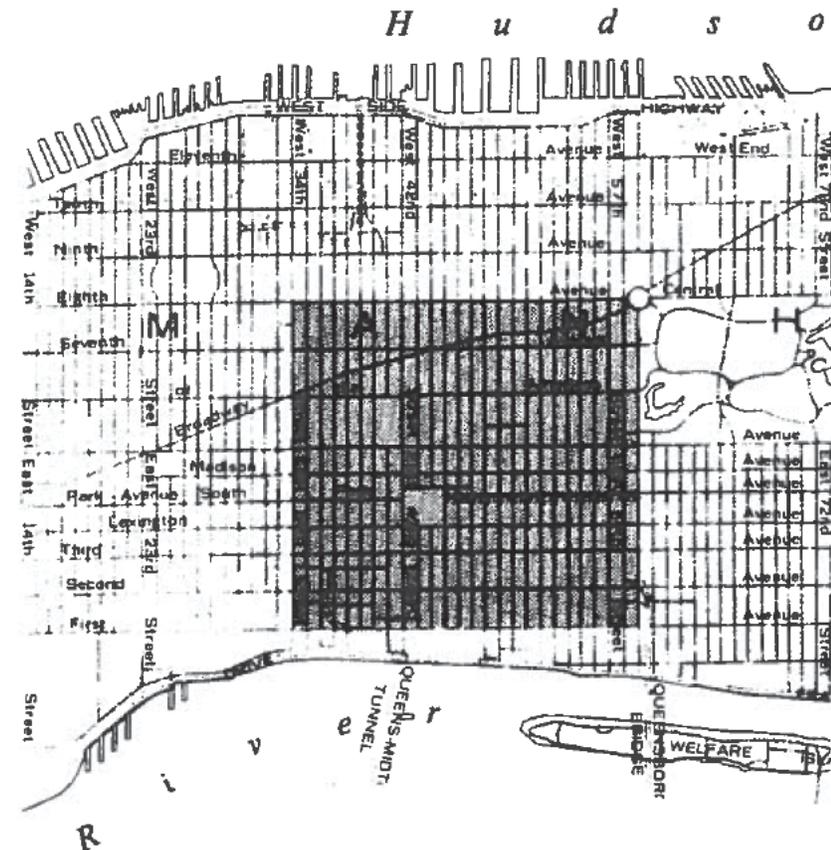

1. New York City Department of Environmental Protection, Parking Management Study: Final Draft, 1980.

Table I. Vehicle Accumulation and VIM

Hour	Total Vehicle Accumulation	Vehicles Parked		VIM
		Off-Street	On Street
8-9 AM	139,050	66,500	26,687	45,863
12-1 PM	181,504	101,100	35,628	44,776
5-6 PM	155,704	86,800	33,969	34,935

Table II. Data for 8-9 AM for Midtown Core

Type	Vehicles Per Hour	Distance	Speed
Avenues	19,769	1.25 miles	12.3 MPH
Streets	18,225	1.19 miles	6.8 MPH
VIM	= $\frac{19,796 \times 1.25}{12.3}$	+ $\frac{18,225 \times 1.19}{6.8}$	= 5201

Figure 1. Midtown Manhattan Core Area Shaded

generated a VIM estimate of about 8000.

3. We used available information regarding the number of taxis operating in Midtown. This figure when combined with the known ratio of taxi vehicles to the total number of vehicles, resulted in VIM estimates of 9,500 to 10,500.

These three cross-checks increased the confidence of the earlier VIM estimates as the comparison with the limousine proposal continued. A more quantitative analysis can be found from VIM correlated with speed, by time of day, to ascertain the actual impact of these additional vehicles on travel speeds. A polynomial regression (up to quadratic terms) produced the curve in Figure 3. Although the curve requires further analysis, the pattern is logical.

To determine the theoretical initial point (i.e., when only one vehicle is in the Midtown core) an assumption was made that the vehicle's mileage distribution between avenues and streets would parallel the VMT distribution described earlier. Approximately 52% of the VMT occurs on avenues, 48% on streets. Thus, it was assumed that 52% of the initial vehicle's mileage is passed on avenues. The speed of the single vehicle was derived using the following:

$$\text{Single Vehicle Speed (S.V.S.)} = \frac{(D_a + D_c)}{(T_a + D_c)}$$

$$\text{Single Vehicle Speed (S.V.S.)} = \frac{(D_a + D_c)}{(T_a + D_c)}$$

Where:  $D_a$  = distance travelled on avenues

$D_c$  = distance travelled on crosstown streets

$T_a$  = time travelled on avenues

$T_c$  = time travelled on crosstown streets

Since:  $T_a = D_a / S_a$

and  $T_c = D_c / S_c$

$$\begin{aligned} \text{S.V.S.} &= \frac{D_a + D_c}{\frac{D_a}{S_a} + \frac{D_c}{S_c}} \\ &= \frac{1 \text{ mile}}{\frac{.52 \text{ miles}}{25 \text{ MPH}} + \frac{.48 \text{ miles}}{12 \text{ MPH}}} \\ &= 16.5 \text{ MPH} \end{aligned} \quad (\text{Eq. 6})$$

Since some time will be lost due to turning movements, construction, etc.,

16 MPH was used as the intercept. From Figure 4 one can plot  $VMT = \overline{VIM} \times \overline{MPH}$ . Using  $x$  for  $\overline{VIM}$  and  $y$  for  $\overline{MPH}$ ,  $VMT = x \cdot y$ . Assuming  $y$  to be quadratic:
 $VMT = x \cdot y = x(ax^2 + bx + c)$  (Eq. 7)
 $VMT = ax^3 + bx^2 + cx$  (Eq. 8)

A maximum VMT is obtained when the change of VMT with respect to  $\overline{VIM}$  is zero. Taking the first derivative of  $\overline{VMT}$  and setting it to zero we obtain:

$$\frac{d(VMT)}{dx} = 3ax^2 + 2bx + c = 0 \quad (\text{Eq. 9})$$

$$x = \frac{-2b \pm \sqrt{4b^2 - 4(3ac)}}{2(3a)} \quad (\text{Eq. 10})$$

Using values obtained from the regression analysis of Figure 4:

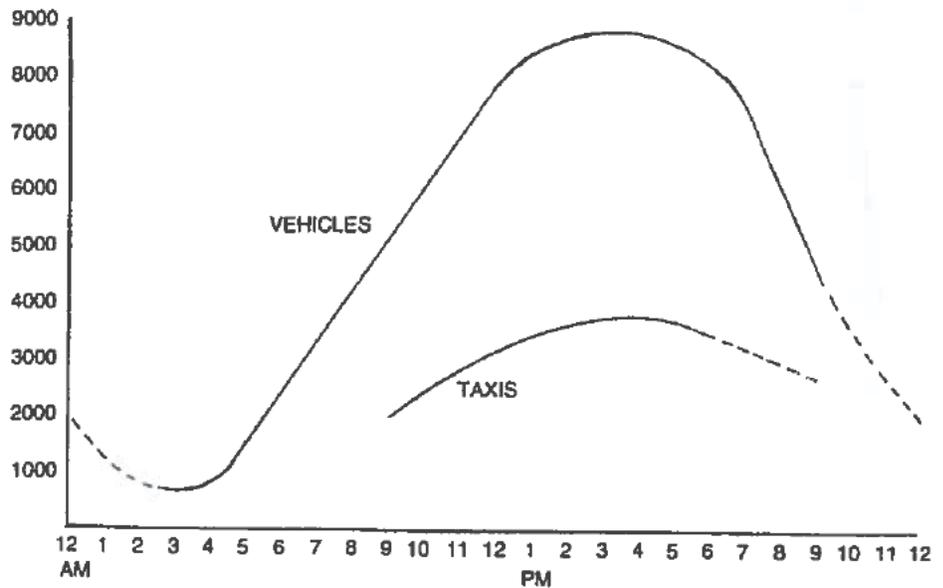

$$x = 7156$$

Therefore, the maximum VMT occurs when 7156 vehicles are in the Core area ( $\overline{VIM}$  critical). For every car above  $\overline{VIM}$  critical, the total miles travelled actually decreases with the addition of more vehicles. Although Figure 3 shows effective standstill of traffic (gridlock) at 16,200, Figure 4 shows that the dropoff in VMT occurs after 7156. Thus it is especially important not to allow the  $\overline{VIM}$  to exceed this number.

Taxis in Motion

Earlier estimates of  $\overline{VIM}$  (Figure 2) had shown taxis to be a large component of Midtown traffic ~ 43% of the total. These taxis are highly regulated with a ceiling of 11,787 allowed to operate on City streets (taxis must purchase medallions in order to do business in NYC and there are only 11,787 medallions issued). Of the medallion taxis, our data shows that approximately 1/3 are in motion in the Midtown Core at any given time. These two facts focus attention on the role of taxis in contributing to congestion and the impact of congestion on taxi productivity. As in the preceding discussion, there is a point at which the addition of more taxis will mean fewer taxi miles travelled. The addition of taxis beyond that number would mean less service to the public.

Applying the 43% classification figure to  $\overline{VIM}$  shows that during the peak hours approximately 3827 taxis are in motion (TIM). This represents 32% of the total number of taxis. Assuming that the attraction for taxi operators to drive in Midtown remains the same in all cases (i.e.

Vehicle Entries 7am—7pm 130,000app. Medallion Cabs 11,767

JANUARY 1982

Figure 2. Vehicles/Taxis in Motion 1st & 8th Aves., 34th-59th Sts.

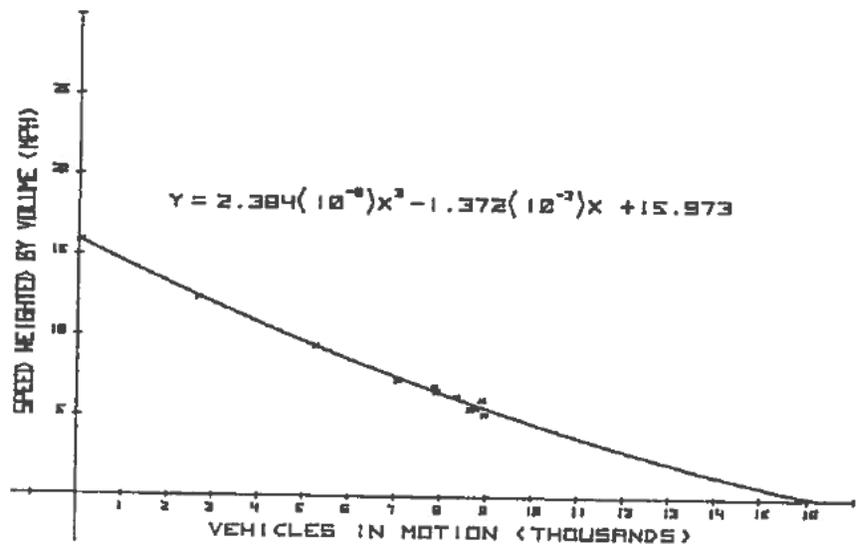

Figure 3. Vehicles In Motion (VIM) vs Average Speeds Midtown.

$TIM = f(M)$  and other motorists' patterns do not change:

$$\overline{VIM} = k + TIM \quad (\text{Eq. 12})$$

$$TIM = .32 M \quad (\text{Eq. 13})$$

where:  $k$  = a constant of vehicles other than taxis

$$TIM = \text{Taxis in Motion}$$

$$M = \text{Number of Medallion Taxis}$$

To consider proposals for increasing the number of medallion taxis, TIM was related to speed. Multiplying TIM by speed determines the number of miles taxis in Midtown could travel in an hour.

To find the critical value of  $M$  we used our earlier findings for  $\overline{VIM}$  critical:

$$\overline{VIM}_{crit} = k + TIM_{crit} \quad (\text{Eq. 14})$$

Using Equations 12 and 13:

$$\overline{VIM}_{crit} = k + .32 M_{crit}$$

$$M_{crit} = \frac{\overline{VIM}_{crit} - k}{.32}$$

$$M_{crit} = 6509$$

Note: For the peak period  $\overline{VIM} = 8900$ ,  $TIM = 3827$ ,  $k = 5073$  (see Figure 3).

This indicates that during the peak hours the maximum number of taxi miles would be achieved with only 6,509 medallioned cabs or 2,083 [.32 x 6,509] actually in motion at any one time in the Core. Reducing the number of medallions could mean substantial improvements in taxi service. However, this research assumes that all other conditions and volumes remain unchanged. In fact, improved speeds realized by a reduction in TIM may induce more "other" motorists to drive into Manhattan.

Acknowledgements

The author wishes to thank Robert McCarthy and Louis Olmo of the New York City Department of Transportation for their assistance in developing the computer analyses and graphics. In addition, Bernard Tuchman and Alfred De-Filippis, New York City Department of Environmental Protection, are cited for providing valuable data from their New York City Parking Management Study.

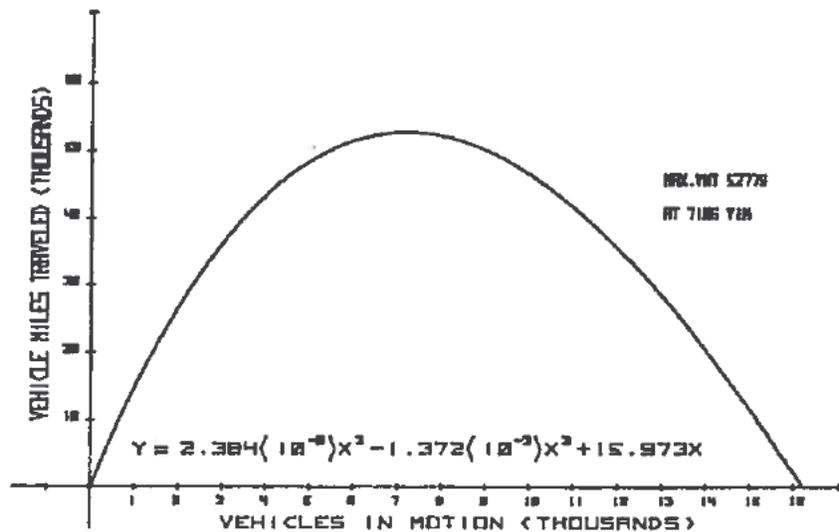

Figure 4. VIM vs VMT.

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E. (A) Deputy Commissioner of the New York City Department of Transportation, directed the study entitled "VIM: Not Just Another Acronym." He conceived the concept of relating vehicles in motion to the Queens Midtown Tunnel reversal project and to the proposal to add radio limousine service to Midtown Manhattan.

Schwartz derived the mathematical analyses reported in the study and directed his staff to analyze existing data and perform regression analyses on the computer. He was assisted in the writing, research and lay-out of graphics for the report by Ms. Shauna Tarshis, a Transportation Planner in the Department.

SOMETHING BETTER ALWAYS COMES ALONG

Traffic Signals, Flashers, Gongs, Roadway and Parking Gates, Positive Barriers, and Signals for Marine and Air Navigation.

B & B ELECTROMATIC CORPORATION
MANUFACTURERS SINCE 1925

NORWOOD, LOUISIANA 70761
 PHONE: 504 - 629-5234

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Sam Schwartz"
Subject: RE: Paperwork
Date: Friday, September 04, 2015 3:27:29 PM

---

Thank you! I have passed this along to the team for review. Looking forward to our meeting the 16th or 17th. I will get times from our team and make it work.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com]
Sent: Friday, September 04, 2015 2:14 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Joshua,

Please see attached. I'd make it required reading for those working on the study.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.
President + CEO
sschwartz@samschwartz.com
phone: (212) 598-9010 x 110
toll free: (877) 726-7249
322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS

Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound

Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

Sam Schwartz Engineering
+ Ingenuity | Accessibility | Integrity
D.P.C.

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov]

Sent: Friday, September 04, 2015 1:52 PM
To: Sam Schwartz <sschwartz@samschwartz.com>
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

As per our call earlier today, due to timing and other constraints, the City of New York will no longer pursue your services through a micro purchase. We look forward to working with you in other pro bono capacities on this project.

I will send you materials to look over while you are away to get you up to speed for a potential meeting on the 16th or 17th. If you have materials to help us understand your view of the current state of the for-hire-vehicle industry, please send them along.

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [<mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com>]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 9:32 AM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Sam Schwartz
Subject: Re: Paperwork

I do have a few questions. Please see below:

Contract reads: "During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant."

1. What companies are being studied?
2. Once the contract is over, am I able to work for any and all the companies studied without exception?
3. Disclosure: My firm now consults for Via. We also have a request to work for a few other firms but not Uber. Any problem with this?
4. My firm also is completing a report for Transit Center on TNC's and other app services nationwide.

The contract is with "Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC." The contract then goes on to talk about the “Consultant,” but never defines the word “Consultant.”

1. Sam Schwartz Engineering DPC is the entity that I’d want to be under contract
2. I will use staff as well.

Contract language: “Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study, including the following tasks and deliverables. Consultant will lend perspective on the report as it unfolds as well as provide regulatory guidance.” [A brief outline of the scope is in the contract.]

Questions:

1. Who specifically is in charge at the Mayor’s Office that will be directing the work?
2. Who are the FHV study partners?
3. Will I have access to all documents related to the study as they are prepared and in draft?
4. Will I be able to question the consultants directly?
5. Are the consultants required to share data with me?

Contract language: “The total contract term September 1st through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum of 67 hours billed whichever is sooner.”

1. Does the contract period end automatically on December 31, 2015, or can the City unilaterally extend the contract period and the accompanying conflict of interest bar?
2. Once the report, drafts or data sets are released to the public, will I be able to discuss them publicly and not be in breach of the confidentiality clause with respect to the material made public?
3. Other than the restriction that he not release confidential information, am I barred in any way during the contract period from commenting publicly on the study, the companies being studied, or the for hire vehicle industry?

Contract language: “The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with tow [sic] (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.”

1. Who is MIS?

President | CEO

Sam Schwartz Engineering D.P.C.

On Sep 3, 2015, at 8:57 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nycov> wrote:

Good morning Sam,
When you have a chance can you please fill out the paperwork and return by mail or scan and email to me? Also, please let me know your availability for a meeting next week.

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis
Mayor's Office of Operations
Main: 212-788-4881
BB: 917-620-9379
253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 5:57 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Hi Sam,
Just a gentle nudge here. Would love to get the four docs signed and returned to us as soon as you can. If you have any questions on the consultant agreement please let me know. Thanks.

You can mail them to

Maritza Gatón
100 Gold St. 2nd flr
New York, NY 10038

Or

Fill them out, scan them and email them to me.

Thanks!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 6:46 PM
To: 'Sam Schwartz'
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Sam,

Attached you will find all four documents needed to begin your engagement with the City. Please let me know what, if any, questions you may have. We would like to set up a time to bring you up to speed. What does the rest of your week look like?

Safe travels!

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sam Schwartz [<mailto:sschwartz@samschwartz.com>]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 5:22 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Paperwork

Joshua,

Please send me the paperwork. I probably will have a few questions. I'm traveling the next couple of days but should be able to get back to you shortly.

Best wishes,

Sam

Samuel I. Schwartz, P.E.

President + CEO

sschwartz@samschwartz.com

phone: (212) 598-9010 x 110

toll free: (877) 726-7249

322 Eighth, 5th Fl | NY, NY 10001

Author of STREET SMART: THE RISE OF CITIES AND THE FALL OF CARS

Preorder now from Amazon, Barnes&Noble, and IndieBound

Out Sept. 2015

"A readable and provocative book making the convincing claim that the best city is one in which people can move around easily." —Kirkus Reviews

Sam Schwartz Engineering
+ Ingenuity | Accessibility | Integrity
D.P.C.

samschwartz.com | TransCentral e-News

THIS MESSAGE IS CONFIDENTIAL AND MAY CONTAIN PRIVATE INFORMATION. IT IS INTENDED ONLY FOR THE INDIVIDUAL[S] NAMED HEREIN. IF YOU ARE NOT THE NAMED ADDRESSEE[S] YOU MUST DELETE THIS EMAIL IMMEDIATELY. DO NOT DISSEMINATE, DISTRIBUTE OR COPY. SSE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGES OR OTHER ISSUES ARISING FROM THE UNAUTHORIZED USE OF THIS MESSAGE BY UNINTENDED RECIPIENTS.

Please consider the environment before printing this e-mail

---

From: Sidis, Joshua [<mailto:JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:28 PM

To: 'sam@samschwartz.com' <sam@samschwartz.com>

Subject: FHV: Paperwork

Hi Sam,

My name is Joshua Sidis and I am with the Mayor's Office of Operations. Thank you again for agreeing to be a part of this study.

I am working on bringing you onboard as an adviser for the FHV study. I am happy to answer any questions. Let me know if you would like to have a call or if I should just send over the paperwork.

Talk to you soon,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Subject: RE: FHV study
Date: Friday, September 04, 2015 5:57:28 PM
Attachments: FHV - NDA Shaller Consulting.pdf

---

Hi Bruce,

One thing that was not a part of the paperwork I sent was an NDA. Please sign the NDA before I send over prep doc.

If you have questions or concerns please let me know. I may leave my desk soon but will be available by blackberry all weekend.

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 8:37 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Yes, that's fine. Anytime Wed works.

On Thu, Sep 3, 2015 at 7:51 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Bruce,

I am looking to set up a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Maybe 3 or 4? Does that still work for you?

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 10:32 AM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: FHV study

Tuesday and Thursday after 1 pm and anytime on Wednesday is open.

On Sep 3, 2015 8:57 AM, "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Good morning Bruce,
Will you please let me know your availability for a meeting early next week?

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 1:34 PM
To: 'Bruce Schaller'
Subject: RE: FHV study

Thank you Bruce.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 1:34 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Joshua - attached is the signed consulting agreement and the completed forms. Let me know if you need anything else.

Bruce

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 10:09 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Great! Thanks.

I look forward to working with you as well.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 9:15 AM

To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Good - I'll get these back to you, signed, later today. I guess I need the one document notarized as well.

Let me know plans for meeting times.

I look forward to working with you on this important -- and complex -- set of issues.

Bruce

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 9:07 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
These look fine Bruce. I made the changes. Not sure about the ETF. You should have all the docs.

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 1:46 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Joshua - I made a small number of edits visible in MS Word track changes. Please review and once agreed upon, I can execute the agreement and also send you a pdf of the forms.

I think there should be an EFT form which I don't see here....?

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 8:20 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Bruce,
Attached, please find the consultant agreement. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to reach out.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,
Bruce

CONFIDENTIALITY AND NON-DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT
IN RELATION TO CONSULTANT WORK FOR THE
FOR-HIRE VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION STUDY

This Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure agreement (“Confidentiality Agreement”) is dated _____, 2015 between the City of New York (“NYC” or “the City”), through the Mayor’s Office of Operations (“Operations”), with an address at 253 Broadway, 10th Floor, New York, NY, and Schaller Consulting, with an address of 94 Windsor Place, Brooklyn, NY 11215 (“Recipient”).

1. Definitions. For purposes of this Confidentiality Agreement, “Confidential Information” means any information that relates to, derives from, has been disclosed to Recipient, or has been produced by or otherwise shared with Recipient in relation to the For-Hire Vehicle (“FHV”) Transportation Study and the Agreement between the City and Recipient entitled, “Consultant to Support For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study” dated September 1, 2015 and Scope of Services thereof (“Consultant Agreement”). Confidential Information shall not include any information that is: (i) lawfully in the public domain at the time of receipt or lawfully comes into the public domain thereafter through no act of the Recipient in breach of the Confidentiality Agreement; (ii) known to the Recipient prior to disclosure; (iii) independently developed by the Recipient without reference to the Confidential Information; (iv) disclosed to the Recipient by a third party under conditions permitting such disclosure, without breach of the Confidentiality Agreement; and (v) disclosed as required by court order, subpoena, other validly issued administrative or judicial notice or order and/or as a matter of applicable law, provided, however, that in the event disclosure is required by Recipient under the provision of any law or court order, the Recipient will notify Operations as soon as practicable, but in no event later than five (5) business days from receipt of said court order or law requiring such disclosure, and disclose such Confidential Information only to the extent allowed under a protective order, if any, or necessary to comply with the law or court order.

3. Access to Confidential Information. Recipient has a legitimate work-related purpose directly connected to the FHV Transportation Study, which is to, among the other tasks set forth in the Consultant Agreement, advise the Office of the Mayor in relation to the FHV Transportation Study and issue memoranda in relation thereto. As such, the Recipient shall have access to the Confidential Information from September 1, 2015 through December 31, 2015, which aligns with the duration of the Consultant Agreement. The Recipient must hold the Confidential Information in strict confidence and not disclose or communicate the Confidential Information to any third parties except as provided herein or in the Consultant Agreement, nor make use of such Confidential Information for the benefit of another or for any use other than as set forth in this Confidentiality Agreement and the Consultant Agreement, nor publish, sell, license, distribute, or otherwise reveal the Confidential Information. The Recipient shall not incorporate or store any of the Confidential Information in any database or medium without the prior written approval of Operations.

4. Breach; Termination of Access to Confidential Information. Operations shall at its sole discretion terminate the Recipient’s access to the Confidential Information immediately upon the Recipient’s breach of any obligations of this Confidentiality Agreement. No claim for damages will be made or allowed to the Recipient because of said termination. Recipient shall immediately notify Operations in writing if the Recipient learns of or suspects any unauthorized use or disclosure of the Confidential Information, and shall take all reasonably necessary steps to prevent or mitigate any damages related thereto. The Recipient’s confidentiality obligations hereunder shall survive termination of the Confidentiality Agreement.

AGREED TO AND ACCEPTED BY:

Schaller Consulting

I hereby certify that I am duly authorized to execute this Confidentiality Agreement on behalf of Schaller Consulting, and understand, agree to and will abide by all of the provisions contained herein.

By: _____
Name: _____
Title: _____
Date: _____

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study
Date: Friday, September 04, 2015 6:27:06 PM
Attachments: Confidentiality agreement.pdf

---

Attached and good to go.

On Fri, Sep 4, 2015 at 5:57 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Bruce,

One thing that was not a part of the paperwork I sent was an NDA. Please sign the NDA before I send over prep doc.

If you have questions or concerns please let me know. I may leave my desk soon but will be available by blackberry all weekend.

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 8:37 PM

To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Yes, that's fine. Anytime Wed works.

On Thu, Sep 3, 2015 at 7:51 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Bruce,

I am looking to set up a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Maybe 3 or 4? Does that still work for you?

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, September 03, 2015 10:32 AM

To: Sidis, Joshua

Subject: RE: FHV study

Tuesday and Thursday after 1 pm and anytime on Wednesday is open.

On Sep 3, 2015 8:57 AM, "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning Bruce,

Will you please let me know your availability for a meeting early next week?

Thank you,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 1:34 PM
To: 'Bruce Schaller'
Subject: RE: FHV study

Thank you Bruce.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 1:34 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Joshua - attached is the signed consulting agreement and the completed forms.
Let me know if you need anything else.

Bruce

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 10:09 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great! Thanks.

I look forward to working with you as well.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]

Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 2015 9:15 AM

To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

Good - I'll get these back to you, signed, later today. I guess I need the one document notarized as well.

Let me know plans for meeting times.

I look forward to working with you on this important -- and complex -- set of issues.

Bruce

On Wed, Sep 2, 2015 at 9:07 AM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

These look fine Bruce. I made the changes. Not sure about the ETF. You should have all the docs.

Thanks,

Joshua Sidis

Mayor's Office of Operations

Main: 212-788-4881

BB: 917-620-9379

253 Broadway, 10th flr.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 2015 1:46 PM

To: Sidis, Joshua

Subject: Re: FHV study

Joshua - I made a small number of edits visible in MS Word track changes. Please review and once agreed upon, I can execute the agreement and also send you a pdf of the forms.

I think there should be an EFT form which I don't see here....?

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 8:20 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Bruce,

Attached, please find the consultant agreement. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to reach out.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 4:04 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FHV study

94 Windsor Place

Brooklyn, NY 11215

On Mon, Aug 31, 2015 at 3:15 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Quick Question. What is the address associate for your business? Need to add to a doc.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 2015 12:44 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FHV study

Joshua - just wanted to follow up from our conversation last Wednesday. I believe you were going to be sending over a consulting agreement? When should I expect that? Anything else you need?

Regards,

Bruce

CONFIDENTIALITY AND NON-DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT
IN RELATION TO CONSULTANT WORK FOR THE
FOR-HIRE VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION STUDY

This Confidentiality and Non-Disclosure agreement ("Confidentiality Agreement") is dated Sept. 4, 2015 between the City of New York ("NYC" or "the City"), through the Mayor's Office of Operations ("Operations"), with an address at 253 Broadway, 10th Floor, New York, NY, and Schaller Consulting, with an address of 94 Windsor Place, Brooklyn, NY 11215 ("Recipient").

1. Definitions. For purposes of this Confidentiality Agreement, "Confidential Information" means any information that relates to, derives from, has been disclosed to Recipient, or has been produced by or otherwise shared with Recipient in relation to the For-Hire Vehicle ("FHV") Transportation Study and the Agreement between the City and Recipient entitled, "Consultant to Support For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study" dated September 1, 2015 and Scope of Services thereof ("Consultant Agreement"). Confidential Information shall not include any information that is: (i) lawfully in the public domain at the time of receipt or lawfully comes into the public domain thereafter through no act of the Recipient in breach of the Confidentiality Agreement; (ii) known to the Recipient prior to disclosure; (iii) independently developed by the Recipient without reference to the Confidential Information; (iv) disclosed to the Recipient by a third party under conditions permitting such disclosure, without breach of the Confidentiality Agreement; and (v) disclosed as required by court order, subpoena, other validly issued administrative or judicial notice or order and/or as a matter of applicable law, provided, however, that in the event disclosure is required by Recipient under the provision of any law or court order, the Recipient will notify Operations as soon as practicable, but in no event later than five (5) business days from receipt of said court order or law requiring such disclosure, and disclose such Confidential Information only to the extent allowed under a protective order, if any, or necessary to comply with the law or court order.

3. Access to Confidential Information. Recipient has a legitimate work-related purpose directly connected to the FHV Transportation Study, which is to, among the other tasks set forth in the Consultant Agreement, advise the Office of the Mayor in relation to the FHV Transportation Study and issue memoranda in relation thereto. As such, the Recipient shall have access to the Confidential Information from September 1, 2015 through December 31, 2015, which aligns with the duration of the Consultant Agreement. The Recipient must hold the Confidential Information in strict confidence and not disclose or communicate the Confidential Information to any third parties except as provided herein or in the Consultant Agreement, nor make use of such Confidential Information for the benefit of another or for any use other than as set forth in this Confidentiality Agreement and the Consultant Agreement, nor publish, sell, license, distribute, or otherwise reveal the Confidential Information. The Recipient shall not incorporate or store any of the Confidential Information in any database or medium without the prior written approval of Operations.

4. Breach; Termination of Access to Confidential Information. Operations shall at its sole discretion terminate the Recipient's access to the Confidential Information immediately upon the Recipient's breach of any obligations of this Confidentiality Agreement. No claim for damages will be made or allowed to the Recipient because of said termination. Recipient shall immediately notify Operations in writing if the Recipient learns of or suspects any unauthorized use or disclosure of the Confidential Information, and shall take all reasonably necessary steps to prevent or mitigate any damages related thereto. The Recipient's confidentiality obligations hereunder shall survive termination of the Confidentiality Agreement.

AGREED TO AND ACCEPTED BY:

Schaller Consulting

I hereby certify that I am duly authorized to execute this Confidentiality Agreement on behalf of Schaller Consulting, and understand, agree to and will abide by all of the provisions contained herein.

By:
Name: Bruce Schaller
Title: Principal
Date: 9-4-15

From: ██████████@mckinsey.com
To: Peter Hill
Cc: Ana Ariño; ██████████@mckinsey.com; ██████████@mckinsey.com; Sidis_Joshua; Lee Ann Steidel; Tarlow_Mindy; ██████████@mckinsey.com
Subject: RE: FHV Study
Date: Monday, September 14, 2015 11:53:34 AM
Attachments: McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study 9-14-2015.docx

---

(See attached file: McKinsey 26640049 - Amendment 1 - For-Hire Vehicle Study_9-14-2015.docx)

Good morning Peter - I hope you had a great weekend. Attached please find the For-Hire Vehicle contract amendment with some very minor changes for the City's review. They are at the end of Section ██████████ and to ██████████ within Section ██████████

Thanks!

Regards,

██████████

▼ Peter Hill ---08/28/2015 09:30:06 AM---██████████, it was good to see you yesterday. Attached, please find EDC

From: Peter Hill <phil@edc.nyc>
To: ██████████@mckinsey.com <██████████@mckinsey.com>, "██████████@mckinsey.com" <██████████@mckinsey.com>, "██████████@mckinsey.com"
<██████████@mckinsey.com>
Cc: ██████████@mckinsey.com <██████████@mckinsey.com>, "jsidis@cityhall.nyc.gov" <jsidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>, Lee Ann Steidel <lsteidel@edc.nyc>, "mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov" <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov>, Ana Ariño <aarino@edc.nyc>
Date: 08/28/2015 09:30 AM
Subject: RE: FHV Study

---

██████████,

██████████, it was good to see you yesterday. Attached, please find EDC's revisions (tracked) to the For-Hire Vehicle contract amendment you had sent on Monday. As discussed, there are three main changes here:

- Clarified that Task 4 (implementation planning) will be supported by McKinsey
- Removed the language about use of name/attribution
- Clarified the Subcontractor relationship for the Traffic Study

Let me know if you have any questions; otherwise, please return 4 original signed copies to me:

Peter Hill
NYCEDC
110 William St. 4th Floor
New York, NY 10038

Best,
Peter

PETER HILL
Assistant Vice President, Strategic Planning
New York City Economic Development Corporation
www.nycedc.com
212-312-3704 (w)
PHill@edc.nyc

From: Peter Hill
Sent: Monday, August 24, 2015 4:57 PM
To: ██████████@mckinsey.com; Ana Ariño
Cc: ██████████@mckinsey.com; ██████████@mckinsey.com; 'jsidis@cityhall.nyc.gov'; Lee Ann Steidel; 'mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov'; ██████████@mckinsey.com
Subject: RE: FHV Study

Thanks, ██████████ We've received these and will take a look—we'll let you and the team know if we have any questions.

Best,
Peter

PETER HILL
Assistant Vice President, Strategic Planning
New York City Economic Development Corporation
www.nycedc.com
212-312-3704 (w)
PHill@edc.nyc

NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
STANDARD FORM OF AMENDMENT OF CONSULTANT CONTRACT

This is an amendment to the Contract entered into by New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC), a not-for-profit corporation organized pursuant to the Laws of the State of New York, having an office at 110 William Street, New York, New York 10038, and the Consultant:
Consultant's Name:		McKinsey & Company, Inc. Washington D.C.
Address:		1200 19 th Street, NW, Suite 1100, Washington, DC 20036
Contract No:		Contract Date:		Project No:
26640049		July 1, 2015		2664
Project Name: On-Call Management and Economic Development Consulting Services
Type of Services: Consulting Services
A copy of the Contract and copies of any and all prior amendments are attached hereto as Exhibit A.
The Contract is hereby amended as follows:
Amendment No:		Effective Date:
1		August 30, 2015
TYPE OF AMENDMENT
<input type="checkbox"/> Extension of Term		Extension Date:
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Increase in Maximum Contract Price		Original Maximum Contract Price $ 1.00
		Total Prior Increases $ 0.00
		Amount of Current Increase $ 2,062,740.00
		Revised Maximum Contract Price $ 2,062,741.00
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Amended Scope of Services - See attached Exhibit B
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Other (as described below) - See attached Exhibit(s) C
Exhibit C - Amended Payment Schedule
NYCEDC Executive Committee Approval Date:				April 30, 2015
Capitalized terms used herein shall have the meanings set forth in the Contract, as previously amended, unless otherwise defined herein. Except as provided herein and in the pages attached hereto, if any, all terms and conditions of the Contract, as previously amended, remain unchanged and in full force and effect.
MCKINSEY &amp; COMPANY, INC. WASHINGTON D.C.			NEW YORK CITY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
By:		By:
Printed Name:		Printed Name:
Title:		Title:
Date Signed:		Date Signed:

EXHIBIT A
THE CONTRACT AND PRIOR AMENDMENTS
(Incorporated by Reference)

EXHIBIT B

AMENDED SCOPE OF SERVICES
(APPENDIX B OF THE CONTRACT)

The Scope of Services (Appendix B of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following Task Order assignment:

I. Background

New York City Economic Development Corporation (“NYCEDC”) and the Mayor’s Office of Operations (“Operations”) are engaging the Consultant to conduct a comprehensive analysis and to articulate a strategy for managing and regulating New York City’s (the “City”) for-hire vehicle (“FHV”) transportation services. The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (“TLC”) establishes and enforces professional and uniform standards of for-hire services and ensures public safety. TLC licenses and regulates all aspects of the City’s yellow medallion taxicabs, FHV such as Boro Taxis, community-based liveries and black cars, commuter vans, paratransit vehicles (ambulettes), and certain luxury limousines. Over the past two years, the City has experienced a significant shift in the composition of its FHV transportation industry, specifically the introduction of a range of private, non-medallion FHV that are less regulated by the City.

The Consultant will provide consulting support and assist the City in developing a new plan for the City that provides a construct for a more comprehensive structure that accommodates the broader range of FHV (medallion and non-medallion). The priorities guiding this analysis and the resulting framework will be determined by the City and communicated to the Consultant. The Consultant will investigate, provide recommendations, and suggest an implementation plan that investigates at least five areas related to the City’s FHV industry:

1. Industry/business sector analysis
2. Assessment of present conditions
3. Stakeholder analysis
4. Analysis of potential outcomes of regulatory scenarios

In addition to the services described above and in Tasks 1 through 4 below (the “General Study”), the Consultant will engage a subconsultant as a Subcontractor, to conduct a study of FHV congestion, traffic, and emissions (the “Traffic Study”), as described in Tasks 5 through 7 below. The Traffic Study will be conducted in parallel with the General Study, and the Consultant will ensure alignment between these tasks, including using scenarios developed in the general study as inputs for the Traffic Study analysis, and outputs of the Traffic Study to

1. What are the likely factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the Manhattan core?

2. How are FHV currently operating within the Manhattan core and other congested parts of the City?
3. What will be the effect on mobility, traffic congestion and emissions of various FHV growth and regulatory scenarios?

Comment [PSH1]: While we do not expect to be making public our work with McKinsey on this project, we cannot agree to this term—as we have not on the base retainer contract or previous projects

Since EDC and McKinsey are signing this agreement and not the City, we can only represent EDC and McKinsey actions

II. Services – General Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will provide consulting services to include:

1. An analysis of for-hire transportation industry
  - a. This should include a review of medallion and non-medallion FHV including analysis of all relevant data and metrics, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, accessibility standards, as well as best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries.
2. Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.
  - a. This will involve detailed analysis of the as-is condition of the industry, along with a review of protocols and procedures, personnel and training practices, regulations, and financing. The review will also document the experiences and views of individuals directly employed by the for-hire industry as well as public and private stakeholders.
3. Develop a robust analysis of options and [REDACTED] options for an overall framework, including a roadmap for the City’s consideration in its approach fortho the for-hire transportation industry.
4. Support the City in developing implementation plans- to implement the City’s recommendations.

Task 1 An analysis of for-hire transportation industry

Task 1.1 Review of industry.

- Review all relevant metrics for the for-hire transportation industry, driver and passenger safety rules and regulations, consumer protections, and accessibility standards.

- Task 1.2 Conduct a review of best practices.
- Identify best practices in for-hire transportation operations from other jurisdictions or relevant industries, highlighting for consideration transportation models, such as ride sharing, that limit the impact on congestion of core sectors while continuing to serve the needs of the public.

Task 1 Deliverables: A report including all elements outlined in Tasks 1.1 and 1.2 above.

Task 2 Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry.

Task 2.1 Building on the findings from Task 1, as well as data and materials from the Traffic Study being conducted in parallel to this effort, the Consultant shall compile and synthesize the fact-base on the current processes, protocols, procedures, regulations, personnel and training practices in the for-hire transportation industry, including but not limited to the tasks below. Existing materials will be shared with the Consultant.

- Identify and document core business protocols and procedures, including all elements of rules and regulations in the medallion and non-medallion for-hire transportation industry
- Identify and document current training practices around driver and passenger safety
- Identify and document pricing protocols and protections for passengers
- Identify and document revenue sources and strategies
- Incorporate relevant information, as available, from a parallel effort that will analyze congestion and traffic flow in heavily used areas of the city

Task 2.2 Identify baseline performance metrics for for-hire transportation operations that will help drive and guide recommendations for a proposed regulatory structure.

Task 2 Deliverables: A report detailing the fact-base on the organizational structure, regulations and policies, current processes, and baseline performance metrics for the for-hire transportation industry.

Task 3 Develop a robust analysis of options and [REDACTED] options for an overall framework, including a roadmap, for the City's consideration of [REDACTED] its approach ~~for~~to the for-hire transportation industry.

Task 3.1 The Consultant shall produce a report detailing a robust analysis of options for developing a for-hire transportation system that is safe, inclusive, and reliable; operates in a manner that provides operational and financial support to meet the overall needs of the city's mass transit system; and ensures that the system is regulated in accordance with the City's interests and objectives. The overall framework will be evaluated and refined with the Mayor's Office. The Consultant will then [REDACTED] briefing and decision documents for the Mayor's Office, covering each strategic area and help facilitate decision-making by the Mayor's Office through a series of meetings.

Task 3 Deliverables: Framework and roadmap for a structure that accommodates the increasingly complex for-hire transportation environment, including all elements outlined above.

Comment [PSH2]: We had agreed that the City would conduct the implementation planning with support from McKinsey—that is why this is budgeted for in the price proposal

III. Services – Traffic Study

The Consultant, working under the direction of the Mayor’s Office of Operations, will engage ~~subconsultants~~ Subcontractors to provide consulting services to include:

Task 5 Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core

~~The Subconsultant~~ The Consultant or its Subcontractor will:

- Examine the current level of congestion in the Manhattan core using yellow and green taxi GPS, BusTime, Midtown in Motion data, as well as available traffic counts. The ~~Subconsultant~~ Subcontractor will analyze travel speeds by time/day of week and by geography using the 29 taxi GPS analysis zones developed by NYCDOT.
- Conduct a high-level of analysis of factors contributing to the recent increase in congestion in the midtown core using available data sets. This analysis will include a qualitative review of factors including: traffic volumes entering the Manhattan core, economic factors, changes in road capacity, construction activity, delivery activity, recent growth in the FHV sector, and other relevant factors.
- Develop a qualitative assessment of the role of FHV growth in growing congestion in the Manhattan core, as well as lay out a list of other likely congestion sources that merit further study.

Task 6 Assessment of Current FHV Operations

The ~~Subconsultant~~ Consultant or its Subcontractors will:

- Map the available FHV (including Uber) pick-up and drop-off locations and routing information (if available) overlaid with NYCDOT taxi analysis zones (29 zones total, including 18 zones in Manhattan) and census tracts citywide and within the CBD.
- Compare FHV (including Uber) pick-up/drop-off activity centers and time-of-day activities to those of yellow and green taxis for time periods with available FHV data (up to the past 3 years<sup>1</sup>);
- Assess FHV (including Uber) activity patterns between revenue trips, including cruising times and distances, as well as dwelling hot-spots of FHV awaiting e-hails.
- Assess Vehicle-Miles-Traveled (VMT), Vehicle-Hours-Traveled (VHT) and the average speed of FHV (including Uber) trips for zones citywide and within the CBD, compared to other travel speed data sources (e.g. taxi speeds, Midtown In Motion).

Task 7 Future Scenarios

The ~~Subconsultant~~ Consultant or its Subcontractor will:

- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years assuming no changes are made to existing TLC regulations. The ~~Subconsultant~~ Subcontractor shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The changes in the taxi and FHV fleet size and activity shall be based on the industry analysis conducted as part of the overall study.
- Estimate future FHV (including Uber) VMT and VHT over the next five to ten years under a range of regulatory and pricing scenarios. The ~~Subconsultant~~ Subcontractor shall also estimate corresponding changes in taxi activity, and the corresponding activity and average speed change. The scenarios will be based on the policy options developed as part of the overall study.
- For the no action and other scenarios, estimate current and projected vehicular tailpipe emissions for criteria pollutants and GHGs based on VMT, average speed and other traffic activity inputs at a zonal level, e.g. Manhattan CBD, by borough.
- Summarize both the traffic and emissions metrics for the set of FHV regulatory and operating scenarios analyzed. Likely deliverables to include: summary maps of zonal traffic and emissions metrics for baseline and projected conditions; comparison tables of policy options and corresponding metrics; formulations of future projections of FHV activity levels and corresponding metrics such as zonal VMT, VHT, pick-up/drop-off

---

<sup>1</sup> The study should look back as far as FHV data are made available, up to the 5 years that yellow taxi data are available.

density maps, etc.; and a summary report of analysis methodology, data used and outcomes.

- Show NYC air quality trends over time (broad lens).
- Show NYC air quality by criteria pollutants for neighborhood level (detailed/contextual lens).
- Map CEQR data on traffic and air quality impacts over the last five years.

Anticipated Datasets

The City will provide the Consultant with access to:

- Up to 5 years of yellow taxi trip records, including pick-up/drop-off locations, trip distance and trip duration.
- Up to 6 months of green taxi trip records and yellow/green taxi breadcrumb GPS data.
- A to-be-determined set of trip records and breadcrumb GPS data from Uber and potentially other FHV industry providers; dates and spatial coverage also TBD.
- NYC DOT Midtown in Motion data on vehicle speeds in midtown.
- Taxi Medallion Increase EIS (2013) and other traffic studies deemed relevant.
- Existing traffic data including counts (crossings and screen lines) and travel times where available.
- New York State Department of Environmental Conservation air quality data (from 12 monitoring sites in NYC).
- NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene air quality data set(s) and potentially (neighborhood level air quality study).
- CEQR project data (traffic and air quality) of Manhattan based projects (over the last five years) from the Mayor's Office of Sustainability.

IV. Timeline

The Consultant will complete this Project Assignment by November 1, 2015. Tasks 5 through 7 will be completed by October 16, 2015.

EXHIBIT C
AMENDED PAYMENT SCHEDULE
(EXHIBIT 1.A TO APPENDIX C OF THE CONTRACT)

The Payment Schedule (Exhibit 1.A to Appendix C of the Contract) is hereby amended to include the following schedule applicable to this Task Order only:

The Maximum Payment for each portion of the Services shall be the respective amounts set forth for in the following table:

Task 1:	An analysis of for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 2:	Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry	$ 315,000
Task 3:	Develop a robust analysis of policy options and an overall policy framework, including a roadmap, for New York City’s regulatory policies going forward for the for-hire transportation industry	$ 790,000
Task 4:	Support the City in developing implementation plans for recommendations	$ 260,000
Task 5:	Analysis of Congestion in the Manhattan Core	$ 144,593
Task 6:	Assessment of Current FHV Operations	$ 107,693
Task 7:	Future Scenarios	$ 130,454
Total Fees		$ 2,062,740

No multiplier, overhead, administrative fee, other mark-up, Subcontractors’ Costs, or Allowable Additional Costs will be paid under this Task Order, unless agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation.

The Consultant shall submit to the NYCEDC Project Manager, not more than once per calendar month, a Requisition setting forth in detail, for the period for which partial payment is requested (i) Percentage of Services performed by Consultant during Requisition period; (ii) Allowable Additional Costs incurred with all required documentation, provided that such costs were agreed to in advance in writing by the Corporation; and (iii) total amount of payment for Services rendered.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Date: Monday, September 14, 2015 6:32:23 PM
Attachments: McKinsey Proposal - FHV Study.pdf

---

Joshua Sidis
Mayor's Office of Operations
212-788-4881
253 Broadway, 10th flr.

New York City Economic Development Corporation (NYCEDC) and The Mayor's Office of Operations (Operations)

PROPOSAL FOR NEW YORK CITY BUSINESS SECTOR
ANALYSIS & REGULATION POLICY PLAN FOR FOR-HIRE VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION INDUSTRY

Due: July 25, 2015

Submitted to:

NYCEDC

Strategic Planning

Peter Hill

110 William Street, 6th Floor

New York, NY 10038

Submitted by:

McKinsey & Company, Inc. Washington D.C.

[REDACTED], Senior Partner

[REDACTED], Partner

1200 19th Street, NW, Suite 1100

Washington, DC 20036

www.mckinsey.com

This proposal is the property of McKinsey & Company, Inc. Washington D.C. ("McKinsey") and must not be disclosed outside the Government or be duplicated, used, or disclosed—in whole or in part—for any purpose other than to evaluate this proposal. If a contract is awarded to McKinsey as a result of, or in connection with, the submission of this proposal, the Government shall have the right to duplicate, use, or disclose the data to the extent provided in the resulting contract and subject to the limitations of the Freedom of Information Act. This proposal contains confidential and proprietary information that is exempt from disclosure under Section (b)(4) of the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552 et seq. Accordingly, no portion of this proposal should be released without consulting McKinsey & Company. Accordingly, no portion of this proposal should be released without consulting McKinsey & Company. This proposal is contingent on the Parties reaching mutually agreeable terms and conditions and upon acceptance of any limitations described herein.

July 25, 2015

Mr. Peter Hill
Assistant Vice President, Strategic Planning
NYCEDC
110 William Street, 6th Floor
New York, New York 10038

SUBJECT: NEW YORK CITY BUSINESS SECTOR ANALYSIS & REGULATION POLICY PLAN FOR FOR-HIRE VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION INDUSTRY

Dear Mr. Hill:

We are pleased to submit our proposal in response to your request for a business sector analysis and regulation plan for the for-hire vehicles transportation industry. We are particularly excited to have the opportunity to partner with you on this engagement given the immense importance and urgency the issue and the high-levels of public scrutiny it is garnering. As recently as this week, we witnessed the ongoing debate between the Mayor and leaders of the NYC administration and the industry which confirmed the importance of a robust study of the market. We strongly believe that as one of the largest for-hire vehicle markets in the country (>30,000 vehicles), New York City is positioned to establish a strong precedent on a globally relevant issue. Non-medallion for-hire transportation is growing in cities around the world and multiple municipalities are grappling with finding the optimal approach to manage these emerging dynamics. In addition to the broader relevance, we see how this issue lies at the core for NYC as it directly affects jobs, citizen safety and quality of life through pollution and congestion. We are pleased to bring the absolute best of our insight and critical thinking as a partner to you in this review.

Our understanding of the proposed project is that the City wants to partner with a consultant to conduct a comprehensive analysis and baselining of the for-hire transportation industry in order to build a new roadmap for New York City's for-hire vehicle regulatory structure. This analysis must include an understanding of all industry metrics and best practices from other jurisdictions and relevant industries and a detailed compilation of processes, protocols and procedures, and must leverage data and materials from existing and ongoing studies (e.g. the traffic study). We understand that the final regulatory approach will be refined in collaboration with the NYC leadership and a detailed implementation and communication plan will lay out how the City will transition to this new regulatory structure. Based on our experience working with the City under the EDC's Management and Economic Development Consultant Services contract, we assume that this professional review must be subscribed to by the leadership of critical stakeholders, the most important being the Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC).

In this contexts, we believe that McKinsey & Company is uniquely positioned to be your partner of choice on this critical engagement for several reasons which are detailed below.

- We have deep experience in transportation markets and developments in the transportation industry.

We have a dedicated travel, transport and logistics (TTL) service line which goes across multiple industry segments (e.g. air, road, tourism, lodging, car rental, urban transit, etc.). We have served the top players in multiple sectors in over [REDACTED] engagements, including serving major car rental companies on issues related to the emergence of new for-hire vehicle business models, such as [REDACTED]. We have dedicated knowledge practitioners and specialized consultants as well as a proprietary knowledge library of [REDACTED] documents across industry segments and topics. This team and the knowledge resources are available and part of any new engagement we conduct on these topics. We have developed a strong understanding of the for-hire transportation market in our work with car rental companies which have included helping them develop strategies to address trends similar to those affecting NYC currently.

- We understand transport systems and cities, including a [REDACTED], which provides unique insight into the transportation market and regulatory environment in NYC.

McKinsey & Company

We have served multiple regional transport systems on operations, strategy, asset optimization and governance topics including [REDACTED]. This experience has given us a nuanced understanding of public sector transportation systems, regulations, effective policy levers and relevance of stakeholder engagement. Specifically, we have [REDACTED] of deep experience working with the [REDACTED] on topics ranging from [REDACTED]. This long-standing relationship has given us a deep understanding of the transportation landscape within NYC. Our work on [REDACTED] specifically has given us an understanding of the importance of [REDACTED]. Beyond our specialization in transportation, we have developed deep expertise in understanding and addressing congestion through our work on [REDACTED]. Our [REDACTED] will provide invaluable resources to understand the congestion and health impacts of the shifting mix.

- Our research on the sharing economy, including for-hire vehicle services, uniquely prepares us to assess this quickly evolving market

The sharing economy has become an emerging and important trend affecting multiple industry sectors. Regulators in hospitality, lodging, financing, and transportation are all faced with similar challenges in managing this evolution. McKinsey has done considerable work on studying the sharing economy. Our experts predict [REDACTED] through [REDACTED] across industry sectors. [REDACTED] of this market will be made up of [REDACTED]. The core drivers of the sharing economy include [REDACTED].

The for-hire transportation industry in particular is witnessing a growth in non-traditional options driven large by economic and technologies trends. Successful shared economy companies like Uber have exploited inefficiencies, aggregated individuals and their resources into accessible networks. We have deep knowledge and expertise on the transportation sector, in particular, including [REDACTED] projections and forecasts for how the market will evolve. In addition, we have experts who have focused on understanding core players (Uber and Lyft) in this marketplace. Incumbent taxi operators have widely protested the arrival of Uber, Lyft and other ride-sharing services. London saw street protests from black cab drivers, Taxi Verts filed a complaint complaining about price fixing and in France Uber cars were attacked near the airport. Government regulators have expressed optimism as well as caution at ride-sharing companies. The D.C. City council voted to approve a legal framework that legitimized mobile e-hail applications within certain constraints, the Seattle City Council on the other hand voted to limit the number of drivers available on Uber, Lyft, SideCar and other on-demand for-hire services and California Public Utilities proposed a new framework for ride-sharing services to allow continue operations. We believe our understanding of the shared economy in the transport sector and players leading the trend will be an invaluable asset for the City.

- We are deeply committed to New York City.

New York City matters to us. We are privileged to have served the City or entities that support the development and operations of New York City on [REDACTED] projects in the past few years and are deeply passionate about our opportunity to help the City address urgent and critical issues as well as improve ongoing services. Our experience most recently includes supporting the [REDACTED]

McKinsey & Company

- We have an impeccable track record of sensitivity and impact to help you with this high profile engagement.

Of all the U.S. Government Contractor Performance Assessment Reports (CPARs) received as of January 2012, [REDACTED] of Contract Officers wrote that they would definitely work with McKinsey again. Across the six dimensions rated from exceptional to unsatisfactory, [REDACTED] of engagements were ranked [REDACTED] across every dimension, and McKinsey has never received any score less than [REDACTED]. Our work scored above [REDACTED] in quality of product/service and in management of key personnel. In clients' free-form responses, leaders typically describe our work as [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

Senior Partner

[REDACTED]

Partner

McKinsey and Company, Inc. Washington D.C.
1200 19th Street NW, Suite 1100
Washington, DC 20036

Phone: [REDACTED]
Mobile: [REDACTED]
Fax: [REDACTED]

	Selection criteria	Where NYCEDC can find our source of distinction
a.	The respondent's experience in providing services similar to the additional services described in the accompanying Scope of Services	Sections 3-4
b.	The quality of the respondent's management, reputation, and references, and the quality of the proposed Consultant's team	Sections 3-5 Appendix
c.	The terms under which the respondent will commit its personnel and, as applicable, the personnel of the respondent's team members, without transfers and changes	Section 5
d.	The respondent's demonstration of experience with respect to and expertise in all of the specific Services contemplated in the accompanying Scope of Services	Cover Letter, Section 3 Appendix
e.	The quality of the proposal and the degree to which it demonstrates the respondent's full understanding of and the ability to perform the Scope of Services	Cover Letter Sections 1-5
f.	Absence of any default in respondent's financial obligations to the City	N/A
g.	The proposed fee and cost schedules	Price proposal

Table of Contents

1	OUR UNDERSTANDING OF SCOPE AND DELIVERABLES .....	1
2	DETAILED APPROACH AND PROPOSED WORK PLAN.....	1
3	OUR ABILITY TO PROVIDE REQUIRED SERVICES .....	4
4	TEAM STRUCTURE.....	5
5	ORGANIZATION DESCRIPTION.....	6
6	ASSUMPTIONS .....	7
	APPENDIX: STAFF RESUMES .....	8

1 OUR UNDERSTANDING OF SCOPE AND DELIVERABLES

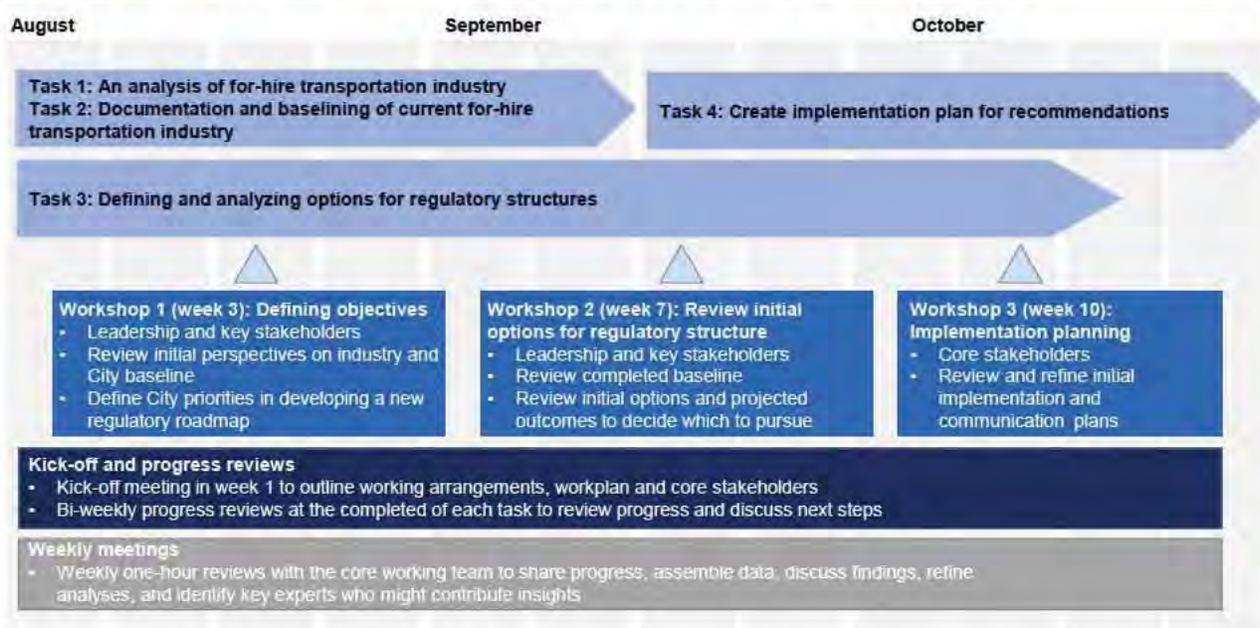

The for-hire car market in New York City is fast evolving with the introduction of technology driven services such as Uber and Lyft now competing with existing players including yellow medallion taxi-cabs, community-based liveries, black cars, commuter vans, limousines, and paratransit vehicles. The Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) is responsible for regulating many aspects of this market. In recent years, there has been a considerable shift in the composition mix of this market as the share of less-regulated non-medallion vehicles has been dramatically increasing. According to various media sources in March of this year, non-medallion vehicles represented more of the NYC for-hire market than licensed medallion cabs, “Uber has 14,088 black and luxury cars affiliated with it operating in the five boroughs, compared to 13,587 medallion cabs [...]” In this context, we understand your objectives to be:

- Developing a plan to manage and regulate for-hire vehicles given the broader range and mix that provides a policy construct for a comprehensive regulatory framework
- Ensuring this new regulatory framework accounts for four City priorities, including safety of drivers and passengers, provision of equitable service to all New Yorkers, overall operational and financial support of the City’s transportation system, and the impact of for-hire vehicles on street congestion
- Completing a market analysis to develop this framework including the overall for-hire industry, current market conditions in the City, stakeholder perspectives and needs, the current regulatory environment, and the future potential for regulatory reform

Per your direction, we understand that progress will be sequenced as follows:

- Task 1: An analysis of for-hire transportation industry
- Task 2: Documentation and baselining of current for-hire transportation industry
- Task 3: Defining and analyzing options for regulatory structures
- Task 4: Create implementation plan for recommendations

2 DETAILED APPROACH AND PROPOSED WORK PLAN

Our approach to the tasks defined in the RFP relies on City data, data the City has obtained from market players, our proprietary research on transportation and technology markets, and new insights developed during the engagement to define a new regulatory model for the for-hire transportation market in New York City. Because the transportation environment in New York City is unique, this research will draw from broader studies, but will focus on the performance and role of market participants in the City. For this reason, we believe it may be necessary to supplement existing data. To allow sufficient time to create this tailored approach for the City, our work plan combines Tasks 1 and 2 and runs tasks concurrently in order to provide the City the information it needs on the 12 week timeframe requested.

Because completing Tasks 3 and 4 requires close engagement with City leaders to understand their priority outcomes and the requirements and constraints for implementation, our approach includes three workshops in addition to normal weekly check-ins with the working team and bi-weekly progress reviews with project leadership. At the beginning of the project, we will work with the Mayor's Office to define the precise timing and attendance at these workshops to best facilitate problem solving and decision-making.

Tasks 1 and 2: Investigate the current for-hire industry and NYC baseline (Weeks 1-6)

Our approach is designed to bring the City the best possible assessment of the current state, which we believe can be accomplished by combining the industry assessment (Task 1) with the baselining of New York City's current state (Task 2). Combining these tasks provides a slightly longer time frame to complete research-driven deliverables (e.g., best practices from other jurisdictions, collection of current state data and any needed additional research). This phase will include a workshop in week 3 during which City leadership and internal stakeholders will review initial views on the market and the baseline in New York City and establish policy goals that will guide Task 3. Key activities for each task are detailed below:

1.1- Industry review -

- Develop a taxonomy of existing players in the industry using City data, applicable City, State and Federal regulations; including emerging players based on McKinsey Global Institute and other research on transportation technology and the sharing economy
- Work with City leadership to identify applicable metrics based on regulations and City needs

1.2- Best practices review –

- Identify relevant analogs including other jurisdictions dealing with transportation management and other industries managing disruptive entrants and shifting mix of service providers, with a particular focus on the sharing economy
- Conduct interviews with other jurisdictions (US and international) and industries to understand current best practices
- Conduct interviews with transportation technology market experts to define how those best practices are likely to evolve over the next 5-10 years and any alternative models (e.g., ride sharing) that are likely to emerge

2.1- Compile and synthesize information on current practices, protocols, procedures, personnel and training modules: Enhance the industry taxonomy (see Task 1.1) with detail on operations of market players by:

- Analyzing City regulations, requirements and data on current operating models
- Conducting surveys and expert interviews where data is lacking in order to understand the operations and practices of market players
- Incorporating data provided by the City on traffic and congestion impacts

2.2- Identify baseline performance for for-hire transportation operations: For each market player defined in the taxonomy (Tasks 1.1 and 2.1), define the current performance in New York City against the metrics defined in Task 1.1 based on:

- Analyzing existing TLC, other City and available market player data
- Accessing and analyzing published data on market player practices
- Requesting and analyzing data from market participants (e.g., black car services) where possible
- Conducting surveys of users and drivers as necessary to establish values for metrics where data is not available from existing sources

During this phase, we would work with The Research Associates (TRA), a qualified minority-owned business, to complete any research where City data or company data is not available. TRA will use its expertise in infrastructure assessment and advanced analytics to scope a set of surveys or other studies of market participants to fill these gaps.

The exact scope of the research will be determined with the City as we understand the exact data available and needed.

Task 3- Design and evaluate options for New York City for-hire regulatory structure going forward (Weeks 1-10)

Defining a new regulatory structure for the for-hire market requires understanding the current market dynamic and how that dynamic is likely evolve in the future. One of the great lessons of transportation regulatory planning in the last 50 years is that transportation demand does not evolve the way planners expect. As a result, we will develop several supply and demand scenario using different assumptions about technology penetration, cost drivers, consumer preferences, economic growth, etc. The workshops in Week 3 and 7 are designed to engage City stakeholders in developing and refining the roadmap based on City goals and will be critical to the completion of Task 3. Within that framework we will approach Task 3 by:

Task 3.1- Preliminary options and refined roadmap for developing a regulatory framework that is safe, inclusive and reliable, meets the overall needs of the mass transit system, and is regulated in accordance with the City's interests and policy objectives.

- Develop different future state scenarios for the for-hire market by looking at supply and demand trends using all of the resources and data gathered from the City and other sources in Tasks 1 and 2
- Work with City leadership to generate target outcomes and prioritized metrics based on City priorities for the for-hire market
- Generate regulatory options and model their impact on the evolution of the for-hire market against a prioritized set of key metrics defined in Task 1 and assess those options against the priorities defined by the City
- Prepare briefing and decision documents and work with City leadership to select and refine a preferred regulatory option

The modelling necessary to complete this task will be complex and will draw from a variety of proven approaches. For example, we worked with MTA to assess the economics of the for-hire market in NYC. MTA was seeking to reduce operating costs in their paratransit business, and we used a “clean sheet” approach that analyzed primary variable cost drivers (fuel, labor and insurance). This allowed us to determine the “should cost” of potential for-hire service providers. We will also rely on the proprietary research of our transportation practice and MGI’s recent assessments of transportation technology impacts. Scenario analysis will require developing a sophisticated model and should ideally begin concurrently with Tasks 1 and 2 and continue for a full 10 weeks. This will also give more time for syndication.

Task 4: Create an implementation plan for recommendations (Weeks 7-12)

Beginning approximately halfway through the engagement (week 7), we will begin to structure the implementation plan. This approach will allow the City to weigh feasibility of implementation when selecting a regulatory roadmap in Task 3. This approach also allows for more time to be dedicated to understanding the necessary stakeholder communication process and even beginning that process before decisions are made. A workshop in week ten will engage City leadership on their communication needs to create an effective final plan.

Task 4.1: Create a project plan for implementing recommended changes including a detailed plan for implementing the new regulatory structure, recommendations for effective communication to stakeholders, and plans for monitoring progress and measuring improvements.

- Based on the preferred regulatory approach selected by City leadership chart an implementation plan including sequencing and timeline for changes
- Define priority stakeholder groups, define the goals of communications with each group, and create recommendations for how the City should communicate based on knowledge of group interests and priorities gathered in Tasks 1, 2 and 3
- Define which priority metrics from Task 1 and additional market-wide metrics should be tracked and how
- Create a simple dashboard for monitoring improvement and impact of the regulatory structure

4 TEAM STRUCTURE

For every engagement, we draw upon the rich expertise of our network of knowledge experts and consulting specialists – more than [REDACTED] working in over [REDACTED] – and collaborate with our clients to achieve distinctive, substantial, and lasting improvements in their performance. For more than [REDACTED] years, our clients have turned to McKinsey when they want experienced, highly trained problem-solvers who will work with them to overcome their toughest strategy, organizational, and operational issues. McKinsey’s ability to assemble and deploy teams of exceptional personnel is our primary vehicle to deliver results for our clients.

We have assembled what we believe is the best set of personnel and subject-matter experts for this effort. We have brought a leadership team with experience in transportation, public infrastructure, sharing economy, communication, change management and an intimacy with achieving results in the New York City government context. We believe it is this combination of knowledge and practical experience with what it takes to deliver a regulatory structure and implementation plan for the for-hire market that will allow NYC to achieve its priorities.

We view City employees as co-team members and our working relationship is central to our joint success. We intend to work hand-in-hand with your team throughout the project. A the graphic to the right shows, our intended project team structure includes City and McKinsey personnel in the Core Team, working closely with one another to achieve your project objectives.

[REDACTED] this effort. They will be complemented by [REDACTED], who bring a deep understanding of New York City and McKinsey’s global network of transportation, regulatory and shared economy expertise. See Appendix for detailed team resumes.

[REDACTED] leads our relationship with [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] will lead this project [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] will serve as the [REDACTED] for this project and will and [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Our [REDACTED] has extensive experience working with [REDACTED] on [REDACTED] [REDACTED] make significant and sustainable change. They have worked together on [REDACTED] in the past [REDACTED]. This leadership team will conduct five functions:

- Meet as necessary with City project sponsors to provide thought partnership and ensure the overall leadership for this effort
- Lead or participate in meetings with the NYCEDC, Operations, New York City leadership, Taxi and Limousine Commission and other key stakeholders including external experts or other local stakeholders
- Provide insight, problem-solving support, and quality management for the working team
- Ensure teams have access to the full complement of McKinsey's capabilities
- Spend the time required to ensure high-impact, superior results for NYC.

Unlike senior consultants in many consulting firms, our partners will actively lead our work. Our partners will [REDACTED] with City leaders and contribute to working sessions for client and McKinsey teams. They will work directly with the McKinsey team to structure the effort and solve client challenges. They will "show up." Our [REDACTED] model (compared to nearly [REDACTED] at some other firms) promotes intensive engagement in the work. The Firm evaluates partners on [REDACTED].

Our on-the-ground leadership team will be led by an experienced Engagement Manager. While it is our policy to not confirm the Engagement Manager and the consultant team until a particular engagement and start date is confirmed, we have identified two sample consultants who currently are available for staffing on this project. This Engagement Manager will be supported by two full time consultants for the first 10 weeks of the project and one full time consultant for the last 2 weeks of the project as the output from Task 4 is finalized.

A core component to our service delivery model is augmenting our leadership and fulltime team with the rich insight from our top experts on the subject areas that are critical to make impact. We have assembled the following experts, who will be pulled in as needed to provide insight, direction, and advice on the engagement:

- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]

5 ORGANIZATION DESCRIPTION

McKinsey & Company has been providing consultancy services to leading public and private sector organizations since 1926. We are a global organization, with more than [REDACTED] members, including about [REDACTED] working out of [REDACTED] offices in [REDACTED] countries. We foster long-standing, trust-based relationships with the world's leading corporations, public sector institutions and social sector organizations: [REDACTED] of our work is for clients that we have served for [REDACTED] or longer. Over the past [REDACTED] we have served over [REDACTED] clients. Our clients include [REDACTED].

McKinsey consultants are professionals dedicated to delivering on our clients' needs. Their work is supported by a broad and deep network of expertise that is truly global in its reach, including knowledge centers, dedicated researchers, analytics teams, and access to top internal and external experts in a wide range of fields. We have cutting-edge expertise in more than [REDACTED] industry sectors and [REDACTED] functional areas, supported by substantial research and knowledge development efforts. We invest over [REDACTED] annually in knowledge development projects, and the McKinsey Global Institute, an economics think tank fully funded by McKinsey's partners, produces and publishes world-class research that often results from collaborations between our consultants and leading academic and multilateral institutions.

6 ASSUMPTIONS

McKinsey's work for the City is confidential and intended for the City's internal use only. McKinsey does not make public client names, client materials or reports prepared for clients without their prior written permission. Similarly, McKinsey requests that, for this effort, the City agree not to use McKinsey's name, refer to McKinsey's work product, or make the Deliverables or the existence or terms of this Task Order available outside its organization without McKinsey's prior written permission, except as required by law.

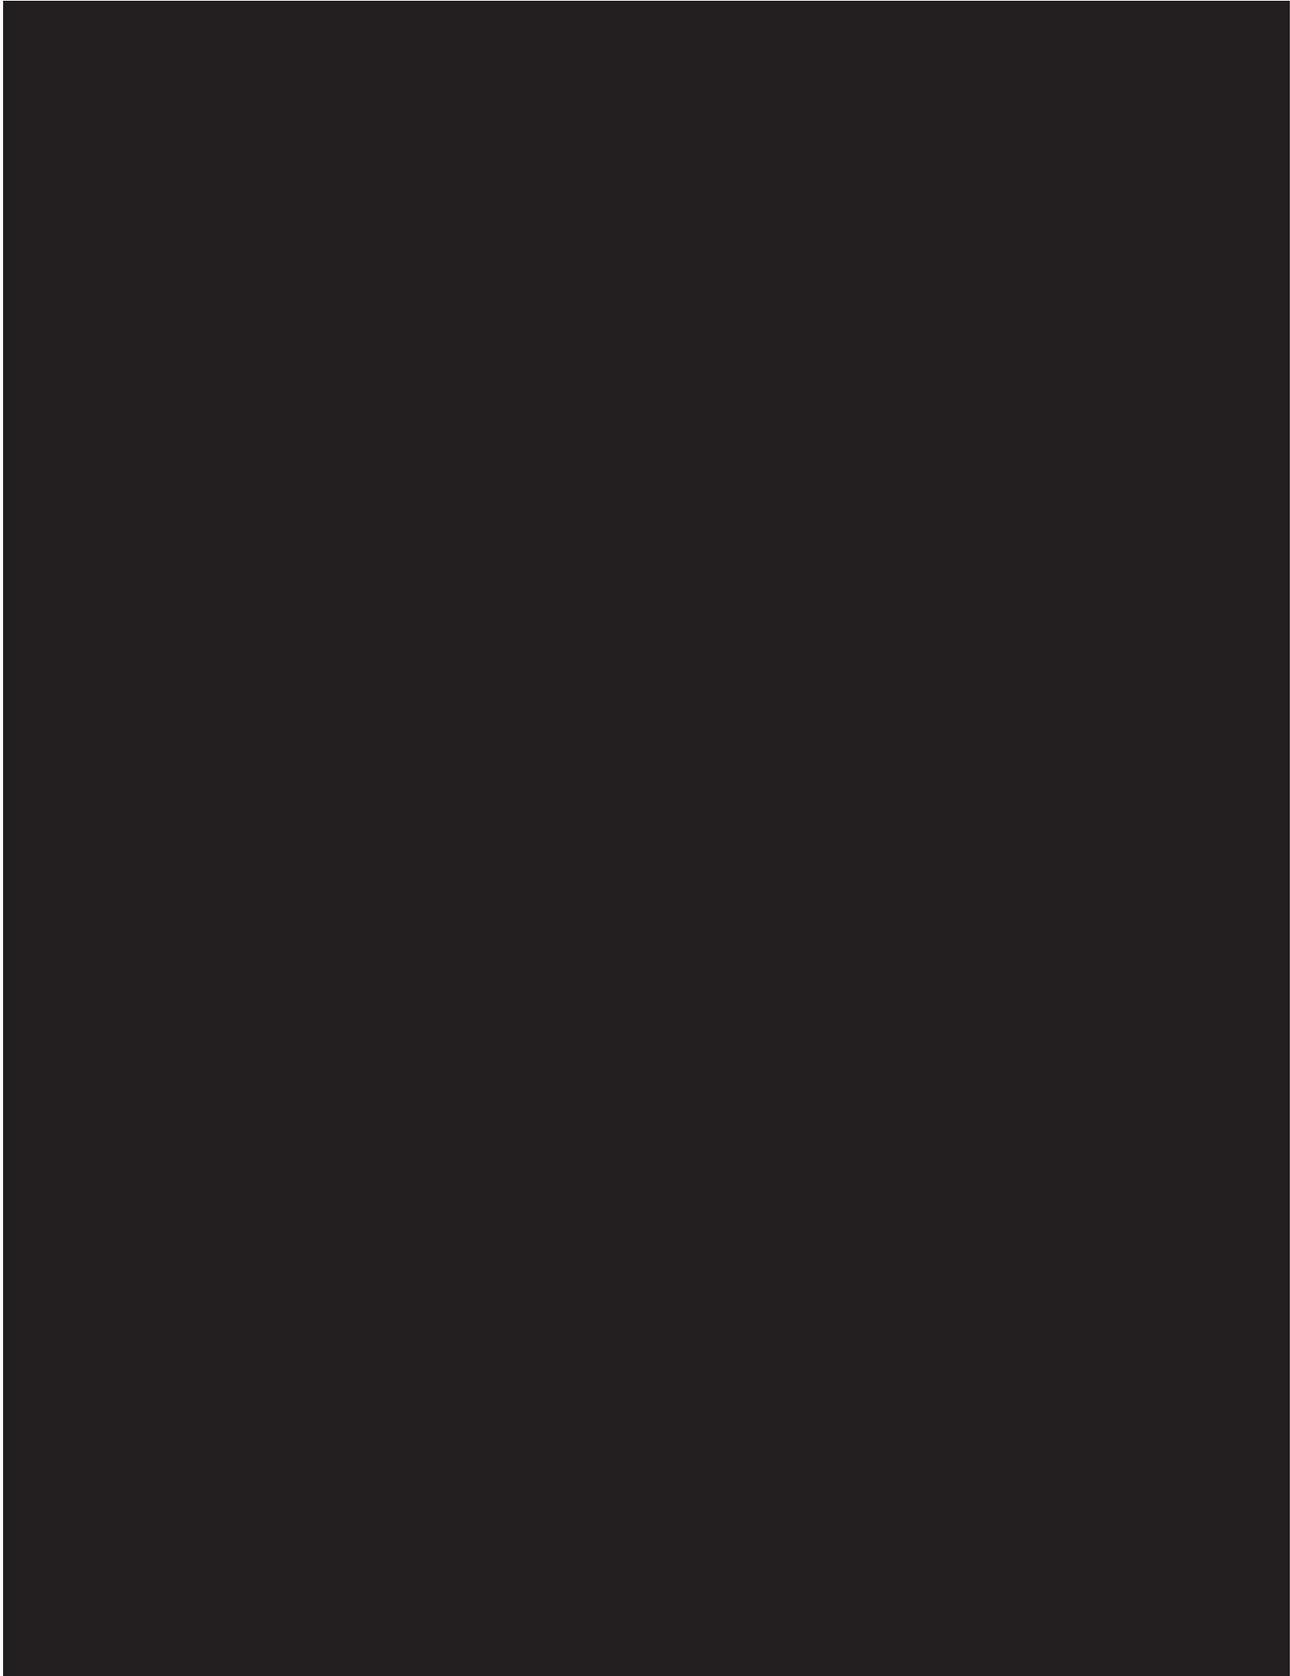

Within the Services, McKinsey will provide the City with options for its consideration, and a fact-based analysis of the potential impact of the options on relevant considerations. The City can use these options and the fact-base for its consideration in implementing the recommendations, and the City remains solely responsible for any resultant policy decisions.

APPENDIX: STAFF RESUMES

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Velani, Sonam; Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FW: Follow up memo
Date: Tuesday, September 15, 2015 9:55:49 PM
Attachments: FHV memo from D.King and E.Sclar.docx

---

---

From: Elliott Sclar [eds2@columbia.edu]
Sent: Tuesday, September 15, 2015 9:00 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica; Joseph Kurien, Sarah
Cc: David Andrew King
Subject: Follow up memo

Dear Jessica and [REDACTED]

Please find attached a memo from my colleague David King and I. This is a follow up to the 1 September meeting that I attended. Our concern as you will see is more with the questions framing the consultant studies than with the data. While more data will be helpful, we believe that much can be done with the data that is now available from city sources and industry sources. The challenge we see is framing the questions and analysis correctly. We would be pleased to assist,

Best

--

Elliott Sclar
Professor of Urban Planning
Graduate School of Architecture, Planning and Preservation

Director, Center for Sustainable Urban Development Earth Institute
Columbia University

475 Riverside Drive Suite 520
New York, NY 10115 USA

+212 854 3548

Columbia University

URBAN PLANNING PROGRAM

Graduate School of Architecture Planning and Preservation

To: Jessica Singleton and Sarah Joseph Kurien

From: David King, Assistant Professor of Urban Planning
Elliott Sclar, Professor of Urban Planning

Re: Some substantive concerns with the For Hire Vehicle Study

Date: 15 September, 2015

This memo is a follow up response to the TAG meeting on 1 September. One of us (Elliott Sclar) was in attendance but this is an issue on which we often work in collaboration. We want to share our larger concerns about what we regard as the crucial public policy issues that the FHV study needs to address. While we strongly support your outreach to those of us in the New York based research community, we want to share with you some of our concerns about the questions that the data need to address. We believe that many of the data needs could be addressed by data already in the City's possession or in the possession of FHV industry participants.

The Public Policy Concern: The City needs to manage an evolving citywide FHV industry in the context of ICT that when applied to transport is rapidly redefining the boundaries of that industry. This management challenge is further exacerbated by an ongoing reconceptualization of the proper allocation of public ways to pedestrians, cyclists and motor vehicles in addition to heightened concerns for pedestrian safety and growing mandates to decrease the city's carbon footprint. Put simply the overarching question that this study must answer is how does the City maintain vital its public assets (in the case streets, roads and curb space) for the greatest social good.

Some implications of this challenge: Decisions that the City government will soon be making about the FHV industry will have broad long-term implications for its ability to implement future road pricing schemes, transportation demand management, install or expand the use of bike lanes, manage traffic, install bus rapid transit, etc. How will proposals such as toll reforms being floated in the MoveNY plan be impacted by the results of decisions taken with regard to FHV policy? The MoveNY plan as written calls for yellow cabs to have a once per day toll, but they do not address loosely regulated or unregulated services such as Uber. Should riders in these app-based services pay something more than just a general sales tax to help more directly support the costs of maintaining the infrastructure they use now as a more or less "free" good?

Congestion: While concerns about overall congestion caused by firms such as Uber and Lyft is something of a canard, it is still the case that these services can have serious local congestion impacts. If an Acela drops 500 people at Penn Station, if each calls an Uber, then 500 drivers are searching for 500 individual passengers in the most inefficient way possible. This will cause congestion and degrade pedestrian safety in an important mid town area. The problem can be solved with a decidedly low-tech taxi queue. But this is at odds with the business model of this new FHV industry. This needs to be considered. From the City's vantage point it might be useful to require an observational study such as we often do with graduate students to evaluate traffic on the streets surrounded Penn Station in order to assess what external effects are directly related to these new type of pick-ups.

Market Segmentation: There is little known about the market segmentation practices of the for-hire vehicle industry. While technology enabled taxi services are capturing the attention of the popular press, including misleading stories that argue Uber serves outer boroughs better than yellow taxis (<http://fivethirtyeight.com/features/uber-is-serving-new-yorks-outer-boroughs-more-than-taxis-are/>), in truth we know very little about how a changed taxi industry will serve all people. It is well established that the highest taxi usage is by people in the highest and lowest income quintiles. Taxis are a critical part of access for low-income families. Yet tech enabled taxi services completely exclude these low-income people, as they are also most likely to not have access to a bank account yet alone a credit card required to use Uber. In New York approximately one in ten households falls into this category of unbanked. Much more research is needed to learn how taxis and for hire vehicles serve low-income communities. It is likely that a contraction of the yellow taxi medallion system will result in an increase in unlicensed "gypsy" taxis cruising the outer boroughs, and not where Uber et al. fill this critical access need.

Pricing Models: If FHVs are part of New York's public transport system, and the providers are licensed users of the public streets, should the providers be able to vary the charges based on company needs to maximize their profits? That is a question that needs more scrutiny.

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: Velani, Sonam; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Sidis, Joshua; Williams, Dominic; Furnas, Benjamin
Subject: FW: privacy & FHV data
Date: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 5:33:34 PM

---

[REDACTED]

Also, on this note the TLC may already have the data that the city needs. If someone can find a source of GPS data we could build the city a historical traffic speed model in a couple hours using the OpenTraffic framework. I've been trying to figure out if this is already collected by the metering company's but they're pretty opaque.

One of my goals for this trip was to find someone at Arro (the new Yellow Cab haling app) but weren't able to find a name of anyone that works there. If they're still on the short list of folks that return calls from the Mayor's office someone should reach out to them and loop me in.

From: Nick Grossman [mailto:nick@usv.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 1:05 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Fwd: privacy & FHV data

Hey Jessica--

See below for some thoughts from my friend Kevin, who among other things, works on an open, global traffic data project called <http://opentraffic.io>

I asked him for some thoughts on how to address questions around traffic data and privacy. OpenTraffic.io's model protects individual privacy while collecting aggregated, anonymized trip data.

They are the kind of open, nonprofit project that the city could partner with when exploring ways to manage traffic data for regulatory purposes.

Nick

----- Forwarded message -----
From: Kevin Webb <kwebb@conveyal.com>
Date: Wednesday, September 16, 2015
Subject: privacy & FHV data
To: Nick Grossman <nick@usv.com>

Nick,

Great chat as always!

So quick thoughts re framing of a counter for Uber privacy messaging:

The data in question is data crated by all of us as users and as citizens of NYC and given to Uber -- it's not Uber's data. If the public wants the data back to make the city work better it should be able to ask for it.

The perspective that this is about personal privacy is a smokescreen created by private company that wants privileged access to data created by its users. The public can benefit from this data being shared with the city, and even made public as aggregated traffic speeds/flows without anyone's personal trip history being shared or privacy being compromised.

Finally, not part of the the messaging that the city should release, but something you should be aware of in the conversation with folks at the Mayor's office: Uber's competitors outside of the US already are looking for ways to to this (and we're exploring this via our relationship with OpenTraffic.io).

Also, on this note the TLC may already have the data that the city needs. If someone can find a source of GPS data we could build the city a historical traffic speed model in a couple hours using the OpenTraffic framework. I've been trying to figure out if this is already collected by the metering company's but they're pretty opaque.

One of my goals for this trip was to find someone at Arro (the new Yellow Cab haling app) but weren't able to find a name of anyone that works there. If they're still on the short list of folks that return calls from the Mayor's office someone should reach out to them and loop me in.

kpw

--

-----
Kevin Webb
p: +1.202.480.9322
e: kwebb@conveyal.com

--

<http://nickgrossman.is> | @nickgrossman

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Text of WSJ article below
Date: Thursday, September 17, 2015 9:10:20 AM

---

Sent from my iPhone

Begin forwarded message:

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>
Date: September 16, 2015 at 11:29:42 PM EDT
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com>
Subject: RE: Public Commitments

Sure, here it is:

Uber Technologies Inc. is raising doubts about a city traffic study targeted at the app-driven car service by commissioning its own study of the issue. The move may signal another collision between the company and New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio's administration. Uber hired a firm to make recommendations about how a study should be done and said the city was moving too quickly with its study, which the company agreed to participate in. The city's study is due to be completed in November.

Meanwhile, the company plans to expand upstate as soon as next month, launching an effort to build business and political support outside the city, according to people familiar with the matter.

City Hall is paying McKinsey & Co. about $2 million for its congestion study, which is designed to look at the effect of for-hire vehicles on traffic, air quality and other factors.

Mr. de Blasio has said the car service has caused traffic problems. His administration tried to cap Uber's expansion earlier this year but lost in a bruising political fight. As part of an agreement, the car service said it would turn over data for the congestion study. When asked if Uber had provided the required data, a spokeswoman for the mayor declined to comment. Uber said a study should take longer than four months. It expects to release a report on its findings at a hearing scheduled for Thursday by Manhattan Borough President Gale Brewer. "We want to make sure that it be comprehensive, that it be with best practices and that it be not political," Josh Mohrer, the general manager of Uber in New York City, said of the city study.

Karen Hinton, a spokeswoman for Mr. de Blasio, said the city's traffic study involved existing data along with new surveys and focus groups. "We hope that our agreement with Uber will continue in a productive fashion to ensure the city obtains the data it needs to complete a robust study," Ms. Hinton said. The Uber battle this summer marked a messy chapter for the administration. The company managed to overwhelm City Hall with a strategy that included top political advisers, digital weapons that included an app lampooning Mr. de Blasio and attack mailers sent to districts of some City Council members. Ultimately, in mid-July, City Council Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito decided there wouldn't be a vote on the bill to cap the service. Since then, both sides have quieted down, at least publicly. Now signs are emerging that the truce may soon be over. Uber has hired additional talent, including Josh Gold, a labor consultant the company brought on board earlier this month who helped Mr. de Blasio roll out his universal prekindergarten initiative. Mr. Gold is the former director of the The New York Hotel and Trades Council, the union of hotel workers in New York City, the Albany area and New Jersey.

City Hall officials privately have spoken with lawmakers and others about next steps after the study is done in November. A cap on Uber, along with industrywide regulations, is still on the table.

City Councilman Ydanis Rodriguez, a Manhattan Democrat who is chairman of the council's transportation committee, said Uber agreed to the study and that "a good corporation needs to follow agreements it has made." He said congestion in the city was a "serious concern," something Ms. Brewer echoed. Yet, many city lawmakers said their focus was elsewhere and they didn't want another showdown with Uber. "It's not a big priority for me," said Councilman Corey Johnson, a Manhattan Democrat.

Lucius Riccio, who served as the city's transportation commissioner under former Mayor David Dinkins, said the city's worst congestion was at its bridges and tunnels, a phenomenon he said wasn't related to the rise in for-hire car services like Uber.

"The real fight is not about congestion," said Mr. Riccio, now a senior lecturer at Columbia University. "It's about who's going to have access to the lucrative Midtown transportation market."

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 11:26 PM
To: [REDACTED]

Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Public Commitments

Can you paste in the text? I can't get behind the paywall. Thanks!

Sent from my iPhone

On Sep 16, 2015, at 11:22 PM, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com wrote:

FYI, tonight's WSJ article on Uber's criticism of the City's study (naming McKinsey on the congestion piece):

<http://www.wsj.com/articles/uber-vs-city-hall-round-two-1442451813>

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 16, 2015 6:42 PM
To: NYC FHV Working Team
Cc: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: Fw: Public Commitments

Looping [REDACTED] as well -- see attached for city's public statements relevant to our study. The IGA team will use this as a tracker to help in comms / stakeholder management

[REDACTED] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] ---09/16/2015 06:41:31 PM---FYI these are the things the city said publicly relevant to the study [REDACTED] | McKinsey & Compa

From: [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY
To: [REDACTED]@MCKINSEY
Cc: [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY@MCKINSEY, [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY@MCKINSEY
Date: 09/16/2015 06:41 PM
Subject: Fw: Public Commitments

---

FYI these are the things the city said publicly relevant to the study

[REDACTED] McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

----- Forwarded by [REDACTED] NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 09/16/2015 06:41 PM -----

From: "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, "Tarlow, Mindy" <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: 09/16/2015 05:35 PM
Subject: Public Commitments

---

Please see the public commitments the Mayor and Tony made at the end of July. (enjoy the colors)

Joshua Sidis
Mayor's Office of Operations
212-788-4881

253 Broadway, 10 flr.
(See attached file: Uber Commitments.xlsx)

+=====+

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

+=====+

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Williams, Dominic
Subject: Re: FW: Crain's Op-Ed
Date: Thursday, September 24, 2015 3:12:49 PM

---

Every Uber trip has a fare estimate and our fares are calculated on time and distance.

Since we run black car bases (verses livery bases like Avik) we are not required to have a binding fare quote.

With that in mind, our uberPOOL product DOES have a completely binding quote. This product requires the user to input the destination.

On Thu, Sep 24, 2015 at 2:59 PM, Williams, Dominic <DWilliams@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

IGNORING THE REST OF THIS OP-ED FOR A SECOND, CAN YOU CHECK MY FACTS? IS MY RECOLLECTION CORRECT THAT THERE IS CURRENTLY AN UBER PRODUCT THAT DOES OFFER BINDING FARE QUOTE? WHICH ONE?

"Fare quotation. Consumers have the right to know how much a trip will cost before stepping into a vehicle, and should have the ability to compare prices. Uber does not provide a binding fare quote, and when surge pricing is thrown into its formula to calculate the cost of the trip, people often don't know how much they are actually paying."

---

September 23, 2015

Another chance to check Uber's growth

The city's study of the fast-evolving for-hire vehicle industry should pave the way for fairer competition.

By Avik Kabessa

<http://www.crainsnewyork.com/article/20150923/OPINION/150919861/another-chance-to-check-ubers-growth>

Fare quotation. Consumers have the right to know how much a trip will cost before stepping into a vehicle, and should have the ability to compare prices. Uber does not provide a binding fare quote, and when surge pricing is thrown into its formula to calculate the cost of the trip, people often don't know how much they are actually paying.

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Williams, Dominic
Subject: Re: Crain's Op-Ed
Date: Thursday, September 24, 2015 3:24:49 PM

---

Yup. It is POOL.

On Sep 24, 2015, at 3:15 PM, Williams, Dominic <DWilliams@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

K – must have been uberpool I was thinking about. I definitely remember something that gave a set price. Thanks.

---

From: Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com>
Date: Thursday, September 24, 2015 at 3:12 PM
To: Dominic Williams <dwilliams@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: Re: FW: Crain's Op-Ed

Every Uber trip has a fare estimate and our fares are calculated on time and distance.

Since we run black car bases (verses livery bases like Avik) we are not required to have a binding fare quote.

With that in mind, our uberPOOL product DOES have a completely binding quote. This product requires the user to input the destination.

On Thu, Sep 24, 2015 at 2:59 PM, Williams, Dominic <DWilliams@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

IGNORING THE REST OF THIS OP-ED FOR A SECOND, CAN YOU CHECK MY FACTS? IS MY RECOLLECTION CORRECT THAT THERE IS CURRENTLY AN UBER PRODUCT THAT DOES OFFER BINDING FARE QUOTE? WHICH ONE?

"Fare quotation. Consumers have the right to know how much a trip will cost before stepping into a vehicle, and should have the ability to compare prices. Uber does not provide a binding fare quote, and when surge pricing is thrown into its formula to calculate the cost of the trip, people often don't know how much they are actually paying."

---

September 23, 2015

Another chance to check Uber's growth

The city's study of the fast-evolving for-hire vehicle industry should pave the way for fairer competition.

By Avik Kabessa

<http://www.crainsnewyork.com/article/20150923/OPINION/150919861/another-chance-to-check-ubers-growth>

Fare quotation. Consumers have the right to know how much a trip will cost before stepping into a vehicle, and should have the ability to compare prices. Uber does not provide a binding fare quote, and when surge pricing is thrown into its formula to calculate the cost of the trip, people often don't know how much they are actually paying.

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Velani, Sonam
To: Sidis, Joshua; Singleton, Jessica; Sarah Ray
Subject: FW: study
Date: Friday, October 02, 2015 11:37:18 AM

---

-----Original Message-----

From: Eric Goldwyn [<mailto:> ]

Sent: Friday, October 02, 2015 10:24 AM

To: Velani, Sonam

Subject: study

Sonam,

I hope all is well. Just wanted to see how the study is progressing. Haven't heard anything about it in a while.

Eric

From: Sam Schwartz
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Trottenberg, Polly \(DOT\); mreplogle@dot.nyc.gov; Sam Schwartz
Subject: NY Post: Need a medic? Hold on Date: Sunday, October 04, 2015 11:47:53 AM

---

Hi Josh,

Looks like Manhattan had the largest percent increase in emergency response time of 9.6% (12:08/(12:08-1:04)) or 64secs/(728-64)secs. I used the data from the graphic. Could be from increased traffic congestion. Do you guys know if that's the case? Could be helpful in the FHV study.

Best wishes, Sam

Need a medic? Hold on
If you're really sick, avoid The Bronx.

City EMTs and paramedics took almost 15 minutes to get to Bronx patients who called 911 this year — four minutes longer than it took in Staten Island, according to city data analyzed by The Post.

And despite 21,764 fewer medical emergencies in the city — and the de Blasio administration's pledge in February to speed up response times — the citywide average so far this year has been 12 minutes, 23 seconds, or 37 seconds slower than it was in the first eight months of 2014.

In The Bronx, ambulances arrived at emergencies in an average of 14 minutes, 29 seconds, according to city 911 data. Staten Islanders, by comparison, waited 10 minutes, 26 seconds for an ambulance.

"The lack of EMS services is dangerous and puts countless lives at risk," said Councilwoman Elizabeth Crowley (D-Queens), who demanded more ambulance tours. "If you live in The Bronx, these numbers say your life is just not as important, which is unacceptable."

The average response times so far this year were 11 minutes, 36 seconds in Brooklyn; 11 minutes, 38 seconds in Queens; and 12 minutes, 8 seconds in Manhattan.

Last winter, Fire Commissioner Daniel Nigro, who oversees the Emergency Medical Service, blamed frequent snow and ice for sluggish response times and promised the City Council in February that he would speed up the average response by 20 seconds in 2015.

In the same month, Mayor de Blasio pledged to spend $18 million to hire 149 new EMS dispatchers and add 54 ambulance tours with an emphasis on improving Bronx medical care.

But response times have only gotten slower.

Bronx EMS workers arrived an average of 40 seconds slower in the first eight months of the year compared with the same period in 2014, even though medics and EMTs handled 2 percent fewer cases.

EMS took 1 minute, 4 seconds longer to get to emergencies in Manhattan, even though there were 2,818 fewer incidents to treat.

FDNY officials would not address the slower response times but said an additional 45 ambulances tours will help.

They noted that for life-threatening emergencies, the average response time in The Bronx was 7 minutes, 51 seconds.

But that figure comes with a caveat, because the FDNY measures the time from when an EMS dispatcher receives a call to when a unit arrives on the scene.

City 911 records calculate response times differently — from the moment the 911 call is made to when a unit arrives. By that measure, life-threatening emergencies in The Bronx took much longer to get to — 9 minutes, 53 seconds.

By either calculation method, the average response time in The Bronx for life-threatening calls was slower this year than last, a Post analysis of the data found.

A rapid EMS response significantly increases a patient's chance of survival. Brain death can occur in four to six minutes in respiratory arrest, cardiac arrest and overdose cases.

“When you overdose, you stop breathing,” an EMS source said. “What makes a world of difference whether you live or die is how quickly I can get to you.”

For more on the New York Post and to download our apps, visit NYPPost.com

Sent from my iPad

From: ██████████@mckinsey.com
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: FW: Council transportation chair to endorse a version of congestion pricing
Date: Monday, October 05, 2015 6:56:48 AM

---

----- Message from ██████████/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on Mon, 05 Oct 2015 10:26:46 GMT -----

From: ██████████/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY
To: "NYC FHV Working Team"
Subject: FW: Council transportation chair to endorse a version of congestion pricing

----- Message from "POLITICO Pro" <states-alert@politico.com> on Mon, 05 Oct 2015 09:33:59 GMT -----

From: "POLITICO Pro" <states-alert@politico.com>
To: ██████████@mckinsey.com
Subject: Council transportation chair to endorse a version of congestion pricing

Council transportation chair to endorse a version of congestion pricing

By Dana Rubinstein

5:33 a.m. | Oct. 5, 2015

When City Council transportation Chairman Ydanis Rodriguez unveils his transportation agenda on Monday morning, he will call upon his colleagues to pass a resolution in favor of a congestion pricing proposal called Move NY.

"I will play an active role speaking to my colleagues in the Council [for a] resolution in support of Move NY," Rodriguez told POLITICO New York.

That support will come with one condition.

"I support Move NY with the caveat that we need to create a mechanism where the local community will decide how to reinvest some of the money to be raised with the plan," he said.

Partly developed by traffic engineer "Gridlock" Sam Schwartz, Move NY is a plan that would levy tolls on the East River bridges and along 60th Street, and lower them on inter-borough crossings like the Verrazano Narrows Bridge and the crossings connecting the Rockaway peninsula to Brooklyn and Queens.

The plan is popular with advocates because the region's mass transit system has a yawning funding gap no one quite knows how to fill. Move NY, as the name connotes, would also help reduce street congestion, its advocates contend.

According to those who proselytize for it, Move NY would raise $1.5 billion a year. Most of it ($1.125 billion) would go to mass transit, with the rest going to roads and bridges.

Rodriguez said he would like at least some part of the revenue to go toward community-driven transportation projects.

"What I will be calling for is a percentage of that funding to be used to establish a community transit fund that will enable communities to work with the elected officials, MTA and DOT to address local transit needs," he said, referring to the Metropolitan Transportation Authority and the city transportation department.

Two spokesmen for Move NY did not respond to requests for comment.

But any sort of Council resolution in support of Move NY could only help a cause that's won praise from experts but appears politically moribund.

Mayor Bill de Blasio has said all options should be on the table, but Gov. Andrew Cuomo has expressed no interest in congestion pricing.

"There are challenging political dynamics," said Councilman Brad Lander, a Move NY supporter. "It would be easier to advance congestion pricing when there's a governor and a mayor that can work closely together. And it is a proposal ever-ripe for populist, sometimes demagogic opposition."

But considering the state of mass transit in this, the nation's economic capital, he said, "We're going to have to find some way to do it. That's challenging. And therefore I give Ydanis real praise and credit for speaking up strongly."

You've received this POLITICO Pro content because your customized settings include: Albany (all articles) or one of the following Albany topics: Andrew Cuomo.

To change your alert settings, please go to your Pro settings page.

This email alert has been sent for the exclusive use of POLITICO Pro subscriber ██████████@mckinsey.com. Forwarding or reproducing the alert without the express, written permission of POLITICO Pro is a violation of federal law and the POLITICO Pro subscription agreement. Copyright © 2015 by POLITICO LLC. To subscribe to Pro, please go to www.politicopro.com.

If you believe this has been sent to you in error, please safely unsubscribe.

+ =====+

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

+ =====+

From: Schnake Mahl, Gabriel
To: "Michael Allegretti"
Cc: Wolfe, Emma; Matt Wing; Josh Gold
Subject: RE: Hey guys
Date: Friday, October 09, 2015 12:34:05 PM

---

Great. Confirmed for Monday at 5PM at Smyth Hotel – 85 W Broadway.

---

From: Michael Allegretti [<mailto:allegretti@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 12:08 PM
To: Schnake Mahl, Gabriel
Cc: Wolfe, Emma; Matt Wing; Josh Gold
Subject: Re: Hey guys

For sure. Whichever time is best for Emma we can make work...

On Oct 9, 2015, at 12:05 PM, Schnake Mahl, Gabriel <GSchnakeMahl@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

able to do a little earlier then – 5PM or 6PM?

---

From: Michael Allegretti [<mailto:allegretti@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 11:47 AM
To: Schnake Mahl, Gabriel
Cc: Wolfe, Emma; Matt Wing; Josh Gold
Subject: Re: Hey guys

Regrettably, Monday is the only day that works for me...

On Oct 9, 2015, at 11:45 AM, Schnake Mahl, Gabriel <GSchnakeMahl@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Columbus day so not great (govt employees here grabbing whatever time we can). Would Wed, 10/14 work instead?

---

From: Michael Allegretti [<mailto:allegretti@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, October 09, 2015 11:43 AM
To: Wolfe, Emma
Cc: Matt Wing; Josh Gold; Schnake Mahl, Gabriel
Subject: Re: Hey guys

Great. We're looking forward to it!

On Oct 8, 2015, at 7:19 PM, Wolfe, Emma <EWolfe@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

I hope to make it work!

---

From: Michael Allegretti [<mailto:allegretti@uber.com>]

Sent: Thursday, October 08, 2015 11:45 AM
To: Wolfe, Emma
Cc: Matt Wing; Josh Gold; Schnake Mahl, Gabriel
Subject: Re: Hey guys

Hope you're feeling better Emma. The three of us can do next Monday evening. Does that work for you to reschedule? Same time and place...

On Oct 7, 2015, at 2:49 PM, Wolfe, Emma <EWolfe@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks Mike for sure

---

From: Michael Allegretti
Sent: Wednesday, October 7, 2015 2:38 PM
To: Matthew Wing
Cc: Wolfe, Emma; josh@uber.com;
jgold@uber.com; Schnake Mahl, Gabriel
Subject: Re: Hey guys

Really appreciate the heads-up Emma. Feel better and let's get drinks back on the books soon...

On Oct 7, 2015, at 2:35 PM, Matthew Wing <wing@uber.com> wrote:

Feel better!

Really appreciate the heads up on the WSJ. If for any reason they call I will let you know and will through cold water on it as well. Hope we can re-schedule for sometime soon.

On Wed, Oct 7, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Wolfe, Emma <EWolfe@cityhall.nyc.gov>
wrote:

Thanks much. I had to go home...but fyi dawsey and tangel from wsj reached out to say they have sources saying our mta funding proposal included a FHV tax. We're telling them that's false, hasn't been a part of any negotiations, and will do on record if he goes there. We don't know who they're talking to, but it's not anyone with direct knowledge of mta talks.

Wanted to make sure you're aware so you don't get surprised by a call from them. Feel free to say exactly what I told you as well; it's simply not true. We wdnt engage in negotiations about FHV without real discussions with you guys not to mention our own tlc etc etc.

Original Message

From: Michael Allegretti
Sent: Wednesday, October 7, 2015 11:36 AM
To: Wolfe, Emma
Cc: josh@uber.com;
wing@uber.com;
jgold@uber.com; Schnake
Mahl, Gabriel
Subject: Re: Hey guys

So sorry to hear it Emma. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Let us know, and if tonight doesn't work, we will find another date...

> On Oct 7, 2015, at 10:54
AM, Wolfe, Emma
<EWolfe@cityhall.nyc.gov>
wrote:

>
> [REDACTED] If things improve in the next hour or two (a girl can dream) then I'll let you know --- I'll send a note around noon up or down.
And I'm really sorry - know how busy y'all are - and if we can schedule another time for real soon that would be great.

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Fw: Additional reading
Date: Thursday, October 29, 2015 7:41:11 PM
Attachments: Wallsten\_the Competitive Effects of Uber on Taxi Service Quality in NYC & Chicago.pdf
FTC to Chicago City Council \(April 2014\).pdf
FTC to Colorado PUC \(March 2013\).pdf
OECD Competition Committee Disruptive Innovation Staff Paper.pdf
FTC Anchorage Letter re Taxi rules \(1\).pdf
FTC to DC Taxicab Commission \(June 2013\).pdf
Ohlhausen \_\_\_Brother, May 1\_ - The Challenge of Competitor Control over Market Entry\_.pdf
Op Ed By Josh Wright -- Has the D C cab commiss - The Washington Post.pdf
Uber FTC Comment FINAL June 9 2015.pdf

Josh -

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

----- Forwarded by [REDACTED]/NorthAmerica/MCKINSEY on 10/29/2015 07:38 PM -----

From: Nicole Benincasa <nic@uber.com>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com>
Date: 10/20/2015 09:21 AM
Subject: Additional reading

Hi [REDACTED]:

I hope you are having a good week. I wanted to follow up with some additional documents for your review.

Please let me know if you have questions!

All the best,
Nicole

(See attached file: Wallsten_the Competitive Effects of Uber on Taxi Service Quality in NYC & Chicago.pdf)(See attached file: FTC to Chicago City Council (April 2014).pdf)(See attached file: FTC to Colorado PUC (March 2013).pdf)(See attached file: OECD Competition Committee Disruptive Innovation Staff Paper.pdf)(See attached file: FTC Anchorage Letter re Taxi rules (1).pdf)(See attached file: FTC to DC Taxicab Commission (June 2013).pdf)(See attached file: Ohlhausen ___Brother, May 1_ - The Challenge of Competitor Control over Market Entry_.pdf)(See attached file: Op Ed By Josh Wright -- Has the D C cab commiss - The Washington Post.pdf)(See attached file: Uber FTC Comment FINAL June 9 2015.pdf)

=====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
=====+

TECHNOLOGY POLICY INSTITUTE

▫ Studying the Global Information Economy ▫

The Competitive Effects of the Sharing Economy: How is Uber Changing Taxis?

June 2015

Scott Wallsten

The Competitive Effects of the Sharing Economy: How is Uber Changing Taxis?

Scott Wallsten*

June 1, 2015

Abstract

The rise of the so-called “sharing economy” has created new competition across a number of industries, most notably hotels, through Airbnb, and taxis, through ride-sharing services like Uber, Lyft, and Sidecar. This paper explores the competitive effects of ride-sharing on the taxi industry using a detailed dataset from the New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission of over a billion NYC taxi rides, taxi complaints from New York and Chicago, and information from Google Trends on the popularity of the largest ride-sharing service, Uber. I find that controlling for underlying trends and weather conditions that might affect taxi service, Uber’s increasing popularity is associated with a decline in consumer complaints per trip about taxis in New York. In Chicago, Uber’s growth is associated with a decline in particular types of complaints about taxis, including broken credit card machines, air conditioning and heating, rudeness, and talking on cell phones.

While the data do not make it possible to derive the magnitude of the effects or calculate changes in consumer surplus, the results provide evidence that Uber has created an alternative for consumers who would have otherwise complained to the regulator and encouraged taxis to improve their own service in response to the new competition.

---

* I am grateful to Bob Hahn, Tom Lenard, Jeffrey Macher, Greg Rosston, Amy Smorodin, and Olga Ukhaneva for helpful comments and to Nathan Kliewer for excellent research assistance. I am responsible for any mistakes.

Introduction

Seemingly overnight, the so-called “sharing economy” has turned traditionally underused assets into competitors to established industries. Some believe this business model will threaten incumbents across the economy.<sup>1</sup> How widespread the sharing economy will be remains to be seen, but to date it has had unquestionably large effects on the hotel industry through Airbnb and the taxi industry through ride-sharing services like Uber, Lyft, and Sidecar.<sup>2</sup> The development of new services that did not previously exist almost by definition make consumers better off.<sup>3</sup> The benefits to consumers, however, are likely to extend beyond those who use these new services if incumbents are forced to respond to new competition by improving service and/or reducing price.

The rapid growth of ride-sharing has upended the taxicab industry, which is traditionally heavily regulated. Incumbents’ most prominent reactions have been to lobby regulators to slow the growth of ride-sharing.<sup>4</sup> They might, however, also try to retain customers by competing for them in the market. However, regulations limit incumbents’ set of potential competitive responses. Prices are regulated and change infrequently while taxi drivers cannot, on their own, reduce prices or offer the frictionless payment systems ride-sharing services use. Even so, drivers might respond by trying to offer higher quality rides than they used to provide. Improved quality might take the form of, for example, being more courteous to passengers by turning off the radio, not talking on a cell phone while driving, and so on. The difficulty of signalling this quality to a potential passenger and lack of repeat business blunts this incentive, but with less business taxi drivers may behave better in the hopes of bigger tips or to reduce the chances that a passenger will complain.<sup>5</sup> If ride-sharing has generated this kind of competitive response by taxis then even consumers who do not use ride-sharing may benefit.

In this paper I assemble data from New York City and Chicago to test that hypothesis empirically. In particular, I test whether the growth in ride-sharing has led to a decrease in consumer complaints about taxis. One benefit of regulation is that regulators often collect lots of data. The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) provided me with data on every taxi ride in the city from 2010 through 2014 (more than 1 billion observations). NYC’s Open Data Project provides data on taxi complaints. Chicago does not routinely collect data on taxi rides, but collects detailed complaint data. Ride-sharing companies are private and make <sup>2</sup> “Ride sharing” in this context does not mean multiple people sharing a cab. Instead, it means individual transportation services where a passenger calls for a car using a mobile app and a driver responds and comes to pick up the passenger. They are called “ride sharing” services because many of the cars are personal vehicles driven by their owners rather than dedicated taxis.

---

<sup>1</sup> Or “Uber for everything,” as some seem to call it. <http://techcrunch.com/2015/02/08/will-there-really-be-an-uber-for-everything/>

<sup>3</sup> See Bresnahan and Gordon (1997) for a collection of excellent essays on how economic analysis and statistics treat new products and services. Timothy F Bresnahan and Robert J Gordon, The Economics of New Goods (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1997), <http://site.ebrary.com/id/10230044>.

<sup>4</sup> See Cannon and Summers (2014) for a discussion of Uber and regulators. Sarah Cannon and Lawrence Summers, “How Uber and the Sharing Economy Can Win Over Regulators,” Harvard Business Review, October 13, 2014, <https://hbr.org/2014/10/how-uber-and-the-sharing-economy-can-win-over-regulators/>.

<sup>5</sup> Read one commentator’s view of taxis versus Uber: http://www.nytimes.com/2015/05/24/your-money/hey-driver-hang-up-the-phone-turn-off-the-tv-and-step-on-it.html?rref=collection%2Fcolumn%2Fthe-haggler&\_r=0

little data available publicly.<sup>6</sup> Nevertheless, data from Google Trends on the largest of the ride-sharing companies, Uber, makes it possible to generate an index of ride-sharing's growing popularity in NYC and Chicago.

The data reveal that the number of complaints per taxi trip in NYC has declined along with the growth of Uber, even when controlling for underlying trends and seasonal events that may affect taxi use. The results suggest that customers who used to complain now take their business elsewhere and that taxi drivers are responding to competition from Uber by increasing the quality of their own service. Data from Chicago also provide some evidence that cab drivers respond to competition. In particular, in Chicago the growth of Uber was correlated with fewer complaints by taxi riders about heating and air conditioning, broken credit card machines, and rude drivers.

To be clear, specific data on prices and quantity are necessary to estimate changes in consumer welfare. Nevertheless, this paper is, to my knowledge, one of the first to begin to evaluate the competitive effects of the sharing economy empirically. Hopefully future research will be able to identify the ways in which the sharing economy affects the economy more precisely.

The “Sharing Economy” and Ride-Sharing Services

The so-called “sharing economy” generally refers to the phenomenon of turning unused or under-used assets owned by individuals into productive resources. For example, homes and cars represent significant investments but are underused relative to their potential. Homes are empty much of the day or have empty rooms even when occupied by owners. Airbnb makes it possible to rent those spaces. Cars mostly sit parked while their value depreciates. Uber, Lyft, and others make it possible for anyone to use their cars to offer taxi-like services. Unemployed and underemployed people, too, represent wasted productive assets. TaskRabbit and Mechanical Turk allows anyone to offer a host of particular services.

The sharing economy generates value by matching these assets with consumers willing to pay for the services those assets could provide. Those services, of course, have existed for ages—hotels provide short-term accommodations, taxis provide flexible transportation for anyone, and temp services provide jobs on short notice. The genius of the sharing economy, however, was to harness new technologies—smartphones, GPS, payment systems, identification, feedback mechanisms—to allow almost anyone with the right assets to make those services available outside of the formal hotel and taxi industry. In other words, new technologies significantly reduce the transaction costs of matching under-used assets to those willing to pay to employ those assets. These new services are becoming ubiquitous. In a February 2015 survey, PricewaterhouseCoopers (2015) found that 19 percent of US adults had “engaged in a sharing economy transaction.”

Airbnb, for example, allows people to rent rooms, apartments, or houses. The services launched in 2008, and by 2015 had more than 1 million listings in over 190 countries.<sup>7</sup> In October 2014

---

<sup>6</sup> I contacted Uber in hopes of obtaining data, but in exchange for data the company wanted editorial input into the paper. I appreciate Uber's willingness to consider a data request and its concerns, but I chose not to pursue my request as the conditions were not consistent with unbiased research.

<sup>7</sup> <https://www.airbnb.com/about/about-us>

the company was valued at more than $13 billion. By comparison, the Intercontinental Hotel Group, the largest hotel chain in the world, had 674,000 rooms in over 100 countries had a market cap of about $10 billion in March 2015.<sup>8</sup>

Ride-sharing services turn vehicles that would otherwise sit unused into on-demand taxis. The inputs have real costs, of course. While cars depreciate even when not in use, when in use they consume gas and are subject to wear and tear—all incremental costs relative to sitting unused in a parking space. Additionally, drivers face an opportunity cost of their time, although an analysis from Uber, discussed below, finds that drivers tend to work for Uber during times they would not otherwise have worked, suggesting that the opportunity cost of time may be relatively low.

A consumer has a smartphone app that allows him to indicate he needs a pickup, and drivers on the other side of the platform respond to the request. The app already has the consumer's payment information and a GPS device tracks the trip distance so the rider can enter and exit the car while payment is charged automatically to his credit card. Neither the rider nor the driver deal with payments. The ride-share company takes a percentage of the fare, and the rest goes to the driver.

Lyft, Sidecar, and Uber are the most prominent ride-sharing services, with Uber by far the largest of those. Uber was launched in 2009, and by mid-2014 had eight million users and 160,000 drivers in 250 cities across 50 countries.<sup>9</sup> In December 2014 venture capitalists valued Uber at about $40 billion.<sup>10</sup>

One reason for this remarkable success was undoubtedly the ability of technology to break down artificial regulatory entry barriers. Most cities, for example, restrict the number of taxis allowed to operate. As a result, either prices were higher than they would have been otherwise or there were not enough cabs to meet demand.<sup>11</sup> In NYC, the lack of supply relative to demand caused taxi medallions (permits) to sell for over $1 million by 2013.<sup>12</sup> By 2015, however, the price of a medallion had fallen by about 25 percent in response to competition from ride-sharing services.

While consumers flocked to these new services, traditional hotel and taxi companies flocked to their regulators and politicians, hoping to block these new competitors.<sup>13</sup> Many regulators have been sympathetic to their claims, and some cities and countries have even banned these

---

<sup>8</sup> <http://www.bloomberg.com/quote/IHG:LN>

<sup>9</sup> <http://expandedramblings.com/index.php/uber-statistics/>

<sup>10</sup> <https://hbr.org/2014/12/making-sense-of-ubers-40-billion-valuation>

<sup>11</sup> The Federal Trade Commission has documented this effect of taxi regulation throughout the years. For an early study, see, for example, Mark W. Frankena and Paul A. Pautler, An Economic Analysis of Taxicab Regulation, Bureau of Economics Staff Report (Federal Trade Commission, May 1984),

<https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/documents/reports/economic-analysis-taxicab-regulation/233832.pdf>.

<sup>12</sup> http://www.nytimes.com/2015/01/08/upshot/new-york-city-taxi-medallion-prices-keep-falling-now-down-about-25-percent.html?\_r=0&abt=0002&abg=1

<sup>13</sup> For some reporting on the regulatory response by the traditional taxi industry, see

<http://www.bloomberg.com/news/articles/2015-03-11/inside-big-taxi-s-dirty-war-with-uber> and

<http://www.forbes.com/sites/larrydownes/2013/02/06/lessons-from-uber-why-innovation-and-regulation-dont-mix/>.

Uber has apparently responded with its own lobbying, and employs more than 160 lobbyists, according to one report. <http://www.theverge.com/2014/12/14/7390395/uber-lobbying-steamroller> services,<sup>14</sup> but demand for these services has been so strong that they have been able to overcome much of this hostility (with exceptions, of course, like France and Las Vegas).<sup>15</sup>

At least part of Uber's response to regulatory threats has been to release studies highlighting benefits to the drivers. Uber has claimed that a full-time driver can make $75,000 - $90,000 annually, compared to the $30,000 typical of a taxi driver,<sup>16</sup> although some have questioned those numbers.<sup>17</sup> Hall and Krueger (2015) note in a study done for Uber that in the first three months of 2014 Uber distributed $657 million to drivers in the United States.<sup>18</sup> They also found that drivers tend to sign up because of the flexibility of the work and that many use Uber as a way to smooth income, either between jobs or as a complement to other jobs.<sup>19</sup>

The appeal among consumers is self-evident from the rapid growth of the service. And price may not be the primary reason consumers use the service. Salnikov et al (2015) find that UberX—the less expensive of the Uber options—is not always cheaper than a taxi for a given ride.<sup>20</sup> To be sure, Uber appears to recognize that price matters, having cut prices in January 2015.<sup>21</sup> Even so, the Salnikov et al (2015) results imply that consumers also value other aspects of the service, such as frictionless payments or nicer cars.

Taxis have long faced imperfect competition—from public transportation like buses and subways to car services that pick up passengers who request a ride (generally via telephone) and so-called “gypsy cabs.” But Uber and other ride-sharing services appear to compete more directly with taxis if for no other reason than their increasing ubiquity as a convenient, on-demand, means of transportation.

As competition increases, consumers have new options and incumbents may be forced to respond. The sharing economy is unambiguously increasing competition. Zervas et al (2015) study the effects of Airbnb on the hotel industry in Texas, finding more rentals on Airbnb associated with lower hotel revenues and prices.<sup>22</sup>

In the traditional taxi world, dissatisfied consumers had few options. They could incur extra costs to avoid taxis—in terms of convenience if switching to the bus or subway or in terms of money if switching to car services or using one's own car instead of taking cabs. Alternatively, they could

---

<sup>14</sup> <http://www.engadget.com/2015/03/18/germany-bans-uber-once-again-over-permit-issues/>

<sup>15</sup> <http://www.reuters.com/article/2015/05/22/us-france-taxis-idUSKBN0O70TV20150522> ;

<http://www.forbes.com/sites/harrycampbell/2015/04/17/uber-cant-get-to-las-vegas-soon-enough/>

<sup>16</sup> <http://www.washingtonpost.com/blogs/innovations/wp/2014/05/27/ubers-remarkable-growth-could-end-the-era-of-poorly-paid-cab-drivers/>

<sup>17</sup> <http://www.businessinsider.com/uber-drivers-say-theyre-making-less-than-minimum-wage-2014-10>

<sup>18</sup> Jonathan V. Hall and Alan B. Krueger, “An Analysis of the Labor Market for Uber's Driver-Partners in the United States” (Uber, January 22, 2015), https://s3.amazonaws.com/uber-static/comms/PDF/Uber\_Driver-Partners\_Hall\_Krueger\_2015.pdf.

<sup>19</sup> Ibid.

<sup>20</sup> Vsevolod Salnikov et al., “OpenStreetCab: Exploiting Taxi Mobility Patterns in New York City to Reduce Commuter Costs” March 10, 2015.

<sup>21</sup> <http://blog.uber.com/PriceCut2015>

<sup>22</sup> Georgios Zervas, Davide Proserpio, and John Byers, “The Rise of the Sharing Economy: Estimating the Impact of Airbnb on the Hotel Industry” February 12, 2015, <http://ssrn.com/abstract=2366898>.

complain about the poor service to the taxi regulator. Either way, taxi cabs had little incentive to improve service.

In the new world of taxi competition, consumers can switch providers at low cost. As a result, traditional taxis may face a new incentive to compete. Competing on price in the short run is difficult—prices are typically regulated and change infrequently. They might also compete on quality—making sure their cars are clean and features like credit card readers operable, running the air conditioner in the summer, not talking on cell phones, and so on.

Of course, the incentive to improve quality is blunted by the problems of signaling and lack of repeated interactions. In particular, how is a driver cruising for fares able to demonstrate to potential riders that he offers a high-quality ride? One way to generate that signal might be through newer cars, so perhaps we might expect to see the average age of taxi fleets drop over time.<sup>23</sup>

Taxi Complaints

Other than the age and type of vehicle (in some cities), it is not generally possible to directly observe taxi or driver quality. However, as in most regulated industries, consumers can complain to the regulator about service. Complaints appear to both serve as a proxy for quality and reveal when consumers begin to have the option to exit the market rather than file complaints. In particular, Forbes (2008) uses data from the Department of Transportation on airline complaints to explore the relationship between complaints and quality.<sup>24</sup> She finds that complaints decrease as quality increases, but also that consumers are more likely to complain when they expect high quality.

One problem with complaints as an indicator of quality is that complaining to a regulator requires non-trivial effort by the consumer, who has to remember the cab's ID for the complaint to have any meaning.<sup>25</sup> And in exchange for having undertaken that effort the consumer gets nothing other than, perhaps, the satisfaction of venting their anger. While the effort required and expected response differs by city, complaints are likely a combination of reports from people who experienced truly egregious taxi-related problems, do not place an especially high value on their time, and people who enjoy kvetching.

Beard, Macher, and Mayo (2015) confirm Forbes's (2008) result, finding that competition increases service quality by the incumbent. However, consistent with the point that complaining

---

<sup>23</sup> Some evidence suggests that the taxi fleet may, in fact, be getting younger. The NYC TLC reported that in 2013 the average age of a taxi was 3.3 years (http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/2014\_taxicab\_fact\_book.pdf). Meanwhile, a current dataset of the more than NYC 13,000 taxis on the road shows the average taxi to be a 2013 model, implying an age of about 2 years (<https://data.cityofnewyork.us/Transportation/Yellow-Medallion-Taxicabs-Vehicles/g8fi-we5z>). Without more data, however, it is not possible to know whether that change reflects a competitive response or is merely following a pre-existing trend, due to routine and regular fleet turnover, or otherwise unrelated to Uber.

<sup>24</sup> Silke J. Forbes, "The Effect of Service Quality and Expectations on Customer Complaints," The Journal of Industrial Economics 56, no. 1 (March 1, 2008): 190–213, doi:10.2307/25483403.

<sup>25</sup> It is not always straightforward how to file a complaint. NYC's website seems to lead the consumer in an endless loop of clicks to complain. http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/html/passenger/sub\_consumer\_compl.shtml

entails a cost with few benefits to the complainer, they note that voice and exit can be substitutes and construct a model of how consumers might decide between complaining and switching firms.<sup>26</sup> They use data on complaints about telecommunications providers from the US Federal Communications Commission to test their theory and find that consumers are more likely to switch providers the more competition exists in the market.

Like those two papers, I evaluate complaint data in the presence of competition. The key insights from Forbes (2008) and Beard, Macher, and Mayo (2009) are that a relationship between complaints about the incumbent may indicate something about how complainers behave or how the incumbents respond to competition. The interpretation of any results must be cognizant of these effects.

The next section describes the datasets I use to explore the relationship between taxi complaints and Uber.

Data and Empirical Analysis

I assembled datasets for two cities: New York and Chicago. Unfortunately, each city collects different statistics, making it necessary to analyze the datasets separate rather than pooling them. The key difference is that NYC has more detailed data on taxi rides while Chicago has more detailed data on complaints.

As ride-sharing firms are private, largely-unregulated companies, data are not as easily obtainable. New data tools, however make it possible to create an index of the popularity of ride-sharing. In particular, Google Trends has been shown to track economic activity and can generate an index of the popularity of ride-sharing over time.

Perhaps the first use of Google searches as an indicator was Google Flu, launched in 2008 as a tool using searches to predict the prevalence of flu before official data could be compiled. Varian and Choi (2009) extended this approach by demonstrating that Google search trends (now called “Google Trends”) can be used to track economic activity in real time.<sup>27</sup> They show the accuracy of Google Trends in tracking retail sales, automotive sales, home sales, and travel. Wu and Brynjolfsson (2015) show that Google Trends make better predictors of housing sales and prices than more traditional indicators.<sup>28</sup> Because Uber is by far the largest ride-sharing company,<sup>29</sup> I obtained from Google Trends indices of searches for “Uber” in New York City and Chicago.

---

<sup>26</sup> Randolph T. Beard, Jeffrey T. Macher, and John W. Mayo, “‘Can You Hear Me Now?’ Exit, Voice and Loyalty under Increasing Competition” February 2015.

<sup>27</sup> Hyunyoung Choi and Hal R. Varian, “Predicting the Present with Google Trends” April 10, 2009, http://static.googleusercontent.com/media/www.google.com/en/us/googleblogs/pdfs/google\_predicting\_the\_present.pdf.

<sup>28</sup> Lyn Wu and Erik Brynjolfsson, “The Future of Prediction: How Google Searches Foreshadow Housing Prices and Sales,” in Economic Analysis of the Digital Economy, ed. Avi Goldfarb, Shane Greenstein, and Catherine Tucker, 2015.

<sup>29</sup> A report of credit card charges by FutureAdvisor in 2014 found that Uber had more than ten times Lyft’s revenues and seven times the number of rides as Lyft. <http://fortune.com/2014/09/11/uber-vs-lyft-the-credit-cards-dont-lie/>. When comparing Uber and Lyft on Google Trends, the Uber index is, on average over time, 13 times larger than the Lyft index.

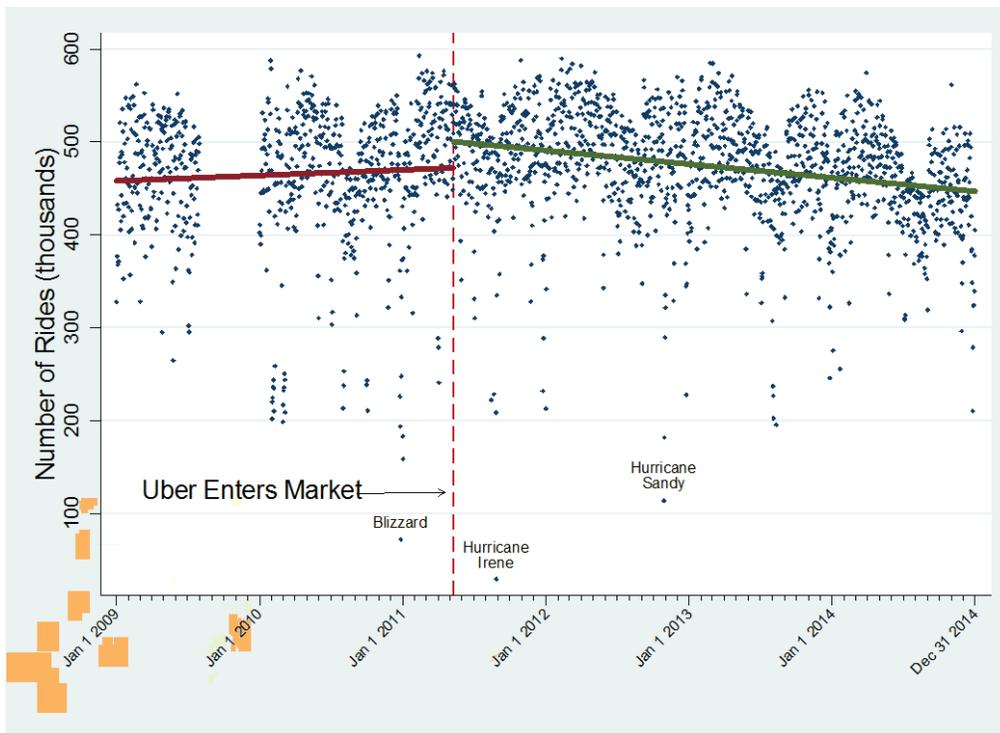

While the index should provide us with a meaningful indicator of Uber’s growth, it has certain disadvantages. Most importantly, as an index it will not be possible to estimate useful magnitudes of any effects. In particular, the index makes it possible to determine whether the two are correlated, but not by how much Uber’s growth affects complaints. Nevertheless, it provides a starting point to begin empirically exploring the competitive effects of Uber.

New York City

The NYC Taxi and Limousine Commission (NYCTLC) collects detailed data on taxi rides from cab meters and provided those data under New York State’s Freedom of Information Law.<sup>30</sup> In particular, the Commission provided data on every taxi ride from 2009 through 2014, including information on distance traveled and fare paid. The entire dataset is over 150 Gb and included information on over one billion rides.<sup>31</sup>

The data show the decline in the traditional taxi industry since Uber’s entry. Figure 1 shows the number of daily taxi trips in NYC from 2009 through 2014. Uber entered NYC in May 2011,<sup>32</sup> apparently leading to a generally downward trend in the number of trips.

Figure 1: Daily Taxi Trips (Thousands)

Note: Data for the second half of 2009 is missing from the dataset; I am trying to obtain it from NYC. The trend line on the left is obtained from regressing the number of rides on a constant and time until Uber’s entry. The trend line on the right is the same regression estimated from Uber’s entry to the present.

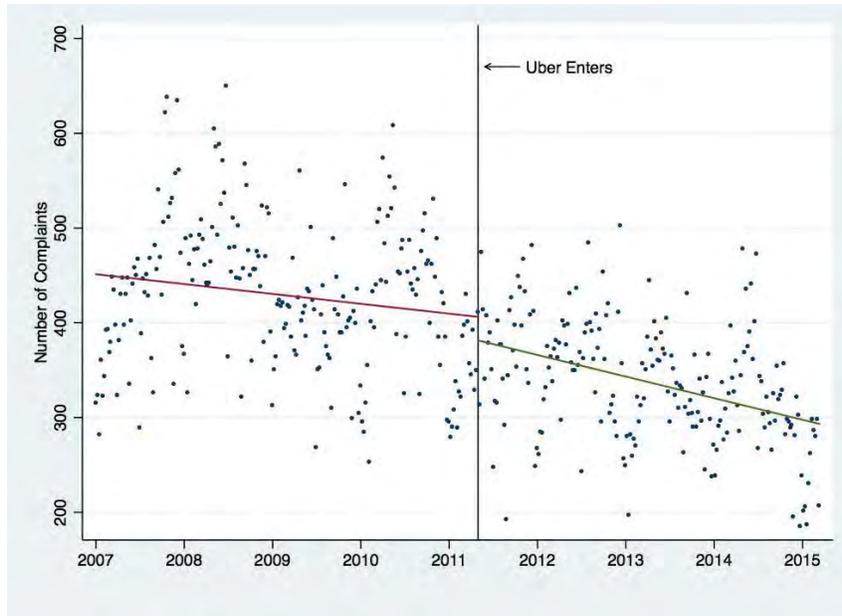

<sup>30</sup> I am grateful to the staff of the TLC for providing us with this data.

<sup>31</sup> The data actually go back to 2008, but do not appear to have been consistently reported until sometime in 2009. Unfortunately, about six months of data from 2009 were missing, making it best to start the analysis in 2010.

<sup>32</sup> <http://sanfrancisco.cbslocal.com/2015/03/18/more-uber-cars-new-york-city-streets-traditional-taxicabs-ridesharing/>

Just as consumers can complain to DOT or the FCC about problems with services regulated by those agencies, so, too, can taxi riders complain to the NYCTLC. Data on taxi complaints is readily available for download via NYC’s Open Data platform.<sup>33</sup> Figure 2 shows weekly complaint data. The figure shows that the number of complaints was already trending downward before Uber entered the market, with the downward trend increasing somewhat after entry.

Figure 2: Number of Taxi Complaints Submitted to NYCTLC

Of course, if Uber is affecting the number of taxi rides then it will be important to normalize complaints—obviously if the number of rides is decreasing then the number of complaints is also likely to decrease. The normalized figure is different. Figure 3 shows the number of complaints per ride, which was decreasing prior to Uber’s entry and continued to decrease after entry, but at a slower rate.

<sup>33</sup> Many cities participate in the Open Data project, but New York seems to have the most detailed data available. <https://nycopendata.socrata.com/>

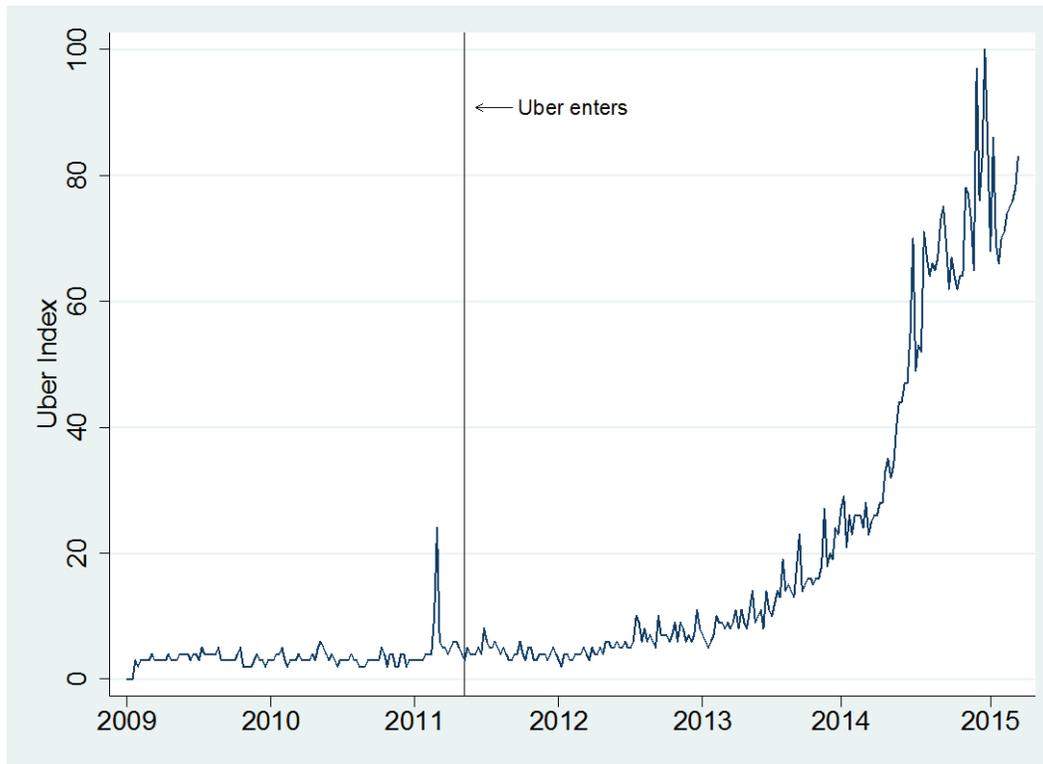

Figure 3: Taxi Complaints per Hundred Thousand Rides

Of course, just as with the earlier data, a number of factors unrelated to Uber could affect these trends, and the econometric analysis will have to control for them.

The Google Trend index for Uber's search popularity in New York City shows a steady increase beginning in around 2012 (Figure 4). The spike just before entry reflects Uber's March 2011 announcement of its intended entry into NYC.

Figure 4: Google Trend for "Uber" Search in NYC

To examine the data econometrically I aggregate to the lowest common unit of measurement, which is that provided by Google Trends: weeks. In other words, an observation in the econometric analysis is a week-year (to account for seasonality).

As a first step, it may be instructive to examine the relationship between the Google Uber index and the number of taxi rides. All else equal, does Uber's rise correspond to a decrease in the number of taxi rides? To examine this relationship, I estimate the following regression:

$$y_t = f(\text{Uber}_t, W_t, \text{week}, \text{year})$$

where  $y_t$  is the natural log of taxi trips,  $W_t$  includes the natural log of variables measuring temperature and precipitation,  $week$  is week fixed effects (i.e., indicator variables for weeks 1 – 52),  $year$  is year fixed effects, and  $t$  indexes the week-year of the observation.

The fixed effects are especially important for two reasons. First, as Figure 1 showed, the number of trips is cyclical. Second, overall trends in taxi ridership might change for reasons other than entry. For example, taxi fares increased by 17 percent on September 4, 2012.<sup>34</sup> Weather data, from NOAA, controls for weather, which may affect demand for taxi rides.<sup>35</sup>

<sup>34</sup> Without the fixed effects one might add a dummy variable to indicate when the fare increase took effect, but the fixed effects already control for the effects of the fare increase since the dummy variable indicating the fare increase is in effect is a linear combination of certain month and year dummy variables.

<sup>35</sup> NOAA provided daily measurements precipitation and high and low temperature readings from a weather monitoring station in Central Park.

Table 1 shows the results of this regression. The results show fewer taxi rides when it snows, fewer with colder temperatures, and more with warmer temperatures. The Uber index, as expected, consistently shows fewer taxi trips as Uber grows.

Table 1: Regression Results of Number of Taxi Trips on Uber Index, NYC

Uber index	-0.001*
	(0.074)
ln (precipitation)	-0.025
	(0.205)
ln (snow depth)	-0.051
	(0.000)
ln (max temp)	0.092*
	(0.074)
ln (min temp)	-0.046
	(0.010)
Constant	0.759
	(0.000)
Week and year fixed effects included
Observations	227
R-squared	0.626
<hr/>
pval in parentheses
<hr/>
 p<0.01,  p<0.05, * p<0.1

To explore the relationship between complaints and Uber’s market presence, I follow Beard, Macher, and Mayo (2015), who worked with complaints data, and Choi and Varian (2012), who discuss how to use Google Trends data.<sup>36</sup> I estimate the above regression, substituting complaints per taxi trip for number of taxi trips.

Table 2 shows the results of the regression, which I estimated with different versions of the dependent variable: natural log of complaints per trip, complaints per mile, and complaints (i.e., not normalized).

The results show the Google Trends Uber index negatively and statistically significantly correlated with complaints, regardless of how they are measured. These results are consistent with the Beard, Mayo, and Macher (2015) results, which found that complaints decrease as competition increases. And if we believe that complaints are also correlated to service quality, then the results also suggest that taxi drivers in NYC have made some effort to improve their quality.

<sup>36</sup> Beard, Macher, and Mayo, “‘Can You Hear Me Now?’ Exit, Voice and Loyalty under Increasing Competition”; Hyunyoung Choi and Hal Varian, “Predicting the Present with Google Trends,” Economic Record 88 (June 2012): 2–9, doi:10.1111/j.1475-4932.2012.00809.x.

Table 2: New York City Regression Results

VARIABLES	Complaints per Trip			Complaints per Mile			Complaints
uberindex	-0.002 (0.041)	-0.002* (0.068)	-0.001* (0.097)	-0.002 (0.008)	-0.002 (0.013)	-0.002 (0.033)	-0.003 (0.001)	-0.003 (0.001)	-0.003 (0.001)	-0.003 (0.001)
precipitation			0.024 (0.458)			0.038 (0.237)			-0.005 (0.872)	-0.001 (0.986)
snow			0.068 (0.007)			0.061 (0.018)			-0.010 (0.672)	-0.003 (0.909)
max temp		-0.006 (0.741)			0.003 (0.879)			0.009 (0.590)		0.008 (0.663)
Constant	-9.005 (0.000)	-8.997 (0.000)	-9.032 (0.000)	-10.030 (0.000)	-10.256 (0.000)	-10.049 (0.000)	5.830 (0.000)	5.578 (0.000)	5.833 (0.000)	5.581 (0.000)
Observations	260	258	260	245	243	245	271	268	271	268
R-squared	0.689	0.686	0.703	0.714	0.712	0.727	0.761	0.763	0.762	0.763

*** p<0.01, ** p<0.05, * p<0.1

Week and year fixed effects included but not shown.

Chicago

The city of Chicago does not make detailed taxi trip data available. According to the city's response to a Freedom of Information Act Request, those data cannot be made public because it would be too resource-intensive to produce them<sup>37</sup> and because the city believes existing reports contain personal information not subject to disclosure rules. Chicago does, however, make public a different measure of taxi supply: medallion prices and number of trades over time.

Figure 5 shows the average weekly medallion prices and number of transfers from 2008 through March 2015. Prices peaked at about $400,000 in July 2012 and have trended downward slightly since then, in contrast to the upward trend from the beginning of the data in 2008. The market has become thinner over time, as well, with the number of transfers peaking at 538 in 2012 and decreasing to 91 in 2014 and only seven from January through April 2015.

Figure 5: Taxi Medallion Prices and Transfers in Chicago

Chicago also tracks and makes available taxi complaints over time. Unlike NYC, Chicago records the type of complaint. Figure 6 shows weekly counts of each type of complaint over time. Table 3 shows the average weekly counts by year.

<sup>37</sup> “Any need for reports would span more than one day or more than one taxicab, [sic] would require the Department of Business Affairs and Consumer Protection to request a report from the external company that maintains the data.” Response to Freedom of Information request, April 28, 2015. See Appendix.

Figure 6: Taxi Complaints by Complaint Subject, Chicago

The figure and table show that the most common complaint is regarding reckless driving and, moreover, complaints about reckless driving spiked in early 2012. This increase was apparently due to a new rule requiring taxis to display a bumper sticker that read, “How’s my driving? Compliments or Concerns, Call 311 Report Taxi Number _____” and a related publicity campaign. After reckless driving the most common complaints, in order of frequency, are about rude drivers, credit card problems, being overcharged, not being picked up, drivers being on their cell phones.

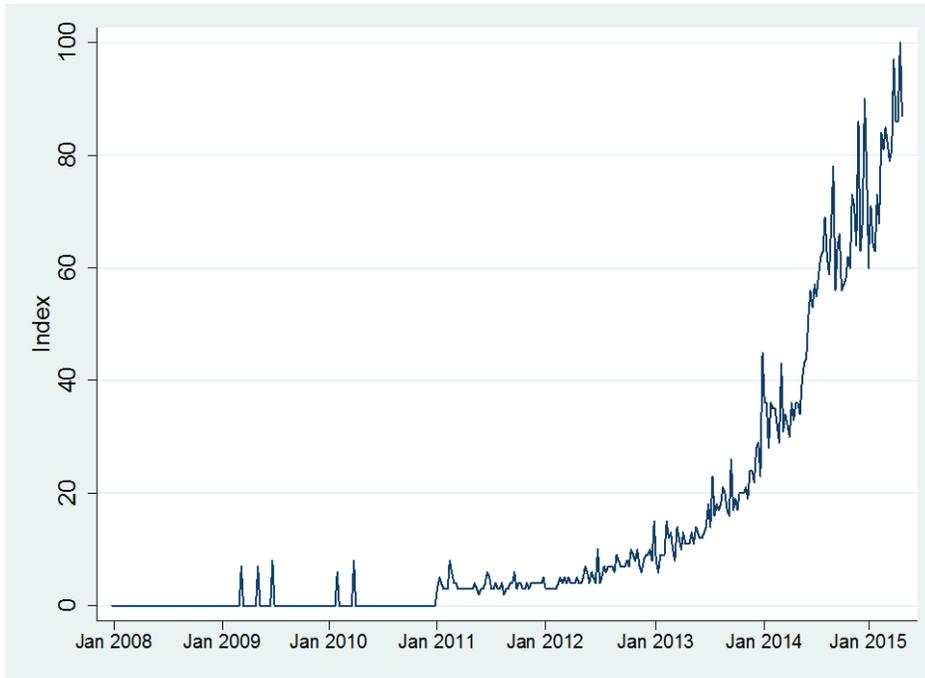

Table 3: Chicago Taxi Complaints by Type

Year	TOTAL	Rude	CC problem	Overcharge	Pckup Refused	Driver on Cell Phone	Verbal Assault	Didn't Know Route	Took Long Way	Unsafe/Mechanical Problem	AC Problem	Reckless Driving	Other
2008	172.1	24.5	17.5	11.8	14.2	7.4	4.4	7.4	6.0	2.3	1.5	46.5	28.8
2009	146.6	19.4	15.6	12.1	9.4	6.8	3.5	5.1	4.4	2.2	0.7	40.3	27.1
2010	139.7	17.4	18.5	11.7	8.9	5.2	4.7	4.2	4.2	1.9	1.0	37.7	24.3
2011	130.8	16.3	16.7	11.2	9.5	5.0	5.2	3.7	3.5	1.7	1.0	34.2	23.0
2012	268.9	22.2	17.2	12.8	13.7	6.6	5.3	4.1	3.8	3.0	1.1	138.0	29.1
2013	250.3	20.3	17.3	12.7	15.5	9.8	6.5	4.1	3.3	2.0	0.4	129.0	29.2
2014	210.6	16.0	10.9	13.7	12.8	8.7	7.0	3.6	3.1	1.9	0.4	106.4	26.2
2015	186.2	15.4	9.3	13.0	10.6	7.1	6.7	2.9	3.3	0.9	0.0	93.4	23.6

Figure 7 shows the Uber index for Chicago, which Uber officially entered on September 11, 2011.<sup>38</sup> The index looks similar to the index for New York, which is not surprising given that Uber entered the Chicago market only four months after it entered the New York market.

<sup>38</sup> <http://blog.uber.com/chicagotaxicrime>

Figure 7: Chicago Google Trends Uber Index

Consistent with the results from NYC data suggesting Uber’s growth being correlated with reduced demand for traditional taxis, a similar analysis reveals a negative correlation between the Uber index and the value of a taxi medallion in Chicago. However, although Figure 5 suggested otherwise, the regression analysis finds no statistically significant correlation between the Uber index and the number of medallion transactions when controlling for fixed effects.

Table 4: Regression of Medallion Prices and Transfers on Uber Index

	ln(average weekly medallion price)	weekly average medallion price	ln(num of weekly medallion transfers)	(num of weekly medallion transfers)
Uber index	-0.006 (0.034)	-1,576 (0.004)	0.013 (0.416)	-0.053 (0.524)
Constant	11.483 (0.000)	93,064 (0.000)	1.717 (0.000)	5.667 (0.122)
Week fixed effects	YES	YES	YES	YES
Year fixed effects	YES	YES	YES	YES
Observations	308	308	308	381
R-squared	0.853	0.888	0.258	0.221

pval in parentheses

*** p<0.01, ** p<0.05, * p<0.1

Because I do not have the number of taxi trips for Chicago, I cannot normalize the complaint data as above. I estimate two different specification types to mitigate the effects of this problem. First, I use medallion prices and number of transfers as a proxy for taxi ride quantity and include those as a control variable in log-level regressions. That is, in the first instance I regress the number of different types of complaints on the medallion variables as well as the other variables discussed above.

Second, I use as the dependent variable the complaint type as a share of all complaints.<sup>39</sup> If taxi drivers are trying to offer a higher quality service we might expect to see a decrease in the share of complaints about things the driver can control and the passenger likely to notice, like rudeness, cell phone usage, and air conditioning and heating problems. We might also expect to see a decrease in complaints regarding broken credit card machines, both because the cab company invests more effort into maintaining the equipment and because the driver is less likely to claim the reader is broken because he prefers cash.

I therefore estimate several regressions, each with a different complaint (either log-share or level) as the dependent variable. Table 2 shows the results of the levels regressions and Table 3 shows the results of the share regressions.

The most robust result is a statistically significant negative correlation between the Uber index and complaints about a cab's air conditioning and heating. The regressions also show a statistically significant negative correlation between the Uber index and complaints about non-working credit card readers and drivers on cell phones in specifications that do not control for medallions. Complaints about rude drivers are negatively correlated with the Uber index when controlling for the number of medallion transfers, but not when including only the other controls. Oddly, in one of eight specifications, complaints about dirty cabs was positively correlated with the Uber index. No other complaint types were statistically correlated with the Uber index.

---

<sup>39</sup> More accurately, it is the share of complaints not including reckless driving, since that measure was affected so strongly by the bumper sticker campaign.

Table 5: Regression of Complaint Type on Uber Index, Chicago, Log-shares

	AC/Heat		Credit Card Reader		Rude Driver		Driver on Phone		Dirty Cab
Uber index	-0.000 (0.122)	-0.000 (0.023)	-0.000 (0.032)	-0.000 (0.021)	-0.000 (0.901)	-0.000 (0.418)	-0.001 (0.318)	-0.000 (0.428)	-0.000 (0.085)	0.000 (0.150)	0.000 (0.274)
In max temp	0.001 (0.722)	0.000 (0.882)	0.001 (0.735)	0.000 (0.813)	-0.001 (0.762)	-0.003 (0.535)	-0.002 (0.574)	-0.002 (0.498)	0.001 (0.205)	0.002 (0.169)	0.002 (0.189)
In precipitation	0.005 (0.104)	0.006* (0.056)	0.005* (0.077)	0.005* (0.065)	0.010 (0.224)	0.007 (0.362)	0.006 (0.451)	-0.009 (0.159)	0.002 (0.386)	0.001 (0.537)	0.001 (0.595)
In medallion price	-0.005 (0.210)	-0.005 (0.207)	-0.005 (0.207)	-0.005 (0.207)	0.008 (0.483)	0.011 (0.346)	0.011 (0.353)	0.001 (0.876)	0.006 (0.035)	0.006 (0.035)	0.006 (0.036)
In number medallion transfers	0.000 (0.508)	0.000 (0.497)	0.000 (0.508)	0.000 (0.497)	-0.000 (0.981)	0.002 (0.313)	0.002 (0.319)	-0.000 (0.848)	0.001 (0.334)	0.001 (0.334)	0.001 (0.344)
Week and year fixed effects included
Constant	0.005 (0.328)	0.059 (0.188)	0.002 (0.710)	0.059 (0.194)	0.132 (0.000)	0.030 (0.829)	0.126 (0.000)	0.030 (0.828)	0.185 (0.000)	0.070 (0.617)	0.196 (0.000)	0.067 (0.633)	0.051 (0.000)	0.037 (0.718)	0.053 (0.000)	0.037 (0.715)	-0.000 (0.993)	-0.069 (0.038)	-0.001 (0.880)	-0.070 (0.036)
Observations	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305
R-squared	0.456	0.507	0.505	0.508	0.412	0.382	0.381	0.382	0.235	0.300	0.300	0.302	0.303	0.338	0.338	0.338	0.183	0.195	0.183	0.198

pval in parentheses

*** p<0.01, ** p<0.05, * p<0.1

Table 6: Regression of Complaint Type on Uber Index, Chicago, Log-Levels

	AC/Heat		Credit Card Reader		Rude Driver		Driver on Phone		Dirty Cab
Uber index	-0.008 (0.048)	-0.052 (0.022)	-0.050 (0.027)	-0.053 (0.021)	-0.009 (0.001)	-0.003 (0.520)	-0.007 (0.106)	-0.008* (0.067)	-0.009 (0.017)	-0.008 (0.252)	-0.008 (0.218)	-0.008 (0.260)	0.005 (0.242)	0.008 (0.270)	0.005 (0.474)	0.008 (0.296)	0.005 (0.242)	0.008 (0.270)	0.005 (0.474)	0.008 (0.296)
In(average medallion price)	-0.394 (0.414)	-0.399 (0.408)	-0.399 (0.408)	-0.399 (0.408)	0.078 (0.442)	0.078 (0.442)	0.102 (0.274)	0.101 (0.279)	0.087 (0.544)	0.087 (0.544)	0.087 (0.544)	0.088 (0.542)	0.088 (0.542)	0.386 (0.024)	0.386 (0.024)	0.386 (0.025)	0.386 (0.024)	0.386 (0.024)	0.386 (0.024)	0.386 (0.025)
In(number of medallion transfers)	0.052 (0.567)	0.054 (0.557)	0.052 (0.567)	0.054 (0.557)	0.003 (0.882)	0.003 (0.882)	0.015 (0.380)	0.015 (0.387)	0.015 (0.387)	0.015 (0.387)	0.015 (0.387)	0.015 (0.387)	0.015 (0.387)	0.042 (0.164)	0.042 (0.164)	0.042 (0.169)	0.042 (0.164)	0.042 (0.164)	0.042 (0.164)	0.042 (0.169)
In(average high temperature)	0.020 (0.745)	0.039 (0.838)	0.065 (0.735)	0.053 (0.783)	-0.033 (0.385)	-0.049 (0.231)	-0.063* (0.090)	-0.062* (0.087)	-0.070 (0.193)	-0.063 (0.271)	-0.069 (0.234)	-0.066 (0.256)	-0.066 (0.268)	0.056 (0.346)	0.072 (0.268)	0.072 (0.274)	0.056 (0.346)	0.072 (0.268)	0.072 (0.274)	0.084 (0.201)
In(average precipitation)	0.112 (0.325)	0.052 (0.474)	0.052 (0.474)	0.052 (0.474)	0.052 (0.474)	0.038 (0.620)	0.041 (0.595)	0.037 (0.631)	-0.151 (0.143)	-0.159 (0.143)	-0.152 (0.164)	-0.156 (0.164)	-0.156 (0.164)	0.112 (0.325)	0.077 (0.529)	0.081 (0.516)	0.112 (0.325)	0.077 (0.529)	0.081 (0.516)	0.083 (0.611)
Week and year fixed effects included in all f
Constant	0.336 (0.131)	5.204 (0.354)	0.540 (0.454)	5.146 (0.360)	2.624 (0.000)	1.742 (0.141)	2.014* (0.063)	3.152 (0.000)	1.759 (0.000)	0.829 (0.620)	1.855 (0.000)	0.843 (0.615)	0.843 (0.615)	0.089 (0.679)	-4.134 (0.030)	0.032 (0.885)	0.089 (0.679)	-4.134 (0.030)	0.032 (0.885)	-4.193 (0.027)
Observations	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305	364	305	305	305
R-squared	0.495	0.496	0.485	0.487	0.402	0.309	0.307	0.309	0.382	0.410	0.409	0.412	0.385	0.407	0.406	0.407	0.191	0.226	0.191	0.232

pval in parentheses

*** p<0.01, ** p<0.05, * p<0.1

Discussion and Conclusion

The results from New York City and Chicago are consistent with the idea that taxis respond to new competition by improving quality. In New York, Uber's rise is associated with decreases in per-trip complaints to the city. We know from Beard, et al (2015) that competition causes some people to switch companies instead of complain.<sup>40</sup> Some of the decrease in complaints, then, is surely because people who would have complained without a taxi competitor chose to switch rather than bother filing a complaint. But we also know from Beard, et al and Forbes (2008) that complaints are correlated with quality,<sup>41</sup> implying that the results are not inconsistent with an increase in taxi quality.

The analysis of Chicago data adds evidence that Uber has caused cabs to improve quality. In particular, in Chicago the data suggest that complaints about things a driver might do to affect quality—use of air conditioning, “broken” credit card machines, rudeness, and talking on cell phones—all seem to have decreased along with Uber's rise. Sometimes credit card machines are “broken” (i.e., the driver refuses to use it) and sometimes they are really broken. A decrease in complaints about credit card machines could reflect better maintenance, better behavior, or both. At the same time, complaints about cabs cutting in line, overcharging, and taking long routes do not appear correlated with Uber's rise.

To be sure, this analysis has shortcomings. As discussed above, the data on Uber are not actual measurements of Uber use. They are data on the prevalence of Google searches for “Uber” in New York and Chicago. Because it is a search index rather than a measure of the number of Uber trips, it is impossible to move the analysis beyond “asterisk economics.”<sup>42</sup>

In other words, do these correlations translate into economically meaningful effects? News reports suggest that taxi drivers want to compete with Uber. Long Beach, CA, for example, decided to allow cabs to offer variable fares to compete with Uber.<sup>43</sup> If drivers are willing to reduce prices to compete, it seems possible that they would also make changes that are relatively costless. While the lack of repeat business in the same taxi might reduce the benefits to a driver of better behavior, he might still benefit from higher tips and lower likelihood of complaints.

Even with its limitations, this analysis begins to shed empirical light on the competitive effects of the sharing economy, demonstrating that benefit may accrue not just to those who avail themselves of new options, like ride-sharing, but also to those who stick with traditional providers. Hopefully future research can move beyond these correlations and begin to quantify the effects.

---

<sup>40</sup> Beard, Macher, and Mayo, “‘Can You Hear Me Now?’ Exit, Voice and Loyalty under Increasing Competition.”

<sup>41</sup> Forbes, “The Effect of Service Quality and Expectations on Customer Complaints.”

<sup>42</sup> The phrase “asterisk economics” was coined by Ziliak and McCloskey (2004) to indicate research that focuses on statistical significance at the expense of economic significance. Stephen T. Ziliak and Deirdre N. McCloskey, “Size Matters: The Standard Error of Regressions in the American Economic Review,” The Journal of Socio-Economics 33, no. 5 (November 2004): 527–46, doi:10.1016/j.socec.2004.09.024.

<sup>43</sup> Laura J. Nelson, “Long Beach Allows Taxis to Lower Fares as They Compete with Uber, Lyft,” The Los Angeles Times, May 14, 2015, <http://www.latimes.com/local/california/la-me-long-beach-uber-20150514-story.html>.

Bibliography

- Beard, Randolph T., Jeffrey T. Macher, and John W. Mayo. "Can You Hear Me Now? Exit, Voice and Loyalty under Increasing Competition," February 2015.
- Bresnahan, Timothy F, and Robert J Gordon. The Economics of New Goods. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1997. <http://site.ebrary.com/id/10230044>.
- Cannon, Sarah, and Lawrence Summers. "How Uber and the Sharing Economy Can Win Over Regulators." Harvard Business Review, October 13, 2014. <https://hbr.org/2014/10/how-uber-and-the-sharing-economy-can-win-over-regulators/>.
- Choi, Hyunyoung, and Hal Varian. "Predicting the Present with Google Trends." Economic Record 88 (June 2012): 2–9. doi:10.1111/j.1475-4932.2012.00809.x.
- Choi, Hyunyoung, and Hal R. Varian. "Predicting the Present with Google Trends," April 10, 2009. http://static.googleusercontent.com/media/www.google.com/en/us/googleblogs/pdfs/google\_predicting\_the\_present.pdf.
- Forbes, Silke J. "The Effect of Service Quality and Expectations on Customer Complaints." The Journal of Industrial Economics 56, no. 1 (March 1, 2008): 190–213. doi:10.2307/25483403.
- Frankena, Mark W., and Paul A. Pautler. "An Economic Analysis of Taxicab Regulation." Bureau of Economics Staff Report. Federal Trade Commission, May 1984. <https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/documents/reports/economic-analysis-taxicab-regulation/233832.pdf>.
- Hall, Jonathan V., and Alan B. Krueger. "An Analysis of the Labor Market for Uber's Driver-Partners in the United States." Uber, January 22, 2015. https://s3.amazonaws.com/uber-static/comms/PDF/Uber\_Driver-Partners\_Hall\_Kreuger\_2015.pdf.
- Nelson, Laura J. "Long Beach Allows Taxis to Lower Fares as They Compete with Uber, Lyft." The Los Angeles Times, May 14, 2015. <http://www.latimes.com/local/california/la-me-long-beach-uber-20150514-story.html>.
- Salnikov, Vsevolod, Renaud Lambiotte, Noulas Anastasios, and Mascolo Cecilia. "OpenStreetCab: Exploiting Taxi Mobility Patterns in New York City to Reduce Commuter Costs," March 10, 2015.
- Wu, Lyn, and Erik Brynjolfsson. "The Future of Prediction: How Google Searches Foreshadow Housing Prices and Sales." In Economic Analysis of the Digital Economy, edited by Avi Goldfarb, Shane Greenstein, and Catherine Tucker, 2015.
- Zervas, Georgios, Davide Proserpio, and John Byers. "The Rise of the Sharing Economy: Estimating the Impact of Airbnb on the Hotel Industry," February 12, 2015. <http://ssrn.com/abstract=2366898>.

Ziliak, Stephen T., and Deirdre N. McCloskey. "Size Matters: The Standard Error of Regressions in the American Economic Review." The Journal of Socio-Economics 33, no. 5 (November 2004): 527–46. doi:10.1016/j.socec.2004.09.024.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

Office of Policy Planning
Bureau of Competition
Bureau of Economics

April 15, 2014

Mr. Brendan Reilly
Alderman – 42nd Ward
City Council
City of Chicago
City Hall – Room 200
121 North LaSalle Street
Chicago, IL 60602

Re: Proposed Ordinance O2014-1367

Dear Alderman Reilly:

The staffs of the Federal Trade Commission’s Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, and Bureau of Economics<sup>1</sup> appreciate this opportunity to provide comments to you regarding proposed Ordinance O2014-1367 (“the ordinance”), in response to your request for an assessment of the ordinance’s possible effects on competition.

Proposed Ordinance O2014-1367 would amend Title 9 of the Municipal Code of Chicago by adding a new Chapter 9-115 to establish a regulatory framework that would provide for the licensing and operation of transportation network providers (“TNPs”), particularly new software applications (“applications”) that are used by consumers to arrange for passenger motor vehicle transportation services using personal vehicles. Staff appreciates that these updates to Title 9 appear designed to facilitate these new forms of competition that are likely to benefit consumers. We are concerned, however, that certain provisions of the ordinance may unnecessarily impede competition from these services, limiting the consumer benefits that such services might otherwise generate. These provisions are discussed in greater detail, below.

I. Interest and Experience of the FTC

The FTC is an independent federal agency that enforces laws prohibiting unfair methods of competition and unfair and deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce.<sup>2</sup> The Commission has wide-ranging responsibilities concerning nearly all segments of the economy. Pursuant to this responsibility, the Commission seeks to identify business practices and regulations that impede competition without offering countervailing benefits to consumers, and advocates for policies that promote competition and consumer protection.<sup>3</sup>

Consumers benefit from market competition in a variety of ways. As the U.S. Supreme Court has recognized, the benefits of competition not only include lower prices, but go beyond as well: “The assumption that competition is the best method of allocating resources in a free market recognizes that all elements of a bargain—quality, service, safety, and durability—and not just the immediate cost, are favorably affected by the free opportunity to select among alternative offers.”<sup>4</sup> The competitive process also creates incentives for producers to be innovative and responsive to consumer preferences with respect to the design and characteristics of products and services, and the business models used to deliver them.

In carrying out its mission, the Commission has developed considerable expertise in analyzing passenger motor vehicle transportation services. FTC staff previously has submitted a number of advocacy filings related to taxicabs with various local and state authorities, including recent comments regarding the regulation of new applications for obtaining passenger vehicle transportation services in the District of Columbia, Anchorage, Alaska, and Colorado.<sup>5</sup> In addition, the FTC has brought antitrust enforcement actions against two cities relating to taxicab regulation,<sup>6</sup> and has issued two significant reports on taxi regulation.<sup>7</sup> The Commission is also knowledgeable in various aspects of competition and consumer protection that are relevant to new passenger motor vehicle transportation applications. For example, the Commission has developed considerable expertise relating to the emergence of new technologies and innovation as a form of competition.<sup>8</sup> Staff has recently updated guidance on how to make effective disclosures in the online context.<sup>9</sup> The Commission has also developed consumer protection expertise in data security, privacy, and identity theft issues that applications may raise.<sup>10</sup>

II. The Passenger Motor Vehicle Transportation Marketplace

The marketplace for commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services in the United States remained largely unchanged for decades until the arrival of the smartphone in 2007.<sup>11</sup> Historically, commercial services included: cruising taxis that respond to street hails, taxis that wait for riders at taxi stands, radio-dispatched taxis, prearranged limousine and sedan-type vehicle service, and jitney-type service. These services were regulated at the state and local level under a framework that also remained largely unchanged. Common regulatory features included: licensing requirements, formal classifications for various vehicle and service types; entry restrictions such as taxi medallion systems or requirements that new entrants demonstrate a need for service; fare regulation; prescribed methods of calculating fares and fare information; minimum fares and prearrangement requirements for limousines and sedans; safety and liability issues; and handicapped access, universal service, and non-discrimination requirements.

More recently, in response to the introduction of smartphones around 2007, both incumbent passenger motor vehicle transportation service providers and other entrepreneurs have introduced software applications, sometimes also called digital dispatch services, which allow consumers to arrange and pay for passenger motor vehicle transportation services in a variety of ways.<sup>12</sup> These software applications may make use of technologies such as mobile smartphone applications, Internet web pages, email messages, and text messages.

These innovative software applications can spur competition by providing consumers with new ways to more easily locate, arrange, and pay for passenger motor vehicle transportation services, as compared to traditional methods such as street hails or prearrangement by telephone through traditional service dispatchers.<sup>13</sup> For example, some applications use the Global Positioning System (“GPS”) technology incorporated into smartphones to enable consumers to locate nearby vehicles and track their arrival on an electronic map, thus facilitating matching between customers and service.<sup>14</sup> Some applications also utilize the GPS and computing capabilities of smartphones to enable new methods of fare calculation based on one or more factors, such as distance, time, per trip fees, real-time demand conditions, additional services, or gratuities, which the application can then charge to a credit card on file with the application.<sup>15</sup> Such applications may also use third-party credit card processing and electronic receipts, in lieu of non-electronic payment methods and paper receipts.<sup>16</sup>

These technologies and new methods appear to be responsive to consumer demand, and also may promote a more efficient allocation of resources (e.g., vehicles and drivers) to consumers, help to meet unmet demand for passenger motor vehicle transportation services, and improve service in traditionally underserved areas.<sup>17</sup> They also may reduce consumers’ transaction costs in arranging and paying for such services. At the very least, these technologies and methods provide consumers new alternatives to street hailing or telephoning for service.<sup>18</sup>

In addition to applications that facilitate the arrangement of passenger motor vehicle transportation services using commercially licensed vehicles and drivers, another model has emerged that allows consumers to arrange, and in some instances pay for or otherwise provide money in connection with, transportation provided by drivers operating their own personal vehicles. This model is sometimes referred to as being an application-based variant of traditional “ridesharing” arrangements or as being a “peer-to-peer” (“P2P”) form of transportation.<sup>19</sup>

Software applications that facilitate using personal automobiles to provide transportation services to the public may provide consumers with expanded transportation options, at potentially lower prices, thereby better satisfying consumer demand, and potentially increasing competition and promoting a more economically efficient use of personal vehicles. Staff understands, however, that such applications may raise issues for policymakers not previously addressed in connection with applications that facilitate the use of commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation service. While these concerns may provide grounds for some regulations to protect consumers, as we discuss below, we encourage the City Council to carefully consider the potential competitive effects of such regulations as well as the justifications being urged to support them.

III. General Principles for Regulating Evolving Industries

Transportation services facilitated by software applications and provided by individuals using their personal vehicles appear to be a new phenomenon that lies outside most existing regulatory schemes. The initial question for regulators, therefore, is whether there is a public policy justification for regulating them at all, either through entirely new regulatory mechanisms or expansion of current systems for regulating commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services. Unregulated markets can be adept at accommodating new and innovative forms of competition, whereas traditional regulatory frameworks may lack the flexibility to do so precisely because they tend to mirror, and even entrench, the business models that have developed in the past.

Regulatory frameworks, when needed, should be flexible enough to allow new and innovative forms of competition. Unless regulation is necessary to achieve some legitimate public interest, markets should be left unfettered to permit competition to flourish. Consumers benefit from competition between traditional and new products and services, and from new business models and methods of delivering services. It is advisable, therefore, that laws and regulations be reviewed and revised periodically to facilitate and encourage the emergence of new forms of competition, sometimes through deregulation and other times through the development of new and adaptive regulations.

As with software applications that facilitate commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services, any regulations directed at TNP services should focus primarily on ensuring the safety of customers and drivers, deterring deceptive practices relating to fares, safety and liability, and other terms of use, and addressing other consumer protection issues, especially data security and the prevention of identity theft. These might include provisions that relate to ensuring qualified drivers, safe and clean vehicles, sufficient liability insurance, transparency of fare information, and compliance with other applicable laws. Regulations should not in purpose or effect favor one group of competitors over another or impose unnecessary burdens on applications or drivers that impede their ability to compete without any justification that benefits the public interest.

Staff notes that the ordinance, in principle, provides a pathway to facilitate and promote transportation services using personal vehicles that consumers appear to be demanding and therefore will promote competition. We respectfully suggest, however, that the Chicago City Council carefully consider the potential direct and indirect impacts on competition of some of the proposed ordinance's provisions. Unwarranted restrictions on competition will undermine the potential benefits of the ordinance and should be avoided. Any restrictions on competition that are implemented should be no broader than necessary to address legitimate subjects of regulation, such as safety and consumer protection, and narrowly crafted to minimize any potential anticompetitive impact.

IV. The Proposed Ordinance

Proposed Ordinance O2014-1367 would amend Title 9 by adding a new Chapter 9-115 to establish a license for transportation network providers. Among other things, the ordinance would: require that TNPs meet certain qualifications and maintain certain insurance; set out certain standards for drivers, vehicles, and operation; establish certain pricing parameters and recordkeeping and reporting requirements; and limit transportation network service to prearranged service. It would also prohibit pick-ups and drop-offs in certain airport and convention center areas.

Staff appreciates that by providing for the legal recognition of new software applications to arrange and pay for passenger motor vehicle transportation services using personal vehicles, some of the proposed updates to Title 9 are likely to benefit consumers.<sup>20</sup> However, certain provisions, highlighted and analyzed below, may unnecessarily impede competition in these services without providing any apparent consumer protection benefits.<sup>21</sup>

A. TNP License Fee

Proposed Chapter 9-115-030 would require an annual fee for a non-transferable TNP license of $25,000, plus $25 for each affiliated driver. These fees would impose an additional cost not currently borne by the TNPs. Although the annual fee may not be substantial enough to inhibit or deter well-established and successful TNPs, it will still raise their costs of operation, and may prove to be a barrier to the entry or expansion of new TNPs. If TNPs, especially smaller start-up TNPs having relatively fewer affiliated drivers, such as a potential local area-only start-up, are forced to incur higher costs than other business models, such costs may put them at a competitive disadvantage. By contrast, an annual taxicab affiliation license fee is only $500, plus $15 for each affiliated licensee, and an annual taxicab two-way dispatch license fee is an additional $500.<sup>22</sup> In either event, these costs may also be passed on to consumers. In addition, because the TNPs typically seek to operate in many jurisdictions—a characteristic that can make them attractive to some consumers—the fees could, if replicated elsewhere, collectively become a substantial barrier to entry and operation, even for more well-established and successful TNPs.

Staff, therefore, recommends that the Chicago City Council carefully consider the justification for and effect of these fees on TNPs and competition. If some fee is deemed necessary to cover the costs of administering a regulatory framework for TNPs or for some other public purpose, staff recommends that such fees should be no greater than necessary to cover such costs; staff recommends that any fees should be structured in a way that avoids unnecessarily inhibiting or deterring new entry or further expansion into the marketplace.

B. Pricing

Variation in pricing models has been one of the most innovative and defining characteristics of software-based applications for arranging transportation services. Instead of leaving the method of calculating fees to the TNPs, however, proposed Chapter 9-115-170 would permit TNPs to calculate fees for transportation network services in only three ways: (1) distance travelled or time elapsed during service, (2) a flat prearranged fare, or (3) a suggested donation. This specification of fee structures seems overbroad and likely to restrict one of the most important competitive tools of the applications. It would also specifically prohibit fares using a combination of distance and time, which might potentially benefit consumers and competition. More broadly, it locks in specific fee structures, precluding future evolution of new or different methods of calculating value for services using personal vehicles.

In addition, proposed Chapter 9-115-170 does not expressly recognize or permit demand-based pricing. Demand pricing is a mechanism by which resources are allocated to their most highly valued consumer uses. Demand pricing directly responds to the level of consumer demand: when demand increases, prices increase and when demand falls, prices fall. It can be an efficient way to allocate resources (e.g., vehicles and drivers) to consumers, particularly during times of peak demand (e.g., during particular times of day, periods of traffic congestion, around the time of special events), because it provides incentives for increased supply to serve increased demand.<sup>23</sup> Demand pricing also may result in lower fares during off-peak times, which may potentially result in an overall increase in the quantity of service utilized by consumers. Demand based pricing, therefore, can be more responsive to consumer preferences than fixed pricing models.

Staff recommends that, absent some specific evidence that a particular pricing model will harm consumers, the ordinance should clearly allow for greater flexibility and experimentation in structuring fees in order to facilitate innovative forms of pricing that may benefit consumers.<sup>24</sup> To the extent that evidence of such harm is received, any restriction designed to address that harm should be narrowly crafted to minimize its anticompetitive impact.<sup>25</sup>

C. Insurance Requirements

Proposed Chapter 9-115-080 would require each TNP to have commercial general liability insurance with coverage of at least $1,000,000 per occurrence for bodily injury, personal injury, and property damage, and also commercial automobile liability insurance with a combined single limit for bodily injury and property damage of at least $1,000,000 per occurrence. By contrast, current Chapter 9-112-330 only requires taxicab licensees to have public liability insurance with at least $350,000 combined single limit coverage per occurrence. Current Chapter 9-114-170 requires that public passenger vehicles, other than taxicabs, have public liability insurance with combined single limit per occurrence coverage of at least $100,000 for jitney car service vehicles with up to eight seats, and at least $350,000 for other vehicles with up to ten seats.

Requiring TNPs to incur the likely higher costs associated with increased levels of insurance coverage may put them at a competitive disadvantage versus other business models.<sup>26</sup> This differential in the requirements for insurance coverage might be appropriate if there is evidence that TNP services involve a higher degree of risk for consumers. Absent such evidence, however, requiring TNPs to carry greater and likely more expensive levels of insurance coverage than other service providers will likely harm competition, increase costs for consumers, and provide no public benefit. If the risks associated with similar types of passenger motor vehicle service are comparable, then, from a competition perspective, insurance requirements should also be comparable across those types of service.

D. Airport and Convention Center Pick-ups and Drop-offs

Proposed Chapter 9-115-160(b) would prohibit transportation network drivers from picking up or dropping off a passenger at O'Hare International Airport, Midway International Airport, or McCormick Place convention center, areas where consumers may frequently demand service. Such a blanket prohibition eliminates even the possibility that TNP services can compete with other types of passenger transportation services at these locations. As with the ordinance's restrictions on pricing and insurance, absent some specific evidence that the presence of transportation network vehicles in proximity to these areas will harm consumers, this change should not be adopted. To the extent that there may be concerns about potential queue problems or congestion issues in certain areas, staff recommend considering a less restrictive means to deal with these problems.<sup>27</sup>

Staff is aware that issues have sometimes arisen regarding the regulation of commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services at these kinds of locations, as in the case of first-in first-out taxicab queues at airport, rail station, or downtown taxicab stand areas.<sup>28</sup> But these problems alone do not appear to support the proposed restrictions. Generally, there are likely to be more passenger transportation vehicles in particular areas only if there is demand for such vehicles in those areas, especially if service has been specifically prearranged by consumers. Staff also notes that similar restrictions do not appear to be in place for other types of prearranged services (e.g., livery service). Also, passenger motor vehicle transportation services can potentially reduce traffic congestion because increased use of those services can mean reduced use of automobiles, especially in downtown and other densely populated areas. Consequently, absent evidence of queue problems or congestion issues unique to TNPs, unnecessarily restricting the ways that consumers can receive TNP services at these locations does not appear to be warranted.

E. Records and Data Collection

Proposed Chapter 9-115-180 would require TNPs to maintain operations records for at least three years and make them available to the city's commissioner of business affairs and consumer protection. It would also require them to provide certain customer, driver, and trip data, including real-time trip data (e.g., driver identity, GPS location data, and whether the driver is engaged with a passenger), to the commissioner at such times and in a format and manner prescribed by regulation.

As a preliminary matter, the City Council might consider whether this information is needed and, if so, for what purposes. In particular, the City Council should consider if there is any justification for establishing different data collection requirements for TNPs and other types of passenger motor vehicle transportation services.<sup>29</sup> Data collection and reporting requirements can impose significant costs on TNPs and the commissioner should carefully evaluate the costs and benefits of specific requirements, as well as the availability of less burdensome means of serving any public purpose.

Staff recognizes that the city may want to collect and make available to consumers certain information relating to safety and availability of service. But staff cautions against otherwise publicly disclosing or sharing other operational information, such as real-time trip data, among competitors involved in facilitating or supplying passenger vehicle transportation services, including TNPs and drivers, and other types of vehicle operators and vehicle fleets or associations. If shared, this sort of data might compromise proprietary business strategies and facilitate tacit or explicit collusion among competing service providers. Such collusion would harm consumers through, for example, higher prices, decreased output, decreased quality, or reduced innovation.<sup>30</sup> Any such information, therefore, should be treated as confidential business information.

F. TNP Business Relationships Related to Vehicles

Proposed Chapter 9-115-090(a) would prohibit TNPs from owning transportation network vehicles, providing financing for the obtaining, leasing, or ownership of such vehicles, or having a beneficial interest in such vehicles. There does not appear to be any pro-competitive or pro-consumer rationale to support this sweeping prohibition. To the contrary, the logical and predictable consequence of it will be to constrain the development of TNP service to the detriment of competition and consumers.

Although staff is unaware of any TNPs that currently have these types of relationships relating to personal vehicles, it is conceivable that such business models might develop in the future (e.g., to facilitate the ability of drivers to get access to vehicles that can be used in passenger motor vehicle transportation service). Staff, therefore, strongly cautions against unnecessarily inhibiting new methods or models of doing business, such as those involving integration or other business relationships between TNPs, vehicles, and drivers.

G. Vehicle Advertising

Proposed 9-115-120 would prohibit transportation network vehicles from displaying commercial advertisements on either the exterior or interior of the vehicle. As with the blanket prohibition on various kinds of integrative relationships between TNPs and vehicles, there does not appear to be any pro-competitive or pro-consumer rationale to support this sweeping prohibition. To the contrary, the logical and predictable consequence of it will be to limit the sources of income to TNPs and TNP drivers and constrain the development of TNPs to the detriment of competition and consumers. Staff notes that advertising is presently permitted for taxis and charter-sightseeing vehicles, subject to approval by the commissioner based on certain criteria and a one-year permit fee, under Chapters 9-112-410 and 9-114-330. Staff, therefore, cautions against unnecessarily inhibiting new methods or models of doing business, such as those involving external advertising (e.g., magnetic signage or other exterior advertising) or interior advertising (e.g., interior signage or audio-visual equipment). Any restrictions on advertising should be narrowly drawn.<sup>31</sup>

V. Conclusion

FTC staff appreciates this opportunity to provide views in regard to this matter and would be happy to address any questions you may have regarding competition policy in the passenger motor vehicle transportation marketplace.

Respectfully submitted,

Andrew I. Gavil, Director
Office of Policy Planning

Deborah L. Feinstein, Director
Bureau of Competition

Martin S. Gaynor, Director
Bureau of Economics

---

<sup>1</sup> This staff letter expresses the views of the Federal Trade Commission’s Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, and Bureau of Economics. The letter does not necessarily represent the views of the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC” or “Commission”) or of any individual Commissioner. The Commission has, however, voted to authorize staff to submit these comments.

<sup>2</sup> Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45.

<sup>3</sup> Specific statutory authority for the FTC’s competition advocacy program is found in Sections 6(a) and (f) of the FTC Act, under which Congress authorized the FTC “[t]o gather and compile information concerning, and to investigate from time to time the organization, business, conduct, practices, and management of any person, partnership, or corporation engaged in or whose business affects commerce,” and “[t]o make public from time to time such portions of the information obtained by it hereunder as are in the public interest . . .” 15 U.S.C. § 46(a), (f).

<sup>4</sup> Nat’l Soc’y of Prof’l Eng’rs v. United States, 435 U.S. 679, 695 (1978); accord FTC v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass’n, 493 U.S. 411, 423 (1990).

<sup>5</sup> FTC Staff Comments Before the District of Columbia Taxicab Commission Regarding Second Proposed Rulemakings Regarding Chs. 12, 14, and 16 of Title 31 (June 7, 2013) (“D.C. Letter”), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2013/06/ftc-staff-comments-district-columbia-taxicab>; FTC Staff Comments to the Honorable Debbie Ossiander Concerning AO NO. 2013-36 Regarding the Regulatory Framework for the Licensing and Permitting of Taxicabs, Limousines, and Other Vehicles for Hire in Anchorage, Alaska (Apr. 19, 2013), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2013/04/ftc-staff-comment-anchorage-assembly-member-debbie>; FTC Staff Comments Before the Colorado Public Utilities Commission In The Matter of The Proposed Rules Regulating Transportation By Motor Vehicle, 4 Code of Colorado Regulations 723-6 (Mar. 6, 2013) (“Colorado Letter”), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2013/03/ftc-staff-comment-colorado-public-utilities>.

<sup>6</sup> The FTC sued the cities of New Orleans and Minneapolis in 1984, charging both cities with unfair competition by combining with taxicab operators to impose regulations that limited the number of taxicab licenses, increased fares, and eliminated competition in violation of the federal antitrust laws. The complaint against Minneapolis was withdrawn after the city revised its ordinance to permit more competition. The complaint against New Orleans also was withdrawn after the state authorized the conduct in question by a new law. See generally FTC, 1985 ANNUAL REPORT 5 (1985), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/reports/annual-report-1985>.

<sup>7</sup> ORGANISATION FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AND DEVELOPMENT (“OECD”), DIRECTORATE FOR FINANCIAL AND ENTERPRISE AFFAIRS, COMPETITION COMMITTEE WORKING PARTY NO. 2 ON COMPETITION AND REGULATION, TAXI SERVICES REGULATION AND COMPETITION 199-210 (Sept. 11, 2008) (submission of the United States), available at <http://www.oecd.org/regreform/sectors/41472612.pdf>; MARK W. FRANKENA & PAUL A. PAUTLER, AN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS OF TAXICAB REGULATION (1984) (FTC Bureau of Economics Staff Report), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/documents/reports/economic-analysis-taxicab-regulation/233832.pdf>.

<sup>8</sup> See generally U.S. DEP’T OF JUSTICE & FTC, ANTITRUST ENFORCEMENT AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS: PROMOTING INNOVATION AND COMPETITION (2007),

---

available at <http://www.ftc.gov/reports/antitrust-enforcement-intellectual-property-rights-promoting-innovation-competition-report>; FTC, TO PROMOTE INNOVATION: THE PROPER BALANCE OF COMPETITION AND PATENT LAW AND POL'Y (2003), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/documents/reports/promote-innovation-proper-balance-competition-and-patent-law-and-policy/innovationrpt.pdf>; FTC STAFF, ANTICIPATING THE 21st CENTURY: COMPETITION POL'Y IN THE NEW HIGH-TECH, GLOBAL MARKETPLACE (1996), available at http://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/reports/anticipating-21st-century-competition-policy-new-high-tech-global-marketplace/gc\_v1.pdf; and FTC STAFF, ANTICIPATING THE 21st CENTURY: CONSUMER PROTECTION POL'Y IN THE NEW HIGH-TECH, GLOBAL MARKETPLACE (1996), available at http://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/reports/anticipating-21st-century-competition-policy-new-high-tech-global-marketplace/gc\_v2.pdf.

<sup>9</sup> FTC STAFF, .COM DISCLOSURES: HOW TO MAKE EFFECTIVE DISCLOSURES IN DIGITAL ADVERTISING (2013), available at http://ftc.gov/os/2013/03/130312\_dotcomdisclosures.pdf.

<sup>10</sup> See FTC STAFF, MOBILE PRIVACY DISCLOSURES: BUILDING TRUST THROUGH TRANSPARENCY (2013), available at http://www.ftc.gov/os/2013/02/130201\_mobileprivacyreport.pdf.

<sup>11</sup> OECD Submission, supra note 7, at 200 (“As of 2007, the general description of the taxicab industry and taxicab regulation in the United States remains much as it was when Frankena and Pautler described it in 1984. That is, nothing dramatic has happened to alter the U.S. industry in the interim.”).

<sup>12</sup> See generally Lauren Goode, Worth It? An App to Get a Cab, WALL STREET J., June 17, 2011, available at <http://blogs.wsj.com/digits/2011/06/17/worth-it-an-app-to-get-a-cab/>.

<sup>13</sup> See generally id.

<sup>14</sup> See generally id.

<sup>15</sup> See generally Michael B. Farrell, Taxi app Hailo to expand service, BOSTON GLOBE, Feb. 5, 2013, available at <http://www.bostonglobe.com> (discussing booking fees, service fees, and gratuities); Brian X. Chen, Uber, an App That Summons a Car, Plans a Cheaper Service Using Hybrids, N.Y. TIMES, July 1, 2012, available at <http://www.nytimes.com> (discussing charging by time, distance, consumer demand, and gratuities).

<sup>16</sup> See generally Goode, supra note 12.

<sup>17</sup> See generally NEW YORK CITY TAXI & LIMOUSINE COMM'N, PRESENTATION, E-HAIL PILOT PROGRAM (Dec. 31, 2013) (second quarter assessment of the city's e-hail pilot program for regulated yellow taxicabs), available at http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/ehail\_q2\_report\_final.pdf.

<sup>18</sup> See generally id. at 8-9.

<sup>19</sup> This model is one example of the larger recent phenomena of the still developing “sharing economy” in which individuals may exchange or “share” goods and services using

---

Internet-enabled communications technologies in ways that were previously impractical. Other examples include: car-sharing, parking space rentals, boat rentals, rentals of personal homes and apartments, dog kennel services, and the rental of personal goods. See generally ECONOMIST, All eyes on the sharing economy, Mar. 9, 2013 (Technology Quarterly: Q1 2013), available at <http://www.economist.com/news/technology-quarterly/21572914-collaborative-consumption-technology-makes-it-easier-people-rent-items>.

<sup>20</sup> Proposed 9-115-090(c) states that “No vehicle licensed as a taxi or public transportation vehicle in any jurisdiction shall be operated as a transportation network vehicle.”

<sup>21</sup> In addition to the provisions discussed in the body of this letter, staff also notes that under proposed amended Chapter 3-46-050 A.-B., TNPs, transportation network drivers, and transportation network vehicles would not be exempt from Chicago’s Motor Vehicle Lessor Tax and Personal Property Lease Transaction Tax, as are, respectively, other lessors or lessees of a ground transportation vehicle and persons leasing a ground transportation vehicle from a license holder. This differential tax treatment may put TNPs at a competitive disadvantage, versus other vehicle types. See generally infra note 26 and related text.

Likewise, under proposed amended Chapter 3-46-065 C., transportation network vehicle owners could not claim a tax credit for providing service to or from designated underserved areas, as can other ground transportation vehicle license holders. Such an exclusion may put TNPs at a competitive disadvantage in serving underserved areas. See generally id. Such an exclusion could also reduce the economic incentives of TNPs to provide service in underserved areas, generally. As noted above, applications may promote passenger motor vehicle transportation service to traditionally underserved areas. See NEW YORK CITY TAXI & LIMOUSINE COMM’N, supra note 17, at 10 (“E-Hail Apps are having the greatest effect on passengers and drivers in places that tend to be underserved by taxis.”). Staff, therefore, recommends that the Chicago City Council carefully consider the implications of excluding TNPs from receiving a tax credit for the provision of passenger motor vehicle transportation service in underserved areas.

<sup>22</sup> Municipal Code of Chicago Ch. 9-112-340(l) and Ch. 9-112-550(b). In addition, a one-year taxicab medallion license issuance or renewal fee for taxicabs that are not wheelchair accessible is $600 and a one-year taxicab medallion license issuance or renewal fee for wheelchair accessible taxicabs is $500. Id. at Ch. 9-112-150(a)(i)-(ii). The annual fees for passenger vehicles other than taxicabs are $500 for a livery vehicle; $500 for a charter/sightseeing vehicle; $500 for a medical earner; and $250 for jitney car service. Id. at Ch. 9-114-070.

<sup>23</sup> See generally ROBERT H. FRANK, MICROECONOMICS AND BEHAVIOR 37 (8th ed. 2010).

<sup>24</sup> Pricing practices should be truthful and non-deceptive, in order for the passenger motor vehicle transportation marketplace to function efficiently. See generally D.C. Letter, supra note 5, at 7-8 & nn.28-29 and Colorado Letter, supra note 5, at 4 & nn.17-18.

<sup>25</sup> For example, if there is evidence that consumers do not understand or are confused by alternative methods of calculating payments, the City Council could consider requiring better disclosures in lieu of fixing and limiting the range of permissible payment methods.

<sup>26</sup> See generally Steven C. Salop & David T. Scheffman, Cost-Raising Strategies, 36 J. INDUS. ECON. 19 (1987); Thomas G. Krattenmaker & Steven C. Salop, Anticompetitive

---

Exclusion: Raising Rivals' Costs to Achieve Power over Price, 96 YALE L. J. 209 (1986); Steven C. Salop & David T. Scheffman, Raising Rivals' Costs, 73 AM. ECON. REV. 267 (1983).

<sup>27</sup> Consumers appear to be better off when regulators pursue alternatives for such locations that are less restrictive, such as redesigning taxicab stands, increasing taxicab line user fees, or entering into contracts with operators. OECD Submission, supra note 7, at 204-05; Staff Report, supra note 7, at 1, 50-51, 123-24, 156.

<sup>28</sup> It appears that in some cases first-in first-out taxicab queues have inhibited price competition, that drivers sometimes bickered over their places in line as queues of waiting cabs lengthened, and that drivers also sometimes refused service to passengers wanting only a short trip. OECD Submission, supra note 7, at 200; Staff Report, supra note 7, at 1, 50-51, 123-24, 156.

<sup>29</sup> Compare Proposed Chapter 9-115-180, with current Municipal Code of Chicago Chapter 9-112-210 (“Duty to maintain real time records as to a chauffeur operating a taxicab”) (requiring licensees to maintain real-time chauffeur identity data, and produce to the commissioner upon request information and data regarding which chauffeur is operating a particular taxicab on any given date and time, and that taxicab medallion holders implement processes to enable the commissioner to access real-time data on chauffeur identity and the taxicab’s location).

<sup>30</sup> See generally D.C. Letter, supra note 5, at 6-7. See also FTC Comments Before the Environmental Protection Agency Concerning Proposed Confidentiality Determinations for Data Required Under the Mandatory Greenhouse Gas Reporting Rule and Proposed Amendment to Special Rules Governing Certain Information Obtained Under the Clean Air Act (Sept. 30, 2010), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2010/09/ftc-comment-environmental-protection-agency> (discussing a proposed EPA rule concerning the confidentiality of data submitted under EPA’s Greenhouse Gas Reporting Rule).

<sup>31</sup> Because Proposed 9-115-120 would implement certain restrictions on commercial speech, it may also raise First Amendment issues. See generally Central Hudson Gas & Elec. Corp. v. Pub. Serv. Comm’n of New York, 447 U.S. 557 (1980) (articulating four-part test for evaluating whether government restrictions on commercial speech are constitutional).

Office of Policy Planning
Bureau of Competition
Bureau of Consumer Protection
Bureau of Economics

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

March 6, 2013

State of Colorado
Public Utilities Commission
1560 Broadway Suite 250
Denver, CO 80202

Re: Docket No. 13R-0009TR

The staffs of the Federal Trade Commission's Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics<sup>1</sup> appreciate this opportunity to provide comments to the Colorado Public Utilities Commission ("CPUC") on three proposed changes to the Code of Colorado Regulations, contained in its Notice of Proposed Rulemaking In The Matter of The Proposed Rules Regulating Transportation By Motor Vehicle, 4 Code of Colorado Regulations 723-6.<sup>2</sup> Proposed Rule 6001(ff) would equate the advertisement or offering of the provision of transportation with being a "motor carrier." Proposed Rule 6301(a) would require charter contract transportation, which includes transportation provided by luxury limousines, including stretched limousines and executive cars and vans, to operate using a specific fixed price. Proposed Rule 6309(d) would prohibit luxury limousines from stationing within 200 feet of a hotel, motel, restaurant, bar, taxicab stand, or airport passenger pickup point without the service having been prearranged and the completed charter order being in the vehicle.

FTC staff is concerned that these three proposed changes may significantly impair competition in passenger vehicle transportation services, including innovative methods of competition enabled by new software applications ("applications") that allow consumers to arrange and pay for services in new ways that they might prefer, and thus harm consumers. In evaluating claims that the practices to be prohibited impose a genuine threat to consumer welfare, we recommend that CPUC be guided by the principle that any restriction on competition designed to address such potential harm should be narrowly crafted to minimize its anticompetitive impact.

Generally, staff recommends that a regulatory framework for passenger vehicle transportation should allow for flexibility and adaptation in response to new and innovative methods of competition, while still maintaining appropriate consumer protections. Given the recent introduction of new applications for arranging and paying for passenger vehicle transportation services, CPUC may wish to consider whether there are ways to clarify or update existing rules on passenger vehicle transportation service to allow competition to flourish, while still maintaining appropriate, reasonably tailored consumer protections.

I. Interest and Experience of the Federal Trade Commission

The FTC is an independent federal agency that enforces laws prohibiting unfair methods of competition and unfair and deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce.<sup>3</sup> The Commission has wide-ranging responsibilities concerning nearly all segments of the economy. Pursuant to this responsibility, the Commission seeks to identify business practices and regulations that impede competition without offering countervailing benefits to consumers.<sup>4</sup>

Competition and consumer protection enforcement naturally complement and mutually reinforce each other, to the benefit of consumers. Consumers benefit from market competition. The U.S. Supreme Court has recognized that the benefits of competition go beyond lower prices: “The assumption that competition is the best method of allocating resources in a free market recognizes that all elements of a bargain - quality, service, safety, and durability - and not just the immediate cost, are favorably affected by the free opportunity to select among alternative offers.”<sup>5</sup> At the same time, consumer protections promote informed consumer decision-making by requiring sellers to make truthful and non-deceptive representations about their offerings. In other words, competition pressures producers to be innovative and responsive to consumer preferences with respect to price, quality, and other options, while consumer protection policies reinforce competition by facilitating informed consumer choices and prohibiting firms from engaging in unfair or deceptive acts or practices.

In carrying out its mission, the Commission has developed considerable expertise in analyzing issues relating to passenger vehicle service markets. FTC staff previously has submitted a number of advocacy filings related to taxicabs with various local and state authorities.<sup>6</sup> The FTC has also brought enforcement actions against two cities relating to taxicab regulation.<sup>7</sup> Another major contribution in this area is an FTC staff report on taxi regulation.<sup>8</sup> The report’s conclusions are still generally applicable today.<sup>9</sup>

II. The Passenger Vehicle Transportation Marketplace

Until recently, the passenger vehicle transportation marketplace in the United States remained largely unchanged since at least the early 1980s.<sup>10</sup> However, in response to the introduction of smartphones around 2007, both incumbent passenger vehicle transportation service providers and other entrepreneurs have introduced new software applications that allow consumers to arrange and pay for passenger vehicle transportation service.<sup>11</sup> These software applications, also sometimes called digital dispatch services, make use of technologies such as mobile smartphone applications, Internet web pages, email messages, and text messages.

These applications represent an innovative form of competition that may enable consumers to more easily arrange and pay for passenger vehicle transportation services, compared to traditional methods such as street hails or prearrangement by telephone through traditional service dispatchers.<sup>12</sup> For example, some applications use the Global Positioning System (“GPS”) technology incorporated into smartphones to enable consumers to locate nearby vehicles and track their arrival on an electronic map, thus facilitating matching between customers and service.<sup>13</sup> Some applications also utilize the GPS and computing capabilities of smartphones to enable new fare calculation methods based on one or more factors such as distance, time, per trip fees, demand, additional services, or gratuities, which the application can then charge to a credit card.<sup>14</sup> These technologies and methods may promote a more efficient allocation of resources (e.g., vehicles and drivers) to consumers seeking passenger vehicle transportation services. These technologies and methods may also raise novel consumer protection issues, for example, relating to consumers’ understanding of price information communicated via an application. Other potential areas of concern may include the collection, use, and retention of consumer trip data and the collection, use, and retention of consumer credit card data.

III. A Regulatory Framework Should be Responsive to New Methods of Competition

Staff recommends that a regulatory framework for passenger vehicle transportation should allow for flexibility and adaptation in response to new and innovative methods of competition, while still maintaining appropriate consumer protections. CPUC also should proceed with caution in responding to calls for change that may have the effect of impairing new forms or methods of competition that are desirable to consumers. Regulation of vehicle transportation should focus primarily on ensuring qualified drivers, safe and clean vehicles, sufficient liability insurance, transparency of fare information, and compliance with other applicable laws.<sup>15</sup> Regulation of new computer and phone-based applications should focus primarily on ensuring the safety of customers and drivers, deterring deceptive pricing practices, and addressing other consumer protection issues.<sup>16</sup>

In general, competition should only be restricted when necessary to achieve some countervailing procompetitive virtue or other public benefit such as protecting the public from significant harm. This is because consumers benefit from competition among passenger vehicle transportation services, both new and traditional. In the case of passenger vehicle transportation services, competition takes place on a variety of dimensions, including price, availability, timeliness, convenience, quality, vehicle type, and other amenities. A regulatory framework should not restrict the introduction or use of new types of applications, or novel features they provide, absent some evidence of public harm. Generally, a regulatory framework should promote innovation and experimentation that benefit consumers. If CPUC receives evidence of harm from a particular act or practice, a restriction on competition should be narrowly crafted to minimize its anticompetitive impact.

Truthful, non-deceptive information about passenger vehicle transportation services is necessary for the passenger vehicle transportation marketplace to function efficiently.<sup>17</sup> Software applications may provide a number of benefits to consumers, including helping them to compare passenger vehicle transportation services, but they also have the potential to confuse or mislead consumers if, for example, they fail to adequately disclose how fares are calculated or employ “drip pricing” practices.<sup>18</sup> Nevertheless, to promote competition and consumer choice, CPUC should consider less restrictive alternatives to what may be de facto bans on new methods of competition facilitated by software applications.

IV. Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

The Notice of Proposed Rulemaking contains three proposed amendments to the Code of Colorado Regulations that may unnecessarily restrict competition in the passenger vehicle transportation marketplace.

A. Proposed Rule 6001(ff)

Proposed Rule 6001(ff) would amend the definition of a “motor carrier,” so that “Without limitation, providing transportation includes advertising or otherwise offering to provide transportation.” According to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, this amendment would equate the mere advertisement or offering of providing transportation with being a motor carrier that provides transportation in intrastate commerce.<sup>19</sup> Such an expansive definition seems overbroad. Merely communicating an advertisement or offer to provide transportation is not the functional equivalent of actually providing transportation service. This change would create an unwarranted barrier to the entry and operation of applications that are not also motor carriers, and may inhibit, impair or preclude new and innovative ways in which independent applications can affiliate with transportation service providers.

To the extent that CPUC finds that software applications may harm consumers, it should craft any necessary regulations to minimize their anticompetitive impact. Otherwise, CPUC should allow for flexibility and experimentation in the ways that applications and motor carriers can affiliate with each other.

B. Proposed Rule 6301(a)

Proposed Rule 6301(a) would require that charter contract transportation, which includes transportation services provided by luxury limousines, including stretched limousines and executive cars and vans, be based on a “specific fixed price.”<sup>20</sup> This change seems overbroad, as it would effectively preclude variable pricing for charter transportation, including new types of application-based demand pricing, which might potentially benefit consumers and competition. Demand pricing can be an efficient way to allocate resources (e.g., vehicles and drivers) to consumers, particularly during times of peak demand (e.g., during particular times of day, periods of traffic congestion, around the time of special events). That is to say, price increases signal increased consumer demand for goods and services, while price declines can signal the opposite.<sup>21</sup> Demand-based pricing, therefore, can be more responsive to consumer preferences than some traditional flat-rate models.

FTC staff believes that, absent some specific compelling evidence that pricing models other than a “specific fixed price” will harm consumers, this change should not be adopted. To the extent that CPUC does receive evidence of such harm, any restriction designed to address that harm should be narrowly crafted to minimize its anticompetitive impact. For example, CPUC may wish to consider requiring applications to disclose certain price information to consumers before purchase,<sup>22</sup> expressly allowing or requiring applications to provide an electronic receipt to customers for verification purposes, or requiring applications to maintain a trip log or manifest for verification purposes.<sup>23</sup> Otherwise, CPUC should allow for flexibility and experimentation in charter contract pricing in order to facilitate innovative forms of pricing that may benefit consumers.

C. Proposed Rule 6309(d)

Proposed Rule 6309(d) would prohibit luxury limousines from stationing within 200 feet of a hotel, motel, restaurant, bar, taxicab stand, or airport passenger pickup point without the service having been prearranged and the completed charter order in the vehicle. This proposed change also seems overbroad, as it would likely impede the ability of consumers to quickly obtain luxury limousine service using an application in many cases, particularly in areas having high concentrations of covered locations, such as downtown areas and other “urban village” areas that have a mixture of residential areas and businesses close to each other. This change would appear to require that luxury limousines depart such areas after dropping off passengers and before completing another order.

FTC staff believes that, absent some specific compelling evidence that the presence of luxury limousine vehicles in proximity to typical passenger pick-up areas will harm consumers, this change should not be adopted. To the extent that CPUC may be concerned about potential queue problems or congestion issues in certain areas, it could consider using a less restrictive means to deal with these problems.<sup>24</sup> Staff is aware that special issues have sometime arisen regarding the regulation of passenger vehicle transportation services, as in the case of first-in first-out taxicab queues at airport, rail station, or downtown taxicab stand areas.<sup>25</sup> But these problems alone do not support this proposed broad restriction. Generally, there are likely to be more passenger transportation vehicles stationing in particular areas only if there is demand for such vehicles in those areas. Also, passenger vehicle services can potentially reduce traffic congestion because increased use of those services can mean reduced use of private automobiles, especially in downtown and other densely populated areas. Consequently, absent evidence of queue problems or congestion issues, CPUC should avoid unnecessarily restricting the ways that consumers can be picked up by passenger vehicle transportation services.

V. Conclusion

FTC staff appreciates this opportunity to provide views in regard to this matter and would be happy to address any questions you may have regarding competition and consumer protection policy in the passenger vehicle transportation marketplace.

Respectfully submitted,

Andrew I. Gavil, Director
Office of Policy Planning

Richard A. Feinstein, Director
Bureau of Competition

Charles A. Harwood, Acting Director
Bureau of Consumer Protection

Howard Shelanski, Director
Bureau of Economics

---

<sup>1</sup> This staff letter expresses the views of the Federal Trade Commission’s Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics. The letter does not necessarily represent the views of the Federal Trade Commission or of any individual Commissioner. The Commission, however, has voted to authorize staff to submit these comments.

<sup>2</sup> CPUC Docket No. 13R-0009TR (Open Date Jan. 7, 2013), available at https://www.dora.state.co.us/pls/efi/EFI.Show\_Docket?p\_session\_id=&p\_docket\_id=13R-0009TR.

<sup>3</sup> Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45.

<sup>4</sup> Specific statutory authority for the FTC’s competition advocacy program is found in Sections 6(a) and (f) of the FTC Act, under which Congress authorized the FTC “[t]o gather and compile information concerning, and to investigate from time to time the organization, business, conduct, practices, and management of any person, partnership, or corporation engaged in or whose business affects commerce,” and “[t]o make public from time to time such portions of the information obtained by it hereunder as are in the public interest. . . .” 15 U.S.C. § 46(a), (f).

<sup>5</sup> Nat’l Soc’y of Prof’l Eng’rs v. United States, 435 U.S. 679, 695 (1978); accord, FTC v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass’n, 493 U.S. 411, 423 (1990).

<sup>6</sup> E.g., FTC Staff Comments Before the Colorado Public Utilities Commission Concerning Application of Union Taxi Cooperative for Permanent Authority to Operate a Taxi Service (Nov. 3, 2008), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2008/11/V090000cotaxis.pdf>.

<sup>7</sup> The FTC sued the cities of New Orleans and Minneapolis in 1984, charging both cities with unfair competition by combining with taxicab operators to impose regulations that limited the number of taxicab licenses, increased fares, and eliminated competition in violation of the federal antitrust laws. The complaint against Minneapolis was withdrawn after the city revised its ordinance to permit more competition. The complaint against New Orleans also was withdrawn after the state authorized the conduct in question by a new law. See generally FTC, 1985 ANNUAL REPORT 5 (1985), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/annualreports/ar1985.pdf>.

<sup>8</sup> MARK W. FRANKENA & PAUL A. PAUTLER, AN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS OF TAXICAB REGULATION (1984) (FTC Bureau of Economics Staff Report), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/be/econrpt/233832.pdf> (“Staff Report”).

<sup>9</sup> OECD, Directorate for Financial and Enterprise Affairs, Competition Committee Working Party No. 2 on Competition and Regulation, Taxi Services Regulation and Competition – United States (Oct. 15, 2007), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/bc/international/docs/ustaxis.pdf>.

<sup>10</sup> Id. at 2 (“As of 2007, the general description of the taxicab industry and taxicab regulation in the United States remains much as it was when Frankena and Pautler described it in 1984. That is, nothing dramatic has happened to alter the U.S. industry in the interim.”).

<sup>11</sup> See generally Lauren Goode, Worth It? An App to Get a Cab, WALL STREET J. (June 17, 2011), available at <http://blogs.wsj.com/digits/2011/06/17/worth-it-an-app-to-get-a-cab/>.

---

<sup>12</sup> See generally id.

<sup>13</sup> See generally id.

<sup>14</sup> See generally Brian X. Chen, Uber, an App That Summons a Car, Plans a Cheaper Service Using Hybrids, N.Y. TIMES, July 1, 2012, available at <http://www.nytimes.com> (discussing charging by time, distance, consumer demand, and gratuities); Michael B. Farrell, Taxi App Hailo to Expand Service, BOSTON GLOBE, Feb. 5, 2013, available at <http://www.bostonglobe.com> (discussing booking fees, service fees, and gratuities).

<sup>15</sup> See generally Staff Report, supra note 8, at 1-2.

<sup>16</sup> For example, under the Washington, D.C. Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012 (D.C. Council B19-0892) (adopted Jan. 18, 2013) (amending D.C. Official Code § 50-329.02), “A digital dispatch service shall be exempt from regulation by the [District of Columbia Taxicab] Commission, other than rules and regulations that are necessary for the safety of customers and drivers or consumer protection.” See also generally Press Release, California Public Utilities Commission, CPUC Enters Into Operating Agreement With Uber (Jan. 31, 2013), available at <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/NR/rdonlyres/F013B3B9-ED4E-4554-9C34-E468C9DAED88/0/CPUCEntersIntoOperatingAgreementwithUber.pdf> (describing an interim agreement allowing Uber Technologies, Inc. to operate pursuant to certain safety requirements, while a California Public Utilities Commission rulemaking on innovations in passenger vehicle transportation services is underway). The details of this agreement are contained in Term Sheet for Settlement Between the Safety and Enforcement Division of the California Public Utilities Commission and Uber Technologies, Inc. Re Case PSG-3018, Citation F-5195 (Jan. 2013) (available via the California Public Utilities Commission).

<sup>17</sup> From the perspective of consumer protection, information relating to the provision of passenger transportation vehicle services communicated to consumers should be evaluated on a totality of the circumstances approach. FTC Policy Statement on Deception, Appended to Cliffdale Assoc., Inc., 103 F.T.C. 110, 174 (1984), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/bcp/policystmt/ad-decept.htm>. The FTC’s approach to deception consists of a three-part test. First, there must be a representation, omission, or practice that is likely to mislead the consumer. Practices that have been found to be misleading or deceptive in specific cases include false written representations, misleading price claims, use of bait and switch techniques, and failure to perform promised services. Second, the practice is examined from the perspective of a consumer acting reasonably in the circumstances. In evaluating a particular practice, the Commission considers the totality of the practice in determining how reasonable consumers are likely to respond. If the representation or practice affects or is directed primarily to a particular group, the FTC examines reasonableness from the perspective of that group. Third, the representation, omission, or practice must be a “material” one. The basic question is whether the act or practice is likely to affect the consumer’s conduct or decision with regard to a product or service. If so, the practice is material, and consumer injury is likely, because consumers are likely to have chosen differently but for the deception. In many instances, materiality, and hence injury, can be presumed from the nature of the practice. In other instances, evidence of materiality may be necessary. Thus, the FTC will find deception if there is a representation, omission or practice that is likely to mislead the consumer acting reasonably in the circumstances, to the consumer’s detriment.

---

<sup>18</sup> Drip pricing is a pricing technique whereby firms advertise only part of a product's price and reveal other charges later as the customer goes through the buying process. The additional charges can be mandatory charges, such as hotel resort fees, or fees for optional upgrades and add-ons. Drip pricing is used by many types of firms, including internet sellers, automobile dealers, financial institutions, and rental car companies. See generally Fed. Trade Comm'n Conference on the Economics of Drip Pricing (May 21, 2012), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/be/workshops/drippricing/index.shtml>.

<sup>19</sup> In addition, if Proposed Rule 6001(ff) were adopted, a software application would, apparently, then also be covered by Proposed Rule 6010(a), (c) (concerning motor carrier authority and permit applications and motor carrier use of trade names). CPUC may wish to consider whether, in this scenario, a software application might be unnecessarily restricted from using certain words, due to it being subjected to existing traditional motor carrier classifications. For example, CPUC may wish to consider whether, pursuant to Proposed Rule 6010(a), (c), a software application covered as a motor carrier might be unnecessarily restricted from using the phrase "limousine taxi" to describe a luxury limousine service. Staff further recommends that CPUC also more generally evaluate the use of such terms regarding motor carrier service based on a totality of the circumstances approach, as described above, and consider whether there is evidence of consumer confusion regarding different types of motor carrier services that warrants adopting Proposed Rule 6010(a), (c). CPUC may also wish to consider whether there are specific ways to clarify or update existing motor carrier classifications, so as to avoid unnecessarily inhibiting the use of applications that might facilitate passenger vehicle transportation service across different traditional classifications.

Because Proposed Rule 6010(a), (c) would implement certain restrictions on commercial speech, it may also raise First Amendment issues. See generally Central Hudson Gas & Elec. Corp. v. Public Service Comm'n of New York, 447 U.S. 557 (1980) (articulating four-part test for evaluating whether government restrictions on commercial speech are constitutional).

<sup>20</sup> 4 COLO. CODE REGS. 723-6 § 6001(ee) ("Luxury limousine service' means a specialized, luxurious transportation service provided on a prearranged, charter basis as defined in rule 6301(a)."); § 6001(dd) ("Luxury limousine' means a motor vehicle, for compensation to transport passengers in luxury limousine service."); § 6308(a) (I)-(III) (Luxury Limousine Categories).

<sup>21</sup> See generally ROBERT H. FRANK, MICROECONOMICS AND BEHAVIOR 37 (2010).

<sup>22</sup> See generally, e.g., 4 COLO. CODE REGS. 723-6 § 6252 (requiring taxicabs to post certain information, including certain fare information).

<sup>23</sup> See generally, e.g., 4 COLO. CODE REGS. 723-6 § 6256 (requiring taxicab carriers to maintain certain data for each trip, for a minimum of one year from the date a customer requested taxicab service).

<sup>24</sup> Consumers appear to be better off when regulators pursue alternatives for such locations that are less restrictive, such as redesigning taxicab stands, increasing taxicab line user fees, or entering into contracts with operators. Staff Report, supra note 8, at 1, 50-51, 123-24, 156; OECD, supra note 9, at 6-7.

---

<sup>25</sup> It appears that in some cases first-in first-out taxicab queues have inhibited price competition, that drivers sometimes bickered over their places in line as queues of waiting cabs lengthened, and that drivers also sometimes refused service to passengers wanting only a short trip. Staff Report, supra note 8, at 1, 50-51, 123-24, 156; OECD, supra note 9, at 2.

Unclassified

DAF/COMP(2015)3

Organisation de Coopération et de Développement Économiques Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development

28-May-2015

English - Or. English

DIRECTORATE FOR FINANCIAL AND ENTERPRISE AFFAIRS COMPETITION COMMITTEE

DAF/COMP(2015)3
Unclassified

HEARING ON DISRUPTIVE INNOVATION

-- Issues paper by the Secretariat --

16-18 June 2015

This document was prepared by the OECD Secretariat to serve as an issues paper for Session 3 at the 123rd meeting of OECD Competition Committee on 16-18 June 2015.

The opinions expressed and arguments employed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of the Organisation or of the governments of its member countries.

More documents related to this discussion can be found at www.oecd.org/daf/competition/disruptive-innovations-and-competition.htm

JT03377259

Complete document available on OLIS in its original format

This document and any map included herein are without prejudice to the status of or sovereignty over any territory, to the delimitation of international frontiers and boundaries and to the name of any territory, city or area.

English - Or. English

HEARING ON DISRUPTIVE INNOVATION

*Issues Paper by the Secretariat**

1. Introduction

1. The Competition Committee has held several roundtables on innovation<sup>1</sup> over the years, but it has not yet specifically addressed disruptive innovation. While disruptive innovations are very much in the news lately, they are not a new phenomenon; economic history contains many examples of disruptive innovation, such as assembly line manufacturing and the internal combustion engine. However, the speed and force with which some markets have been upended in recent years have drawn fresh attention to this subject. Underpinning disruptive innovation's current cachet is its enduring, powerful impact on productivity and growth. Economists have long understood that innovation in general is the main engine of economic growth, responsible for most of the increase in material standards of living that has taken place since the industrial revolution.<sup>2</sup> Disruptive innovation, then, which involves breakthrough ideas that restructure or create entire markets rather than incremental improvements that nudge the status quo, is especially valuable.

2. In light of those factors, the Committee decided to hold an introductory hearing to explore disruptive innovation and competition policy responses to rules and conduct that stand in its way. This paper provides the backdrop for that hearing by describing what disruptive innovation is, providing some examples, and using them to raise a number of questions for discussion. The paper, like the hearing, focuses on situations in which a potentially disruptive business encounters resistance, especially in the form of regulation.

2. Defining disruptive innovation

3. If “innovation” means “the successful development and application of new knowledge”<sup>3</sup>, then what is “disruptive innovation”?

4. First, disruptive innovations disrupt, which is to say they drastically alter markets. They are not incremental technological developments, like the introduction of a new pharmaceutical that is marginally more effective than current ones. They are not regular, predictable improvements, either, such as the gains in microprocessor speeds predicted by Moore's Law. Instead, they are breakthroughs that bring radical changes which were unforeseen by the market and occur irregularly. Furthermore, disruptive innovations typically reduce or even destroy the market shares of incumbent firms (e.g. the displacement of established mobile handset leader Nokia by Apple's iPhone and smartphones using Google's Android system) or

---

* This issues paper was written by Jeremy West of the OECD Directorate for Science, Technology and Innovation, Digital Economy Policy Division.

<sup>1</sup> See OECD, DAF/COMP(2002)20, Merger Review in Emerging High Innovation Markets, OECD, DAF/COMP(2007)40, Competition, Patents and Innovation, and OECD, DAF/COMP(2009)22, Competition, Patents and Innovation II (2009).

<sup>2</sup> OECD, Going for Growth (2006) at 56.

<sup>3</sup> OECD, DAF/COMP(2007)40, Competition, Patents and Innovation at 17.

create new markets (e.g. television). Increases in digital cameras' pixel density are not disruptive; the introduction of digital photography itself was.

5. Second, disruptive innovations include not only new products and manufacturing processes, but new business models, as well. Disruptors in the sharing economy like Airbnb and Uber, for example, are not new technologies so much as they are new business models that leverage the Internet and smartphones to match excess capacity in private durable goods with demand.

6. What does disruption look like? Exhibit 1 provides an example from the United Kingdom's retail music sector, showing the waves of technological innovation that serially disrupted music formats and sales as the market shifted from LPs to cassettes, to CDs, then to digital downloads, and most recently, toward streaming:

Exhibit 1. Disruption Illustrated: The Evolution of Music Sales in the United Kingdom, by Format, 1972-2012

Source: International Federation of the Phonographic Industry (2013), Recording Industry in Numbers.

7. The arrival of CDs was especially disruptive. They not only wiped out LPs and cassettes but dramatically increased overall industry revenue. But what CDs did to LPs and cassettes, streaming is now doing to CDs.

8. In a famous article from business literature, Joseph Bower and Clayton Christensen divided innovations into two types, sustaining and disruptive.<sup>4</sup> Sustaining innovations tend to maintain a rate of improvement, giving customers “something more or better in the attributes they already value.” Disruptive technologies “introduce a very different package of attributes from the one mainstream customers historically value, and they often perform worse along one or two dimensions that are particularly important to those customers”.<sup>5</sup> The regular improvements in the processing speeds of semiconductors are a good example of sustaining innovations. The authors mention Sony’s early transistor radios as a disruptive technology, noting that Sony sacrificed sound quality but created a market for portable radios by providing a set of new features (small size, light weight, and portability) that consumers grew to appreciate. The quality of the transistors then improved so much that they permeated and led the market for bigger, stationary radios, as well.

<sup>4</sup> Joseph Bower & Clayton Christensen, “Disruptive Technologies: Catching the Wave,” 73 Harvard Business Review 43 (1995).

9. While transistor radios eventually caught up with vacuum tube radios’ sound quality in addition to surpassing them in convenience, the idea that disruptive innovations introduce a new set of features is central to the Bower/Christensen definition. Many disruptive technologies, they note, never exceed existing technologies in certain categories of performance. Instead, they succeed by offering new features plus enough of the old features that customers still want, perhaps at a lower price. Mainframe computer sales, Bower and Christensen point out, were not undermined by personal computers because the latter ever attained more computing power than mainframes, but because PCs were adequate to meet the needs of many organizations and individuals at a far lower cost.

Questions: The Bower and Christensen definition is narrow in that it focuses only on disruptive technologies to the exclusion of disruptive business models. Apart from that shortcoming, is their definition satisfactory? If not, what definition would be better?

3. Characteristics of disruptive businesses

10. When we think of disruptive innovators, we may tend to think of new businesses. While that may be the norm, incumbents sometimes disrupt their own market themselves. Nestlé disrupted the coffee market (which it already supplied with Nescafé and many other brands) with Nespresso, which spawned a host of other capsule-based coffee systems and changed the way millions of consumers prepare their daily coffee.

11. Moreover, established firms sometimes enter new markets and disrupt them. Apple, which previously had little to do with the music business, disrupted the music market when it introduced the iPod music player and the iTunes store, speeding the shift away from owning physical copies to downloading them. Likewise, Apple had never had anything to do with telephony before it premiered the iPhone, yet it seems like an understatement to say that the iPhone disrupted the handset market. Microsoft, already an established company at the time, disrupted the browser market almost immediately when it introduced Internet Explorer by integrating it in Windows. Nevertheless, it is undeniable that new firms are responsible for a substantial share – perhaps the great majority – of disruptive innovation.

12. Many disruptors take advantage of steep economies of scale or scope. Consider Airbnb, which is a prominent sharing economy business that provides a platform for short-term home rentals. While such rentals are not new, the speed and scale at which Airbnb has made commercial home sharing a common practice is unprecedented. Founded in 2008, Airbnb is now used by an average of 425,000 people every night. Reportedly valued at about US$20 billion earlier this year, Airbnb is worth about two-thirds of the Hilton hotel chain.

13. Another disruptive business that has grown with extraordinary speed is Uber, a ride service that rolled out in San Francisco in 2010. Uber now operates in 55 countries, has more than 160,000 active drivers, and is valued at more than US$40 billion, making it more valuable than Delta Airlines and nearly twice as valuable as Viacom. Uber is discussed in more detail below.

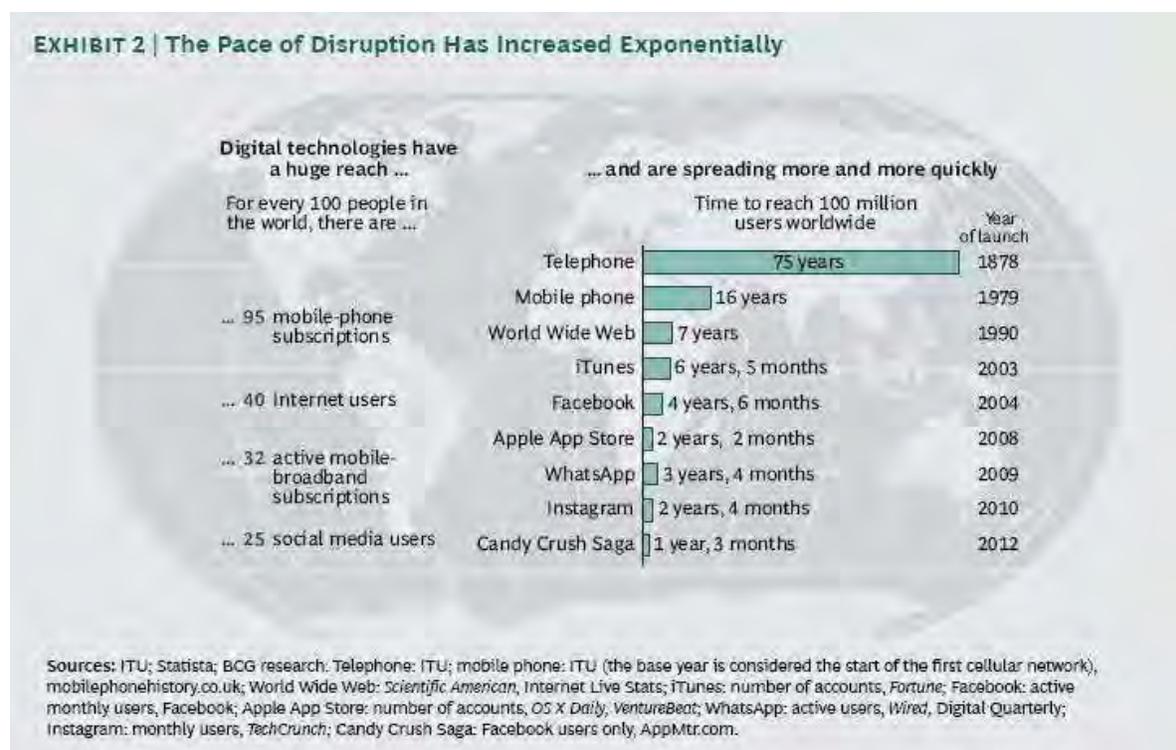

---

<sup>5</sup> Id. at 46.

14. If those valuations seem impressive, consider Alibaba, a Chinese e-commerce group. Its market value, at about US$230 billion as of this writing, dwarfs that of Uber and Airbnb combined. Alibaba's eBay-like, online marketplace logged US$300 billion in transactions in the first half of 2014 alone. Now it is plucking low-hanging fruit by attacking inefficiencies in huge Chinese markets that appear to be overly regulated, adding taxi hailing and financial services to its array of greatly scalable businesses.

15. The ability of these and many other disruptors such as Facebook to scale up to huge sizes very quickly has much to do with the fact that they add users and provide services through the Internet. The Internet is a highly scalable platform that provides quick access to a potentially global customer base. The costs of reaching and adding additional users to an Internet platform are very low, making it possible to grow quickly and inexpensively.

16. This chart from the Boston Consulting Group<sup>6</sup> makes the point that the speed at which disruption is happening has greatly accelerated, thanks to the wide footprint of the Internet and smartphones.

17. Nevertheless, not all disruptors that capitalize on scale economies are Internet businesses. IKEA disrupted the furniture market by, among other things, appealing to consumers who are willing to assemble furniture themselves in exchange for lower prices (an excellent example, incidentally, of a business model disruption rather than a technological one). IKEA has been the world's largest furniture retailer since 2008.

18. Wal-Mart is another example of a non-Internet, disruptive business model. It revolutionized discount retailing long before it added an Internet site to its operations. Indeed, it became the most valuable company in the United States at one point by achieving massive scale economies in supply and distribution and using them to overwhelm rivals who found it impossible to grow large enough to compete directly with it.

<sup>6</sup> Ralf Dreischmeier, Karalee Close & Philippe Trichet, "The Digital Imperative," bcg.perspectives (March 2015), available at: https://www.bcgperspectives.com/content/articles/digital\_economy\_technology\_strategy\_digital\_imperative/?utm\_source=2015April&utm\_medium=Email&utm\_campaign=Ealert.

19. Another trait that seems to be common among disruptors is that they succeed by eliminating middlemen and other inefficiencies. Many disruptors reconfigure markets by identifying avoidable costs in the incumbents' product or business model and attacking them with an approach that does not incur those costs. Uber, for instance, capitalized on the fact that most cars lie unused for most of every day. Consequently, cars are, for the most part, a huge investment in overcapacity. Uber took advantage of this situation by giving people a way to turn their spare vehicle capacity into cash. Airbnb did the same with homes. Netflix eliminated the cost of operating retail outlets by distributing movies directly to consumers, first through the post and then over the Internet (in that latter development, Netflix wisely disrupted itself).

20. Sometimes the costs targeted by disruptors stem from regulations. Some prominent disruptors are using digital technology to attack regulated areas of the service economy that have languished without much innovation for decades. Again, sharing economy upstarts exemplify this approach, using a combination of surplus labour or resources, Internet sites and smartphone apps. A company called Lending Club, for instance, allows individuals to make money from loans using their spare cash. But as we will see below, conventional competitors, like taxi associations, hotels, and banks, complain that if they have to follow the regulations, new competitors should have to do so, too.

Questions: What do firms like Airbnb and Uber have in common, other than that they both participate in the sharing economy? What other characteristics do disruptive entrants have that non-disruptive entrants do not have? Do competition law problems encountered by disruptive firms warrant more attention from competition authorities than non-disruptive entrants? Why or why not?

4. Characteristics of markets that are vulnerable to disruption

21. Without a doubt, some disrupted markets exhibit network effects, resulting in a very rapid growth phase for the disruptor. Consider Google's growth after it disrupted the Internet search and advertising market. Google took over the number one spot among search engines in the US within 18 months of its launch. Facebook launched in 2004 as a social network for Harvard students, then grew virally and not only displaced MySpace as the leading American social network but far exceeded its reach and popularity, gathering in more than one billion users by 2012.

22. Google and Facebook disrupted their markets despite the fact that those markets already had strong network effects that had been insulating the incumbents. These two disruptors succeeded with a jujitsu style strategy that dislodged incumbents with the same network effects that had been working in the incumbents' favour.

Questions: Was that unusual? Or are markets with network effects actually easier to disrupt than markets without network effects?

23. The regulatory environment seems to matter, too. Many disruptive businesses that have gone on to become global enterprises originated in the United States. Alberto Heimler has argued that this is a reflection of the less restrictive regulatory environment in the US.<sup>7</sup> If he is right, then the successes of those businesses provide a vivid illustration of what is at stake for countries that continue to enact and enforce regulations that protect incumbents and discourage disruption.

<sup>7</sup> Alberto Heimler, "Last Taxi to Europe," Project Syndicate (15 April 2015), available at: www.project-syndicate.org/commentary/uber-eu-protest-by-alberto-heimler-2015-04.

Questions: Does the abundance of prosperous, disruptive US businesses also have something to do with the fact that the US is one massive, integrated market governed by one system of federal laws and regulations, in contrast to the European market, which is also collectively massive but is legally, linguistically, and culturally more heterogeneous?

What other distinctive characteristics do markets that are susceptible to disruption have?

Is the Internet making it more common for markets that were previously unconcentrated to be disrupted and transformed into winner-take-all markets? If so, are the static price effects of greater concentration outweighed by the dynamic effects of Schumpeterian competition, in which rapid innovation enabled by technologies like the Internet and big data are leading to a series of monopolies that rise and fall as waves of disruption occur?

What do the answers to those questions imply for the approach that competition authorities should take in situations where disruptors have the potential to gain very large market shares, but are encountering obstacles that prevent or retard their entry?

Finally, what characteristics do markets that are invulnerable to disruption tend to have? Are any of the factors that render incumbents invulnerable to disruption in those markets addressable through competition law enforcement or advocacy?"

5. Obstacles to disruption that may raise competition issues

5.1 Regulation

24. Regulations that block, deter, or retard entry by disruptive firms present competition authorities with a challenging task because a) actions taken pursuant to a regulation are sometimes immune from competition-law based challenges even when those actions harm competition; and b) regulations usually serve other, legitimate policy objectives even when they discourage entry. Making matters more difficult, incumbent firms sometimes respond to potential (or actual) disruption by lobbying for existing regulations to be applied to the new entrant even when existing regulations are not well-suited to its disruptive innovation. Rightly or wrongly, incumbents may claim that the disruptor will have an 'unfair' competitive advantage unless the regulations are applied to it. Incumbents may also lobby for new regulations that are simply a pretext for blocking entry.

25. Consequently, disruptive entry can create tensions between regulation and competition policy, particularly when the disruptive innovation arguably renders the regulation obsolete. If the innovation fully addresses or obviates the underlying policy concern(s) that prompted the regulation, then applying it to the disruptive entrant nonetheless may be unnecessarily harmful to competition.

Example 1: Uber

26. Uber's success in competing with traditional taxi services has stirred debates over that issue in many countries and cities. Uber is a platform that matches drivers with riders through a smartphone app. People who want a ride open the app, enter their present location and desired destination, and the app notifies nearby Uber drivers who may be interested in providing the ride. Once a match is found, the driver receives the customer's location and drives to the pick-up location. Meanwhile, the customer receives a picture of the driver, his/her name, a description of the vehicle, and, if desired, an estimate of the fare. When the ride is completed, no money changes hands. Instead, the customer's credit card is billed through the app.<sup>8</sup>

<sup>8</sup> Uber offers several types of ride services. Uber Black, for example, is more expensive than Uber Pop but provides a luxury car and a professional driver. Uber Pop costs less and matches riders with ordinary

27. One view is that taxi regulations were designed for a model that Uber has made obsolete: a limited number of taxi drivers, licensed to operate by local governments, charging inflexible rates set by a regulator. The purpose of the licenses is to ensure that taxis and their drivers are safe and trustworthy; the purpose of the price controls is to ensure that “fair” prices are charged. But, this view holds, Uber and similar services obviate the need for such regulations. Uber, like many sharing economy businesses models, relies on self-regulation via ratings and reviews. The reviews provide incentives for both sides to deliver on their promises. Furthermore, thanks to geolocation and Internet of Things technologies, each Uber car’s location and route is known to Uber at all times.

28. Moreover, Uber’s proponents argue, price controls are not only unnecessary, but ill-advised, as they prevent the market from matching supply with demand. Uber’s prices fluctuate to bring the two into equilibrium: when there are not enough drivers working to meet demand, fares rise to attract more drivers (and reduce demand), falling again when supply exceeds demand. Traditional taxi fare structures are fixed, which is why one may see long lines of customers waiting at taxi stands at certain times of day and long lines of taxis waiting there at other times.

29. On the other hand, another view holds, rating and reviews can suffer from shortcomings such as low response rates, incomplete information, or misleading ratings. Moreover, Uber’s surge pricing system can see customers paying extraordinary fares, even ten times the usual rate if demand is extremely high (e.g. on New Year’s Eve). In addition, some argue, drivers in some cities have paid a very substantial amount of money for the right to be allowed to operate a taxi. But that value has been diminished by Uber and other app-based ride services, which is “unfair”. Beyond that, regulations in some cities require traditional taxi drivers to buy insurance that is much more expensive than what ordinary drivers have to pay, and they have to maintain their vehicles to a certain standard. They argue that Uber’s drivers do not have to bear the cost of compliance with such regulations, but that they should.

30. The latter arguments have not fallen on deaf ears in some countries. Uber has been variously fined, banned, and targeted with new regulations in Canada, France, and Germany, for example.

31. Several competition agencies, however, including those in Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Spain and the US, have spoken up in favour of easing regulatory restrictions on Uber. They have issued official letters and reports urging reviews of taxi regulations to identify which ones are truly necessary, as well as reforms to permit app-based ride services to continue operating.<sup>9</sup>

Example 2: Tesla

32. Another example of conflict between regulation and disruption is Tesla’s experience in the United States. Many drivers are now aware of Tesla’s sports cars and their silent, all-electric engines.

---

drivers using ordinary vehicles to earn extra money in their spare time or when they wish to take advantage of spare capacity in their cars on the way to a destination that they are going to anyway.

<sup>9</sup> See, e.g., Autorité de la Concurrence, “Taxis/Chauffeur driven cars (CDC),” press release (7 January 2015) (announcing that the Autorité published an opinion it submitted to the French Government regarding a draft decree that imposed certain restrictions on CDCs), available at: www.autoritedelaconcurrence.fr/user/standard.php?id\_rub=607&id\_article=2483; Autorità Garante della Concorrenza e del Mercato, “Non-scheduled public transport to ports and airports,” press release (15 September 2014) (announcing that the Autorità had sent a report to a regional government regarding anti-competitive restrictions on drivers serving the market for non-scheduled public transport), available at: www.agcm.it/en/newsroom/press-releases/2155-s2047-non-scheduled-public-transport-to-ports-and-airports-permits-to-be-granted-also-for-taxis-and-car-rentals-with-driver-with-licenses-issued-by-municipalities-of-other-regions-a-request-by-the-antitrust-authority-to-the-lazio-region.html.

Tesla's engine technology is potentially disruptive, in the long term, to the automobile industry. But what is less well-known is that its sales model is also potentially disruptive to automobile dealers.

33. Tesla cuts dealers out by operating its own showrooms and selling directly to consumers through the Internet. Dealers in some US states responded to this threat by lobbying for the enforcement of rather old regulations that were designed to ban direct distribution by auto manufacturers, and in some states, for new regulations that would eliminate any exceptions that might allow Tesla to circumvent the ban. While dealers have argued that such restrictions are necessary for public safety and to protect consumers, Tesla contends that the regulations are now obsolete, having nothing to do with public safety or protecting consumers and everything to do with protecting dealers.<sup>10</sup>

Questions: To determine whether a regulation unnecessarily restricts competition, competition authorities must consider the regulation's stated policy aims (e.g. consumer health and safety) and how well-tailored the regulation is to achieving them. What are some situations in which there have been sound policy reasons behind regulations that are reasonably well-drafted but nevertheless make it harder or impossible for a potentially disruptive entrant to break into a market?

How have competition agencies dealt with such justifications?

Should competition authorities consider whether the expected disruption would cause a devaluation of incumbents' regulated assets (e.g. licenses)?

Should competition authorities consider whether the welfare benefits from removing an unnecessarily anticompetitive regulation outweighs concerns related to other policy objectives and any devaluation in incumbents' regulated assets? Or should such considerations be left up to the regulator? What if the regulator is captured by the incumbents?

5.2 Other Laws<sup>11</sup>

34. Like some regulations, certain laws reflecting particular policy concerns may stand in a disruptor's way and it can be challenging for competition authorities to determine whether such laws are unnecessarily anticompetitive. Intellectual property laws might be considered the leading example. They can block or retard a disruptor's entry or expansion, and they typically do so for sound reasons. (Consider Napster, an early and disruptive music sharing site, which was hobbled by copyright infringement lawsuits.) Some circumstances can raise competition concerns, though, such as when an incumbent ties up a potentially disruptive entrant with an infringement lawsuit of little or no merit. The entrant may not be able to fund a legal defence, particularly if it is an SME, or it may decide that doing so is simply too risky. It might then concede its disruptive advantage in a cross-licensing agreement, sell out to the incumbent, or withdraw from the market altogether. Such possibilities lead to concerns about issues that are outside the usual competition policy domain, like patent quality and the incentives created by the patent system's legal apparatus.

35. Alternatively, disruption can be delayed or deterred by the burden of procuring licenses. The transaction costs of negotiating copyright licenses, for example, can slow down a disruptive innovation's impact. Europe is a case in point, given the ongoing need to negotiate separate copyright licenses for each country in the EU. Consider, for instance, how long it took Netflix to enter Europe after its appearance in North America in 1997. The expense and difficulty of procuring separate licenses for each country in comparison to being able to negotiate one cross-border European license is an issue that has attracted policymakers' attention in recent years – but not necessarily competition officials' attention.<sup>12</sup>

<sup>10</sup> For information on the origins of these regulations and an analysis of the debate over Tesla's distribution model from its perspective, see Daniel Crane, "Tesla and the Car Dealers' Lobby," Regulation (forthcoming 2015), available at: <http://ssrn.com/abstract=2422905>.

<sup>11</sup> The obstacles presented in this and subsequent sections are included for the sake of completeness, but because the discussion is meant to focus on regulatory obstacles, no questions are proposed.

36. There have also been some cases in which copyright laws appear to have been used as a protectionist tool to lessen the impact that disruptors have, or at least to force them to share the fruits of their success. For example, several countries have enacted or proposed amendments to their copyright laws<sup>13</sup> that create an ancillary copyright that benefits online publishers (such as traditional newspapers that also have Internet sites on which they publish their content). The amendments are aimed at Internet news aggregators. As a result of the amendments, certain material used by Internet-based news aggregating services may violate the copyright law and revenues are redirected from the news aggregators to the publishers.

37. For example, Spain's law<sup>14</sup> imposes a compulsory license whenever a web site provides even a small fragment of a newspaper article. It also requires permission from the news publisher for the reuse of any photo posted to a periodically updated website. Spain's competition authority, the Comisión Nacional de los Mercados y la Competencia, quickly criticized the law when it was proposed.<sup>15</sup> It noted that the main justification given for the proposal was to compensate the original news sites with "fair compensation" for the "direct competition" that occurs between them and the news aggregators, who do not share the costs that the "creative effort" entails. However, the competition authority found it questionable that there was any such direct competition, that any compensation was appropriate, or if there was, that it should flow toward the original sites. The latter point is a recognition that appearing in news aggregator results will drive more Internet traffic toward the original site than it would otherwise get. The authority also noted that the law would create a barrier to access for companies that want to enter the market for content aggregation.

5.3 Acquisitions

38. Incumbent firms sometimes react to a disruptive entrant by acquiring it. Such acquisitions can be thorny challenges for competition authorities. In particular, if the acquisition is proposed when the potential disruptor is still nascent, so that it has not yet had an opportunity to create a record of winning business for itself, a competition authority may have difficulty in establishing that the acquisition is likely to harm competition.

5.4 Unilateral Conduct by Incumbents

39. Incumbents may opt to use one or more of the potentially unlawful unilateral strategies that competition authorities are accustomed to investigating, such as predatory pricing, exclusive dealing, and raising rivals' costs. However, such strategies may be less likely to succeed against a firm with a disruptive business model, product, or process than against an entrant using the traditional business model or technology. Disruptive firms can erode demand for the old model/product/service even if the incumbents become more price-competitive. Brick-and-mortar movie rental outlets, for example, may not have survived the entry of Netflix, which offered a far greater selection and more convenience, even if the outlets had lowered their prices to predatory levels.

---

<sup>12</sup> See, e.g., Ian Hargreaves (2011), "Digital Opportunity: An Independent Review of Intellectual Property and Growth", available at www.ipo.gov.uk/ipreview-finalreport.pdf; European Commission (6 May 2015), "A Digital Single Market for Europe: Commission sets out 16 initiatives to make it happen", press release, available at: http://europa.eu/rapid/press-release\_IP-15-4919\_en.htm.

<sup>13</sup> Such laws have been enacted in Germany and Spain, are pending in Israel, and have been proposed in France.

<sup>14</sup> Congreso de Los Diputados, Proyectos de Ley 121/000081 Art. 32.2 (21 de febrero de 2014), p. 8.

<sup>15</sup> Comisión Nacional de los Mercados y la Competencia, "La CNMC publica su Propuesta sobre la modificación del Proyecto de Ley de la Propiedad Intelectual", Note de Prensa (28 May 2014).

5.5 Vertical Restraints

40. Another type of obstacle that can block or retard disruption is vertical restraints imposed by other firms in the chain of production. Resale price maintenance, territorial restrictions, and quotas placed on internet sales are some of the possibilities. The latter were discussed extensively in a recent roundtable.<sup>16</sup> The effect of RPM on internet-based booksellers in some countries was also discussed in a previous roundtable.<sup>17</sup>

6. What can competition authorities do?

41. Advocacy is always an option. Competition authorities have numerous ways to raise awareness of the benefits of competition, both in general and in specific matters. By issuing comments on proposed or existing regulations, appearing before lawmakers to discuss competition matters, conducting market studies, and publishing brochures and pamphlets about the importance of competition laws and compliance with them, competition agencies can influence legislators, regulators, and the general public.

42. When competition officials suspect that a regulation is unnecessarily hampering a disruptive innovation, advocacy may be their only viable choice as more direct action is typically impossible due to the legal authority behind the regulation. For example, under the state action doctrine in the US, state and municipal authorities have immunity from federal antitrust laws with respect to actions they take pursuant to a clear state policy that had foreseeable anticompetitive effects.<sup>18</sup> Therefore, when a state approves and regulates certain conduct, even if it is anticompetitive, the federal government must respect the state's decision. Consequently, in the Tesla matter described above, for example, the US Federal Trade Commission did not take any enforcement action but instead used a blog<sup>19</sup> and comment letters to state legislators<sup>20</sup> to recommend that they ease regulations preventing consumers from buying directly from auto manufacturers.

43. But is anything different about advocacy in cases where a disruptive entrant is being thwarted, as opposed to advocacy in cases where an ordinary entrant is being blocked? One major difference is that the stakes for consumers tend to be bigger. If we return to our definition of disruption and consider again the characteristics that disruptive firms and disruptible markets tend to have, we can infer a greater sense of urgency in making sure that disruptors have the full opportunity to reconfigure or create markets that they are entitled to have from a competition law perspective. When an entrant can offer consumers something that is so much better than what they are currently getting that the entrant can grow rapidly and displace the top firms in the market, that is a clear signal that it is offering consumers a substantial amount of value. The message that can be delivered to policymakers then becomes that much more compelling.

44. In cases where laws and regulations that unnecessarily block or deter disruptive innovation are not immune to competition law challenges, competition authorities can take enforcement actions to remedy them. The European Commission, for example, uses its powers to challenge national laws that conflict with EU competition law and could thwart disruption.<sup>21</sup> The US antitrust agencies occasionally file lawsuits to nullify anticompetitive rules imposed by trade associations and licensing boards.<sup>22</sup>

---

<sup>16</sup> DAF/COMP(2013)13, Vertical Restraints for On-line Sales.

<sup>17</sup> DAF/COMP(2008)37, Resale Price Maintenance.

<sup>18</sup> Parker v. Brown, 317 U.S. 341 (1943).

<sup>19</sup> <https://www.ftc.gov/news-events/blogs/competition-matters/2015/05/direct-consumer-auto-sales-its-not-just-about-tesla>

<sup>20</sup> <https://www.ftc.gov/news-events/press-releases/2014/05/ftc-staff-missouri-new-jersey-should-repeal-their-prohibitions>

<sup>21</sup> For instance, the development of online bookstores in Germany was likely facilitated by a settlement agreement with the European Commission that exempted direct, cross-border sales of German-language

45. Box 1 contains a checklist of questions that competition agencies might consider when disruptive innovation appears to be hindered in regulated markets.

Box 1. A Basic Checklist for Investigating Cases of Regulation Interfering with Disruption

- What purposes does the regulation serve (e.g. consumer protection, consumer safety, environmental protection, national security)?
- Is the regulation tailored to its stated purpose? In particular, does it restrict competition as little as possible while still accomplishing its stated objectives?
- Is it possible to compare performance in markets with the regulation with performance in markets without it? If so, do it.
- What is the incumbent's motive for wanting the regulation to be applied to the disruptor?
- What is the regulator's motive for wanting the regulation to be applied to the disruptor?
- Are there legitimate reasons, or is the motive simply to keep the disruptor out of the market or to slow its entry?
- What is the disrupting firm's argument for why it should be allowed to ignore the regulation?
- Would consumers benefit if the disruptor is permitted to ignore the regulation? How quickly and to what extent?
- Has the incumbent been innovating? If not, will keeping the disruptor out help them to avoid or delay investing in innovation?
- If there seems to be a competition problem, what options does the competition authority have to solve it?
  - Is the regulation (and actions taken under it) immune to competition law scrutiny?
    - If so, the competition authority can consider issuing an advisory opinion or other public comment on the regulation to recommend ways to lessen its impact on competition
    - The authority can also consider whether a market study would be useful for drawing attention to the problem
  - If the regulation is not immune to competition law, the authority can consider taking enforcement action to challenge it

Questions: What other courses of action are available to competition authorities besides advocacy and law enforcement when disruptive innovations are hindered to the detriment of competition? What approaches have worked well, and which ones have not worked so well?

---

books to customers in Germany from a national law that required RPM in the market for retail book sales. Buchpreisbindungsgesetz, section 4; Sammelbrevers und Einzelrevers, [2002] 4 CMLR 1278.

<sup>22</sup>

See, for example, North Carolina Board of Dental Examiners v. Federal Trade Commission, 135 S.Ct. 1101, 1112 (2015) (holding that when a controlling number of the decision makers on a state licensing board are active participants in the profession that the board regulates, the board can invoke state-action immunity to the antitrust laws only if the board is subject to active supervision by the state), available at: www.supremecourt.gov/opinions/14pdf/13-534\_19m2.pdf; see also US Department of Justice, "Justice Department Announces Settlement with the National Association of Realtors," press release (27 May 2008) (announcing settlement with association of realtors after having filed a lawsuit to challenge the association's policies that allowed shared listing services to provide limited access to brokers who operated Internet sites enabling customers to review home listings on the Internet), available at: www.justice.gov/archive/opa/pr/2008/May/08-at-467.html.

Office of Policy Planning
Bureau of Competition
Bureau of Consumer Protection
Bureau of Economics

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

April 19, 2013

The Honorable Debbie Ossiander
Assembly Member, Seat A
Municipality of Anchorage
P.O. Box 670772
Chugiak, AK 99567

Re: AO NO. 2013–36

Dear Assembly Member Ossiander:

The staffs of the Federal Trade Commission’s Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics<sup>1</sup> appreciate this opportunity to respond to your request for our views on AO NO. 2013–36 (“the proposed ordinance”). According to the Assembly Memorandum for the proposed ordinance, it is intended as a comprehensive rewrite of AMC Chapters 11.10—11.40 regulating the licensing and permitting of taxicabs, limousines, other vehicles for hire, chauffeurs, and dispatch services. The proposed ordinance would allow for additional entry into taxicab services through 2022, after which there would apparently be no limits on the number of taxicabs that could operate in Anchorage. Because new entry and competition may generate consumer benefits and are unlikely to harm consumers or competition, staff strongly supports eliminating restrictions on the number of vehicles that may provide taxicab service by 2022, or sooner, if practical. Staff also recommends that rates relating to the business of passenger vehicle transportation services should generally be set by competitive forces where there are no restrictions on entry.

As we further discuss in the final section of this letter, the Assembly may also wish to consider additional steps to modernize its regulatory framework, either now or in the near future, to respond to the development of new smartphone software applications (“applications”) currently being used in other areas of the country. These applications appear to provide consumers with new means of arranging for passenger vehicle transportation services and other new services, as discussed below. Because these applications may not fit neatly within the traditional regulatory framework, consideration of additional reforms might be warranted.

I. Interest and Experience of the Federal Trade Commission

The FTC is an independent federal agency that enforces laws prohibiting unfair methods of competition and unfair and deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce.<sup>2</sup> The Commission has wide-ranging responsibilities concerning nearly all segments of the economy. Pursuant to this responsibility, the Commission seeks to identify business practices and regulations that impede competition without offering countervailing benefits to consumers, and advocates for policies that promote competition and consumer protection.<sup>3</sup>

Competition and consumer protection enforcement naturally complement and mutually reinforce each other, to the benefit of consumers. Consumers benefit from market competition, which pressures producers to be innovative and responsive to consumer preferences with respect to price, quality, and other product and service characteristics.<sup>4</sup> At the same time, consumer protections promote informed consumer decision-making by prohibiting firms from engaging in unfair and deceptive acts or practices, and requiring sellers to make truthful and non-deceptive representations about their offerings. In general, competition should only be restricted when necessary to achieve some countervailing procompetitive purpose or other public benefit such as protecting the public from significant harm.

In carrying out its mission, the Commission has developed considerable expertise in analyzing issues relating to passenger vehicle transportation services. FTC staff previously has submitted a number of advocacy filings related to taxicabs with various local and state authorities, including previous comments regarding taxicab regulation in Anchorage and the State of Alaska.<sup>5</sup> Staff has also recently provided comments regarding the regulation of new applications for obtaining passenger vehicle transportation services in Colorado.<sup>6</sup> In addition, the FTC has brought enforcement actions against two cities relating to taxicab regulation.<sup>7</sup> Another major contribution in this area is an FTC staff report on taxi regulation.<sup>8</sup> The report's conclusions are still generally applicable today.<sup>9</sup>

II. The Passenger Vehicle Transportation Marketplace

Until recently, the passenger vehicle transportation marketplace in the United States had remained largely unchanged since at least the early 1980s.<sup>10</sup> However, primarily in response to the introduction of smartphones around 2007, both incumbent passenger vehicle transportation service providers and other entrepreneurs have introduced new software applications that allow consumers to arrange and pay for such services in a variety of ways.<sup>11</sup> These software applications, also sometimes called digital dispatch services, make use of technologies such as mobile smartphone applications, Internet web pages, email messages, and text messages.

These applications are an innovative form of competition that may enable consumers to more easily arrange and pay for passenger vehicle transportation services, compared to traditional methods such as street hails or prearrangement by telephone through traditional service dispatchers.<sup>12</sup> For example, some applications use the Global Positioning System (“GPS”) technology incorporated into smartphones to enable consumers to locate nearby vehicles and track their arrival on an electronic map, thus facilitating matching between customers and service.<sup>13</sup> Some applications also utilize the GPS and computing capabilities of smartphones to enable new fare calculation methods based on one or more factors, such as distance, time, per trip fees, demand, additional services, or gratuities, which the application can then charge to a credit card.<sup>14</sup> These technologies and methods may be more responsive to consumer demand and may promote a more efficient allocation of resources (e.g., vehicles and drivers) to consumers. They may also raise novel consumer protection issues, for example, relating to consumers’ understanding of price information communicated via an application and the privacy of information collected.

Although some jurisdictions have embraced incremental reforms to expand competition within the traditional framework, others have responded to these broader changes in the industry with more expansive reforms. In some cases, the reforms have sought to facilitate the entry and expansion of new services. In other cases, policies have been proposed to impede the growth of these new services.<sup>15</sup> Below, FTC staff offers its views on Anchorage’s proposed new ordinance, as well as some recommendations for possible additional, future steps towards modernization of its regulations.

III. The Proposed Ordinance

A. Regulatory Changes that Facilitate Entry May Generate Consumer Benefits and Are Unlikely to Harm Consumers or Competition

The proposed ordinance responds to perceived current and projected future shortages of taxicab services. It would add a limited number of new general taxicab permits, add a process for issuing new limited and special needs taxicab permits, and phase out the transferability of current taxicab permits.<sup>16</sup> It is our understanding that Anchorage currently has 173 valid taxi permits, of which 158 are transferable.<sup>17</sup> Anchorage stopped issuing transferrable permits in 1994; since that time fifteen non-transferable permits have been issued, with the last being issued in 2009.<sup>18</sup> The most recent sales of transferable permits were each made for $155,000 in January 2013 and in August 2012.<sup>19</sup>

The proposed ordinance would increase the total number of general taxicab permits by up to ten non-transferable permits a year, subject to certain conditions, through 2022.<sup>20</sup> In order to address targeted shortfalls in passenger service, it would also allow for the issuance of non-transferable limited and special needs permits, including for wheelchair-accessible vehicles and to address a specific public safety need, and require the issuance of between one and three non-transferable limited public safety permits to transport patrons home from establishments licensed to serve alcohol.<sup>21</sup> The ability to transfer taxicab permits would expire altogether by the end of 2022, and there would be no limits on the number of taxicabs after that time.<sup>22</sup>

As FTC staff indicated in previous comments regarding proposed ordinance AO 84-251, regulatory changes that facilitate new entry into the provision of passenger vehicle transportation services may generate consumer benefits and are unlikely to harm consumers or competition.<sup>23</sup> FTC staff, therefore, strongly supports the issuance of more taxicab permits in Anchorage and the adoption of policies that will lead to free entry and competition in the taxicab business by 2022, or sooner, if practical. A regulatory framework for passenger vehicle transportation services should focus primarily on ensuring qualified drivers, safe and clean vehicles, sufficient liability insurance, transparency of fare information, and compliance with other applicable laws, and should otherwise minimize barriers to entry by new entrants.<sup>24</sup>

Studies have shown that the deregulation of taxicab services, both in the United States and in other countries, has generated consumer benefits in most instances, and has not led to significant harm to consumers or competition.<sup>25</sup> It appears that in most instances substantial consumer benefits have followed after restrictions on the supply of taxicabs have been removed.<sup>26</sup> For example, studies suggest that open entry into taxicab service may lead to price reductions or other discounts for consumers where price competition is allowed, and generally does not cause price increases.<sup>27</sup> New entry also does not appear to diminish the quantity or quality of taxicab services. Some cities have reported that service has improved, for example, through reductions in vehicle age, increases in fleet maintenance, reductions in waiting times for radio dispatched cabs, and increases in hours of service.<sup>28</sup> Certain consumer populations, such as low-income populations, who generally spend a larger portion of their income on taxicab rides than other segments of the population, would be expected to benefit most from such prospective improvements.<sup>29</sup>

The principal beneficiaries of entry restrictions on taxicab service are incumbent taxicab operators, who in many instances have a strong incentive to try to restrict entry to maintain artificially high prices and profits.<sup>30</sup> Studies indicate the value of licenses to operate taxicabs in various cities to be substantial.<sup>31</sup> Recent sales of transferrable Anchorage permits for $155,000 appear to be generally consistent with these findings. In an open entry market, however, the value of such licenses would be greatly diminished. The fact that such licenses are valued so highly may be evidence that purchasers believe they can amortize the purchase cost by charging higher prices to consumers, versus what they would be able to charge if entry were unrestricted.<sup>32</sup>

There is no obvious reason why the number of passenger transportation vehicles on the street should be limited in a manner different from private cars, trucks, or other commercial vehicles.<sup>33</sup> Economic theory suggests that it will generally be the case that the supply of passenger transportation vehicles will expand where there is unmet consumer demand, thus increasing the availability of transportation services to consumers who want them.<sup>34</sup>

Assuming the Assembly proceeds with its planned transition towards fully open entry into taxicab services, the Assembly may wish to consider collecting certain data

(e.g., regarding rates, vehicle arrival times and consumer wait times, service to various areas, consumer complaints, and safety), in order to evaluate the effects of these changes.

B. Rates Should Generally be Set by Competitive Forces Where There is Open Entry

The proposed ordinance also amends certain provisions relating to the regulation of rates in the passenger vehicle transportation service business. It would define limousine service and executive sedan service separately, apply the current minimum hourly charges for limousine service to an amended definition of limousine service, and implement new minimum half-hourly and hourly charges to a stand-alone definition of executive sedan service.<sup>35</sup> The proposed ordinance would continue to provide for the regulation of maximum taxicab rates, dispatch service rates, maximum lease rates between taxicab permit holders and lease operators, and allowable fuel surcharge amounts and durations for taxicabs.<sup>36</sup> It would further provide for maximum rate regulation for all other regulated vehicles, and allow for the adoption of rate exceptions to promote competition to fulfill service needs.<sup>37</sup>

Where there is open entry into passenger vehicle transportation services, as is the case for limousines and sedans in Anchorage, consumers are generally best served when prices are set by competitive forces, and disclosed in a truthful and non-deceptive manner.<sup>38</sup> As staff has noted in previous comments to The Alaska State Legislature in regards to taxi fares, price regulation relating to the business of passenger vehicle transportation services supplants competitive forces that will otherwise operate to lower prices and improve service.<sup>39</sup> In particular, minimum charges for passenger vehicle transportation services, such as those for limousine and sedan service, raise at least some prices, and may eliminate the ability of discounters to offer consumers lower prices.

In certain limited circumstances, such as at airport or railroad taxi lines, where it might be difficult for travelers to determine the cost of service in advance of actually needing to obtain it, maximum price regulation may be an efficient means to protect them from paying higher prices due to a lack of local knowledge. Requiring the posting of rates on vehicles may also be an efficient means to protect consumers in such situations, and in other circumstances, such as street hails, where it might also be difficult for consumers to determine service costs in advance.<sup>40</sup> But these particular situations do not provide a rationale for the general regulation of prices where there is open entry.

Where entry is restricted, however, as is currently the case for taxicabs in Anchorage, price regulation may serve to limit the ability of incumbents to charge higher prices than they would otherwise be able to do in an open entry framework.<sup>41</sup> But, assuming the transition towards open entry by 2022 proceeds, staff recommends that the Assembly consider the extent to which there will then remain a rationale for general price regulations relating to the taxi business, or whether other alternatives might be sufficient to facilitate price competition and transparency.<sup>42</sup>

IV. A Regulatory Framework Should be Responsive to New Methods of Competition, While Maintaining Appropriate, Reasonably Tailored Consumer Protections

As already noted above, today's passenger vehicle transportation industry is in a state of transition. Facilitated by technological advances in smartphones, software applications, and GPS systems, new forms of services are emerging. While these new services appear to be responsive to consumer demand, they may not fit neatly within longstanding traditional regulatory frameworks. To the degree regulatory reforms are being considered, therefore, the Assembly might want to look beyond merely adjusting competition within the boundaries of longstanding systems of regulation. The Assembly may wish to consider reforms that anticipate and will facilitate the future development of new technologies and new services, while maintaining or creating appropriate consumer protections. By perpetuating a framework that may now be dated, even while seeking to promote competition within its terms, regulators can unnecessarily and inadvertently impair the emergence of additional competitive and innovative forms of services.

Staff therefore recommends that a regulatory framework for passenger vehicle transportation services should allow for flexibility and adaptation in response to new and innovative methods of competition, while still maintaining appropriate, reasonably tailored consumer protections. Consumers benefit from competition among passenger vehicle transportation services, both traditional and new. Generally, a forward-looking regulatory framework should promote innovation and experimentation, because these forms of competition can benefit consumers, and should avoid creating impediments to new methods of competition, unless necessary to achieve some countervailing procompetitive purpose or other public benefit such as protecting the public from significant harm.<sup>43</sup> Thus, the Assembly, now or in the near future, may wish to consider expressly updating the regulatory framework to provide for such technologies.<sup>44</sup> Alternatively, it may wish to consider providing for the testing of applications under a pilot program or on an interim basis.<sup>45</sup>

Regulation of new computer and smartphone applications should focus primarily on ensuring the safety of customers and drivers, deterring deceptive pricing practices, and addressing other consumer protection issues, especially privacy and the prevention of identity theft.<sup>46</sup> A regulatory framework should not restrict the introduction or use of new types of applications, or novel features they provide, absent some evidence of public harm. In the event that the Assembly finds evidence of harm from new methods of competition, a restriction on competition should be narrowly crafted to minimize its anticompetitive impact.

Conclusion

FTC staff appreciates this opportunity to provide views in regards to this proposed ordinance and would be happy to address any questions you may have regarding competition and consumer protection policy in the passenger vehicle transportation marketplace.

Respectfully submitted,

Andrew I. Gavil, Director
Office of Policy Planning

Richard A. Feinstein, Director
Bureau of Competition

Charles A. Harwood, Acting Director
Bureau of Consumer Protection

Howard Shelanski, Director
Bureau of Economics

---

<sup>1</sup> This staff letter expresses the views of the Federal Trade Commission’s Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics. The letter does not necessarily represent the views of the Federal Trade Commission or of any individual Commissioner. The Commission, however, has voted to authorize staff to submit these comments.

<sup>2</sup> Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45.

<sup>3</sup> Specific statutory authority for the FTC’s competition advocacy program is found in Sections 6(a) and (f) of the FTC Act, under which Congress authorized the FTC “[t]o gather and compile information concerning, and to investigate from time to time the organization, business, conduct, practices, and management of any person, partnership, or corporation engaged in or whose business affects commerce,” and “[t]o make public from time to time such portions of the information obtained by it hereunder as are in the public interest . . . .” 15 U.S.C. § 46(a), (f).

<sup>4</sup> The U.S. Supreme Court has recognized that the benefits of competition go beyond lower prices: “The assumption that competition is the best method of allocating resources in a free market recognizes that all elements of a bargain - quality, service, safety, and durability - and not just the immediate cost, are favorably affected by the free opportunity to select among alternative offers.” Nat’l Soc’y of Prof’l Eng’rs v. United States, 435 U.S. 679, 695 (1978); accord, FTC v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass’n, 493 U.S. 411, 423 (1990).

<sup>5</sup> E.g., FTC Staff Comments to Anchorage Assemblyman John Wood Concerning Proposed Ordinance AO 84-251 (Feb. 11, 1985); FTC Staff Comments to Alaska State Representative John Binkley Concerning House Bill 376 (Feb. 18, 1986).

<sup>6</sup> FTC Staff Comments Before the Colorado Public Utilities Commission In The Matter of The Proposed Rules Regulating Transportation By Motor Vehicle, 4 Code of Colorado Regulations 723-6 (Mar. 6, 2013), available at <http://ftc.gov/os/2013/03/130703coloradopublicutilities.pdf>.

<sup>7</sup> The FTC sued the cities of New Orleans and Minneapolis in 1984, charging both cities with unfair competition by combining with taxicab operators to impose regulations that limited the number of taxicab licenses, increased fares, and eliminated competition in violation of the federal antitrust laws. The complaint against Minneapolis was withdrawn after the city revised its ordinance to permit more competition. The complaint against New Orleans also was withdrawn after the state authorized the conduct in question by a new law. See generally FTC, 1985 ANNUAL REPORT 5 (1985), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/annualreports/ar1985.pdf>.

<sup>8</sup> MARK W. FRANKENA & PAUL A. PAUTLER, AN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS OF TAXICAB REGULATION (1984) (FTC Bureau of Economics Staff Report), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/be/econrpt/233832.pdf> (“Staff Report”).

<sup>9</sup> See OECD, Directorate for Financial and Enterprise Affairs, Competition Committee Working Party No. 2 on Competition and Regulation, Taxi Services Regulation and Competition 199-210 (Sept. 11, 2008) (Submission of the United States), available at <http://www.oecd.org/regreform/sectors/41472612.pdf>.

---

<sup>10</sup> Id. at 200 (“As of 2007, the general description of the taxicab industry and taxicab regulation in the United States remains much as it was when Frankena and Pautler described it in 1984. That is, nothing dramatic has happened to alter the U.S. industry in the interim.”).

<sup>11</sup> See generally Lauren Goode, Worth It? An App to Get a Cab, WALL STREET J. (June 17, 2011), available at <http://blogs.wsj.com/digits/2011/06/17/worth-it-an-app-to-get-a-cab/>.

<sup>12</sup> See generally id.

<sup>13</sup> See generally id.

<sup>14</sup> See generally Brian X. Chen, Uber, an App That Summons a Car, Plans a Cheaper Service Using Hybrids, N.Y. TIMES, July 1, 2012, available at <http://www.nytimes.com> (discussing charging by time, distance, consumer demand, and gratuities); Michael B. Farrell, Taxi app Hailo to expand service, BOSTON GLOBE, Feb. 5, 2013, available at <http://www.bostonglobe.com> (discussing booking fees, service fees, and gratuities).

<sup>15</sup> See supra note 6.

<sup>16</sup> AO NO. 2013-36 (2013) at Ch. 11.20.016–11-20.050 (“Proposed Ordinance”).

<sup>17</sup> Email of Debbie Ossiander to Christopher Grengs Concerning Anchorage Taxi Information (Feb. 28, 2013).

<sup>18</sup> Id.

<sup>19</sup> Email of Debbie Ossiander to David Conn Concerning Taxi Permit Sales in Anchorage (Mar. 27, 2013).

<sup>20</sup> Proposed Ordinance, supra note 16, at Ch. 11.20.030.

<sup>21</sup> Id. at Ch. 11.20.035-11.20.036.

<sup>22</sup> Id. at Ch. 11.20.030 F.; Ch. 11.20.040.

<sup>23</sup> FTC Staff Comments to Anchorage Assemblyman John Wood, supra note 5, at 5.

<sup>24</sup> See generally Staff Report, supra note 8, at 1-2.

<sup>25</sup> See generally id. at 112-56; OECD, supra note 9, at 8-9, 202-05.

<sup>26</sup> See generally OECD, supra note 9, at 17.

<sup>27</sup> See generally Staff Report, supra note 8, at 115-16, 156; OECD, supra note 9, at 202-05. Price declines of as much as 20% were reported in the 1990s in major New Zealand cities due to the deregulation of entry. OECD at 204 n.20. Indianapolis, Indiana deregulated taxicabs in 1994 and allowed jitney (transportation services for individuals along a semi-fixed route) and minivan operation. According to the city, new entrants cut fares by 7-10%. Others have questioned the overall, long-term effect of the Indianapolis deregulation, however. Id. at 202-03. Seattle, Washington opened entry and allowed fares to be set by individual taxicab firms in 1979. One study found that immediately after regulation, the fare for an average trip increased by 35%. Using a longer time frame, another study found that by 1984 these changes may have led to a 5% net reduction in fares, as radio-dispatch fares fell and taxicab stand fares rose. A third study found no net change in fares. Staff Report at 125-31; OECD at 202 (both summarizing the experience of Seattle after deregulation). Other studies have questioned whether regulated fares were, in fact, held artificially low prior to deregulation, as compared to general rates of price inflation. Craig Leisy, Taxicab Deregulation and Reregulation in Seattle: Lessons Learned 5 (2001).

---

<sup>28</sup> Staff Report, supra note 8, at 116-20, 156. See also generally Office of Fair Trading, The Regulation of Licensed Taxi and PHV Services in the UK (2003), available at http://www.offt.gov.uk/shared\_offt/reports/comp\_policy/oft676.pdf. The report finds, among other things, that quantity controls on taxicab service result in: fewer taxis per capita; longer wait times for service; and the use of less suitable alternative transportation by consumers. Therefore, the report recommends that such quantity controls be removed. Id. at 2-6, 23-44.

<sup>29</sup> See generally Staff Report, supra note 8, at 102-03.

<sup>30</sup> Id. at 68, 74-79, 105-11. Typically, the operator of a taxicab service, as an overall business, is distinct from an individual taxicab driver (“cabbie”) who physically transports passengers via automobile.

<sup>31</sup> Id. at 106-07 (collecting taxicab license values in various cities); OECD, supra note 9, at 208-10 (appendix collecting taxicab license values in various cities); Government of the District of Columbia, Office of the Chief Financial Officer, Office of Revenue Analysis, Taxicab Medallions – A Review of Experiences in Other Cities 2-3 (May 31, 2011) (appendix collecting taxicab license values in various cities), available at http://cfo.dc.gov/sites/default/files/dc/sites/ocfo/publication/attachments/ocfo\_taxicab\_briefing\_note.pdf.

<sup>32</sup> Certain authors, however, have argued that these substantial license values serve as a deterrent mechanism that ensures good behavior by cab drivers who fear the loss of the license in the event of inappropriate behavior. Staff Report, supra note 8, at 71-72; OECD, supra note 9, at 201.

<sup>33</sup> Special issues have sometimes arisen following regulatory reform, as in the case of first-in first-out taxicab lines at airport, rail station, or downtown taxicab stand areas. Such queues may complicate consumer efforts to find the lowest fares. For example, it appears in some cases that first-in first-out taxicab queues have inhibited price competition, that drivers sometimes bickered over their places in line as queues of waiting cabs lengthened, and drivers also sometimes refused service to passengers wanting only a short trip. Staff Report, supra note 8, at 1, 50-51, 123-24, 156; OECD, supra note 9, at 204-05. But these particular problems do not provide an argument that new entry will harm consumers or competition, generally. Instead, consumers appear to be better off when regulators pursue alternatives for such locations that are less restrictive than wholesale bans on new entry, such as: redesigning taxicab stands, increasing fare transparency and fare competition, imposing lower fare ceilings, increasing taxicab line user fees, or entering into contracts with operators.

<sup>34</sup> Although an expansion in the number of passenger transportation vehicles could potentially lead to traffic congestion effects under certain conditions, permitting an increase in the number of passenger transportation vehicles can also potentially reduce congestion in areas that currently have high traffic densities to the extent that consumers decrease their reliance on private automobiles.

---

<sup>35</sup> Proposed Ordinance, supra note 16, at Ch. 11.10.010; 11.20.260. Limousine service from a specific point of departure to a specific destination of no more than one hour is subject to a minimum one-hour charge at a minimum rate of $60.00 per hour; all other limousine trips are subject to a minimum ninety-minute charge at a minimum rate of $45.00 per hour. Id. at Ch. 11.20.260 B. Executive sedan service from a specific point of departure to a specific destination of no more than a half-hour is subject to a minimum half-hour charge at a minimum rate of $25.00 per half-hour; all other executive sedan trips are subject to a minimum hourly charge of $40.00 per hour. Id. at Ch. 11.20.260 C.

<sup>36</sup> Id. at Ch. 11.10.050. In particular, see Ch. 11.10.50 A. 1.-2., 5.-6.

<sup>37</sup> Id. at Ch. 11.110.50 A. 1., 7.

<sup>38</sup> From the perspective of consumer protection, information relating to the provision of passenger transportation vehicle services communicated to consumers should be evaluated on a totality of the circumstances approach. See generally FTC Policy Statement on Deception, Appended to Cliffdale Assoc., Inc., 103 F.T.C. 110, 174 (1984), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/bcp/policystmt/ad-decept.htm>.

<sup>39</sup> FTC Staff Comments to Alaska State Representative John Binkley, supra note 5, at 5-6.

<sup>40</sup> See Proposed Ordinance, supra note 16, at Ch. 11.10.050 C.

<sup>41</sup> See generally OECD, supra note 9, at 20.

<sup>42</sup> See generally id. at 20-21.

<sup>43</sup> See generally supra note 6.

<sup>44</sup> For example, under the Washington, D.C. Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012 (D.C. Council B19-0892) (adopted Jan. 18, 2013) (amending D.C. Official Code § 50-329.02), "For the purposes of this section, the term 'digital dispatch service' means a business that provides a service that connects a passenger to a public vehicle-for-hire through advanced reservation, including by computer, mobile phone application, text, email, or web-based reservations, or by other means as the [District of Columbia Taxicab] Commission may define by rule."

<sup>45</sup> See generally Press Release, California Public Utilities Commission, CPUC Enters Into Operating Agreement With Uber (Jan. 31, 2013), available at <http://www.cpuc.ca.gov/NR/rdonlyres/F013B3B9-ED4E-4554-9C34-E468C9DAED88/0/CPUCEntersIntoOperatingAgreementwithUber.pdf> (describing an interim agreement allowing Uber Technologies, Inc. to operate pursuant to certain safety requirements, while a California Public Utilities Commission rulemaking on innovations in passenger vehicle transportation services is underway). The details of this agreement are contained in Term Sheet for Settlement Between the Safety and Enforcement Division of the California Public Utilities

---

Commission and Uber Technologies, Inc. Re Case PSG-3018, Citation F-5195 (Jan. 2013)
(available via the California Public Utilities Commission).

<sup>46</sup> For example, under the Washington, D.C. Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012, supra note 44, (amending D.C. Official Code § 50-329.02), “A digital dispatch service shall be exempt from regulation by the [District of Columbia Taxicab] Commission, other than rules and regulations that are necessary for the safety of customers and drivers or consumer protection.”

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

Office of Policy Planning
Bureau of Competition
Bureau of Consumer Protection
Bureau of Economics

June 7, 2013

Mr. Jacques P. Lerner
General Counsel
District of Columbia Taxicab Commission
2041 Martin Luther King, Jr., Ave., S.E.
Suite 204
Washington, D.C. 20020

Re: Second Proposed Rulemakings Regarding Chapters 12, 14, and 16 of Title 31

Dear Mr. Lerner:

The staffs of the Federal Trade Commission's Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics appreciate this opportunity to provide comments to the District of Columbia Taxicab Commission ("DCTC") on three notices of second proposed rulemakings regarding Chapters 12, 14, and 16 of Title 31 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations, concerning taxicabs and public vehicles for hire.<sup>1</sup> These proposed rules follow enactment of the "Taxicab Service Improvement Amendment Act of 2012" and the "Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012," which appear intended to modernize Washington, D.C.'s regulatory framework for passenger motor vehicle transportation services.

Staff appreciates that these legislative updates to the framework appear designed to facilitate new forms of competition that are likely to benefit consumers, especially by providing for the legal recognition of new software applications ("applications") to arrange and pay for passenger motor vehicle transportation services. We are concerned, however, that certain of the proposed rules may unnecessarily impede competition in these services. We also comment on certain proposed rules that address disclosure and data security issues that applications may raise.

I. Interest and Experience of the Federal Trade Commission

The FTC is an independent federal agency that enforces laws prohibiting unfair methods of competition and unfair and deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce.<sup>2</sup> The Commission has wide-ranging responsibilities concerning nearly all segments of the economy. Pursuant to this responsibility, the Commission seeks to identify business practices and regulations that impede competition without offering countervailing benefits to consumers, and advocates for policies that promote competition and consumer protection.<sup>3</sup>

Competition and consumer protection naturally complement and mutually reinforce each other, to the benefit of consumers. Consumers benefit from market competition, which creates incentives for producers to be innovative and responsive to consumer preferences with respect to price, quality, and other product and service characteristics. As the U.S. Supreme Court has recognized, the benefits of competition go beyond lower prices: “The assumption that competition is the best method of allocating resources in a free market recognizes that all elements of a bargain - quality, service, safety, and durability - and not just the immediate cost, are favorably affected by the free opportunity to select among alternative offers.”<sup>4</sup> At the same time, consumer protections promote informed consumer decision-making by prohibiting firms from engaging in unfair and deceptive acts or practices, by requiring sellers to make truthful and non-deceptive representations about their offerings, and by protecting consumers’ privacy.

In carrying out its mission, the Commission has developed considerable expertise in analyzing issues relating to passenger vehicle transportation services. FTC staff previously has submitted a number of advocacy filings related to taxicabs with various local and state authorities, including recent comments regarding the regulation of new applications for obtaining passenger vehicle transportation services in Anchorage, Alaska and Colorado.<sup>5</sup> In addition, the FTC has brought enforcement actions against two cities relating to taxicab regulation,<sup>6</sup> and has issued two significant reports on taxi regulation.<sup>7</sup>

The Commission also has expertise in various aspects of competition and consumer protection that are relevant to new passenger motor vehicle transportation applications. The Commission has developed considerable expertise relating to the emergence of new technologies and innovation as a form of competition.<sup>8</sup> The FTC also has extensive consumer protection expertise in the advertising and marketing of products and services, including deception and disclosure issues.<sup>9</sup> Staff has recently updated guidance on how to make effective disclosures in the online context.<sup>10</sup> The Commission has also developed consumer protection expertise in data security, privacy, and identity theft issues that applications may raise.<sup>11</sup>

II. The Passenger Vehicle Transportation Marketplace

Until recently, the marketplace for commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services in the United States had remained largely unchanged since at least the early 1980s.<sup>12</sup> However, primarily in response to the introduction of smartphones around 2007, both incumbent passenger motor vehicle transportation service providers and other entrepreneurs have introduced new software applications, sometimes also called digital dispatch services, which allow consumers to arrange and pay for commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services in a variety of ways.<sup>13</sup> These software applications may make use of technologies such as mobile smartphone applications, Internet web pages, email messages, and text messages.

These software applications are an innovative form of competition that may enable consumers to more easily arrange and pay for commercial passenger motor vehicle transportation services, as compared to traditional methods such as street hails or prearrangement by telephone through traditional service dispatchers.<sup>14</sup> For example, some applications use the Global Positioning System (“GPS”) technology incorporated into smartphones to enable consumers to locate nearby vehicles and track their arrival on an electronic map, thus facilitating matching between customers and service.<sup>15</sup> Some applications also utilize the GPS and computing capabilities of smartphones to enable new fare calculation methods based on one or more factors, such as distance, time, per trip fees, demand, additional services, or gratuities, which the application can then charge to a credit card.<sup>16</sup> Such applications may also use third-party credit card processing and electronic receipts, in lieu of traditional payment methods and paper receipts.<sup>17</sup>

These technologies and methods may be more responsive to consumer demand, may promote a more efficient allocation of resources (e.g., vehicles and drivers) to consumers, may expand demand for passenger vehicle transportation services, and may reduce consumers’ transaction costs in paying for such services. At the very least, these technologies and methods provide new alternatives for consumers. They may also raise novel consumer protection issues, for example, relating to consumers’ understanding of information communicated via an application regarding fares, safety and liability, and other terms of use, and the privacy and security of information collected.

III. A Regulatory Framework Should be Responsive to New Methods of Competition, While Maintaining Appropriate, Reasonably Tailored Consumer Protections

A forward-looking regulatory framework should allow new and innovative forms of competition to enter the marketplace unless regulation is necessary to achieve some countervailing pro-competitive or other benefit, such as protecting the public from significant harm. Consumers benefit from competition between traditional and new products and services, and from new methods of delivering services. Regulations therefore need to be reviewed and revised periodically to facilitate and encourage the emergence of new forms of competition.

In the case of passenger motor vehicle transportation services, competition takes place on a variety of dimensions, including price, availability, timeliness, convenience, quality, vehicle type, payment mechanism, and other amenities. A regulatory framework should enable these various kinds of competition and not directly or indirectly restrict the introduction or use of new types of applications, or the novel features they may provide, absent some significant evidence of public harm. Regulation of passenger motor vehicle transportation services should focus primarily on ensuring qualified drivers, safe and clean vehicles, sufficient liability insurance, transparency of fare information, and compliance with other applicable laws. Regulation of new computer and phone-based applications, therefore, should focus primarily on ensuring the safety of customers and drivers, deterring deceptive practices relating to fares, safety and liability, and other terms of use, and addressing other consumer protection issues, especially privacy, data security, and the prevention of identity theft. Regulation should not in purpose or effect favor one group of competitors over another.

As discussed in further detail below in regard to the revised proposed rules, staff respectfully suggests that DCTC carefully consider the potential direct and indirect impact of its proposed regulations on competition. We believe that unwarranted restrictions on competition should be avoided, and any restrictions on competition that are implemented should be no broader than necessary to address legitimate subjects of regulation, such as safety and consumer protection, and narrowly crafted to minimize any potential anticompetitive impact.

IV. The Proposed Rules and Enabling Legislation

DCTC has issued three notices of second proposed rulemakings regarding Title 31 of the D.C. Municipal Regulations, concerning taxicabs and other public vehicles for hire. The proposed rules would amend Chapter 12 to establish requirements for luxury class services, composed of limousines and sedans, establish substantive rules governing sedans in a new Chapter 14, and establish substantive rules governing traditional and digital dispatch services in a new Chapter 16.

These proposed rules follow enactment of the “Taxicab Service Improvement Amendment Act of 2012” and the “Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012.”<sup>18</sup> The Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012 provides for legal recognition of applications in Washington, D.C. It defines “digital dispatch service” as “a business that provides a service that connects a passenger to a public vehicle-for-hire through advanced reservation, including by computer, mobile phone application, text, email, or web-based reservations, or by other means as the Commission may define by rule.”<sup>19</sup> Under the Act, “A digital dispatch service shall be exempt from regulation by the Commission, other than rules and regulations that are necessary for the safety of customers and drivers or consumer protection.”<sup>20</sup> Further, “Any rules and regulations shall protect personal privacy rights of customers and drivers, shall not result in the disclosure of confidential business information, and shall allow providers to limit the geographic location of trip data to individual census tracts” subject to certain conditions.<sup>21</sup> These bills also require that a “sedan-class vehicle” operate “exclusively through digital dispatch” and charge on the basis of time and distance, except for certain well-traveled routes, like trips to airports, or event-related trips, which may be charged using flat fees.<sup>22</sup>

A. Proposed Rules That Raise Potential Competition Issues

1. Proposed 1299.1

Proposed 1299.1 would define a “Luxury class vehicle” as a limousine or sedan that meets specific requirements. Among other things, a luxury class vehicle must: be an Environmental Protection Agency-designated Large Car, Mid-size Car, Passenger Van, or Sport Utility Vehicle; have three or more passenger doors; carry four to eight passengers; and have manufacturer-installed luxury features, such as a premium sound system, reading lights, aluminum wheels, and noise-dampening materials. Proposed 1299.1’s definition of a “Sedan” would further require, among other things, that sedan vehicles: not be an EPA-designated Passenger Van; not be stretched; have a curb weight of at least 3,200 pounds; and be black or blue-black in color.

Staff recommends that DCTC consider the extent to which the above requirements may impede competition, or are necessary to ensure safety or some other important consumer benefit. Proposed 1299.1 facially restricts the types of vehicles that can be operated as limousines or sedans, which may be an important consideration for some consumers and a valuable component of competition. For example, the 3,200 pound weight requirement for sedans might exclude certain lighter-weight, more fuel efficient, and more environmentally friendly vehicles from being used for sedan services, including lighter-weight alternative fuel vehicles, that are currently available or that may become more widely available and popular in the future. The use of fuel efficient vehicles may be an important component of consumer demand for sedan services and the proposed rule would impede sedan operators from competing with regard to this feature. In addition, there is no evident rationale for requiring that sedans be either black or blue-black, particularly as this limitation is not applied to other vehicle classes like limousines. Such a provision could restrict the use of available vehicles as sedans, and, thereby, also restrict the use of available vehicles that can be arranged through applications. It would also restrict the ways that sedan services might compete using distinctive branding based on color. Finally, we note that vehicle requirements should also be clear and understandable, and the requirements for luxury features are not precise, are subject to interpretation, and therefore could create uncertainty as to whether certain vehicles would comply with this provision. This uncertainty alone might inhibit competition unnecessarily.

2. Proposed 1605.6

Proposed 1605.6 would prohibit a digital dispatch service from associating with a taxicab operator in a branded taxicab fleet or association unless the fleet or association agrees to permit the association, provided that the fleet or association currently provides dispatch services for its own vehicles or has filed or received registration to operate a digital dispatch service for its own vehicles.

Staff recommends that DCTC allow for flexibility and experimentation in the ways that applications can affiliate with all types of passenger transportation vehicle operators and organizations. We note that this restriction does not appear to be related to any evident concern with safety or consumer protection and that its rationale is not obvious, especially given that it would apply only to taxicab operators and not to other types of vehicle operators, like sedans. Moreover, this provision might have the effect of promoting the standardization of restrictive fleet and association policies regarding the affiliation of vehicle operators with applications, which would decrease the incentives and abilities of fleets and associations to compete with one another for operators by offering more flexible policies to operators. Absent evidence of some particular harm, staff recommends against restricting the ways that applications and operators can associate with each other, which harms the public by limiting the ways that they can obtain taxi service.

3. Proposed 1604.4

Proposed 1604.4 would prohibit a digital dispatch service from making a “substantial change” to its dispatch or payment solution for taxicabs or digital payment system for sedans, without DCTC’s written approval during the twenty-four month period for which its certificate of operating authority is effective.<sup>23</sup>

Staff recommends that DCTC consider whether this provision would unnecessarily burden, and thereby restrict, the ability of digital dispatch services to update their software in a regular, timely manner, and whether there are other less burdensome alternatives. By their nature, applications are very likely to seek to update and upgrade their software on a periodic or sometimes more frequent basis, as, for example, by adding additional features and services, improving data security, or otherwise improving the software. If substantial software updates warrant regulatory review, DCTC should adopt a flexible, streamlined framework to avoid unnecessarily inhibiting the prompt deployment of innovative features that consumers might benefit from or demand.

We also note that the term “substantial change” is undefined, and may create uncertainty as to whether certain updates require written approval. For example, it is unclear whether an application that wants to provide additional features to its customers would be considered to be introducing a “substantial change” to its service, and therefore, subject to compliance with this provision. A framework for introducing and updating digital dispatch services should be clear and understandable to avoid inhibiting and raising the cost of innovation.

4. Proposed 1404.3

Proposed 1404.3 would require a digital dispatch service, using data from each digital payment system unit, to transmit several pieces of detailed trip information to DCTC every twenty-four hours via a single data feed consistent in structure across all digital payment systems.<sup>24</sup>

Staff recommends that DCTC consider the extent to which these requirements are necessary to ensure safety or protect consumers, or may unnecessarily impede competition. In particular, staff recommends that DCTC consider the technical implications of this provision. Any data collection requirements should be carefully tailored to avoid inadvertently creating technical barriers to entry that may inhibit competitive entry and operation by applications. Requiring applications to transmit such detailed trip data to a third party, such as DCTC, also may raise data security issues, as further discussed below.<sup>25</sup> Before implementing this provision, DCTC should consider the totality of the circumstances relating to the prospective transmission of such information. In addition to considering possible benefits from collecting such data, DCTC should also carefully consider the types of information involved, the associated risks and vulnerabilities of collecting, handling, and storing such information, and the monetary and other compliance costs. DCTC also should consider whether there are less burdensome means of achieving the same ends.

If DCTC does collect detailed trip information, staff further cautions against publicly disclosing or otherwise sharing it among competitors involved in facilitating or supplying passenger vehicle transportation services, including digital dispatch services, vehicle operators, and vehicle fleets or associations. If shared, this sort of data might facilitate tacit or explicit collusion among competitors. Such collusion would harm consumers through, for example, higher prices, decreased output, decreased quality, or reduced innovation.<sup>26</sup> Any detailed trip information that DCTC collects, therefore, should be treated as confidential business information.

B. Proposed Rules That Raise Potential Consumer Protection Issues

1. Proposed 1402.1 and 1404.2(b)

Proposed 1402.1 would require that passenger rates and charges for sedan service arranged through a digital dispatch service comply with certain disclosure requirements and not exceed an estimated fare by more than twenty percent or twenty-five dollars, whichever is less, unless due to factors beyond operator control.<sup>27</sup> Proposed 1404.2(b) would require each digital payment system unit used with a digital dispatch service to provide passengers a written or electronic receipt containing certain fare information, other trip information, and information about the service.<sup>28</sup>

Truthful and non-deceptive information about passenger vehicle transportation services is necessary for the marketplace to function efficiently and effectively. Requiring certain advance disclosures or the provision of certain information in a receipt may be efficient ways to promote pricing transparency and protect consumers from misleading “drip pricing” practices, and to help avoid or resolve other instances of significant consumer confusion.<sup>29</sup> Any such requirements, however, should be reasonably tailored to avoid unnecessarily inhibiting the entry and operation of applications.

Staff appreciates that these proposed requirements appear designed to promote the dissemination of truthful and non-deceptive information to consumers. Staff takes no position on these particular requirements, but recommends that DCTC consider evaluating the effectiveness of the proposed requirements before implementation and monitoring their effectiveness, such as through conducting surveys or evaluating consumer complaints, to ensure that disclosures are made in a clear and conspicuous manner and the requirements are otherwise achieving the underlying consumer protection objectives. DCTC may also wish to consider the principles and examples for mobile and other online advertising disclosures provided in FTC staff's recently updated guidance document, .com Disclosures: How to Make Effective Disclosures in Digital Advertising.<sup>30</sup> Among other things, it emphasizes that advertisers should ensure that disclosures are clear and conspicuous on all devices and platforms consumers may use.

2. Proposed 1603.17 and 1603.6(d)

Proposed 1603.17 would require a dispatch service, traditional or digital, to store its business records in compliance with industry best practices and all applicable laws. The latter requirement would seem to include compliance with the FTC Act.<sup>31</sup>

In contemplating the collection, handling, and use of customer data, such as personal information, trip information, and credit card information by applications, DCTC may wish to consider the flexible approach that the FTC has taken regarding data security in its consumer protection law enforcement actions, consumer and business education, and policy activities relating to data security. The FTC's approach requires that businesses implement security practices that are reasonable and appropriate in light of the types of information they collect and the risks and vulnerabilities they face, and also takes into account the costs associated with implementation of these practices.<sup>32</sup> The FTC has brought law enforcement actions against a variety of commercial entities, such as retailers, data brokers, and social networking web sites, which have failed to implement reasonable and appropriate security measures to protect consumer data. In these cases, the FTC has required businesses to establish, implement, and maintain a data security program.<sup>33</sup>

Proposed 1603.6(d) would further require each digital dispatch service that processes digital payments to meet certain standards of the Open Web Application Security Project, PCI Security Standards Council for payment card data security, and the National Automated Clearing House Association for direct debit transactions.

Staff appreciates that these proposed requirements appear intended to address data security issues that may arise relating to payment processing. Staff takes no position on these particular standards, but emphasizes that the collection, use, and retention of consumer information, such as payment information, should be reasonable and appropriate for the totality of the circumstances at issue.

3. Proposed 1603.15

Proposed 1603.15 would prohibit dispatch services, both traditional and digital, from releasing information that would result in a violation of the personal privacy of the passenger or person requesting service or threaten passenger or operator safety, or permit a person not authorized by the dispatch service to access real-time information about the location, apparent gender, or number of passengers awaiting pick up. However, the provision does not elaborate on these prohibitions, their enforcement, or possible remedies.

As suggested above, DCTC may wish to consider the FTC's approach to data security. In particular, DCTC may wish to consider the remedy and monitoring provisions that the FTC has secured in settlement orders, as means to addressing any security breaches that occur.<sup>34</sup>

V. Conclusion

FTC staff appreciates this opportunity to provide views in regard to this matter and would be happy to address any questions you may have regarding competition and consumer protection policy in the passenger motor vehicle transportation marketplace.

Respectfully submitted,

Andrew I. Gavil, Director
Office of Policy Planning

Richard A. Feinstein, Director
Bureau of Competition

Charles A. Harwood, Acting Director
Bureau of Consumer Protection

Howard Shelanski, Director
Bureau of Economics

---

<sup>1</sup> This staff letter expresses the views of the Federal Trade Commission’s Office of Policy Planning, Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics. The letter does not necessarily represent the views of the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC” or “Commission”) or of any individual Commissioner. The Commission has, however, voted to authorize staff to submit these comments.

<sup>2</sup> Federal Trade Commission Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45.

<sup>3</sup> Specific statutory authority for the FTC’s competition advocacy program is found in Sections 6(a) and (f) of the FTC Act, under which Congress authorized the FTC “[t]o gather and compile information concerning, and to investigate from time to time the organization, business, conduct, practices, and management of any person, partnership, or corporation engaged in or whose business affects commerce,” and “[t]o make public from time to time such portions of the information obtained by it hereunder as are in the public interest . . .” 15 U.S.C. § 46(a), (f).

<sup>4</sup> Nat’l Soc’y of Prof’l Eng’rs v. United States, 435 U.S. 679, 695 (1978); accord FTC v. Superior Court Trial Lawyers Ass’n, 493 U.S. 411, 423 (1990).

<sup>5</sup> FTC Staff Comments to the Honorable Debbie Ossiander Concerning AO NO. 2013-36 Regarding the Regulatory Framework for the Licensing and Permitting of Taxicabs, Limousines, and Other Vehicles for Hire in Anchorage, Alaska (Apr. 19, 2013), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2013/04/130426anchoragecomment.pdf>; FTC Staff Comments Before the Colorado Public Utilities Commission In The Matter of The Proposed Rules Regulating Transportation By Motor Vehicle, 4 Code of Colorado Regulations 723-6 (Mar. 6, 2013), available at <http://ftc.gov/os/2013/03/130703coloradopublicutilities.pdf>.

<sup>6</sup> The FTC sued the cities of New Orleans and Minneapolis in 1984, charging both cities with unfair competition by combining with taxicab operators to impose regulations that limited the number of taxicab licenses, increased fares, and eliminated competition in violation of the federal antitrust laws. The complaint against Minneapolis was withdrawn after the city revised its ordinance to permit more competition. The complaint against New Orleans also was withdrawn after the state authorized the conduct in question by a new law. See generally FTC, 1985 ANNUAL REPORT 5 (1985), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/annualreports/ar1985.pdf>.

<sup>7</sup> Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (“OECD”), Directorate for Financial and Enterprise Affairs, Competition Committee Working Party No. 2 on Competition and Regulation, Taxi Services Regulation and Competition 199-210 (Sept. 11, 2008) (submission of the United States), available at <http://www.oecd.org/regreform/sectors/41472612.pdf>; MARK W. FRANKENA & PAUL A. PAUTLER, AN ECONOMIC ANALYSIS OF TAXICAB REGULATION (1984) (FTC Bureau of Economics Staff Report), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/be/econrpt/233832.pdf>.

<sup>8</sup> See generally U.S. DEP’T OF JUSTICE & FTC, ANTITRUST ENFORCEMENT AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS: PROMOTING INNOVATION AND COMPETITION (2007), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/reports/innovation/P040101PromotingInnovationandCompetitionrpt0704.pdf>; FTC, TO PROMOTE INNOVATION: THE PROPER BALANCE OF COMPETITION AND PATENT LAW AND POLICY (2003), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2003/10/innovationrpt.pdf>; FTC STAFF, ANTICIPATING THE 21ST CENTURY: COMPETITION POLICY IN THE NEW HIGH-TECH, GLOBAL MARKETPLACE (1996), available at http://www.ftc.gov/opp/global/report/gc\_v1.pdf and FTC STAFF,

---

ANTICIPATING THE 21ST CENTURY: CONSUMER PROTECTION POLICY IN THE NEW HIGH-TECH, GLOBAL MARKETPLACE (1996), available at http://www.ftc.gov/opp/global/report/gc\_v2.pdf.

<sup>9</sup> For example, the FTC designs numerous energy cost disclosures, including the EnergyGuide label for appliances and light bulbs, and has done consumer research in support of those label designs. See, e.g., FTC Rule Concerning Disclosures Regarding Energy Consumption and Water Use of Certain Home Appliances and Other Products Required Under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act (“Appliance Labeling Rule”), 16 C.F.R. Part 305; see also FTC, News Release, FTC Amends Appliance Labeling Rule to Ease Burdens on Businesses (Dec. 31, 2012), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/opa/2012/12/energylabel.shtm>. FTC staff has also conducted research regarding consumer understanding of disclosures relating to mortgages. See, e.g., JAMES M. LACKO & JANIS K. PAPPALARDO, IMPROVING CONSUMER MORTGAGE DISCLOSURES: AN EMPIRICAL ASSESSMENT OF CURRENT AND PROTOTYPE DISCLOSURE FORMS (2007) (FTC Bureau of Economics Staff Report), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2007/06/P025505MortgageDisclosureReport.pdf>; JAMES M. LACKO & JANIS K. PAPPALARDO, THE EFFECT OF MORTGAGE BROKER COMPENSATION DISCLOSURES ON CONSUMERS AND COMPETITION: A CONTROLLED EXPERIMENT (2004) (FTC Bureau of Economics Staff Report), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2004/01/030123mortgagefullrpt.pdf>.

<sup>10</sup> FTC Staff, .com Disclosures: How to Make Effective Disclosures in Digital Advertising (2013), available at <http://ftc.gov/os/2013/03/130312dotcomdisclosures.pdf>.

<sup>11</sup> See FTC Staff, Mobile Privacy Disclosures: Building Trust Through Transparency (2013), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2013/02/130201mobileprivacyreport.pdf>. See also infra Sections IV. B. 2.-3. (discussing the FTC’s approach to data security).

<sup>12</sup> OECD Submission, supra note 7, at 200 (“As of 2007, the general description of the taxicab industry and taxicab regulation in the United States remains much as it was when Frankena and Pautler described it in 1984. That is, nothing dramatic has happened to alter the U.S. industry in the interim.”).

<sup>13</sup> See generally Lauren Goode, Worth It? An App to Get a Cab, WALL STREET J. (June 17, 2011), available at <http://blogs.wsj.com/digits/2011/06/17/worth-it-an-app-to-get-a-cab/>.

<sup>14</sup> See generally id.

<sup>15</sup> See generally id.

<sup>16</sup> See generally Brian X. Chen, Uber, an App That Summons a Car, Plans a Cheaper Service Using Hybrids, N.Y. TIMES, July 1, 2012, available at <http://www.nytimes.com> (discussing charging by time, distance, consumer demand, and gratuities); Michael B. Farrell, Taxi app Hailo to expand service, BOSTON GLOBE, Feb. 5, 2013, available at <http://www.bostonglobe.com> (discussing booking fees, service fees, and gratuities).

<sup>17</sup> See generally Goode, supra note 13.

---

<sup>18</sup> L19-270, 19th Council Sess. (D.C. 2012) (enacted Jan. 18, 2013) (Public Vehicle-for-Hire Innovation Amendment Act of 2012); L19-184, 19th Council Sess. (D.C. 2012) (enacted Aug. 2, 2012) (Taxicab Service Improvement Amendment Act of 2012).

<sup>19</sup> L19-270, supra note 18 (amending D.C. Official Code § 50-329.02).

<sup>20</sup> Id. (emphasis added).

<sup>21</sup> Among these conditions are that: if a digital dispatch service connects a consumer with a vehicle other than a taxicab, before booking the vehicle the digital dispatch service shall disclose to the customer the applicable fare calculation method, applicable rates, and the option for an estimated fare; upon completion of the trip, the customer shall receive a paper or electronic receipt that lists the origination and destination of the trip, the total distance and time of the trip, and a breakdown of the total fare paid, including any fees and gratuity; and the digital dispatch service provides service throughout the entire District of Columbia. Id.

<sup>22</sup> Id. (amending D.C. Official Code § 50-303(20)). The bills further provide that DCTC may create and regulate classes of vehicles independent of taxicabs and limousines, including sedans, “provided, that the rules and regulations are necessary for the safety of customers and drivers, consumer protection, or the collection of non-personal trip data information.” Id. (amending D.C. Official Code § 50-329).

<sup>23</sup> This provision would further require that a digital dispatch service inform DCTC of a proposed substantial change to its dispatch or payment solution or digital payment system for sedans that would require written approval at least thirty days prior to the change, and notify DCTC of any other change in the information contained in the certification or its supporting documentation, such as contact information, within seven days of the change.

<sup>24</sup> This provision would require that a digital dispatch service transmit the following data: the date; operator and vehicle identifiers in an anonymous format established by DCTC; the time at the beginning of each tour of duty; the distance of each trip; the time of pickup and drop-off of each trip; the geospatially-recorded place of pickup of each trip; the geospatially-recorded place of drop-off of each trip, which may be generalized to census tract level; a unique trip number assigned by the digital dispatch service to each trip; the total fare and a breakdown of the fare including all rates and charges and any gratuity; and the time at the end of the tour of duty.

<sup>25</sup> See infra Sections IV. B. 2.-3. (discussing the FTC’s approach to data security).

<sup>26</sup> See generally FTC Comments Before the Environmental Protection Agency Concerning Proposed Confidentiality Determinations for Data Required Under the Mandatory Greenhouse Gas Reporting Rule and Proposed Amendment to Special Rules Governing Certain Information Obtained Under the Clean Air Act (Sept. 30, 2010), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2010/09/100930epagreenhouse.pdf> (discussing a proposed EPA rule concerning the confidentiality of data submitted under EPA’s Greenhouse Gas Reporting Rule).

<sup>27</sup> Under this provision, sedan rates and charges must: be disclosed to the passenger in a statement of the digital dispatch service’s fare calculation method; be used to calculate an estimated fare that shall be offered to the passenger prior to accepting service, including the effect of any applicable demand pricing; be consistent with fare calculation information posted on the digital dispatch service’s website; and not exceed the fare estimate by more than twenty percent or twenty-five dollars, whichever is less, unless due to factors beyond operator control. See also Proposed 1603.11 (requiring each dispatch service, traditional or digital, to maintain a website with certain current information, including information about the dispatch service, a statement of how the fare is calculated for each class of offered service, whether the dispatch service uses demand pricing, and, if so, how such pricing affects its rates).

---

<sup>28</sup> This provision would require that each digital payment system provide the passenger with a written or electronic receipt before the passenger exits the vehicle, containing: the date and time of the trip; trip distance; the vehicle's tag number; the name and customer service telephone number of the digital dispatch service; information sufficient to allow the passenger to reference the passenger's digital dispatch service account or payment card number used to pay the fare; the total fare and a breakdown of the fare including all rates and charges and any gratuity; and a statement that sedan service in Washington, D.C. is regulated by DCTC.

<sup>29</sup> Drip pricing is a pricing technique whereby firms advertise only part of a product's price and reveal other charges later as the customer goes through the buying process. The additional charges can be mandatory, such as hotel resort fees, or fees for optional upgrades and add-ons. Drip pricing is used by many types of firms, including internet sellers, automobile dealers, financial institutions, and rental car businesses. See generally FTC, A Conference on the Economics of Drip Pricing (May 21, 2012), <http://www.ftc.gov/be/workshops/drippricing/index.shtml>.

<sup>30</sup> See supra note 10.

<sup>31</sup> See supra note 2.

<sup>32</sup> Staff recognizes that there is no "one size fits all" information security plan. Increased levels of information sensitivity may require increased protection. Different technologies may present different risks and vulnerabilities. Different types of businesses, business methods, and customers may require businesses to address security in regard to different aspects of their operations. The costs associated with implementation of security practices are also relevant to a reasonableness and appropriateness inquiry. Particular security measures that may be reasonable for the data of one business in light of all the costs and benefits may or may not be reasonable for another business. Because businesses may grow over time, security measures should be scalable to accommodate potential changes in the security threats they might face as a consequence of expansion.

<sup>33</sup> See generally FTC, Data Security, <http://business.ftc.gov/privacy-and-security/data-security>. Under resulting settlement orders, the FTC has required businesses to establish, implement, and maintain a comprehensive security program reasonably and appropriately designed to protect the security, confidentiality, and integrity of personal information that they collect from or about consumers. Businesses are required to have independent, third-party audits of their security procedures to ensure compliance. Auditors must document the specific administrative, technical, and physical safeguards that the business has implemented and maintained; explain how these safeguards are appropriate to the business's size and complexity, the nature and scope of its activities, and the sensitivity of personal information collected from or about consumers; explain how the safeguards address the specific security deficiencies; and certify that the program is operating effectively. For examples of this type of settlement order, see, e.g., In re HTC America, FTC File No. 122 3049 (Feb. 22, 2013) (proposed consent order regarding alleged failures to reasonably and appropriately secure software developed for smartphones and tablet computers, introducing security flaws that placed sensitive consumer information at risk), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/1223049/130222htcorder.pdf>; In re Dave & Buster's, FTC Dkt. No. C-4291 (May 20, 2010) (consent order regarding alleged failures to reasonably and appropriately secure credit card payment information on computer networks), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0823153/100608davebustersdo.pdf>; In re The TJX Cos., FTC Dkt. No. C-4227 (July 29, 2008) (consent order regarding alleged failures to use reasonable and appropriate security measures to prevent unauthorized access to personal information on computer networks), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0723055/080801tjxdo.pdf>; In re BJ's Wholesale Club, FTC Dkt. No. C-4148 (Sept. 20, 2005) (consent order regarding alleged failures to reasonably and appropriately secure personal information collected at stores), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0423160/092305do0423160.pdf>.

---

<sup>34</sup> See supra note 33.

United States of America
Federal Trade Commission

---

Brother, May I?: The Challenge of Competitor Control over Market Entry

Maureen K. Ohlhausen<sup>1</sup>
Commissioner, U.S. Federal Trade Commission

The Global Antitrust Economics Conference
George Mason University School of Law
Arlington, VA

May 29, 2015

I. Introduction

Good morning. Thank you, Judge Ginsburg and the folks at Concurrences and the George Mason University School of Law, for inviting me to speak. As always, I am delighted to return to my alma mater.

Those concerned with restrictions on innovative technologies and business models often decry the stultifying effects of a “Mother, May I?” approach, where the innovator needs government permission to enter a market. These are worthy concerns and, in recognition of them, I have repeatedly counseled what I call regulatory humility, advising regulators to wait to see if consumer harm occurs before enacting new legal obligations.<sup>2</sup>

My remarks today will focus on a related issue, which I call the “Brother, May I?” problem or the challenge of competitor control over market entry. This problem arises when would-be entrants are effectively required to obtain permission from incumbent competitors to enter or expand within a particular market. Whether it is due to a law or regulation, the decision of a financially-interested state board, or conduct by a monopolist looking to maintain its market power, new entrants to a market generally should not have to get their competitors' permission to compete. That such permission is effectively required in an increasing number of situations is inconsistent with the free-market principles that ought to guide our economic policies.

---

<sup>1</sup> The views expressed in these remarks are my own and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Federal Trade Commission or any other Commissioner. I would like to thank Gregory Luib for his invaluable contributions to this speech.

<sup>2</sup> See, e.g., Maureen K. Ohlhausen, Regulatory Humility in Practice, Remarks before the American Enterprise Institute (Apr. 1, 2015), available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public\_statements/635811/150401aeihumilitypractice.pdf; Maureen K. Ohlhausen, The Procrustean Problem with Prescriptive Regulation, 23 COMMLAW CONSPECTUS 1 (2014), available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public\_statements/606381/141222commlaw.pdf.

Public choice theory of course recognizes the problem of an industry capturing its regulators. The “Brother, May I?” scenario may be even more troubling as it is effectively “regulatory replacement” rather than capture, with competitors acting directly as a regulator. That such situations may arise likely would not have surprised James Buchanan and Gordon Tullock, the two co-founders of public choice theory, who spent significant parts of their careers on the George Mason faculty and who each, unfortunately, passed away during the past few years. No doubt their presence is missed here.

Before I get too far, let me provide some context for my remarks. I believe strongly in the concepts of a free-market economy and economic liberty for individuals. Those fundamental principles influenced my decision to attend law school at Mason, and they have since guided my views as a policy maker at the Commission. I also view sound antitrust enforcement—that is, enforcement efforts aimed at protecting consumer welfare, while minimizing burdens on otherwise efficient conduct—as a necessary part of a well-functioning free market. Competition is the first line of defense for consumers. Thus, targeted antitrust enforcement is good for the market because it makes other regulation less necessary.<sup>3</sup>

---

<sup>3</sup> See, e.g., Timothy J. Muris, Looking Forward: The Federal Trade Commission and the Future Development of U.S. Competition Policy, 2003 COLUM. BUS. L. REV. 359, 364 (2003) (“Effective antitrust enforcement may preclude direct, command-and-control regulation of sectors of the economy, avoiding the significant inefficiencies such regulation entails.”).

In addition, given my time as Director of the FTC’s Office of Policy Planning, I have been a strong voice in support of competition advocacy. Such advocacy is necessary in many instances to combat proposed regulatory barriers to entry supported by incumbent interests. Thus, my long history with competition advocacy also shapes my views on these issues.

Finally, I would like to clarify that I am not here to advocate for requiring firms to assist their competitors. The courts, in Trinko<sup>4</sup> and other cases, have appropriately limited the general duty of firms to help their competitors compete. Similarly, I have argued against reliance on the essential facilities doctrine—particularly in the intellectual property area—by foreign antitrust agencies.<sup>5</sup> What I will argue here is that firms should not have to obtain their competitors’ permission to compete and that the FTC’s enforcement and advocacy efforts should seek to eliminate such anticompetitive market distortions. Interestingly, three recent victories by the FTC in the courts—North Carolina Dental, Phoebe Putney, and McWane—all in some way involved the need to seek the permission of competitors to enter a market, and I will address each case in turn.

II. North Carolina Dental and State Licensing Boards

One of the clearest examples of the “Brother, May I?” challenge arises in the state licensing of professionals. Here, my—and the Commission’s—concern has been the artificial and unjustified barriers to entry erected by some state licensing boards, including, in particular, those composed of active participants in the very markets they regulate. This issue came to a head in the Commission’s successful Sherman Act Section 1 case against the North Carolina Board of Dental Examiners (the Board).

---

<sup>4</sup> See Verizon Commc’ns Inc. v. Law Offices of Curtis V. Trinko, LLP, 540 U.S. 398 (2004).

<sup>5</sup> See, e.g., Maureen K. Ohlhausen, Comm’r, Fed. Trade Comm’n, Testimony on “The Foreign Investment Climate in China,” before the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission, at 5-6 (Jan. 28, 2015), available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public\_statements/621411/150128chinatestimony.pdf.

In that case, the FTC filed an administrative complaint, alleging that the Board—through its dentist-members—was “colluding to exclude non-dentists from competing with dentists in the provision of teeth whitening services.”<sup>6</sup> After deciding that whitening teeth constitutes the practice of dentistry, the Board issued letters to non-dentist providers, stating they were illegally practicing dentistry without a license and ordering them to cease and desist.<sup>7</sup> As everyone in this audience is aware, our case ended up at the Supreme Court, which ruled in the Commission’s favor earlier this year, holding that “a state board on which a controlling number of decisionmakers are active market participants in the occupation the board regulates must satisfy Midcal’s active supervision requirement in order to invoke state-action antitrust immunity.”<sup>8</sup>

A few key aspects of the Court’s opinion stand out. First, the Court reiterated the crucial role that antitrust plays in our economy, noting that “[f]ederal antitrust law is a central safeguard for the Nation’s free market structures.”<sup>9</sup> Second, the Court focused on the important issue of political accountability, explaining that immunity for state agencies “requires more than a mere facade of state involvement, for it is necessary in light of Parker [v. Brown]’s rationale to ensure

---

<sup>6</sup> In re N.C. Bd. of Dental Exam’rs, Dkt. No. 9343, Complaint, at 1 (June 17, 2010), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/documents/cases/2010/06/100617dentalexamcmpt.pdf>. The Board consists of six licensed dentists, one licensed hygienist, and one “consumer member,” who is neither a dentist nor a hygienist. Id. ¶ 2.

<sup>7</sup> Id. ¶ 20. The Board also issued letters to several third parties with interests in shopping malls, stating that teeth whitening services offered at mall kiosks are illegal. Id. ¶ 22.

<sup>8</sup> N.C. State Bd. of Dental Exam’rs v. FTC, 135 S. Ct. 1101, 1114 (2015). Justice Kennedy wrote the opinion for the Court and was joined by Chief Justice Roberts and Justices Ginsburg, Breyer, Sotomayor, and Kagan. Justice Alito, with Justices Scalia and Thomas joining, dissented. Among other things, the dissent argued that Parker immunizes state agencies, the Board is a state agency, “and that is the end of the matter.” Id. at 1117-18 (Alito, J., dissenting). The dissent further noted that the regulation of the practice of medicine and dentistry has fallen “squarely within the States’ sovereign police power” since before the Sherman Act was passed in 1890. Id. at 1119. Thus, the state statutes that created, and conferred regulatory authority on, the Board “represent precisely the kind of state regulation that the Parker exemption was meant to immunize.” Id.

<sup>9</sup> N.C. State Bd., 135 S. Ct. at 1109.

the States accept political accountability for anticompetitive conduct they permit and control.”<sup>10</sup>

Third, in addressing the states’ concern about their licensing boards incurring antitrust liability and damages, the Court observed that states can ensure Parker immunity is available to agencies by adopting clear policies to displace competition, and, if those agencies are controlled by market participants, by providing active supervision.<sup>11</sup> Finally, the Court made clear that the critical inquiry is “whether the State’s review mechanisms provide ‘realistic assurance’ that a nonsovereign actor’s anticompetitive conduct ‘promotes state policy, rather than merely the party’s individual interests.’”<sup>12</sup>

The North Carolina Dental decision was a crucial victory for competition and consumers. Under our federal system, individual states can do a lot to meddle with the free market; that is their choice to make. However, states need to be politically accountable for whatever market distortions they impose on consumers.<sup>13</sup> Of course, with a nod to George Stigler’s insights from the 1970s, the North Carolina Dental Board’s conduct can be easily explained as rent-seeking behavior by incumbents to fend off a new source of competition.<sup>14</sup> Where there is a benefit concentrated in the hands of a relatively small number of incumbent providers, in this case dentists, and the competitive harm is dispersed across all consumers of health care services, public choice theory predicts such incumbent exploitation of state licensing

---

<sup>10</sup> N.C. State Bd., 135 S. Ct. at 1111. See also id. (“Parker immunity requires that the anticompetitive conduct of nonsovereign actors, especially those authorized by the State to regulate their own profession, result from procedures that suffice to make it the State’s own.”).

<sup>11</sup> See id. at 1115-16.

<sup>12</sup> Id. (quoting Patrick v. Burget, 486 U.S. 94, 100-101 (1988)).

<sup>13</sup> See e.g., FTC v. Tico Title Ins. Co., 504 U.S. 621, 636 (1992) (“Federalism serves to assign political responsibility, not to obscure it. Neither federalism nor political responsibility is well served by a rule that essential national policies are displaced by state regulations intended to achieve more limited ends.”).

<sup>14</sup> See e.g., George J. Stigler, The Theory of Economic Regulation, 2 BELL J. ECON. MGMT. SCI. 3, 5 (1971) (“We propose the general hypothesis: every industry or occupation that has enough political power to utilize the state will seek to control entry.”).

laws and regulations.<sup>15</sup> The adverse competitive results of such behavior are manifest.<sup>16</sup> Now, some have described this type of situation as an example of regulatory capture.<sup>17</sup> But, it is more than regulatory capture; it is the regulated replacing and acting as the regulators.

Looking at North Carolina Dental and our other recent Supreme Court win in Phoebe Putney, which I will discuss shortly, the state action area is one of the best examples of the Commission using its unique institutional features to guide the courts and others in the development of competition law toward better outcomes for competition and consumers. Looking ahead, the Commission should continue to focus both its enforcement and competition advocacy efforts on anticompetitive licensing activities within the states.

Nonetheless, I believe we ought to give the states some breathing room to respond to the changed legal landscape that they now face. As I have discussed elsewhere,<sup>18</sup> the states would appear to have several viable options for avoiding both antitrust liability for, and excessive oversight of, their conduct. These options should not be terribly onerous to implement and should help states retain individuals with sufficient relevant expertise on their regulatory boards.

---

<sup>15</sup> See e.g., Steven Menashi & Douglas H. Ginsburg, Rational Basis with Economic Bite, 8 N.Y.U. J.L. & LIBERTY 1055, 1087-88 (2014) (“By now, ‘[a]ll reasonably sophisticated persons know that a well-knit special interest group is likely to prevail over an amorphous ‘public’ whose members are dispersed and, as individuals, are not in sharp conflict with the organized interest.’ The occupational licensing laws recently invalidated under rational basis review are just this type of special-interest legislation.”) (quoting Walter Gellhorn, The Abuse of Occupational Licensing, 44 U. CHI. L. REV. 6, 16 (1976)); Timothy Sandefur, A Public Convenience and Necessity and Other Conspiracies Against Trade: A Case Study from the Missouri Moving Industry, 24 GEO. MASON U. C.R. L.J. 159, 176 (2014) (“Public choice theory predicts that where the government can redistribute wealth or opportunities between private groups, those groups will invest their resources in obtaining favorable legislation that will benefit them or handicap their rivals. Entry restrictions like occupational licenses or CON laws are made-to-order examples.”).

<sup>16</sup> See e.g., Daniel J. Gilman & Julie Fairman, Antitrust and the Future of Nursing: Federal Competition Policy and the Scope of Practice, 24 HEALTH MATRIX 143, 165 (2014) (“[L]icensure may be used by incumbent professionals to insulate themselves from competition. By restricting the entry of competitors, licensure can restrict supply, which can increase the income of incumbents (at consumer expense) or decrease the pressure on incumbents to improve non-price aspects of their services, such as quality or convenience.”) (footnote omitted).

<sup>17</sup> See, e.g., Herbert Hovenkamp, Rediscovering Capture: Antitrust Federalism and the North Carolina Dental Case, CPI ANTITRUST CHRONICLE (Apr. 2015).

<sup>18</sup> See Maureen K. Ohlhausen, Reflections on the Supreme Court’s North Carolina Dental Decision and the FTC’s Campaign to Rein in State Action Immunity, Remarks before the Heritage Foundation, at 14-16 (Mar. 31, 2015), available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public\_statements/634091/150403hertiagedental.pdf.

Nonetheless, it will take the states some time to evaluate and modify, if necessary, their licensing boards. In the meantime, as Chairwoman Ramirez mentioned at the ABA Spring Meeting, the Commission has begun an effort to provide guidance to states seeking to satisfy the active supervision prong of the state action doctrine. I have had discussions with representatives from state attorneys general offices, and I hope to continue that dialogue over the next several months.

Now, the economic libertarian in me is hopeful that the states, while assessing the sufficiency of their supervision over licensing decisions, will also reevaluate some of the excessive occupational licensing requirements they have adopted over the years. As the states reconsider the composition and oversight of their regulatory boards, I would recommend that they also take a very hard look at their occupational licensing regimes to see if they are on balance helping or harming their citizens. Among the professions subject to state licensure requirements today are florists, interior designers, tour guides, barbers, hair braiders, and even “shampoo specialists.”<sup>19</sup> In fact, roughly thirty percent of U.S. workers are now required to obtain a license to pursue their occupation.<sup>20</sup> Multiple studies have found that prices increase—by as much as thirty-three percent—as a result of occupational licensing.<sup>21</sup> That might be tolerable if those price increases reflected improved quality; however, “economic studies have

---

<sup>19</sup> See Stephanie Simon, A License to Shampoo: Jobs Needing State Approval Rise, WALL ST. J. (Feb. 7, 2011), <http://www.wsj.com/articles/SB10001424052748703445904576118030935929752>; Melissa S. Kearney, et al., Nearly 30 Percent of Workers in the U.S. Need a License to Perform Their Job: It Is Time to Examine Occupational Licensing Practices, Brookings Institution Up-Front Blog (Jan. 27, 2015 11:00 AM), <http://www.brookings.edu/blogs/up-front/posts/2015/01/26-time-to-examine-occupational-licensing-practices-kearney-hershbein-boddy>. For a comprehensive review of state licensing requirements, see INSTITUTE FOR JUSTICE, LICENSE TO WORK: A NATIONAL STUDY OF BURDENS FROM OCCUPATIONAL LICENSING (May 2012), available at <https://www.ij.org/licensetowork>.

<sup>20</sup> See Morris M. Kleiner & Alan B. Krueger, Analyzing the Extent and Influence of Occupational Licensing on the Labor Market, 31 J. LAB. ECON. 175-76 (2013) (findings based on 2008 survey conducted as part of Princeton Data Improvement Initiative).

<sup>21</sup> See, e.g., Morris M. Kleiner, Reforming Occupational Licensing Policies 17-22 (The Hamilton Project, Discussion Paper 2015-01, 2015) [hereinafter Kleiner, Reforming Occupational Licensing], available at http://www.hamiltonproject.org/files/downloads\_and\_links/reforming\_occupational\_licensing\_morris\_kleiner\_final.pdf (collecting studies).

demonstrated far more cases where occupational licensing has reduced employment and increased prices and wages of licensed workers than where it has improved the quality and safety of services.”<sup>22</sup> Overall, the drag on the economy of excessive occupational licensing is counted in hundreds of billions of dollars annually.<sup>23</sup> Moreover, the increased costs of excessive occupational licensing falls most heavily on those least able to afford them.<sup>24</sup>

A particular concern I have is that the “Brother, May I?” aspect of occupational licensing can create unnecessary barriers to entry for entrepreneurs seeking to take their first step on the economic ladder. This is particularly true for occupations that draw individuals who are just beginning a professional career. Licensing requirements, which often include educational components, can prevent lower-income workers, who may not be able to pay for additional education, from entering certain fields—even at the lowest rungs of the economic ladder. Competition and competitive markets, supplemented by sound antitrust enforcement, where necessary—not excessive licensing—will promote entrepreneurship in this country and provide the best platform for the least advantaged in our economy to prosper.

III. Phoebe Putney and Certificate-of-Need Laws

Another example of needing to obtain permission from one’s competitors to enter the market is found in certificate-of-need, or CON, laws that remain on the books in over two-thirds

---

<sup>22</sup> Id. at 6; see also id. at 12-13 (collecting studies); Aaron Edlin & Rebecca Haw, Cartels by Another Name: Should Licensed Occupations Face Antitrust Scrutiny?, 162 U. PA. L. REV. 1093, 1111-12 (2014) (“The work of Kleiner and his contemporaries reveals a consensus in the academy: a licensing restriction can only be justified where it leads to better quality professional services—and for many restrictions, proof of that enhanced quality is lacking.”).

<sup>23</sup> See Kleiner, Reforming Occupational Licensing, supra note 21, at 6.

<sup>24</sup> See, e.g., id. at 16 (“The net effects [of licensing] can be regressive, as lower-income consumers—who now have to pay higher prices and may have less access to services ranging from haircuts to dental exams—pay more to the regulated practitioners, some of whom are well compensated.”).

of the states.<sup>25</sup> Under these laws, would-be suppliers of a host of health care services, from acute care hospitals to nursing homes to rehabilitation centers, must seek approval from a state entity to enter the market. The real issue in a typical certificate-of-need determination is not, however, one of ensuring patient safety or the proper qualifications of the applicant—there are other laws and regulations that typically address those issues more directly—but rather the “need” for a new entrant into the market at issue, as determined by the state entity.<sup>26</sup> As I will discuss, CON laws have outlived their intended use and now effectively serve primarily, if not solely, to assist incumbents in fending off competition from new entrants. The Commission and the public were reminded of the anticompetitive effects of those laws most recently in the Phoebe Putney matter.

There, the FTC challenged a merger involving a local hospital authority in Albany, Georgia. The transaction was viewed by nearly everyone, including the Eleventh Circuit,<sup>27</sup> as a virtual merger to monopoly. As is well known at this point, the Commission litigated this case all the way to the Supreme Court, which ultimately sided with the agency in its unanimous 2013 decision.<sup>28</sup> To be immune from the antitrust laws under the state action doctrine, private and other non-sovereign entities must demonstrate that the state “clearly articulated and affirmatively

---

<sup>25</sup> See National Conference of State Legislatures, Certificate of Need: State Health Laws and Programs, <http://www.ncsl.org/research/health/con-certificate-of-need-state-laws.aspx> (indicating that 36 states retain some type of CON program as of 2014).

<sup>26</sup> See, e.g., Sandefur, supra note 15, at 160 (“Unlike occupational licensing laws, CON requirements do not purport to determine whether a person is educated, trained, or skilled before going into business. Instead, they are expressly aimed at preventing competition against established companies, regardless of quality or skill.”); see also Roy Cordato, Certificate-of-Need Laws: It’s Time for Repeal 27 (John Locke Found., Nathaniel Macon Research Paper No. 1, 2005) (“Economist Friedrich Hayek in his Nobel Laureate lecture, ‘The Pretense of Knowledge,’ argued that central planners, like those charged with determining who should and should not get to provide medical services, can only ‘pretend’ to have the information necessary to make the kinds of decisions they claim to be making. At best, any determination of ‘need’ by such planners will be arbitrary and will not reflect actual market conditions. At worst, these planners can become witting or unwitting tools of entrenched interests who wish to keep competition out of the market.”).

<sup>27</sup> See FTC v. Phoebe Putney Health Sys., Inc., 663 F.3d 1369, 1375 (11th Cir. 2011) (noting that “on the facts alleged, the joint operation of [Phoebe] and Palmyra would substantially lessen competition or tend to create, if not create, a monopoly”).

<sup>28</sup> See FTC v. Phoebe Putney Health Sys., Inc., 133 S. Ct. 1003, 1017 (2013).

expressed” a policy displacing competition and thus allowing the otherwise anticompetitive conduct at issue.<sup>29</sup> The Court held that a general grant of corporate powers to a sub-state entity, such as a hospital authority, is insufficient by itself to satisfy the clear articulation prong of Midcal.<sup>30</sup> The challenged transaction, thus, was not immune from antitrust scrutiny, and the case was remanded for further proceedings.

So far, so good for patients in Albany. The FTC complaint counsel resumed the administrative litigation that had been stayed pending the federal court proceedings. It did not take very long, however, before the agency recognized a potentially insurmountable hurdle to a successful resolution of this case: the Georgia certificate-of-need laws. That is, even if the Commission could have established liability—and that seemed fairly likely, given the facts—the state CON laws would have prevented a divestiture of any hospital assets.

Now, the case took an admittedly circuitous route during its final eighteen months. Unfortunately for consumers of hospital services in the Albany area, a state hearing officer ruled that the CON laws would apply to any divestiture that might take place in this matter. The fact that the Albany region is deemed “over-bedded” made it unlikely that any divestiture buyer could obtain the necessary CON approval to operate an independent hospital. Thus, last March, the Commission reluctantly finalized its consent agreement with Phoebe Putney without a divestiture.<sup>31</sup>

What, then, should we take away from the Phoebe matter? First, although it is of little solace to consumers in Albany, the Supreme Court decision narrowing the state action doctrine is

---

<sup>29</sup> See id. at 1010 (citing Cal. Retail Liquor Dealers Ass’n v. Midcal Aluminum, Inc., 445 U.S. 97, 105 (1980)).

<sup>30</sup> See id. at 1012.

<sup>31</sup> See In re Phoebe Putney Health Sys., Inc., Dkt. No. 9348, Statement of the Federal Trade Commission, at 3 (Mar. 31, 2015), available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public\_statements/634181/150331phoebeputneycommstmt.pdf.

a significant victory for competition principles and consumer welfare going forward. That decision, along with North Carolina Dental, represents the culmination of a decades-long effort by the Commission to narrow state action immunity from the antitrust laws—an effort in which I was proud to participate in several roles.<sup>32</sup> Second, Phoebe demonstrates the importance of obtaining preliminary relief when challenging hospital mergers in CON states. By maintaining the status quo, injunctive relief prevents the possibility of competitive harm—sometimes, as in Phoebe, irremediable harm—from occurring during the Commission’s administrative proceedings and any appeals. Similarly, the outcome in Phoebe should give the Commission pause in challenging consummated hospital acquisitions in states with CON laws. Finally, this case is a stark reminder of the anticompetitive nature of such laws.

The Commission—both on its own and jointly with the Department of Justice Antitrust Division (DOJ)—has long advocated that states consider the costs that CON laws may impose on health care consumers.<sup>33</sup> In our most recent advocacy, we argued that CON laws “impede the efficient performance of health care markets,” “create barriers to entry and expansion to the detriment of health care competition and consumers,” and “weaken markets’ ability to contain

---

<sup>32</sup> I was a member of the State Action Task Force, which issued a report in 2003 recommending several means for the Commission to narrow the state action doctrine (see FED. TRADE COMM’N, OFFICE OF POLICY PLANNING, REPORT OF THE STATE ACTION TASK FORCE (Sept. 2003), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2003/09/stateactionreport.pdf>), testified before the Antitrust Modernization Commission on the doctrine (see Prepared Statement of Maureen K. Ohlhausen, Dir., Office of Policy Planning, Fed. Trade Comm’n, before the Antitrust Modernization Commission on the State Action Doctrine (Sept. 29, 2005), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/public-statements/2005/09/ftc-staff-testimony-antitrust-modernization-commission-concerning-state>), and participated in several advocacy efforts at narrowing the scope of the doctrine.

<sup>33</sup> See, e.g., Joint Statement of the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Dep’t of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission before the Illinois Task Force on Health Planning Reform (Sept. 15, 2008) [hereinafter DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony], available at <https://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2008/09/ftc-and-department-justice-written-testimony-illinois>; Prepared Statement of the Federal Trade Commission before the Standing Committee on Health, Education & Social Services of the Alaska House of Representatives regarding House Bill 337 (Feb. 15, 2008), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2008/02/ftc-written-testimony-alaska-house-representatives>; Letter from Janet M. Grady, Regional Director, Federal Trade Commission, to the Honorable Mary George, Hawaii State Senate (Mar. 13, 1987), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/1987/03/ftc-staff-comment-governor-mary-george-concerning>.

health care costs.”<sup>34</sup> As a result, we expressed support for the repeal or narrowing of such laws.<sup>35</sup>

These advocacies have been grounded in large part on empirical studies of the impact of CON laws conducted by Commission economists.<sup>36</sup> Those studies have found that, rather than keeping health care costs down, CON laws and regulations lead to higher prices and expenditures.<sup>37</sup> For example, one study showed that if states substantially relaxed their CON programs to subject fewer hospitals to review, annual hospital expenditures would decrease by 1.4 percent, or approximately $1.3 billion.<sup>38</sup> Studies conducted by several independent commissions appointed by state legislatures to evaluate the impact of CON laws have reached similar conclusions.<sup>39</sup> These results, of course, are rather easily predicted by economic theory. Like any barrier to entry, CON laws prevent or limit the entry of firms that could otherwise provide higher-quality or lower-priced services than those offered by incumbents. In other words, output restrictions lead to higher, not lower, costs; they also result in higher profits for incumbent firms.

---

<sup>34</sup> DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony, supra note 33, at 1-2.

<sup>35</sup> See id. at 2; see also FED. TRADE COMM’N & U.S. DEP’T OF JUSTICE, IMPROVING HEALTH CARE: A DOSE OF COMPETITION ch. 8, at 6 (July 2004), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/reports/improving-health-care-dose-competition-report-federal-trade-commission-department-justice> (“[T]he Agencies urge states with CON programs to reconsider whether they are best serving their citizens’ health care needs by allowing these programs to continue.”).

<sup>36</sup> The CON area is just one example of empirical work conducted by FTC economists lending support to, and thus increasing the effectiveness of, the Commission’s competition advocacy efforts.

<sup>37</sup> See, e.g., DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony, supra note 33, at 5 n.16 (collecting studies).

<sup>38</sup> See DANIEL SHERMAN, BUR. OF ECONOMICS, FED. TRADE COMM’N, THE EFFECT OF STATE CERTIFICATE-OF-NEED LAWS ON HOSPITAL COSTS: AN ECONOMIC POLICY ANALYSIS vi (Jan. 1988), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/reports/effect-state-certificate-need-laws-hospital-costs-economic-policy-analysis>; see also id. at iv (“The study thus finds no evidence that CON programs have led to the resource savings they were designed to promote, but rather indicates that reliance on CON review may raise hospital costs.”).

<sup>39</sup> See, e.g., THE LEWIN GROUP, AN EVALUATION OF ILLINOIS’ CERTIFICATE OF NEED PROGRAM: PREPARED FOR STATE OF ILLINOIS COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENT FORECASTING AND ACCOUNTABILITY 16 (Feb. 2007) (“A review of the evidence indicates that CONs rarely reduce health care costs, and on occasion, increase cost in some states.”); WILLIAM S. CUSTER, ET AL., REPORT OF DATA ANALYSES TO THE GEORGIA COMMISSION ON THE EFFICACY OF THE CON PROGRAM 8 (Nov. 2006) (“CON regulation is associated with higher private inpatient costs. The effect is robust with respect to model specification, measures of CON rigor, and diagnoses.”).

Another fairly predictable result of CON regimes is the rent-seeking behavior pursued by incumbents who are able to exploit the regulatory system to their advantage. Using the “Brother, May I?” aspects of the CON process, incumbent hospitals and other health care providers can impose substantial delays on, or thwart altogether, potential entrants into their markets, thus protecting their own supra-competitive revenues.<sup>40</sup> Returning to public choice theory, it readily predicts such incumbent exploitation of CON laws,<sup>41</sup> as well as incumbent efforts to keep such laws on the books.<sup>42</sup>

Let me also address what appears to be the primary argument that states make in support of retaining CON laws: the ability to cross-subsidize care provided to uninsured or underinsured patients.<sup>43</sup> The argument is that, without CON laws, new entrants will engage in cream-skimming by taking the most profitable patients, thus depriving incumbent providers of revenue that is used to provide care to otherwise under-served or unserved patients—particularly at community or safety-net hospitals. Now, the public-policy goal of ensuring access to adequate health care services for patients who cannot afford them is certainly a laudable one. Using the

---

<sup>40</sup> See, e.g., DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony, supra note 33, at 7; A DOSE OF COMPETITION, supra note 35, at Exec. Summ. at 22 (“Market participants can too easily use CON procedures to forestall competitors from entering an incumbent’s market.”). Incumbent providers have also entered into anticompetitive agreements that were outside of, but nonetheless facilitated by, the CON laws. See, e.g., DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony, supra note 33, at 7-8.

<sup>41</sup> See e.g., Sandefur, supra note 15, at 176 (“Public choice theory predicts that where the government can redistribute wealth or opportunities between private groups, those groups will invest their resources in obtaining favorable legislation that will benefit them or handicap their rivals. Entry restrictions like occupational licenses or CON laws are made-to-order examples.”).

<sup>42</sup> See e.g., id. at 173 (“Public choice theory would also predict that as economic and technological circumstances change, CON laws would nevertheless remain on the books—vigorously defended by incumbent firms—long after the economic rationales on which they were based were rendered obsolete, even on their own terms.”).

<sup>43</sup> See, e.g., COMMISSION ON THE EFFICACY OF THE CERTIFICATE OF NEED PROGRAM, AN ANALYSIS AND EVALUATION OF CERTIFICATE OF NEED REGULATIONS IN GEORGIA: FINAL REPORT TO THE GEORGIA GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND GOVERNOR PERDUE xii-xiii (Dec. 2006) [hereinafter GEORGIA COMMISSION REPORT] (“Hospital leaders are concerned that if they lose their ability to cross-subsidize from [the highest-margin] services, they will no longer be able to cover the fixed losses associated with inpatient Medicaid services and care of the uninsured. For this reason, hospitals, whether nonprofit or proprietary, urban or rural, have wanted to see CON rules maintained or tightened in order to maintain regulatory control over the provision of these services in non-hospital-based settings.”).

blunt and anticompetitive tool of CON laws, however, is not the answer. Such a use of CON laws flies in the face of any notion of free-market competition.<sup>44</sup>

Clearly, there are a host of difficult issues relating to the payment and provision of health care in this country that go far beyond CON laws and that may not have easy answers. The commission established to study the efficacy of the Georgia CON program in the mid-2000s, for example, was unable to reach consensus with regard to the best policy to address the difficult issue of cross-subsidization of indigent care.<sup>45</sup> As the commission recognized, “When viewed in a vacuum, analysis has shown a relatively weak effect of CON, but the CON program is being used as a regulatory device in an environment involving much stronger forces.”<sup>46</sup> Nonetheless, using CON laws as an indirect tax for funding indigent care imposes costs—in terms of price, quality, and innovation—across all consumers of health care services.<sup>47</sup> There are less competitively-restrictive and more politically-transparent means for pursuing the goal of indigent care. In fact, there is some evidence that CON laws do not actually advance the goal of indigent care at general community hospitals.<sup>48</sup> Finally, as the antitrust agencies have noted in their advocacies in this area, CON laws were not adopted as a means of cross-subsidizing health

---

<sup>44</sup> See e.g., Sandefur, supra note 15, at 170 (“Whatever the merits of the ‘cream-skimming’ and incentives rationales, they apply only to public utilities, or perhaps to markets that feature some kind of monopoly characteristics. They do not apply to private markets with healthy competition. In these markets, ‘cream-skimming’ is simply the ordinary competitive process on which the economy depends for innovation and growth, and encouraging investment where market demand is lacking is rightly seen as foolhardy.”).

<sup>45</sup> See GEORGIA COMMISSION REPORT, supra note 43, at xiii.

<sup>46</sup> Id.

<sup>47</sup> See, e.g., Cordato, supra note 26, at 18 (“If CON laws are being used to hide this tax from the electorate, then not only are they inconsistent with sound economics, they are also inconsistent with an open and democratic political process.”).

<sup>48</sup> See, e.g., DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony, supra note 33, at 9-10; THE LEWIN GROUP, supra note 39, at ii, 26-28 (“Through our research and analysis we could find no evidence that safety-net hospitals are financially stronger in CON states than other states.”) (finding margins for safety-net hospitals in CON states “considerably lower” than margins for safety-net hospitals in non-CON states).

care.<sup>49</sup> That is an ex post rationale identified by CON proponents that is simply inconsistent with free-market principles. More, not less, competition is needed in the health care space.<sup>50</sup>

My recommendation, then, is for the Commission to re-engage with state legislatures on the issue of CON laws. With the Noerr-Pennington<sup>51</sup> doctrine rightly protecting incumbents' petitioning activity related to CON applications, there is little, if any, room for law enforcement action in this area. We have not, however, addressed this issue in our competition advocacy since 2008. Of course, the Commission typically issues advocacy comments only in response to invitations from policy makers or requests for public comments. I would urge the agency to continue that practice. Still, we ought to seek out opportunities to weigh in on the adverse impact of CON laws on consumer welfare. The Commission has been on a bit of a winning streak in challenging anticompetitive hospital mergers.<sup>52</sup> It would be unfortunate if any more of those victories for health care consumers were jeopardized by CON laws that preclude any meaningful remedy in those cases.

IV. McWane and Exclusionary Conduct by Monopolists

During the remainder of my remarks, I will address a third “Brother, May I?” situation in which a would-be entrant must effectively rely on its competitor’s permission before entering or expanding its business. This one involves not state regulation but private conduct by a monopolist that is exclusionary and thus maintains its monopoly and is not justified by a

---

<sup>49</sup> See DOJ-FTC Illinois Testimony, supra note 33, at 4.

<sup>50</sup> See A DOSE OF COMPETITION, supra note 35, at Exec. Summ. at 4 (“Vigorous competition, both price and non-price, can have important benefits in health care as well. Price competition generally results in lower prices and, thus, broader access to health care products and services. Non-price competition can promote higher quality and encourage innovation.”).

<sup>51</sup> See E.R.R. Presidents Conference v. Noerr Motor Freight, Inc., 365 U.S. 127 (1961); United Mine Workers of Am. v. Pennington, 381 U.S. 657 (1965).

<sup>52</sup> See, e.g., St. Alphonsus Med. Ctr.-Nampa Inc. v. St. Luke’s Health Sys., Ltd., 778 F.3d 775 (9th Cir. 2015); ProMedica Health Sys., Inc. v. FTC, 749 F.3d 559 (6th Cir. 2014); FTC v. OSF Healthcare Sys., 852 F. Supp. 2d 1069 (N.D. Ill. 2012).

cognizable efficiency. The end result is that a firm looking to enter the market or expand its sales is at the whims of its monopolist-competitor to succeed in such entry or expansion. The Commission recently encountered this in its Sherman Act Section 2 action against McWane, Inc.<sup>53</sup>

In that case, the Commission issued a seven-count administrative complaint against McWane in January 2012<sup>54</sup>—prior to my arrival as a Commissioner. Ultimately, the Commission dismissed six of the seven counts, finding liability solely on the Section 2 exclusive dealing count.<sup>55</sup> In particular, the Commission found that McWane had used an exclusive dealing policy to prevent its sole rival, Star Pipe Products, Ltd. (Star), from meaningfully competing and thus maintained the monopoly that McWane enjoyed in the market for domestically-manufactured ductile iron pipe fittings.<sup>56</sup> (Although perhaps not the sexiest of markets the Commission has pursued of late, pipe fittings are used by municipal and regional water authorities in crucial waterworks projects.)

The thrust of the case was that McWane, with over 90 percent market share, had imposed a policy on distributors that required them to purchase all of their domestic fittings from McWane; otherwise, they would lose their rebates and be cut off altogether.<sup>57</sup> There were two exceptions to this so-called Full Support Program permitting the purchase of competing domestic fittings: where McWane products were not readily available, and where the customer bought

---

<sup>53</sup> See In re McWane, Inc., Dkt. No. 9351, Opinion of the Commission (Feb. 6, 2014) [hereinafter McWane Commission Opinion], available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/cases/140206mcwaneopinion\_0.pdf.

<sup>54</sup> See In re McWane, Inc., Dkt. No. 9351, Administrative Complaint (Jan. 4, 2012), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/documents/cases/2012/01/120104ccwanestaramincompt.pdf> (alleging conspiracy, information exchange, invitation to collude, restraint of trade based on distribution agreement, conspiracy to monopolize, monopolization, and attempted monopolization).

<sup>55</sup> See McWane Commission Opinion, supra note 53, at 2 & n.1.

<sup>56</sup> See id. at 20.

<sup>57</sup> See id. at 9, 16.

domestic fittings and accessories along with another manufacturer's ductile iron pipe.<sup>58</sup> The Commission found that, to the extent that Star was able to gain sales, it did so primarily under these limited exceptions, and those sales were insufficient to have a competitive impact.<sup>59</sup>

In finding liability on the exclusive dealing count, the Commission determined that McWane had monopoly power in the domestic fittings market,<sup>60</sup> that the Full Support Program constituted an exclusive dealing arrangement that substantially foreclosed its rivals' access to the most efficient sales channel,<sup>61</sup> and that this resulted in harm to competition and consumers in the domestic fittings market.<sup>62</sup> As the Commission opinion concluded, "[T]he evidence that McWane's exclusive dealing policy significantly impaired the access of McWane's only rival, Star, to the main channel of distribution, thereby increasing its costs and keeping it below the critical level necessary to pose a real competitive threat, is plainly sufficient to meet the standard of harm to competition set forth in the prevailing case law."<sup>63</sup>

At the same time, the Commission rejected the two efficiency justifications proffered by McWane. First, McWane argued that it engaged in exclusive dealing to generate sufficient sales to operate its last domestic foundry. The Commission did not view this to be "a cognizable

---

<sup>58</sup> See id. at 9.

<sup>59</sup> See id. at 28-29.

<sup>60</sup> See id. at 16-18.

<sup>61</sup> See id. at 20-25.

<sup>62</sup> See id. at 25-29.

<sup>63</sup> See id. at 26. Commissioner Wright dissented from the Commission's opinion in McWane. See In re McWane, Inc., Dkt. No. 9351, Dissenting Statement of Commissioner Joshua D. Wright (Feb. 6, 2014), available at https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public\_statements/202211/140206mcwanestatement.pdf. The scope of the disagreement between the majority and the dissent was largely limited to the narrow, but obviously crucial issue of whether harm to competition from McWane's exclusive dealing had been demonstrated. See, e.g., id. at 7 n.14 (assuming monopoly power); id. at 27-28 & n.38 (agreeing that Full Support Program amounted to exclusive dealing); id. at 33 n.40 (agreeing that "distributors are a key distribution channel"); id. at 4 (noting the "ample record evidence demonstrating that the Full Support Program harmed McWane's rival Star"). See also Leon B. Greenfield, Afterword: Lorain Journal and the Antitrust Legacy of Robert Bork, 79 ANTITRUST L.J. 1047, 1062 (2014) ("The division among the FTC commissioners in the recent McWane matter illustrates the narrowed scope of today's debates surrounding unilateral exclusion enforcement.").

procompetitive justification for antitrust purposes.”<sup>64</sup> More specifically, McWane’s increased sales volume did not result from actions, such as a price reduction, that typically promote consumer welfare by increasing overall market output or lowering prices; rather, the increased sales would have come from anticompetitive reductions in Star’s output.

The second justification offered by McWane was that the Full Support Program prevented customers from cherry-picking the highest-selling items from Star and forced them to purchase McWane’s full line of domestic fittings. That is, if distributors were able to source from multiple suppliers, they would buy the common fittings from the limited supplier (at lower prices) and turn to the full-line supplier for less common products only, which supposedly could lead to the collapse of the full-line seller. The Commission was not convinced that this is a cognizable efficiency under the antitrust laws. To begin with, McWane never explained why it could not compete to sell the more common products by lowering its prices for them and raising its prices for the less common products, thereby reducing an implicit cross-subsidy. In any event, the Commission noted that “[e]ven if selective entry by the full-line supplier’s rivals led to the collapse of the full-line seller, that itself would not constitute a harm to the market (as opposed to a single firm).”<sup>65</sup>

Last month, the Eleventh Circuit upheld the Commission’s decision, affirming our determinations regarding market definition, McWane’s monopoly power, and harm to competition.<sup>66</sup> The court endorsed the approach taken by the D.C. Circuit and several other courts in determining whether a monopolist’s conduct has harmed competition, noting, among other things, that substantial foreclosure is just one of several factors in the analysis and that

---

<sup>64</sup> McWane Commission Opinion, supra note 53, at 30.

<sup>65</sup> Id. at 32.

<sup>66</sup> See McWane, Inc. v. FTC, No. 14-11363, 2015 WL 1652200, at *9-12, *19-21 (11th Cir. Apr. 15, 2015).

harm to one or more competitors is insufficient for purposes of Section 2.<sup>67</sup> The court identified the pricing evidence in the record as the “most powerful evidence of anticompetitive harm.”<sup>68</sup> More specifically, the court observed that by keeping Star from becoming a more efficient competitor, McWane’s exclusivity policy preserved its ability to charge supracompetitive prices; in fact, McWane was able to raise prices and increase its gross profits, notwithstanding Star’s (limited) entry.<sup>69</sup> Finally, much like the Commission, the Eleventh Circuit was not persuaded by McWane’s efficiency arguments.<sup>70</sup> I understand that McWane has announced its intention to seek further review of the Eleventh Circuit’s decision. I will end my discussion of the McWane case here.

Let me make a few general points. First, there is no question in my mind that vertical business arrangements, including exclusive dealing, are much more likely to be procompetitive than anticompetitive. Exclusive dealing can enhance competition in a number of well-documented ways, including by eliminating inter-brand free-riding, reducing the costs associated with demand and supply uncertainty, and intensifying competition for distribution.<sup>71</sup> Exclusive distribution arrangements can be particularly procompetitive where a manufacturer provides dealer support, discounts, or other consideration for the exclusivity, or where there is competition to be the exclusive distributor of a particular product.

---

<sup>67</sup> Id. at *16 (citing United States v. Microsoft Corp., 253 F.3d 34, 58 (D.C. Cir. 2001) (en banc)). The Eleventh Circuit also endorsed the D.C. Circuit’s causation standard for assessing exclusive dealing claims. See id. at *18 (“We agree with the Commission and our sister circuits that in these circumstances the government must show that the defendant engaged in anticompetitive conduct that reasonably appears to significantly contribute to maintaining monopoly power.”).

<sup>68</sup> Id. at *19.

<sup>69</sup> See id.

<sup>70</sup> See id. at *21-22.

<sup>71</sup> See, e.g., Benjamin Klein & Kevin M. Murphy, Exclusive Dealing Intensifies Competition for Distribution, 75 ANTITRUST L.J. 433 (2008) (explaining how exclusivity restrictions intensify competition by manufacturers for retail distribution); Jonathan M. Jacobson, Exclusive Dealing, “Foreclosure,” and Consumer Harm, 70 ANTITRUST L.J. 311, 357-60 (2002) (identifying various procompetitive justifications for exclusive dealing arrangements).

In short, the economic literature clearly supports the proposition that exclusive dealing is likely to be procompetitive.<sup>72</sup> Exclusive dealing thus should not be a significant focus of the Commission’s competition enforcement program. Nonetheless, there are some situations—particularly in monopolized markets—in which exclusive dealing can be anticompetitive and serve to maintain a firm’s monopoly power.<sup>73</sup> Where the Commission is able to identify substantial harm to competition that is not outweighed by cognizable efficiencies, we ought to pursue such conduct.

Finally, I would like to return to the cross-subsidization point. Whether one refers to it as cream-skimming or cherry-picking, this rationale is unconvincing to me as a justification for either certificate-of-need laws or exclusive dealing by a monopolist. While cream-skimming may be a legitimate concern in very limited circumstances, such as a rate-regulated market with high fixed costs,<sup>74</sup> I have not seen any evidence that would justify either a CON regime or exclusive dealing by a monopolist as a procompetitive response to cream-skimming by competitors. At a more general level, it is antithetical to free-market principles to cordon off significant portions of the market from would-be competitors that may provide lower-priced, higher-quality, and more innovative products and services. Rather, we should be doing everything we can to oppose such market restrictions and to facilitate entry by new and innovative competitors.

---

<sup>72</sup> See, e.g., Alden F. Abbott & Joshua D. Wright, Antitrust Analysis of Tying Arrangements and Exclusive Dealing, in ANTITRUST LAW AND ECONOMICS 183, 200-01 (Keith N. Hylton ed., 2d ed. 2010) (“[T]he potential efficiencies associated with both tying and exclusive dealing . . . lead most commentators to believe that they are generally procompetitive and should be analyzed under some form of rule of reason analysis.”); James C. Cooper et al., Vertical Antitrust Policy as a Problem of Inference, 23 INT’L J. INDUS. ORG. 639, 658 (2005) (“Most studies find evidence that vertical restraints/vertical integration are procompetitive[.]”).

<sup>73</sup> See Eastman Kodak Co. v. Image Tech. Servs., Inc., 504 U.S. 451, 488 (1992) (Scalia, J., dissenting) (“Where a defendant maintains substantial market power, his activities are examined through a special lens: Behavior that might otherwise not be of concern to the antitrust laws—or that might even be viewed as procompetitive—can take on exclusionary connotations when practiced by a monopolist.”).

<sup>74</sup> See, e.g., supra note 44.

We see this issue in the transportation area, where innovators like Uber, Lyft, Sidecar, and others are disrupting an age-old way of doing business and in the process providing consumers with expanded options, greater convenience, and often lower prices. In short, they are injecting much-needed competition into the market. For that reason, FTC staff has filed several advocacy comments to local authorities recommending that any restrictions on competition from these new transportation providers be no broader than necessary to address legitimate subjects of regulation, such as safety and consumer protection, and narrowly crafted to minimize any potential anticompetitive impact.<sup>75</sup> Implicit in our advocacies is a rejection of the cream-skimming argument made by some taxi competitors<sup>76</sup> and regulators<sup>77</sup> in justifying opposition to Uber and others seeking to enter transportation markets throughout the country. These new firms ought to be treated the same as incumbents, in terms of applying existing regulations; however, they should not be locked out of the market because they are skimming cream or picking cherries. What they are really doing is competing.

---

<sup>75</sup> See, e.g., Federal Trade Commission Staff Letter to Alderman Brendan Reilly, Chicago City Council regarding Proposed Ordinance O2014-1367 (Apr. 15, 2014), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2014/04/ftc-staff-comment-honorable-brendan-reilly-concerning>; Federal Trade Commission Staff Letter to Jacques P. Lerner, General Counsel, District of Columbia Taxicab Commission regarding Second Proposed Rulemakings regarding Chapters 12, 14, and 16 of Title 31 (June 7, 2013), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2013/06/ftc-staff-comments-district-columbia-taxicab>; Federal Trade Commission Staff Letter to Colorado Public Utilities Commission regarding Docket No. 13R-0009TR (Mar. 6, 2013), available at <https://www.ftc.gov/policy/policy-actions/advocacy-filings/2013/03/ftc-staff-comment-colorado-public-utilities>.

<sup>76</sup> See, e.g., Andrew Zaleski, Welcome to the Uber Wars, POLITICO MAGAZINE (Sept. 2, 2014), <http://www.politico.com/magazine/story/2014/09/welcome-to-the-uber-wars-110498.html#.VWcQHRHD83E> (“‘Skimming the cream’ is the way [a taxi company executive] describes what Uber does to taxi competitors.”).

<sup>77</sup> See, e.g., Community-wide Taxi Service Endangered by “Ridesharing,” WHO’S DRIVING YOU? (June 30, 2014), available at <http://www.whosdrivingyou.org/uploads/2/5/1/4/25145532/community-wide-access-fact-sheet.pdf> (“‘Uber, Lyft and Sidecar simply do not serve all areas of a community at all hours of the day. By stealing more lucrative fares, they will ultimately leave transportation deserts in underprivileged neighborhoods where people rely on taxicabs for daily errands.’—Robert Werth, President of the Taxicab, Limousine & Paratransit Association.”)

V. Conclusion

Thank you for your attention this morning. I hope my remarks have shed some light on the problems that these “Brother, May I?” approaches create for free-market competition and how targeted antitrust enforcement and advocacy, supported by sound economic analysis, can help limit the damage. I also hope that my call to reduce these barriers, which particularly harm those on the bottom rung of the economic ladder, will encourage others to take up the challenge.

I would be happy to entertain any questions you may have.

Opinions

Has the D.C. cab commission forgotten who it serves?

By Joshua D. Wright September 6, 2013

Competition is the fuel that fires the engine of the U.S. economy. Competition can take many forms, but the general outcome is almost always the same: Consumers are able to buy higher-quality goods and services at lower prices than they otherwise would.

Competition also creates powerful incentives to innovate. Sometimes that innovation can lead to incremental improvements in existing products. Other times, competition takes the form of “creative destruction,” whereby an innovator uses a new technology or business model to transform an industry. The personal computer, the Internet and the smartphone are all examples of technologies that led to creative destruction over the past few decades. Creative destruction nearly always benefits consumers, but it also frequently challenges or makes obsolete institutions wedded to the old ways of doing business.

A wave of creative destruction is now crashing down upon the taxicab industry. Until recently, a consumer hailed a cab on the street or telephoned a dispatch service and paid with cash. New smartphone applications such as Uber and Hailo are revolutionizing the industry by using GPS-enabled wireless devices to match consumers and drivers with the tap of a screen and a credit card payment. As is to be expected with any outbreak of creative destruction and innovation, consumers are reaping the benefits and entrenched interests are fighting back to suppress this new form of competition. The entrenched interests include not only taxicab drivers but the bodies that regulate them.

In recent months, the staff of the Federal Trade Commission has provided comments on proposed regulations by several local regulatory bodies in U.S. cities concerning new competition from Internet-based dispatch services. FTC staff has been critical of some of the proposed regulations, specifically those that make it more difficult for services such as Uber and Hailo to enter local markets without any countervailing justification that relates to consumer protection or consumer safety.

The D.C. Taxicab Commission has promulgated one such set of regulations, which attracted comment from the FTC staff. The FTC letter focuses on ensuring that consumers are protected from attempts to use the regulatory process to ward off new and innovative forms of competition. The letter observed that, in the taxi market, “competition takes place on a variety of dimensions, including price, availability, timeliness, convenience, quality, vehicle type, payment mechanism, and other amenities. A regulatory framework should enable these various kinds of competition and not directly or indirectly restrict the introduction or use of new types of applications or the novel features they may provide absent some significant evidence of public harm.”

The FTC letter also notes that, although some of the Taxicab Commission's proposed regulations appear related to consumer protection and safety, others do not. The FTC letter criticizes the commission's proposed regulation to require "sedan-class" vehicles — the vehicle class of choice for some new entrants — to be of a specific size and color because the regulation would prevent entrants from using smaller, more fuel-efficient vehicles. Indeed, it is difficult to imagine any benefit to consumers from depriving them of the choice to use a Web-based dispatch service.

In an Aug. 27 editorial, The Post also criticized the proposed regulations. The editorial made reference to the FTC letter, which Taxicab Commission chairman Ron Linton claimed Uber "had a hand in writing." I can say without qualification that Linton's comment is incorrect. At no point did Uber or any other company participate in any way in drafting the letter.

Linton's uninformed comment tells us more about the commission's approach to regulation than about the FTC's. According to The Post, Linton described the commission's regulatory role to that of a referee of competing interest groups. The appropriate referee for that competition is not the commission but consumers in the marketplace. Unlike the Taxicab Commission, the FTC does not weigh the interests of various groups in deciding to take action. The FTC serves the interest of only one group: consumers. And in the context of the taxicab industry, the FTC has long made clear through its advocacy efforts that local regulatory bodies should not stand in the way of companies like Uber that use new technology and new business methods to meet consumer demand unless there is the potential for substantial consumer harm.

History teaches that advocacy letters are not the only tools at the disposal of the FTC to protect consumers. This is not the first time the FTC has been critical of bodies that regulate the taxicab industry. In 1984, the FTC brought lawsuits against the cities of New Orleans and Minneapolis, alleging that these cities' regulatory agents had unfairly combined with operators to impose regulations increasing taxi fares, limiting the number of taxi licenses and engaging in other methods of unfair competition. Thus far, the FTC's approach to the current wave of regulation in the taxicab industry has been to send advocacy letters to the regulatory bodies. Linton's comments suggest that perhaps the anticompetitive nature of the new taxi regulations should once again demand the FTC's full attention.

The writer is a commissioner at the Federal Trade Commission. The views expressed are his own.

In Response to the “Sharing” Economy: Issues Facing Platforms, Participants, and Regulators

United States Federal Trade Commission

Washington, DC

June 9, 2015

Uber Technologies, Inc. (Uber) appreciates the opportunity to provide comments to the Federal Trade Commission’s (FTC) Sharing Economy Workshop, Project No. P15-1200.

Uber is an app-based technology that is evolving the way the world moves. By seamlessly connecting riders to drivers through our apps, Uber makes cities more accessible, opening up more possibilities for riders and more business for drivers. From our founding in 2009 to our presence in more than 300 cities around the globe today, Uber continues to bring people and their cities closer.

The constantly increasing use of app-based technologies marks a significant shift in the way our economy functions; the relationship between consumer and producer/provider is much more personal in this new economy, and that must have an impact on the way the regulators and lawmakers treat those functioning in this space.

Competition authorities from around the world have frequently been among the first government agencies to examine the impact and regulation of ride-sharing platforms and the “sharing economy” (see Appendix attached to this report). The following summarizes recent work undertaken by antitrust and competition authorities and regulators and which provides positive commentary on the impact of Uber, ride sharing, and the “sharing economy” on competition and consumer interests around the globe.

The FTC’s workshop is timely, as lawmakers and regulators across the country are currently debating how to deal with this new economy and the increased economic opportunity and consumer benefits that it brings to the market. Given the FTC’s charter to enhance the public understanding of competition, this workshop provides a valuable forum for addressing this important new topic.

THE BENEFITS OF RIDESHARING AND UBER

The establishment of digital platforms that tap into a broader supply of vehicles and drivers than was previously possible largely due to artificial regulatory barriers, and the resultant ability to provide a reliable, cost effective service at scale brings with it a whole host of positive effects for riders, drivers, and the cities where these platforms operate.

Consumer Benefits

The Uber platform offers riders a new option for point-to-point transportation that supplements the menu of options they previously had access to. In a basic sense, giving riders one more choice can only make them better off. The advantages to riders over traditional transportation options are many, and they include:

- Access to transportation at a significantly lower cost
- Access to transportation in neighborhoods that were previously underserved or had no service
- Access to reliable transportation in an unprecedentedly short amount of time
- Access to transportation in conditions of relatively high demand when other for-hire options are typically unavailable (e.g., rush hour, bad weather, holidays or special events like concerts, sporting events, New Years Eve, Saint Patrick's Day)
- Access to transportation from comfortable and safe requesting locations (e.g., indoors) rather than street hailing
- Consumer protections such as transparency of fare rate, itemized receipt, and recorded trip routes, which protect consumers against inflated fares
- Ability to request transportation for friends and family in other locations
- Safe, high-quality service from drivers with ratings provided by the prior riders
- Variety of choices depending on which services are provided by local for-hire drivers in a given city (e.g., uberX, UberBLACK, uberXL, uberPOOL, etc)
- Guarantee of simple electronic payment by credit card
- Reliable estimates for fares on upcoming trips
- Ease of adjudicating disputes between riders and drivers via Uber's store of administrative data, and highly responsive customer service system
- Ease of requesting a for-hire driver in any city in which the service operates

These advantages are not hypothetical. In the few cities in which reliable information on taxicab service levels by neighborhood are available, Uber provides reliable rides within minutes where taxi (when you can order one) provides unreliable rides with wait times often in excess of 30 minutes (see our Boston blog post, for example). The average wait time in the United States across all Uber product lines is 4 minutes.

By freeing drivers from the expensive and fare-increasing burden of medallion and taxi lease fees, Uber has also decreased the cost to riders of many forms of vehicular travel. In many cities, a ride on uberX costs less than half of the taxi equivalent fare, and uberPOOL, which matches riders whose trips overlap, promises even greater cost savings.

Reliability and affordability also translates into fewer incidents of impaired driving, as riders are able to make smarter decisions when they most need to. A 10% decline in DUI arrests in Seattle after Uber entered the market, and a 6.5% decline in alcohol-related crashes involving under-30 year olds in California following the launch of uberX are but two examples of that impact.

Provider Benefits

The Uber platform offers for-hire drivers and individuals a new option for providing services and earning income (in this case point-to-point transportation) that supplements the menu of options they previously had access to. In a fundamental sense, giving drivers one more choice can only make them better off. The advantages to drivers over traditional market options are many, and they include but are not limited to:

- No barriers to entry or exit - the market for for-hire drivers has increased substantially as a result of the removal of the traditional medallion barrier.
- Maximum flexibility in choosing hours, effort, and style of work, including ability to “mix and match” services across multiple platforms such as Uber and Lyft, which is especially important to those with irregular schedules, such as working parents, students, and caregivers
- Indicators of demand like heat maps allow drivers to more efficiently and economically provide rides in more areas
- Dense network of demand and intelligent allocation of available driver-partners to nearest riders create efficiency and a high utilization rate - drivers spend more of their time with paying customers rather than waiting in long lines for customers
- No daily or weekly lease or medallion payments that distort driving incentives
- Ability to take advantage of existing capital (such as the cars that drivers already own) or to invest in new capital (i.e., new vehicles)
- Hourly earnings commensurate with local conditions, often in excess of earnings available to existing for-hire drivers in the taxi industry

- No payment risk, as all transactions are electronic and guaranteed by the platform
- No need to handle large amounts of cash, and the resultant reduction in the risk of robberies
- Rating system keeps customers on best behavior and allows riders to reward drivers for providing high-quality service
- Ease of adjudicating disputes between riders and drivers via Uber’s store of administrative data and customer service system

In addition, the technology behind Uber’s platform improves and expands the driver’s opportunity.

For example, having a large-scale and flexible service allows people to find a ride even if they live farther out from downtown areas, in neighborhoods with poor, or nonexistent, taxi service. In New York City, 35% of all Uber pick ups happen outside of Manhattan, compared to just 6% by traditional taxis. One African-American commentator noted that “the quality of our lives improved tremendously once we found a workaround to dealing with rude and racist cab drivers,” while another appreciated that Uber’s “guiding principle [is] based on the color of the money in your pocket and not the color of your skin.” In Boston, almost every trip on the Uber platform in every neighborhood starts in less than 20 minutes. For taxis, over a third of trips in poorer neighborhoods don’t start in 20 minutes.

Similarly, more than 30,000 New York City residents sign up as new riders on Uber each week, and an increasing number of these new riders are located outside of lower Manhattan, in the outer boroughs, which have been traditionally underserved by taxi. These riders sign up for Uber because they need a safe, reliable, convenient way to get from A to B, at all times of day or night, wherever they are, with no discrimination based on location. In fact, 27% of Uber rides are in to, from, or within the outer boroughs (excluding airports) compared to 6% of traditional taxi pickups.

Data reveal that a significant number of rideshare trips start or end at mass transit terminals. Uber encourages the use of mass transit by providing a “last mile” linkage to already-built transit systems. By connecting communities with few or no mass transit options to the transit network (e.g. the outer boroughs) – that crucial last mile – ridesharing helps reduce commute times, increase productivity, and bring more job opportunities within reach of more people.

Rideshare platforms also provide people a new option for earning. These platforms support flexible and control over work schedules in a way that traditional models simply cannot. Drivers choose when and for how long to work. When surveyed, this is an aspect of the Uber platform that over  $\frac{2}{3}$  of drivers found to be compelling.

In a recent study of Uber driver-partners by Dr. Jonathan Hall and Dr Alan Krueger, the economists found:

The most common reasons (combining major and minor reasons) [for joining the platform] were: “to earn more income to better support myself or my family” (91 percent); “to be my own boss and set my own schedule” (87 percent); “to have more flexibility in my schedule and balance my work with my life and family” (85 percent); “to help maintain a steady income because other sources of income are unstable/unpredictable” (74 percent).

Many individuals, both by choice and by circumstances, value the opportunity to work “on demand” when the opportunity arises so that they can better meet family and other work obligations. Uber and other sharing platforms cater to this demand for flexible income opportunities. In the past, medallion and taxi dispatch owners have incentivized long shifts (often 10-12 hours) via large up-front costs to drivers on a daily or weekly basis.

The safety of Uber’s platform also expands women’s economic opportunities -- in particular, by ensuring a safer and more respectful work environment, allowing them to pursue entrepreneurial work opportunities in what has historically been a male-dominated industry. A recent survey revealed that approximately 14% of Uber drivers are women; that compares to less than 1% of New York yellow taxi drivers.

Ridesharing also benefits small businesses throughout a city. Because riders know they can rely on Uber for a ride back from wherever they’re going, the platform encourages people to travel more widely throughout their city, visiting a more diverse range of neighborhoods than they otherwise would and patronizing those small businesses that cannot afford prime downtown real estate. In Chicago, for example, 1 in 3 trips on the Uber platform last year began or ended at a local small business.

Finally, competition from rideshare platforms has also encouraged service improvement by existing providers. Taxi fleets across the country are now using “e-hail” apps to dispatch their taxis in a more intelligent manner. A report released by the Technology Policy Institute, concluded that faced with competition from Uber, taxis are improving their service. Examining New York City taxi complaint data, the researchers found that the number of complaints per taxi trip in New York has declined alongside the growth of Uber in that market. And looking at comparable data from Chicago, they found that certain complaints — driver willingness to turn on air conditioning, acceptance of credit cards, driver rudeness, and talking on cell phones — all seem to have decreased along with Uber’s entry and competition in the market.

Added Safety and Transparency: Uber’s Rating System

At the end of every trip on the Uber platform, the rider and driver are each required to rate the other on a scale from one to five stars. Riders and drivers also see each other’s overall average rating before choosing to begin a trip. This rating system does three critical things: it (1) incentivizes high quality service, (2) establishes accountability, and (3) promotes courteous conduct, and helps to mitigate the discrimination that is all too common in traditional for-hire transportation.

First, Uber’s rating system incentivizes high quality service. Riders are attracted to the platform because they can expect a polite interaction and a clean, well-maintained car from a highly rated driver. Indeed, riders know that drivers who choose to work on a platform that recognizes and rewards performance are exactly those drivers who are confident of, and committed to, doing a good job. Similarly, the rating system appeals to drivers because it offers them an effective way to distinguish themselves and the high-quality service they provide and thus attract more customers, including and especially those who would otherwise avoid for-hire transportation outright due to quality concerns.

Second, Uber’s rating system also establishes accountability and promotes courteous conduct. Riders are drawn to the platform because they can expect highly rated drivers to provide polite and helpful service. This is particularly important when riders feel more vulnerable –after an evening of drinking, for example. The two-way rating system protects drivers as well. They can feel comfortable picking up a highly rate rated rider, even in an out-of-the-way area or at a time of night that might otherwise discourage them, and so increase their overall business. By promoting a safe and respectful work environment for drivers, the rating system also helps to open for women what has historically been a male-dominated line of work.

Third, Uber’s rating system also helps to mitigate the discrimination that is all too common in traditional for-hire transportation, as former NAACP President Ben Jealous noted in a recent op-ed. Because drivers only see a rider’s average numerical rating, riders know that their request for a ride is evaluated based on the reputation they have developed and not on any criterion such as race, age, disability, or trip destination.

The design of Uber’s rating system mitigates the impact of any potential bias. The rating system consists only of an average numerical rating. A low rating at the end of a trip is therefore folded into the rider's or driver's overall average and, in contrast to the rating systems of other platforms, never appears as a standalone rating. There are also no written comments in Uber's rating system. This removes yet another opportunity for a biased reviewer to have an outsized impact on a rider's or driver's reputation.

Complementary Role of Complaint Process

At the end of every ride, both the rider and driver are automatically prompted to send immediate written feedback to Uber's support team and can expect a response within just a couple of hours. Because both the rider and driver are fully identified to Uber, neither need remember any identifying details about the other to make a complaint. When a complaint process becomes this seamless and responsive, users trust that their complaints will be heard and responded to, which, in turn, reassures them of Uber's ability to enforce high quality service levels across its platform.

APPENDIX

Antitrust and Competition Authorities: Positive Commentary on Uber, Ride Sharing and the “Sharing Economy”

Competition authorities have frequently been among the first government agencies to examine the impact and regulation of ride-sharing platforms and the “sharing economy”. The following summarizes recent work undertaken by antitrust and competition authorities and regulators and which provides positive commentary on the impact of Uber, ride sharing, and the “sharing economy” on competition and consumer interests around the globe.

Please note that, unless otherwise indicated, links to reports, commentary and news coverage thereof direct to original language content. Where available, links to official English language summaries and news coverage are also included.

Australia

At the Melbourne Economic Forum in June 2015, Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) chairman Rod Sims said governments shouldn't bow to vested interests threatened by new innovations such as Uber, storage batteries for electricity and peer to peer lending. "Don't put new barriers in its way," he reportedly said.

In a February 2015 interview, Sims commented that services such as those provided by Uber, Ingogo Pty and Taxi Apps Pty are making his job easier: “Any concerns people used to have about competition in the taxi industry are essentially a thing of the past ... Technology will solve whatever problems that all of us have had about competition in the taxi industry.”

In March 2015, the Australian government released a final report (The Harper Report) reviewing its competition policy. Specifically with respect to ride-sharing applications, the report stated:

- Regulation is not necessarily a complete solution to improving markets: “[W]hile regulation can assist in making markets work better, it is not necessarily a complete solution. It requires ongoing enforcement and gives sellers that have met a minimum standard little incentive to improve.”
- Uber encourages good service standards and passenger behavior: “Recently, technology has emerged that offers an alternative to regulation in helping to solve information problems. For example, in the context of personal transport services, Uber and Lyft coordinate users and providers of ride-sharing services using internet apps where mandatory feedback from both customers and operators is used to encourage good service standards and passenger behaviour. Such ride-sharing apps, which allow passengers and drivers to post feedback on each other, enable drivers and passengers to establish and trade on their reputations.”
- Regulation must be regularly reviewed to ensure it is still required and does not inhibit new service offerings: “However, such innovative solutions to information problems in markets can pose challenges for regulators. Where regulation is inflexible, it may prevent markets from responding to innovative service offers that do not fit neatly within existing regulated categories. Regulation must be reviewed regularly to ensure that it is still required and not inhibiting the emergence of new service offerings.”

- Regulations should respond to changes in technology to allow new entrants to meet consumer demand: “A number of state and territory governments have determined that Uber is acting outside current industry regulations and issued fines to Uber drivers. The Panel does not endorse illegal activity, nor encourage new players to ignore or defy relevant laws or regulations. The Panel’s primary concern is to ensure that the regulations respond to changes in technology in a way that allows new entrants to meet consumer demand, while continuing to ensure the health and safety of consumers.”
- Reduced barriers to entry may mean more services available at peak times: “More affordable and convenient taxi services give consumers options. Significantly, reduced barriers to entry could see more services operate at peak times, without needing to operate at off-peak times.”

The report also made recommendations for reform in the taxi industry:

- Regulation of taxi and hire car services should focus on ensuring minimum standards for consumers, not supporting a particular business model: “Regulation limiting the number of taxi licences and preventing other services from competing with taxis has raised costs for consumers, including elderly and disadvantaged consumers, and hindered the emergence of innovative passenger transport services. Regulation of taxi and hire car services should be focused on ensuring minimum standards for the benefit of consumers rather than on restricting competition or supporting a particular business model.”
- License restrictions directly increase taxi fares, which may disproportionately affect low-income earners: Citing a Independent Pricing and Regulatory Tribunal (IPART) study, “IPART estimates that in NSW 15 to 20 per cent of the taxi fare arises as a result of restrictions on the number of licences and notes that the passengers who stand to benefit from reform include a significant number of lower income earners, many of whom have limited transport options due to age or disabilities.”

An earlier (September 2014), public draft of the same report featured positive commentary on Uber that is missing from the final (March 2015) report. This language included:

- Regulatory controversy surrounding Uber indicates that existing regulation is more concerned with protecting a particular business model: “The emergence of Uber has been particularly controversial as regulatory agencies have been questioning its legality and fining drivers, notwithstanding considerable public demand for its services. This indicates existing regulation is more concerned with protecting a particular business model than being flexible enough to allow innovative transport services to emerge.”
- Compared to other international responses, Australian regulators have yet to demonstrate flexibility and openness: “California was the first jurisdiction to recognise and regulate services such as Uber, creating a new category of regulation for ‘transportation network companies’ (TNCs). The regulation of TNCs covers driver background checks, driver training, drug and alcohol policies, minimum insurance coverage and company licensing. Australian regulators have yet to demonstrate such flexibility and openness to new modes of business. Transport authorities in NSW have declared UberX (Uber's ridesharing service) non-compliant with the Passenger Transport Act 1990."

A June 2014 report, Reinvigorating Australia's Competition Policy by the ACCC, features a short case study on Uber that states:

- Services like Uber meet unmet consumer demand: "One of the benefits of such services is that they appear to be responsive to passenger needs (making it easier for consumers to locate, arrange and pay for transportation services) and allow provision of services (reliability, cleanliness etc.) to meet unmet consumer demand."

Brazil

In July 2015, Brazil's Council for Economic Defence (CADE) offered to weigh in on court challenges to laws banning ride-sharing service Uber, arguing for the advantages of increased competition. Cade's president, Vinicius de Carvalho, told Reuters that CADE is prepared to file an amicus curiae brief on any case considering the constitutionality of banning services such as Uber. Carvalho stated:

- Uber increases competition and benefits consumers: "Cade understands that these services come about to increase competition and will generally benefit the consumer."
- Cade is tired of taxi creating barriers to entry based on arguments about quality guarantees: "You can't discuss regulation [of Uber] without addressing taxi licensing. Does it make sense to have a limited number of taxi licenses? Cade is tired of seeing cases where people set a table of prices and create barriers to entry based on arguments about guaranteeing quality."

Canada

In November 2014, the Competition Bureau (CB) issued a statement on the effort by various municipalities to block ridesharing services. The statement noted:

- Digital dispatch services offer consumer benefits through more competition: "The Competition Bureau is of the view that these innovative business models have the potential to offer important benefits to consumers through more competition, including lower prices, greater convenience and better service quality for a variety of reasons."
- Digital dispatch services offer an innovative and convenient alternative to consumers: "[D]igital dispatch services offer an innovative and convenient alternative to traditional methods of arranging urban transportation, such as hailing a taxicab on the street or phoning a traditional dispatcher. This is very convenient for consumers...[S]ome applications are now facilitating 'ride sharing' services that connect passengers to private drivers that wish to offer transport services. These innovative applications benefit consumers in the form of greater convenience and better service quality."
- Municipalities should consider less restrictive regulations: "The Bureau believes municipalities should consider whether prohibitions on digital dispatch services and ridesharing applications are necessary and explore whether less restrictive regulations could adequately address their concerns."

- Excessive regulation means reduced competition: “[W]e are able to highlight to regulators what they give up in terms of reduced competition when these innovative offerings are prohibited. In addition, such regulations should be no broader than what is reasonably necessary to achieve consumer protection objectives.”
- Innovation can be disruptive, but markets must be receptive: “The Bureau understands that innovation can be disruptive to existing industries. Recent examples include the real estate and banking industries. However, in order to be successful, not only must the innovators have courage, vision, drive and patience, but markets must be receptive to those efforts.”

In February 2014, the CB offered a submission to the City of Toronto’s Taxicab Industry Review, which stated:

- Regulators should consider amending regulations to allow applications to arrange and pay for transportation services: “[W]e recommend that consideration be given to increasing the number of taxicab licences issued and amending regulations that would allow the use of new cost-saving software applications designed to arrange and pay for passenger motor vehicle transportation services (‘applications’).”

Catalonia

Following their pro-competition November 2012 report on the taxi and for-hire market, the Catalan Competition Authority (ACCO) published a report (English version) on Peer-to-Peer (P2P) transactions and competition in July 2014 which states:

- “This situation raises a dichotomy for the public powers, that is, to work to make it possible for the initiatives the fruit of this innovation to operate in the market, or to hinder it. ACCO advocates the first option, since only if these initiatives become reality will consumers and users be able to benefit, thus increasing their welfare.”
- “The action of the public powers needs to be directed to promoting a flexible market environment that makes it possible for these marketplaces to develop their activity, so that the restrictions on competition (understood as barriers to entry or requirements for the exercise and development of the activity by new suppliers) would be uniquely those necessary and proportional.”
- “[I]t is quite likely that the emergence of marketplaces will provide an improvement in terms of the variety and diversity as well as the quantity of supply.”
- “It is undeniable that the design and preparation of current regulations did not take this innovation into account... [C]urrent regulations, in the best of cases, do not allow for these initiatives, so that they are situated in an environment of ‘outlawry’ and, in the rest of the cases, can be directly seen as illegal... [T]he current legal framework may have been overwhelmed in many cases and, in the end, become obsolete, so that, in summary, it can be said that it does not give an adequate answer to innovations.”
- “[I]f we do not adapt and incorporate these new models we will be the losers in the competition which exists between the various countries to attract innovation and, in short, progress.”

In October 2014, the Catalan Parliament passed a motion to create a Commission to study collaborative consumption with the objective of defining a general framework for public administrations, including new regulations if required. The Commission is a joint effort with Parliamentary groups, commercial operations, consumer groups and public administration.

Denmark

In 2008, the Danish Competition and Consumer Authority (Konkurrence- og Forbrugerstyrelsen, DCCA) concluded in its annual report (official English version here) that the state's "regulation of the taxi industry is anti-competitive" and that under the then-current rules, "taxi driving is performed primarily in expensive cars at the highest price allowed."

In a public statement coinciding with the launch of Uber Copenhagen in November 2014, Jacob Schaumburg-Müller, Head of Department, Danish Competition and Consumer Authority reportedly noted that, in a translation to English on Uber's blog: "the competition on the [Danish] taxi market is characterized by regulation through laws and executive orders that restrict competition. If you want to provide those taxi services that match what the consumers would like to have, you must at any rate make sure that there are not too many restrictions on what you are allowed to do and what not. That will make room for innovation and new products."

EU, US, UK

At the American Bar Association 63rd Antitrust Spring Meeting, Washington, DC, in April 2015, leading antitrust enforcers from the United States, Europe and the United Kingdom agreed that competition law is increasingly likely to play a guiding role as a regulatory regime develops for a group of technology upstarts that are using the Internet to disrupt a growing list of industries.

Out-law.com reported that the UK's Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) Chairman Lord David Currie has said that the CMA is "instinctively in support of innovation and disruption as a competitive advantage" and that it "absolutely" has a role to play in ensuring new entrants to markets are protected from any anti-competitive behaviour from incumbents.

Finland

In April 2014, the Finnish Competition and Consumer Authority (Kilpailu- ja kuluttajavirasto, FCCA) sent a set of recommendations (English summary here) to the Ministry of Transport and Communications for reform of the country's taxi legislation. The FCCA proposals, which were based on a thorough prior analysis, included:

- Deregulation of the number of available licenses: "[T]he regulation of the maximum number of taxi licences based on means testing should be given up. However, getting into the business would still be subject to a licence. The professional competence of taxi drivers and the quality of taxi services would continue to be monitored in the future."

- Price regulation should be relaxed: “From the point of view of consumer protection it is important that customers know the basis of the fare before the taxi ride begins, and that pricing should be reasonable throughout the country and in different conditions.”
- Lift restriction on use of taxi ranks: “The FCCA also proposes changing the Taxi Transport Act in such a way that a vehicle based in any community would be allowed to stay at a taxi rank of any community to wait for a fare.”
- Open up public procurement: “Taxi entrepreneurs should also be allowed to offer their vehicles for use in competitive bidding in nearby municipalities, which would lead to greater efficiency in public acquisitions... Through reform of regulation it would also be possible to reduce the state and municipal contribution to taxi services, which currently amounts to €400 million.”
- Easing regulation improves availability, reduces prices, and creates incentives for innovation: “[E]asing regulation of the taxi business would improve the availability of taxis, create incentives for the development of new forms of service based on entrepreneurship, and reduce prices.”

In a November 2014 public statement (translation to English on Uber’s blog here) coinciding with the launch of Uber Helsinki, Seppo Reimavuo, Head of Advocacy Unit, FCCA stated: “We welcome Uber to Finland, where we hope the company can contribute to creating innovation in the branch which will benefit the consumers. Of course there has to be an authorization procedure that regulates who may be allowed to drive a taxi. But at the moment the regulation is so rigid that it blocks for new products and in reality put a stop to innovation and entrepreneurship in the industry.”

France

A series of legislative proposals regarding the taxi and VTC/CDC (vehicule de tourisme avec chauffeur/chauffeur driven cars) have been proposed over the last few years, and the Conseil de la Concurrence (CC) has provided comments on each of them. The CC’s most recent contribution (English press release here) in January 2015 addresses a decree implementing the October 2014 law regulating the activity of taxis and VTC/CDC adopted by the French Parliament on December 30, 2014.

Though the CC delivered an overall favorable opinion on the draft decree, it declared that all CDC professionals should “be treated equally,” and made the following policy recommendations:

- “Return to the base” obligations are inefficient solutions to a police problem: In December 2013, “The Autorité first English press release [here] called into question the obligation itself, which appears to accept the failure of the efficient application of the existing measures to discourage illegal cruising for hail (maraudage), and which, under the pretext of competitive regulation, aims once again to settle a police problem.”
- “Return to the base” provisions undermine competition: “This point is particularly worrying since the legitimate discouragement of illegal hailing, which is part of the taxis’ monopoly, should not result in the distortion of competition on the pre-booking market, which is open to competition. Yet, this provision aims to impede CDC activity. The Autorité also considers that other control measures would be more efficient in order to discourage illegal hailing (see paragraphs 65 et seq. of the opinion).”

- Bank guarantee registration obligations for VTC--but not taxi--drivers introduce unjustified discrepancy in treatment: “Even though proof of financial means is regular practice in the context of procurement contracts and for the collective transportation vehicles for individuals, the transposition of such a requirement for the CDC seemed neither necessary, nor justified by the objective of professionalization of the sector, insofar as the draft decree does not mention the events under which the guarantee could be called upon... [T]he provision introduced a dual and unjustified discrepancy in treatment, between taxis, which are not subject to this provision, and between the CDC...”

Germany

In June 2015, the German Monopolies Commission (GMC) published a report, “Competition Policy: The Challenge of Digital Markets” (full report in German here; official English summary here and press release here) states:

- Regulatory adjustments necessary and, in some areas, current regulations are excessive: “[T]he Monopolies Commission emphasises that regulatory adjustments may become necessary whenever new suppliers with innovative business models (e.g., in the sharing economy) or products enter regulated markets ... [T]he Monopolies Commission takes the view that the regulation at the federal level and in the Länder probably exceeds what is necessary in various areas.”
- Reducing regulation for established market participants in sharing economy: “Asymmetric regulation of traditional services on the one hand and new digital services on the other hand can distort competition, e.g. in the ‘sharing economy’, which is due to the emergence of innovative business models. In this context, the reaction is frequently a call for subjecting the new market participants to existing regulation. The Monopolies Commission suggests considering the opposite reaction, i.e. to reduce regulation for the established market participants.”

In July 2014, the GMC published its XXth Biennial Report “A competitive order for the financial markets” (full report in German here; official English summary of the main report here and English press release on competition in the taxi market here). The Commission recommends that further competition will benefit consumers and calls for the following:

- The removal of specific for-hire car restrictions: “[The Commission] recommends abolishing the return obligation for rental cars, as well as the regulation that the transport order must be received at the place of operation of the car hire firm (Sec. 49(4)(2 and 3) of the Passenger Transport Act).”
- Eliminating empty drives: “Unnecessary empty drives could be avoided, in particular, by the abolition of the duty to return and the provision that the call for transport must be received at the operational seat. Further amendments to the regulation may be necessary in case taxi services are liberalised.”

- Increased competition in the taxi market: “The Monopolies Commission’s analysis shows that such a strict restriction of competition is not necessary. The Monopolies Commission appeals to the competent authorities not to impose concession restrictions anymore, and it recommends the introduction of maximum prices for a transitional period of three years at first. Afterwards, free price competition should be made possible especially in the area of radio taxis.”
- Companies like Uber have intensified competition: “The provision of rental car services stands in a close competitive relationship with taxi services and it is equally regulated, to the latter’s protection. The market entry of undertakings allowing for the provision of rental cars via smartphone apps has intensified competition between the two mobility carriers, and has aligned taxi and rental car services further. The Monopolies Commission recommends that the regulation of rental car services be adapted in order not to jeopardise the positive development of competition.”
- Generating alternatives to existing dispatches for the first time: “In the area of taxi agency services, the market entry of innovative companies offering taxi agency services via smartphone apps generates alternatives to existing dispatch centres to many taxi operators and drivers for the first time.”
- Prohibiting exclusivity clauses and third-party advertising prohibitions: “The Monopolies Commission welcomes this development as well as the decisions of the German judiciary so far, which prohibit the dispatch centres from applying exclusivity clauses and third- party advertising prohibitions. Such measures can constitute significant barriers to market entry and can be an obstacle to the development of competition regarding taxi agency services.”
- Freedom of occupation mandates leaving price determination to taxi service providers: The Monopolies Commission Chairman, Professor Daniel Zimmer, stated: “Given the freedom of occupation, every entrepreneur should be allowed to enter the taxi business under the condition he or she meets the necessary minimum requirements. The freedom of occupation mandates to leave the decision on prices to the taxi service providers to the largest extent possible.”

In October 2014, Andreas Mundt, President of the German Federal Cartel Office told Rheinsiche Post newspaper (English direct quotes from Reuters coverage here): “More competition would not harm the taxi market...The impetus from Uber should be used to arrive at a more liberal interpretation of existing rules.” He added that the current system, which regulates normal taxis more harshly than Uber services, was not sustainable.

Italy

The Italian Competition Authority (AGCM) used the publication of its July 2014 Annual Report to the Italian Parliament to highlight what it sees as clearly inadequate and out-dated regulation of taxi and limo services. It argues that new technologies allow an improvement in transportation offers.

The ICA makes the following recommendations (translated from Italian):

- Allow full competition: “It is necessary to remove any element of competitive discrimination, in the view of full substitutability of the two services.”
- “Return to base” restrictions should be removed: “Obligations to receive bookings at a garage should be removed from rental cars with drivers (NCC, Noleggio Con Conducente) and taxi regulation.”
- Territorial restrictions should be abolished: “Taxi and NCC operators should not be required to establish a (base/garage) in the area in which they are licensed.”

On February 20, 2015, the Italian Council of Ministers approved the draft annual law on competition and the market, aimed at enhancing liberalization in certain sectors. Giovanni Pitruzzella, Chairman of the ICA, noted that the approval of the draft law, which addresses several of the issues flagged in the ICA’s July 2014 report, is an important step towards an effective liberalization and the improvement of competition on the market.

Ireland

In 2014, the National Transport Authority (NTA) issued a consultation on the then-draft Small Public Service Vehicle Regulations (SPSV), which would consolidate and replace over fifty years of legislation relating to the SPSV industry and proposed new rules to:

- Require all new taxi and hackney entrants be Wheelchair Accessible Vehicles (WAV) that are less than six years old, and
- Prohibit advertising on a hackney or limousine unless approved by the Authority.

In January 2014, the Irish Competition Authority (now called the Competition and Consumer Protection Commission - CCPC) submitted a proposal to the NTA which firmly criticised the proposals as creating new entry barriers to the market, raising costs for consumers, and in particular disadvantaging part-time drivers who play a critical role in meeting demand and reducing waiting times at the peak weekend nights.

- Supply caps are the most harmful restriction on competition: “Limiting the number of operators in a sector is regarded as being the most harmful regulatory restriction on competition. There is no established way to arrive at the appropriate limit on the number of SPSVs and once a cap is in place, given the support it will engender from current industry suppliers who benefit from it, it is very hard to modify or remove it.”
- WAV requirements create barriers to entry that actually damage welfare of wheelchair users and other consumers: “[T]he requirement since June 2010 that all new taxi and hackney entrants must drive a Wheelchair Accessible Vehicle (WAV)<sup>6</sup> – will in effect create a quantitative barrier to entry ... [Requirements that] all new taxi and hackney entrants must drive a WAV that is less than six years old (see paragraph 3.1 for the full text) will create a permanent barrier to entry and will distort the SPSV market, while being ineffective in terms of increasing the number of WAVs and the availability to people with disabilities of those WAVs already in the market. While existing licensed drivers are likely to benefit from this provision, wheelchair users, consumers, businesses and future entrants to the SPSV industry will lose out in the long run.”

- Regulators must prioritize more effective ways to match WAV supply and demand: “[I]n order to improve the percentage of WAVs in the market the Government should first prioritise more effective ways to match supply with demand. This is an important first step to create the necessary demand to provide existing taxi drivers and potential entrants with the financial incentive to invest in WAVs.”
- Prohibition on advertising limits drivers’ earning potential (and thus increases fares) and favors existing license holders: “[T]he provisions...appear to prohibit advertising on the interior and exterior of hackneys, limousines and new taxi entrants. This seems unjustified and unduly favours existing holders of taxi licences over new taxi entrants and other SPSV licence holders...”

Mexico

In June 2015, Mexico’s Federal Competition Commission (COFECE) released a non-binding opinion (English press release here) endorsing Uber. The opinion made the following comments and policy recommendations:

- Uber contributes to social welfare: “Passenger transportation services provided through mobile platforms, like Uber and Cabify, are a result of technological advancements and the innovation process. These services constitute a new product on the market and contribute to social welfare.”
- Services like Uber deserve formal recognition as a new transportation category: “Given their impact on social dynamics, COFECE suggests the formal recognition of these services as a new mode or category for transportation ... Based on technology and innovation, Transportation Network Companies (TNCs) offer a transportation alternative with differentiated attributions regarding: i) reliability and personal security, ii) certainty on applicable fares and payment methods, iii) comfort and convenience, iv) real time search and waiting times, and v) trip information. Therefore, COFECE considers this to be a new product in the market.”
- Legal framework should limit itself to protecting public safety: “The corresponding legal framework should be limited to guarding primary public objectives regarding passengers’ and protection and not to the imposition of unjustified restrictions to competition and free market access ... If needed, the legal framework should limit itself to protecting primary public objectives regarding passengers’ safety and consumer protection. For example, by compelling drivers to certify broad insurance coverage or by submitting drivers to background checks and aptitude tests.”
- Restrictions to competition should be avoided: “Restrictions to competition should also be avoided. These include: a. Requiring authorization for vehicles to provide the service or limiting their numbers by imposing additional requirements such as special license plates or color coding; b. Regulating rates, currently determined by the providers on the basis of market supply and demand.”
- TNCs reduce information deficits, operate a successful self-regulating model, offer convenient service, and create incentives for other transportation options to use technology to consumers’ benefit: “Transportation Network Services: Simplify the interaction between passengers and drivers through technology. This helps reduce information deficiencies and coordination problems. The risk of consumers being captured is therefore reduced; Operate through a successful self-regulating model; Contribute to consumer welfare by offering convenient service conditions; Create incentives for other transportation means to use technology in consumers' benefit."

In June 2015, COFECE chairwoman Alejandra Palacios Prieto told The Associated Press: "Generally speaking, the more options consumers have, the better off they are ... They will receive better services and pay better prices for those services."

Norway

In a public statement coinciding with the launch of Uber Oslo, Linda Sørfohn Moe, Advisor, Norwegian Competition Authority (Konkurransetilsynet) said: "there is clearly a need for further deregulation of the taxi market in Norway", and continued: "We think that the present rigid regulation of the number of taxis results in poor competition to the detriment of the consumers. So the present system which limits the number of taxis should be given up as quickly as possible."

In March 2015, the Competition Authority published a major study into the taxi market which effectively reaffirmed the statements above and also cited a number of restrictions in the market which make it hard for the traditional taxi sector to deliver maximum consumer benefits.

OECD

In 2007, the OECD undertook arguably the most thorough cross-country analysis of the history and impact of taxi regulation. The key findings of the report include:

- Entry restrictions are unjustified: "Restrictions on entry to the taxi industry constitute an unjustified restriction on competition. Regulatory capture frequently means that these restrictions lead to large transfers from consumers to producers, economic distortions and associated deadweight losses."
- Entry restrictions do not benefit drivers OR consumers: "Although entry restrictions are often justified on equity grounds there is no evidence that drivers fare better in restricted markets. On the other hand, higher prices and lower availability disproportionately affect low-income consumers of taxi services."
- Market reforms work: "Increasing numbers of OECD countries have removed or loosened supply restrictions on taxis. The results of these reforms have been strongly positive, with reduced waiting times, increased consumer satisfaction and, in many cases, falling prices being observed."
- Reforms should be carried out quickly: "In highly restricted taxi markets, immediate implementation of an open entry policy is likely to be politically challenging. However, adopting staged approaches delays the achievement of reform benefits and poses major practical risks that reform will be stalled or reversed. Immediate reforms have been completed successfully in some highly restricted markets."
- Supportive, innovation-friendly regulation is important: "Removing entry restrictions does not imply removing quality based regulation. Indeed, supportive regulation is a precondition for fully achieving the potential benefits of adopting an open entry policy. That said, remaining regulatory arrangements must not unduly inhibit the development of innovative service offers and industry models.”

The same OECD report sets out in great detail a vision for a “Supportive Regulatory Environment” that is friendly to innovation. This environment focuses on removing unnecessary restrictions on competition while maintaining quality regulation in the following areas:

- No entry restrictions: entry restrictions “constitute an unjustified restriction on competition”;
- Positive conduct regulation: sanctions against “refusals of short trips, ‘no shows’ and other forms of poor driver behavior”;
- Vehicle standards: age or testing regimes;
- Driver standards: “typically...a ‘fit and proper person’ test, designed to ensure passenger safety”;
- Facilitating innovation: “...for example, if price regulation is to be retained (see below) care must be taken to ensure that it does not inhibit the development of premium services or, on the other hand, of shared ride arrangements”.

Spain

On July 24, 2015, the Spanish competition authority (La Comisión Nacional de los Mercados y la Competencia, CNMC) is reported to have announced two reports which appear to recommend that Uber and Blablacar should not be subject to the same restrictions which apply to taxi, measures which harm the proper functioning of a service that raises clear and relevant benefits for consumers. As of July 24, 2015 10am EDT, no English language outlets have covered the story.

The CNMC made its first public comments on ride sharing in the context of the discussion within government about a draft Royal Decree amending the Regulation and Law covering Ground Transportation. This draft of the Royal Decree aims to:

- Restrict the number of for-hire vehicles: the Ministry of Public Works wants to restrict license numbers of for-hire vehicles at 1 for-hire vehicle per 30 taxi licenses;
- Limit geographic competition: for-hire companies are only allowed to compete in the town where their registered office is situated.

The CNMC expressed concerns with the restrictive approach outlined in the Decree. In a January 2014 report, the CNMC expressed support for a pro-competitive regulatory model in the taxi and for-hire car (VTC, Vehiculos de Turismo con Conductor) markets. This follows a similar report by the Catalan Competition Authority (ACCO) in November 2012.

CNMC President, José María Marín, has stated that services such as Uber should not be effectively banned, as this would clearly be a restriction on competition. In July 2014, the CNMC published an article on its blog on the collaborative economy which stated that new online services lead to more competition, greater choice for consumers, a reduction of prices, and better environmental performance.

In October 2014, the CNMC launched a study (English) of the sharing economy, focusing on its impact on urban and interurban ground transportation and tourist accommodation. The study will assist the CNMC in issuing “recommendations aimed at ensuring efficient regulation of the affected markets, with a view to guaranteeing effective competition between traditional and new entrants in the markets, for the benefits of consumers.” Findings are expected later in 2015. The study landing page states:

- “There is no doubt that the increase in the supply and variety of products and services is an opportunity that, from the point of view of competition, enhances consumer welfare”;
- “[T]he new models provide consumers with more information about products and services, reduce transaction costs and have a lower environmental impact.”

United Kingdom

In 2003, the Office of Fair Trading published the results of an inquiry into the regulation of taxis and minicabs in the country, concluding:

- Quantity restrictions, where used by local authorities, should be removed;
- Quality and safety regulation should be proportionate to public policy goals, so as to avoid them becoming an implicit barrier to market entry;
- Price flexibility should be permitted, even while regulated fare caps remain necessary to protect vulnerable groups.

In July 2014, the CMA submitted a response to the to the Scottish Parliament’s Local Government and Regeneration Committee’s call for evidence on taxis and private hire vehicles (PHVs). The response stated:

- License limits can increase demand for illegal taxis: “[U]sing licensing to limit the number of new taxis and PHVs may lead to an increased demand for illegal taxis where neither the driver nor the vehicle has been subject to appropriate quality and safety checks. We believe this could expose consumers to greater safety threats ... Limiting the number of PHVs should be a last resort and licensing authorities should try to ensure that any quality and safety specifications do not go beyond what is required to achieve this policy aim.”
- The two-tier licensing regime for taxis and PHVs benefits consumers: “It increases choice and value for money for consumers living close to administrative borders. Taxis can take passengers from within their licensed area to other licensing authorities but can’t accept bookings for passengers or ply for hire outside the area in which they are licensed. PHVs, on the other hand, can take passengers from any point to any other providing the PHV driver, vehicle and operator are licensed in the same area.”
- The two-tier licensing regime makes for more effective and efficient regulation: “It allows regulations to be targeted at the parts of the market where they are needed, without disrupting the market in sectors where such regulation is unnecessary...The reduced amount of regulation benefits both PHV providers and licensing authorities.”

- Competition encourages better value and quality service to consumers: “Competition encourages taxi and PHV drivers to offer better value for money and better quality service to consumers.”
- Markets work better without supply caps on taxis and PHVs: “[W]e believe that the market works better without quantity restrictions on taxis and PHVs ... We found that quantity restrictions can actually have an adverse impact on both choice and price for consumers. The long term benefit to society of lifting quantity restrictions, in terms of lower waiting times, improved safety and lower costs of market entry outweigh the potential drawbacks.”

Out-law.com reported that the UK’s Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) Chairman Lord David Currie said in April 2015 that the CMA is “instinctively in support of innovation and disruption as a competitive advantage” and that it “absolutely” has a role to play in ensuring new entrants to markets are protected from any anti-competitive behaviour from incumbents.

United States

On June 9, 2015, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) hosted a workshop (The “Sharing” Economy: Issues Facing Platforms, Participants, and Regulators) in which we participated. According to the workshop announcement, the workshop aimed to “consider if, and the extent to which, existing regulatory frameworks can be responsive to sharing economy business models while maintaining appropriate consumer protections ... [and] how various regulatory choices may affect competition and consumers.” The announcement further stated:

- The sharing economy can promote competition, improve participant welfare and increase productivity and efficiency: “The development and expansion of the sharing economy can spur economic growth, promote competition, and improve the welfare of platform participants. The sharing economy has facilitated the introduction of new and innovative sources of supply, which may provide consumers with expanded choices, greater convenience and, often, lower prices. It also has enabled increased productivity and more efficient use of assets.”
- Traditional regulatory structures are often decades old: “Suppliers using sharing economy platforms generally compete with established suppliers of products or services that may be subject to state and local regulatory structures that often are decades old.”
- Platforms can enhance participant trust: “Platforms can enhance trust in transacting by providing direct assurances to participants, who can then rely on the platform itself.”

In conjunction with the June 9, 2015 workshop, FTC Commissioner Maureen K. Ohlhausen made the following remarks:

- Sharing economy has potential to introduce transformative change: “I see the rise of the sharing economy as yet another example of how free markets have the potential to introduce transformative change. When entrepreneurs are free to innovate and compete, sometimes they will succeed and sometimes they will fail. But over time, that repeated process of experimentation, adaptation, and revision creates meaningful improvements in all of our lives.”

- Beneficial change can cause damage to those invested in the older order: “Change is always hard – even the most beneficial changes can cause short-term dislocations and damage to those deeply invested in the older order. Yet the potential social value of disruptive innovation is no less true today than it was in [the economist Joseph] Schumpeter’s time.”
- Sharing economy may have disproportionately positive, long-term effects on less affluent consumers: “[T]here are already some suggestions that the rise of the sharing economy may have disproportionately positive effects on less affluent consumers over the long term. The ability to effectively rent rather than buy expensive goods, or to partially defray the cost of ownership through facilitated sharing may be most valued by consumers that cannot afford to buy those same items outright.”
- It is inappropriate for existing competitors to exercise control over the firms they compete with: “At the end of the day, it is not for us in government to pick the winners and losers in the marketplace ... [I]t [is] inappropriate for existing competitors to exercise control over the firms they compete with. In all too many situations, we at the FTC encounter these “Brother May I?” scenarios. This situation occurs when a new competitor effectively has to request permission from the incumbent firms to enter the market. Whether through effective control of state regulatory boards or by obtaining protectionist legislation, incumbent firms can place themselves in a position to determine who they must compete with.”
- Consumers lose when special interests trump the public good: “[C]onsumers pay the price for actions that favor narrow special interests over the broader public good. The sharing economy, pitting a number of long-established business models against aggressive new entrants, appears a particularly fertile ground for such mischief.”

In a April 2014 blog post, Getting around town in the share economy, the FTC stated:

- Compared to taxi, ridesharing services can spur competition: “These ridesharing services can spur competition by providing consumers with new ways to more easily locate, arrange, and pay for rides, as compared to traditional commercial methods such as hailing a taxi on the street or calling a taxi dispatcher.”
- Vigorous competition in the app-based transportation space can provide consumers lower prices, higher quality products and services, and greater innovation: “Competition is at the heart of America’s economy. Vigorous competition among sellers in an open marketplace can provide consumers the benefits of lower prices, higher quality products and services, and greater innovation. This is just as true for app-based transportation and other kinds of P2P services. So while staff praised Chicago for moving in the right direction, we urged them to keep moving.”

Also in April 2014, FTC staff submitted a letter to Alderman Brendan Reilly of the Chicago City Council regarding a proposed ordinance that would allow for the licensing and operation of transportation network providers (TNPs). While the FTC praised the ordinance for making it possible for some rideshare apps to operate using personal vehicles, it noted that some of the proposed provisions “are likely to limit the benefits to consumers without providing them with any apparent protections ... Each of these restrictions seems likely to limit competition and the consumer benefits of legalized ridesharing and blunt the perceived threat they pose to incumbent commercial taxi and sedan services rather than protect consumers from some kind of harm.” The accompanying press release stated that the letter noted:

- Significant license fees likely lead to higher costs for consumers: “[The ordinance would] impose a significant license fee on the apps that would make it more expensive for them to operate and likely lead to higher costs for consumers”;
- Restrictions on pricing methods and insurance requirements don’t appear to be connected with protecting consumers: “[The ordinance would] restrict their use of varied and creative pricing methods, and impose elevated insurance requirements that don’t appear to be connected to any evidence of risk to riders compared to commercial taxis”;
- TNP bans on airport and convention center service have no apparent justification: “[The ordinance would] flatly ban TNPs from serving Chicagoland airports and the convention center with no apparent justification”;
- Records and data collection requirements raise questions about competition and consumer privacy: “[The ordinance would] impose extensive records and data collection requirements, raising some concerns about both competition and consumer privacy.”

CONCLUSION

As these new policy debates continue in halls of governments throughout the United States, and around the world, it is worth remembering that this new “sharing economy” is only possible because of technological advancements that were only an idea less than a decade ago. Uber was not possible as recently as 2008; but after five years of existence, the Uber app connects riders and drivers globally at a rate of more than 1 million rides per day.

This is an exciting time to be a consumer, and government should ensure that the public has access to a marketplace that thrives on innovation and change.

Lawmakers and regulators should take care that the new regulations they consider making today will not stifle the innovation that will surely be coming to us tomorrow, and every day after that.

Uber appreciates that the FTC is driving this important discussion, and we look forward to this ongoing dialogue.

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Re: Budget for negotiated acquisition
Date: Monday, November 23, 2015 7:00:12 AM
Attachments: Report outline 10-07-15.docx attached.

---

On Sun, Nov 22, 2015 at 9:55 PM, Tarlow, Mindy <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Can you please send me your outline of the draft report. I don't believe I have an electronic copy. If you can send that this evening that would be helpful.

Thank you. Mindy

Sent from my BlackBerry 10 smartphone on the Verizon Wireless 4G LTE network.

---

From: Bruce Schaller
Sent: Sunday, November 22, 2015 9:35 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Re: Budget for negotiated acquisition

---

Mindy - in light of all of the issues about scope, areas of analysis, previous understandings, etc., I need to ask you again for a very specific scope of work and budget for the second contract. Please include any work product not yet completed.

Once I have that, I'll resume work.

As I've said previously, I will not bill you for any tasks not listed.

Having a written scope and contract will avoid future confusion and enable me to focus efficiently on completing the project.

Regards,

Bruce

On Sun, Nov 22, 2015 at 6:34 PM, Bruce Schaller <bruceschaller2@gmail.com> wrote:

No. That was the point of triage the data and write the report. We went over that and I repeated it at the start of the long meeting last week.

On Nov 22, 2015 6:00 PM, "Tarlow, Mindy" <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
I will try to call you around 9:30 but have a 10:00 out of the office, so might have to be after that. One thing I'm trying to understand is how your itemized list relates to your email of November 18th which referenced what would be included in the additional $20K (pasted below). I assume the assessment of the VMT estimate, review of forecast/modeling for 2020, and work with TLC on TPEP output were all known at the time you sent that email. Let's talk about that tomorrow. Thank you, Mindy Mindy - that was a good conversation today. Thank you for setting it up.

On the budget, I want to be clear about what the current (intended) budget of $40k (eg $20+$20) does and does not cover.

Given time spent to date, my best estimate is that I have just the right amount of time/budget to write the report. This includes pulling together the data we've been going through and putting it into tables and graphs. This takes account of the time that I've spent over the past 3 weeks going much more deeply into the data than either of us expected when we discussed the $40k.

It would not cover additional meetings, discussions about policy options, etc.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Regards,
Bruce

From: Bruce Schaller [bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, November 22, 2015 3:56 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Re: Budget for negotiated acquisition

OK. So I'll stop working on the congestion section and associated tables. I'll have the rest to you my midday Monday.

I'll be back from dr. appt in the morning by 9:30, probably by 9. We can talk anytime after I'm back.

My two cents is that we need to get through the trips per shift and time based issues or you don't have a complete set of findings. What of the rest you want is up to you. I am recommending what I think is in the City's best interest, but I'm not "the decider" on this!

On Sun, Nov 22, 2015 at 3:16 PM, Tarlow, Mindy <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Also made headway on my to do list that I hope to complete by end of day. Can we arrange a time to talk tomorrow morning?

Sent from my BlackBerry 10 smartphone on the Verizon Wireless 4G LTE network.

---

From: Tarlow, Mindy
Sent: Sunday, November 22, 2015 2:55 PM
To: Bruce Schaller
Subject: Re: Budget for negotiated acquisition

Hi Bruce

I can't accept this as written without further discussion with you as well as consulting with relevant folks concerning adding budget. Please let me know how this affects your ability to continue your work. I would like to assume that you will be able to produce everything we discussed yesterday - and deliver by midday Monday - with the exception of the congestion section which you will separate from the rest and not share until we determine the best way to work through that part of the report which may or may not include some of the items detailed below. Thanks (and sorry for the brief note - [REDACTED]). Mindy

Sent from my BlackBerry 10 smartphone on the Verizon Wireless 4G LTE network.

---

From: Bruce Schaller
Sent: Sunday, November 22, 2015 2:41 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Budget for negotiated acquisition

---

Mindy -- I've put together budget estimate for various tasks that I anticipate will or may be necessary to complete the draft report. I recommend that the procurement be for the full amount shown, which provides flexibility and you can decide that certain items are not necessary such as meetings or briefings, which is easier done than deciding to add something later. See below and same thing in the attached excel file.

Please let me know if you accept this, as I'm preparing material for the McK/KLD review that is on the list.

I'm working on the draft report.

Bruce

Task	Time (days)	Cost
Assess VMT estimate	0.50	$ 1,100
Review forecast/modeling for 2020	0.75	$ 1,650
Work with TLC on discrepancy in TPEP output related to trips per shift	0.50	$ 1,100
Prepare and review time-based analysis with McKinsey and HDR and make appropriate adjustments	0.75	$ 1,650
Review time-based analysis with agencies and make appropriate adjustments	0.50	$ 1,100
3 add'l meetings with MOO/agencies/McK/HDR (2 hrs each)	0.75	$ 1,650

Add'l telephone consultations	0.75	$ 1,650
Brief CH re findings (2 meetings including prep)	1.25	$ 2,750
Add'l tasks not specified above (reserve)	2.50	$ 5,500
Additional tasks - total		$ 18,150
Complete draft		$ 20,000
Total for negotiated procurement		$ 38,150

I. Introduction

A. For-hire services in NYC

- NYC's for-hire industry provides a high level of service over a large geographic area, encompassing both street hail and pre-arranged (dispatch) service and offer choice of services ranging from premium black car services to basic outerborough car service [Fact Pack pages 25, 33]
- The for-hire industry has repeatedly been reshaped by the needs of NYC residents and decisions by the City and industry. Milestones include:
  - Haas Act in the 1930s that led to creation of the medallion system;
  - gypsy cabs in the 1950s and 1960s which eventually became the legitimate car service segment;
  - formation of the TLC in 1971 responsible for taxi regulatory policy, licensing and enforcement;
  - removal of two-way radio service from yellow cabs in the early 1980s which led to creation of the black car industry;
  - creation of green boro cabs, bringing street hail service to outerboros
  - the arrival and rapid expansion of Transportation Network Companies, of which Uber is by far the largest.
- Scale: Small is big and big is small [Fact Pack pages 15-16]
- FHS trips act as both supplement and complement to transit and walking [Fact Pack pages 20-21]
- Customer mode choice based on speed, comfort, shorter wait time [Fact Pack page 23]
- Evidence is that FHV's were generally regarded more favorably by the public than taxis even before recent developments [Use MTA survey data and number of complaints filed with TLC]
- While once serving distinctly defined markets, recent trends suggest convergence of both industry segments and customer markets [Fact Pack page 51]
- But there remain sharp differences in regulations: FHV's have fewer or lesser regulatory requirements pertaining to number of vehicles, fares, vehicle inspections, accessibility, driver training, data submission than do yellow cabs. [Fact Pack page 48]

B. For-hire services are now at a critical juncture

- Drop in Manhattan traffic speeds, especially over last year [9% drop in CBD speeds in last two years after four years in which traffic speeds improved even with economic growth -- see chart attached]
- Drop in yellow cab trips [awaiting monthly trend data]
- Shift of drivers and pax to Uber [Fact Pack pages 93-94]
- Sharply reduced medallion transfer activity [need info for this point]
- Wide-scale introduction of accessible taxis (starting January 1, 2016)
- Positives among recent developments:
  - TNCs provide the public with new and welcomed mobility options
  - Yellow industry is more focused on the need for them to improve customer service
  - Company branding and customer choice and loyalty work toward better quality, consistency and accountability of FHV service.
- Uncertainties:
  - Ability of yellow industry to respond to competitive pressures (with or without substantial "regulatory relief")
  - How financial pressures on yellow industry, and medallion lenders in particular, will affect yellow cab service and shape of the industry
  - City revenue from auction medallions and use of other mechanisms to generate revenue
- Challenge for City policy is to:
  - Understand changes occurring in FHS industry and services
  - Clearly articulate City's interests at stake
  - Formulate a creative, flexible and effective policy response, in situation with little experience (NYC or elsewhere) to use as a guide

C. City's core interests

- Given rapid change in the for-hire industry, the potential impact of new technological and/or service innovations and continuing disruption of existing industries, the future shape of FHS industries is uncertain.
- How the industry evolves is dependent on:
  - How each industry segment responds to the challenges and opportunities facing them
  - How passengers and drivers respond to choices offered them by competing service providers.
- Given these uncertainties, regulatory policies need to be adaptable to different potential outcomes. Policy needs to provide flexibility as to how industry structure and regulatory framework evolve.

1. Customer (passenger) service

- Provide diverse set of services meeting needs of different customer segments and serving all parts of the city
- Ensure that hail service in dense areas of the city is readily available, attractive and safe. Important because:
  - street hails serve all customers (no smartphone or credit card required)
  - in areas with very high trip density (example: outside Penn Station in the morning rush), street hail and taxi stands are a far more efficient way to match customers and drivers, with less impact on traffic congestion than dispatched rides
- Provide readily available wheelchair accessible service

2. For-hire industry

- Provide opportunity for entry and innovation, adaptable to changing market needs
- Ensure accountability for traffic and personal safety, customer service and regulatory compliance
- Achieve efficiency in use of street space to minimize impact on traffic congestion
- Minimize vehicle emissions
- Ensure equity for drivers: income, benefits, opportunity across industry segments

3. City revenue

- Create reliable revenue stream to meet revenue needs for City and transportation network
- Ensure "evenness" across industry sectors

4. Regulatory

- Provide resources to administer effectively -- full range, from licensing to standards to enforcement
- Comply with legal mandates, including accessibility
- Ensure industry accountability
- Ensure traffic and personal safety
- Promote innovation and good customer service
- Be adaptable to changes in market and industry -- process of managing change toward core City interests, with flexibility as to specifics of industry structure and regulations

II. Study results

A. Background on study purposes, methodology, how conducted, who interviewed, surveys, etc. [details in sidebar]

B. Findings

Traffic congestion

1. Manhattan traffic: data show little change in FHS trip volumes in congested parts of Manhattan, as Uber has displaced trips rather than grown the market [Fact Pack pages 26, 80, 81 but awaiting monthly trend data]
2. Yellow cab operations have shrunk, with fewer shifts worked. [Fact Pack page 92; need data on VMT trend]
3. Yet also, likely effect on traffic due to the continued presence of yellows and Uber in traffic flow, waiting to make turns, double-parking, and making passenger pick ups and drop offs [Driver survey: 63% of Uber drivers in Manhattan either "drive around" between trips or park illegally. Also need to look at yellow cab trends by day of week]

Market shares

4. Uber now has 15% of citywide FHS trips, up from 9% in 2014, with yellow cab share dropping from 70% to 64%. [Fact Pack page 24 but awaiting monthly data]
5. [add market share for CBD] [Awaiting data]

Financial effects

6. Decline in yellow cab shifts worked and lease revenue has led many medallion owners to fall behind on their loan payments and affected availability of medallion loans. [need details for this point]
7. These changes have affected City's ability to generate revenue from medallion auctions [need information for this point]

Customer and driver choice factors

8. Customers have moved from yellows to Uber due to wait time, comfort and having drivers they like and trust. Uber is considered overall to be a better value for the money. [Fact Pack pages 28-30]
9. Per-shift revenue and driver earnings are competitive across industry segments [maybe with exception of car services??] [Fact Pack pages 66, 96]
10. Yellow drivers much less likely to say they like their jobs [Driver survey: 48% of yellow drivers like their job, compared with 73% of Uber drivers and 69% of livery drivers]
11. Drivers, like passengers, have moved from yellows to Uber due to both financial and non-financial factors such as flexible working hours [Fact Pack page 95]

Wheelchair accessible service

12. Volume of wheelchair accessible rides is uncertain but appears to be small, resulting in a high cost per ride. [Fact Pack page 63; need data from MTA AAR and NYMTC HH survey instead of raw assumptions]
13. Current wheelchair accessible service is considered to be good/bad in [what ways] [need information from dispatch focus groups]
14. Substantial numbers of drivers of accessible vehicles have concerns about these vehicles, in particular, fuel efficiency and comfort [Fact Pack page 68]

Outlook

15. Shift from yellows to Uber ...has.../...has not... slowed in recent months. [need monthly trip data for yellows and Uber]
16. Experience of other U.S. cities indicate potential for continuing declines in taxi trip volumes (Boston and S.F. taxi trip volumes down 20-30%), though NYC's unique features make these comparisons of uncertain value.

C. Conclusions

1. Congestion ... [need add'l analysis to draw conclusion]
2. Crux of change for yellow cabs is that they no longer have near-exclusivity on dense, rich Manhattan for-hire market.
3. Yellows now need to compete for both drivers and customers, with heavily resourced and rapidly expanding competitor.
  - Changes to regulatory structure must focus on providing yellows with pathway to compete effectively for drivers and passengers.
  - Primary focus is on how yellows can make up deficits [see above] and attract customers and drivers who are now shifting to Uber, for both financial and non-financial reasons
  - Yellows need same opportunity as FHV's to invest in creating branded services that benefit from upgraded, competitive service and effective management
  - Pathway likely to include flexibility in vehicles used, driver working hours, fares and payment, and use of apps
  - Policy must provide flexibility to innovate and upgrade, but not create path that produces inferior hail service
4. Convergence of industry segments and markets mean that regulatory requirements must be carefully designed for "evenness" to provide for fair competition but without compromising public safety or industry accountability for service quality.
5. Regardless of growth of e-dispatch, density of Manhattan market means street hail and taxi stand trips will continue to be important.
  - This sector will continue to need regulation for service quality as well as safety
  - Policy will need to address likelihood of smaller yellow industry and risks of oversupply of hail service relative to demand [sidebar on fundamental distinction between walk-up and pre-arranged].
6. Medallion auctions remain uncertain; City should examine alternative ways to create revenue streams
7. Policy on accessible service needs to be considered in light of potential counterproductive effects of current policy in newly competitive environment
  - To extent that mandates on yellow industry make vehicles more expensive, less reliable, less comfortable, the form of existing mandates may accelerate shift from yellows to FHV, with result of reducing accessible service levels.
  - Policy will need to address provision of both street hail and dispatched accessible service and equitable participation from all industry segments.

III. Recommendations

A. Congestion

B. Regulatory, customer service, industry structure and competitive balance

C. WAV services

D. Revenues

Manhattan employment data not available for April-June 2015.

From: Tarlow, Mindy
To: Bruce Schaller
Subject: DRAFT agreement
Date: Monday, November 23, 2015 1:23:00 PM
Attachments: FHV Scope of Services 11.23.15.docx

---

Bruce,

See what you think. I have a window to discuss before [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]. I am in the office. 212-788-8821. Thanks, Mindy

SCOPE OF SERVICES FOR NEGOTIATED ACQUISITION

DRAFT – NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION

Article I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2015, the Mayor’s Office of Operations entered into an agreement with the Consultant, Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, via micro-purchase to provide onsite/remote services;

WHEREAS, on November 2nd, 2015 the Mayor’s Office determined a need for the Consultant to provide additional services, not previously contemplated, that build upon the previous agreement;

WHEREAS, the City will procure these services via a negotiated acquisition;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant’s previous work make him uniquely qualified to meet its additional requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

The Consultant has advised the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study. The Consultant shall now write a draft narrative report and submit it to the City and/or its FHV consulting team as outlined below.

Project Tasks

- Incorporate analysis from the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners in the “Fact Pack” into a draft streamlined, narrative report that the City may use at its discretion to provide background on the policy recommendations made by the Office of the Mayor and its City Agency partners
  - Use the “Fact Pack” produced by the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study consultant team dated October 21, 2015
  - Direct primary focus on the data and analysis described in the “Fact Pack” under Tasks 1, 2, and 3a, questions 1-2 (pages 1 – 112)
- Upon request, the Consultant shall be provided with data that increases understanding of assertions in the “Fact Pack” to the fullest extent possible
- Written project deliverables shall be delivered as required in an editable format

Project Deliverables

- Write a narrative draft report summarizing the data from the “Fact Pack” identified above, excluding analysis on congestion, and send in editable format to the Mayor’s Office (Mindy Tarlow, Mayor’s Office of Operations) [DATE TBD]
- Provide a stand-alone analysis on congestion and send to the For-Hire Vehicle consulting team in editable format (██████████ McKinsey and Company). [DATE TBD]

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

Article II. Copyrights –Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

TERMS FROM MICRO-PURCHASE WILL BE INSERTED HERE

Article III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term November 2nd through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum hours billed, whichever is first.

Article IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $38,000 for services set forth in this Agreement, broken down as follows:
  - a. Scope of services: $27,000 to be used to cover work product as described in Project Tasks
  - b. Reserve: $11,000 to be used at the City's discretion for additional meetings, analysis and/or presentations.

During the contract period, the Consultant cannot also work for the companies being studied, either directly or as a consultant.

ALL ADDITIONAL ARTICLES FROM MICRO-PURCHASE INSERTED HERE

From: Tarlow, Mindy
To: Bruce Schaller
Subject: FW: negotiated acquisition, etc.
Date: Friday, November 27, 2015 4:55:00 PM

---

DRAFT – NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION

Article I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2015, the Mayor’s Office of Operations entered into an agreement with the Consultant, Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, via micro-purchase to provide onsite/remote services;

WHEREAS, on November 2nd, 2015 the Mayor’s Office determined a need for the Consultant to provide additional services, not previously contemplated, that build upon the prior agreement;

WHEREAS, the City will procure these services via a negotiated acquisition;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant’s previous work make him uniquely qualified to meet its additional requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

The Consultant has advised the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study. The Consultant shall now write a draft narrative report and submit it to the City and/or its FHV consulting team as outlined below.

Project Tasks

- Incorporate analysis from the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners in the “Fact Pack” into a draft streamlined, narrative report that the City may use at its discretion to provide background on the policy recommendations made by the Office of the Mayor and its City Agency partners
  - Use the “Fact Pack” produced by the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study consultant team dated October 21, 2015
  - Direct primary focus on the data and analysis described in the “Fact Pack” under Tasks 1, 2, and 3a, questions 1-2 (pages 1 – 112)
- Upon request, the Consultant shall be provided with data that increases understanding of assertions in the “Fact Pack” to the fullest extent possible
- Written project deliverables shall be delivered as required in an editable format

Project Deliverables

- Write a narrative draft report summarizing the data from the “Fact Pack” identified above, excluding analysis on congestion, and send in editable format to the Mayor’s Office (Mindy Tarlow, Mayor’s Office of Operations) [November 24]
- Provide a stand-alone analysis on congestion and send to the For-Hire Vehicle consulting team in editable format ( [REDACTED], McKinsey and Company) [November 24]
- Provide explanation of congestion analysis to consultants and city staff as designated by the Mayor’s Office in working session [week of November 30] NEW DELIVERABLE

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

Article III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term November 2nd through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum hours billed, whichever is first.

Article IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $38,000 for services set forth in this Agreement, broken down as follows:
  - a. Scope of services: $27,000 to be used to cover work product as described in Project Tasks
  - b. Reserve: $11,000 to be used at the City's discretion for additional meetings, analysis and/or presentations.

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Cc: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: RE: followup re VMT estimates
Date: Monday, November 30, 2015 4:56:14 PM
Attachments: FHV Negotiated Acquisition 11.27.15.docx

---

Hi Bruce,

Attached, please see an updated draft of the Negotiated Acquisition. Thank you.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 4:30 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Re: followup re VMT estimates

Thanks. I'll aim to get there a couple of minutes early. There is one form to notarize and the contract also, but it's needing changes first.

On Mon, Nov 30, 2015 at 1:44 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Bruce,

We have a notary. I will make sure she is around at 3pm.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 1:27 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: followup re VMT estimates

OK, thanks. Welcome back Josh.

I think we are just focused on #1 and #2 on the modeling, the VMT estimates for current and prior year. Satya will need to give a bit more explanation to fully understand, eg, interpolation of BPM between 2010 and 2020, consistency between BPM and taxi records for taxi VMT (which did he use?), method of calculating VMT from trip data which does not have routing information, generation of 2014 FHV VMT when we only have Uber data for 2014, method of annualizing. 15 minutes should suffice.

We discussed on the phone conference call the exponential curve and 2020 projections, which are the key inputs to the rest of the steps and introduce a bigger error bar than the error the modeling will introduce. I don't feel a need for further discussion.

Re contract, I will also need to get the various addenda notarized if there is someone around who can do that.

On Mon, Nov 30, 2015 at 12:59 PM, Tarlow, Mindy <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Bruce,

The purpose of the meeting is to get a full airing of your analysis. Folks haven't seen your analysis and they need to understand it so the City is best positioned to make decisions about what to include in our internal and/or external reports. As you know, the City is the arbiter of any and all final products associated with this industry analysis.

The VMT analysis is indeed important. And, as you say, you've seen the traffic consultants' work already, as we all have. However, per your request, I asked Satya to provide a brief, concise report on the VMT methodology and we will reserve 15 minutes or so at the end of the 2 hour meeting for this purpose. In advance, Satya sent some general background (pasted below) that it would be helpful for you to review before the meeting.

Josh is back and copied above. He will have a hard copy of the Negotiated Acquisition at tomorrow's meeting. It looks like we are set for tomorrow from 3-5pm here at Operations. Thanks, Mindy

General Background/Step by Step Modeling:

NOTE: 2014 involved only steps 1 and 2; 2015 involved steps 1 and 2 plus annualizing since there wasn't yet a whole year. After step 2, it's all about the projection.

1. BPM model was used to determine the overall 2010 and 2020 VMT (private autos, trucks, taxi) on a 24-hour basis.
2. Using observed data, the VMT for the FHVs were replaced in the BPM model outputs.
3. A regression model was developed to determine the 2020 taxi/FHV and private auto model split future trips hour by hour over a 24-hour basis.
4. A traffic model (step 2) was used to convert the 2020 trips to VMT by hour over a 24-hour basis.
5. Future 2020 VMT were developed (BPM VMT (Private autos, Trucks) + Taxi/FHV VMT = Total VMT) hour by hour over a 24-hour basis.
6. Speed profiles were developed for each hour on a 24-hour basis based on existing taxi GPS information. These profiles used observed speed and an estimate of normalized VMT (VMT per #lane miles of roadway). The # lane miles of roadway was derived using the NYBPM, within the CBD. The figure below shows the three curves derived. The curves are described in the following section.
7. The Future VMT was mapped out against the 24-hour speed profiles including the capacity reduction factor applied to the # lane miles of roadway.

---

From: Bruce Schaller [bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, November 29, 2015 4:40 PM

To: Tarlow, Mindy

Subject: followup re VMT estimates

Mindy - I wanted to add to add to our discussion about the consultant's VMT estimates.

You've said several times that this review is important, and it's probably the most significant part of the Fact Pack that we haven't worked through to understand and validate. It also makes sense to review in conjunction with the time-based analysis as they are two looks at the same set of issues. The methods are different, so the combined results should be robust. and should strengthen our understanding what is happening with CBD traffic. Further, whether or not external people ask about the VMT analysis later, it won't be helpful if it can't readily be reconciled with whatever else is in the final report.

So I'd say again that we should go over both at the meeting with the consultants and agency staff on Tuesday. Given everything I 've seen from the Satya from work they did for DOT, I'm sure they can present their methodology clearly and concisely if we spend a bit of focused time on it.

Bruce

SCOPE OF SERVICES FOR NEGOTIATED ACQUISITION

DRAFT – NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION

Article I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2015, the Mayor’s Office of Operations entered into an agreement with the Consultant, Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, via micro-purchase to provide onsite/remote services;

WHEREAS, on November 2nd, 2015 the Mayor’s Office determined a need for the Consultant to provide additional services, not previously contemplated, that build upon the prior agreement;

WHEREAS, the City will procure these services via a negotiated acquisition;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant’s previous work make him uniquely qualified to meet its additional requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

The Consultant has advised the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study. The Consultant shall now write a draft narrative report and submit it to the City and/or its FHV consulting team as outlined below.

Project Tasks

- Incorporate analysis from the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners in the “Fact Pack” into a draft streamlined, narrative report that the City may use at its discretion to provide background on the policy recommendations made by the Office of the Mayor and its City Agency partners
  - Use the “Fact Pack” produced by the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study consultant team dated October 21, 2015
  - Direct primary focus on the data and analysis described in the “Fact Pack” under Tasks 1, 2, and 3a, questions 1-2 (pages 1 – 112)
- Upon request, the Consultant shall be provided with data that increases understanding of assertions in the “Fact Pack” to the fullest extent possible
- Written project deliverables shall be delivered as required in an editable format

Project Deliverables

- Write a narrative draft report summarizing the data from the “Fact Pack” identified above, excluding analysis on congestion, and send in editable format to the Mayor’s Office (Mindy Tarlow, Mayor’s Office of Operations) [November 24]
- Provide a stand-alone analysis on congestion and send to the For-Hire Vehicle consulting team in editable format ([REDACTED] McKinsey and Company) [November 24]

- Present and review congestion analysis to consultants and city staff as designated by the Mayor's Office in working session [week of November 30]

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

Article II. Copyrights –Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

Article III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term November 2nd through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum hours billed, whichever is first.

Article IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $38,000 for services set forth in this Agreement, broken down as follows:
  - a. Scope of services: $27,000 to be used to cover work product as described in Project Tasks
  - b. Reserve: $11,000 to be used at the City's discretion for additional meetings, analysis and/or presentations.
2. The Consultant shall invoice on a monthly basis. Invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y. ; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:
  - (a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §31 5 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.
2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.
4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.

B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ___ day of _____ 20__.

This ___ day of _____ 20__.

_____

_____

NOTARY PUBLIC

NOTARY PUBLIC

From: Sidis, Joshua
To: Bruce Schaller \(bruceschaller2@gmail.com\) (bruceschaller2@gmail.com)
Subject: FW: followup re VMT estimates
Date: Tuesday, December 01, 2015 5:17:39 PM
Attachments: FHV Negotiated Acquisition 11.27.15.docx

---

Here it is. Please let me know if you think this is where you and Mindy landed. Then I will make sure it gets to the Law department.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 4:56 PM
To: 'Bruce Schaller'
Cc: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: RE: followup re VMT estimates

Hi Bruce,
Attached, please see an updated draft of the Negotiated Acquisition. Thank you.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 4:30 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Re: followup re VMT estimates

Thanks. I'll aim to get there a couple of minutes early. There is one form to notarize and the contract also, but it's needing changes first.

On Mon, Nov 30, 2015 at 1:44 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Bruce,
We have a notary. I will make sure she is around at 3pm.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 1:27 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: followup re VMT estimates

OK, thanks. Welcome back Josh.

I think we are just focused on #1 and #2 on the modeling, the VMT estimates for current and prior year. Satya will need to give a bit more explanation to fully understand, eg, interpolation of BPM between 2010 and 2020, consistency between BPM and taxi records for taxi VMT (which did he use?), method of calculating VMT from trip data which does not have routing information, generation of 2014 FHV VMT when we only have Uber data for 2014, method of annualizing. 15 minutes should suffice.

We discussed on the phone conference call the exponential curve and 2020 projections, which are the key inputs to the rest of the steps and introduce a bigger error bar than the error the modeling will introduce. I don't feel a need for further discussion.

Re contract, I will also need to get the various addenda notarized if there is someone around who can do that.

On Mon, Nov 30, 2015 at 12:59 PM, Tarlow, Mindy <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Bruce,

The purpose of the meeting is to get a full airing of your analysis. Folks haven't seen your analysis and they need to understand it so the City is best positioned to make decisions about what to include in our internal and/or external reports. As you know, the City is the arbiter of any and all final products associated with this industry analysis.

The VMT analysis is indeed important. And, as you say, you've seen the traffic consultants' work already, as we all have. However, per your request, I asked Satya to provide a brief, concise report on the VMT methodology and we will reserve 15 minutes or so at the end of the 2 hour meeting for this purpose. In advance, Satya sent some general background (pasted below) that it would be helpful for you to review before the meeting.

Josh is back and copied above. He will have a hard copy of the Negotiated Acquisition at tomorrow's meeting. It looks like we are set for tomorrow from 3-5pm here at Operations. Thanks, Mindy

General Background/Step by Step Modeling:

NOTE: 2014 involved only steps 1 and 2; 2015 involved steps 1 and 2 plus annualizing since there wasn't yet a whole year. After step 2, it's all about the projection.

1. BPM model was used to determine the overall 2010 and 2020 VMT (private autos, trucks, taxi) on a 24-hour basis.
2. Using observed data, the VMT for the FHVs were replaced in the BPM model outputs.
3. A regression model was developed to determine the 2020 taxi/FHV and private auto model split future trips hour by hour over a 24-hour basis.
4. A traffic model (step 2) was used to convert the 2020 trips to VMT by hour over a 24-hour basis.
5. Future 2020 VMT were developed (BPM VMT (Private autos, Trucks) + Taxi/FHV VMT = Total VMT) hour by hour over a 24-hour basis.
6. Speed profiles were developed for each hour on a 24-hour basis based on existing taxi GPS information. These profiles used observed speed and an estimate of normalized VMT (VMT per #lane miles of roadway). The # lane miles of roadway was derived using the NYBPM, within the CBD. The figure below shows the three curves derived. The curves are described in the following section.
7. The Future VMT was mapped out against the 24-hour speed profiles including the capacity reduction factor applied to the # lane miles of roadway.

---

From: Bruce Schaller [bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, November 29, 2015 4:40 PM

To: Tarlow, Mindy

Subject: followup re VMT estimates

Mindy - I wanted to add to our discussion about the consultant's VMT estimates.

You've said several times that this review is important, and it's probably the most significant part of the Fact Pack that we haven't worked through to understand and validate. It also makes sense to review in conjunction with the time-based analysis as they are two looks at the same set of issues. The methods are different, so the combined results should be robust. and should strengthen our understanding what is happening with CBD traffic. Further, whether or not external people ask about the VMT analysis later, it won't be helpful if it can't readily be reconciled with whatever else is in the final report.

So I'd say again that we should go over both at the meeting with the consultants and agency staff on Tuesday. Given everything I've seen from the Satya from work they did for DOT, I'm sure they can present their methodology clearly and concisely if we spend a bit of focused time on it.

Bruce

SCOPE OF SERVICES FOR NEGOTIATED ACQUISITION

DRAFT – NOT FOR DISTRIBUTION

Article I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2015, the Mayor’s Office of Operations entered into an agreement with the Consultant, Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, via micro-purchase to provide onsite/remote services;

WHEREAS, on November 2nd, 2015 the Mayor’s Office determined a need for the Consultant to provide additional services, not previously contemplated, that build upon the prior agreement;

WHEREAS, the City will procure these services via a negotiated acquisition;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant’s previous work make him uniquely qualified to meet its additional requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Consultant hereby agree as follows:

The Consultant has advised the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study. The Consultant shall now write a draft narrative report and submit it to the City and/or its FHV consulting team as outlined below.

Project Tasks

- Incorporate analysis from the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners in the “Fact Pack” into a draft streamlined, narrative report that the City may use at its discretion to provide background on the policy recommendations made by the Office of the Mayor and its City Agency partners
  - Use the “Fact Pack” produced by the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study consultant team dated October 21, 2015
  - Direct primary focus on the data and analysis described in the “Fact Pack” under Tasks 1, 2, and 3a, questions 1-2 (pages 1 – 112)
- Upon request, the Consultant shall be provided with data that increases understanding of assertions in the “Fact Pack” to the fullest extent possible
- Written project deliverables shall be delivered as required in an editable format

Project Deliverables

- Write a narrative draft report summarizing the data from the “Fact Pack” identified above, excluding analysis on congestion, and send in editable format to the Mayor’s Office (Mindy Tarlow, Mayor’s Office of Operations) [November 24]
- Provide a stand-alone analysis on congestion and send to the For-Hire Vehicle consulting team in editable format (██████████, McKinsey and Company) [November 24]

- Present and review congestion analysis to consultants and city staff as designated by the Mayor's Office in working session [week of November 30]

Confidentiality:

The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

Article II. Copyrights –Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

Article III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term November 2nd through December 31st or upon reaching the maximum hours billed, whichever is first.

Article IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $38,000 for services set forth in this Agreement, broken down as follows:
  - a. Scope of services: $27,000 to be used to cover work product as described in Project Tasks
  - b. Reserve: $11,000 to be used at the City's discretion for additional meetings, analysis and/or presentations.
2. The Consultant shall invoice on a monthly basis. Invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y. ; attention: Accounts Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with two (2) days notice given to the director of MIS or his designee.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:
  - (a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Consultant agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Consultant shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Consultant to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Consultant shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Consultant to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §31 5 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Consultant and the Department agree that the Consultant is an independent Contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Consultant shall defend, hold harmless and indemnify the City from liability upon any and all claims of any kind on account of injuries or death to any person or damages to property on account of any negligence, intentional tort, or failure to comply with the terms of this Agreement by the Consultant, its officers, trustees, employees, agents, servants, or independent Consultants.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:

1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.
2. Upon the failure of the Consultant to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
3. Upon the Consultant's becoming insolvent.
4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Consultant, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.

B. The Department shall give the Consultant 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Consultant affirms that Consultant is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Consultant to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XI. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XII. Compliance with Law

Consultant shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIII. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Consultant.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

THE CONSULTANT

BY: _____

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ___ day of _____ 20__.

This ___ day of _____ 20__.

_____

_____

NOTARY PUBLIC

NOTARY PUBLIC

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: FW: followup re VMT estimates
Date: Wednesday, December 02, 2015 10:48:11 AM

---

Josh - this is exactly right, with one missing sentence that should go at the end of Article IV, section 3:

In the event of termination, Consultant may retain any payments already received and shall be paid the pro rata portion of any fee not yet paid.

On Tue, Dec 1, 2015 at 5:17 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Here it is. Please let me know if you think this is where you and Mindy landed. Then I will make sure it gets to the Law department.

---

From: Sidis, Joshua
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 4:56 PM
To: 'Bruce Schaller'
Cc: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: RE: followup re VMT estimates

Hi Bruce,

Attached, please see an updated draft of the Negotiated Acquisition. Thank you.

From: Bruce Schaller [<mailto:bruceschaller2@gmail.com>]
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 4:30 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: Re: followup re VMT estimates

Thanks. I'll aim to get there a couple of minutes early. There is one form to notarize and the contract also, but it's needing changes first.

On Mon, Nov 30, 2015 at 1:44 PM, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Bruce,

We have a notary. I will make sure she is around at 3pm.

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, November 30, 2015 1:27 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: followup re VMT estimates

OK, thanks. Welcome back Josh.

I think we are just focused on #1 and #2 on the modeling, the VMT estimates for current and prior year. Satya will need to give a bit more explanation to fully understand, eg, interpolation of BPM between 2010 and 2020, consistency between BPM and taxi records for taxi VMT (which did he use?), method of calculating VMT from trip data which does not have routing information, generation of 2014 FHV VMT when we only have Uber data for 2014, method of annualizing. 15 minutes should suffice.

We discussed on the phone conference call the exponential curve and 2020 projections, which are the key inputs to the rest of the steps and introduce a bigger error bar than the error the modeling will introduce. I don't feel a need for further discussion.

Re contract, I will also need to get the various addenda notarized if there is someone around who can do that.

On Mon, Nov 30, 2015 at 12:59 PM, Tarlow, Mindy <mtarlow@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Bruce,

The purpose of the meeting is to get a full airing of your analysis. Folks haven't seen your analysis and they need to understand it so the City is best positioned to make decisions about what to include in our internal and/or external reports. As you know, the City is the arbiter of any and all final products associated with this industry analysis.

The VMT analysis is indeed important. And, as you say, you've seen the traffic consultants' work already, as we all have. However, per your request, I asked Satya to provide a brief, concise report on the VMT methodology and we will reserve 15 minutes or so at the end of the 2 hour meeting for this purpose. In advance, Satya sent some general background (pasted below) that it would be helpful for you to review before the meeting.

Josh is back and copied above. He will have a hard copy of the Negotiated Acquisition at tomorrow's meeting. It looks like we are set for tomorrow from 3-5pm here at Operations. Thanks, Mindy

General Background/Step by Step Modeling:

NOTE: 2014 involved only steps 1 and 2; 2015 involved steps 1 and 2 plus annualizing since there wasn't yet a whole year. After step 2, it's all about the projection.

1. BPM model was used to determine the overall 2010 and 2020 VMT (private autos, trucks, taxi) on a 24-hour basis.
2. Using observed data, the VMT for the FHVs were replaced in the BPM model outputs.
3. A regression model was developed to determine the 2020 taxi/FHV and private auto model split future trips hour by hour over a 24-hour basis.
4. A traffic model (step 2) was used to convert the 2020 trips to VMT by hour over a 24-hour basis.
5. Future 2020 VMT were developed (BPM VMT (Private autos, Trucks) + Taxi/FHV VMT = Total VMT) hour by hour over a 24-hour basis.
6. Speed profiles were developed for each hour on a 24-hour basis based on existing taxi GPS information. These profiles used observed speed and an estimate of normalized VMT (VMT per #lane miles of roadway). The # lane miles of roadway was derived using the NYBPM, within the CBD. The figure below shows the three curves derived. The curves are described in the following section.
7. The Future VMT was mapped out against the 24-hour speed profiles including the capacity reduction factor applied to the # lane miles of roadway.

---

From: Bruce Schaller [bruceschaller2@gmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, November 29, 2015 4:40 PM

To: Tarlow, Mindy

Subject: followup re VMT estimates

Mindy - I wanted to add to add to our discussion about the consultant's VMT estimates.

You've said several times that this review is important, and it's probably the most significant part of the Fact Pack that we haven't worked through to understand and validate. It also makes sense to review in conjunction with the time-based analysis as they are two looks at the same set of issues. The methods are different, so the combined results should be robust. and should strengthen our understanding what is happening with CBD traffic. Further, whether or not external people ask about the VMT analysis later, it won't be helpful if it can't readily be reconciled with whatever else is in the final report.

So I'd say again that we should go over both at the meeting with the consultants and agency staff on Tuesday. Given everything I 've seen from the Satya from work they did for DOT, I'm sure they can present their methodology clearly and concisely if we spend a bit of focused time on it.

Bruce

From: Delus, Marie
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: AGREEMENT: Neogitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004
Date: Thursday, December 24, 2015 3:00:42 PM
Attachments: AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT- Bruce Schaller and Joshua version of the agreement - Law Dept revised - 12-21-15.pdf

---

Hello,

The Law Department reviewed your revised agreement and made additional changes. I should note that most of the boiler-plate languages that were removed were re-added by the Law Department.

Please review the agreement, sign, notarize and return three (3) signed copies to:

Office of the Mayor/Fiscal Operations
100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor
New York, NY 10038
Attention: Marie Delus

If you have any questions pertaining to the boiler-plate language; I will connect you with the Law Department Attorney, Lindsey James, for follow-up.

Thank you,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer
Phone #: 212-788-2680
Fax #: 212-788-2406

AGREEMENT FOR CONSULTANT

By this Letter of Agreement, the City of New York (“City” or “Client”), acting by and through the Office of the Mayor, (hereinafter “City”) has engaged Robert Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting (“Consultant”), located 94 Windsor Place, Brooklyn, NY 11215, for the period January 11, 2016 through June 30, 2016. The terms of the agreement shall include the following:

ARTICLE I. Scope of Services

WHEREAS, on August 31, 2015, the Mayor’s Office of Operations entered into an agreement with the Consultant, Bruce Schaller, Schaller Consulting, via micro-purchase to provide onsite/remote services;

WHEREAS, on November 2nd, 2015 the Mayor’s Office determined a need for the Consultant to provide additional services, not previously contemplated, that build upon the prior agreement;

WHEREAS, the City will procure these services via a negotiated acquisition;

WHEREAS, the City has determined that the Consultant previous work make him uniquely qualified to meet its additional requirements for this project;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants herein, the City and Contractor hereby agree as follows:

- Consultant shall provide the following Services:

Consultant shall advise the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners at the discretion of the Office of the Mayor on the full scope of the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study. The Consultant shall now write a draft narrative report and submit it to the City and/or its FHV consulting team as outlined below:

1. Project Tasks

- Incorporate analysis from the Office of the Mayor and its FHV study partners in the “Fact Pack” into a draft streamlined, narrative report that the City may use at its discretion to provide background on the policy recommendations made by the Office of the Mayor and its City Agency partners
  - Use the “Fact Pack” produced by the For-Hire Vehicle Transportation Study consultant team dated October 21, 2015
  - Direct primary focus on the data and analysis described in the “Fact Pack” under Tasks 1, 2, and 3a, questions 1-2 (pages 1 – 112)
- Upon request, the Consultant shall be provided with data that increases understanding of assertions in the “Fact Pack” to the fullest extent possible
- Written project deliverables shall be delivered as required in an editable format

2. Project Deliverables

- Write a narrative draft report summarizing the data from the “Fact Pack” identified above, excluding analysis on congestion, and send in editable format to the Mayor’s Office (Mindy Tarlow, Mayor’s Office of Operations)
- Provide a stand-alone analysis on congestion and send to the For-Hire Vehicle consulting team in editable format (Aly Spencer, McKinsey and Company)
- Present and review congestion analysis to consultants and city staff as designated by the Mayor’s Office in working session.
- Confidentiality:
  - a. The consultant will ensure that all communications are held confidential.

ARTICLE II. Copyrights – Title and Ownership and Warranties of Title

A. Title and Ownership

1. Upon execution of this Agreement, any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement, and any and all drafts and/or other preliminary materials in any format related to such items, shall become the exclusive property of the City.
2. Any reports, documents, data, photographs and/or other materials produced pursuant to this Agreement ("Copyrightable Materials") shall be considered "work-made-for-hire" within the meaning and purview of Section 101 of the United States Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, and the City shall be the copyright owner thereof and of all aspects, elements and components thereof in which copyright protection might subsist. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials do not qualify as "work-made-for-hire," the Consultant hereby irrevocably transfers, assigns and conveys exclusive copyright ownership in and to the Copyrightable Materials to the City, free and clear of any liens, claims, or other encumbrances. The Consultant shall retain no copyright or intellectual property interest in the Copyrightable Materials, and they shall be used by the Consultant for no other purpose without the prior written permission of the City.
3. The Consultant acknowledges that the City may, in its sole discretion, register copyright in the Copyrightable Materials with the U.S. Copyright Office or any other government agency authorized to grant copyright registrations. The Consultant shall cooperate in this effort, and agrees to provide any further documentation necessary to accomplish this.

B. Warranties and Indemnification

1. Warranties of Title

Consultant represents and warrants that the Copyrightable Materials: (a) are wholly original material not published elsewhere (except for material that is in the public domain); (b) do not violate any copyright law; (c) do not constitute defamation or invasion of the right of privacy or publicity, and (d) are not an infringement of any kind, of the rights of any third party. To the extent that the Copyrightable Materials incorporate any non-original material, the Consultant has obtained all necessary permissions and clearances, in writing, for the use of such non-original material under this Agreement, copies of which shall be provided to the City upon execution of this Agreement.

2. Intellectual Property Indemnification

The Consultant shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from and against any and all claims, suits, damages, judgments, liabilities, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, to which it may be subject because of, or relating to, any claim that any licensed software or enhancements, as applicable, infringes or violates the copyright, trademark, or any other property or personal right of any third party. This indemnification shall survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement. Furthermore, Consultant shall defend to judgment or settlement, at its sole expense, all suits or proceedings brought against Consultant arising out of the foregoing. However, in cases involving software, no such settlement shall be made that prevents the City from continuing to use the software without the City's prior written consent, which consent shall not be withheld unreasonably.

ARTICLE III. Term and Schedule

The total contract term January 11, 2016 through June 30, 2016 or upon reaching the maximum hours billed, whichever is first.

ARTICLE IV. Compensation, Payment and Termination Clause

1. The City shall pay the Consultant $275 per hour; and the amount of the contract shall not exceed $38,000 for services set forth in this Agreement, broken down as follows:
  - a. Scope of services: $27,000 to be used to cover work product as described in Project Tasks
  - b. Reserve: $11,000 to be used at the City's discretion for additional meetings, analysis and/or presentations.
2. The Consultant shall invoice on a monthly basis. Invoices should be addressed to the Office of the Mayor; 100 Gold Street, 2nd floor, New York, N.Y.; attention: Account Payable; and
3. The City reserves the right to terminate this agreement with two (2) days' notice given to the Consultant of said termination. The Consultant may terminate this agreement with two (2) days' notice given to the director of MIS or his designee. In the event of termination, Consultant may retain any payments already received and shall be paid the pro rata portion of any fee not yet paid.
4. Electronic Fund Transfer:

(a) In accordance with Section 6-107.1 of the New York City Administrative Code, the Contractor agrees to accept payments under this Agreement from the City by electronic funds transfer. An electronic funds transfer is any transfer of funds, other than a transaction originated by check, draft or similar paper instrument, which is initiated through an electronic terminal, telephonic instrument or computer or magnetic tape so as to order, instruct or authorize a financial institution to debit or credit an account. Prior to the first payment made under this Agreement, Contractor shall designate one financial institution or other authorized payment agent and shall complete the attached "EFT Vendor Payment Enrollment Form" in order to provide the Commissioner of Finance with information necessary for Contractor to receive electronic funds transfer payments through the designated financial institution or authorized payment agent. The crediting of the amount of a payment to the appropriate account on the books of a financial institution or other authorized payment agent designated by the Contractor shall constitute full satisfaction by the City for the amount of the payment under this agreement. The account information supplied by the Contractor to facilitate the electronic funds transfer shall remain confidential to the fullest extent provided by law.

(b) The agency head may waive the application of the requirements herein to payments on contracts entered into pursuant to §315 of the City Charter. In addition, the Commissioner of the Department of Finance and the Comptroller may jointly issue standards pursuant to which the contracting agency may waive the requirements hereunder for payments in the following circumstances: (i) for individuals or classes of individuals for whom compliance imposes a hardship; (ii) for classifications or types of checks; or (iii) in other circumstances as may be necessary in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE V. Financial Provisions

Audit:

All receipts, management and disbursement of funds provided by the City pursuant to this Agreement, and the books, records and accounts evidencing such receipts, management and disbursements, are subject to audit by the City, including the City Comptroller, pursuant to the powers and responsibilities conferred upon the City by the New York City Charter and the Administrative Code of the City of New York, as well as all orders and regulations promulgated pursuant thereto.

ARTICLE VI. Insurance and Indemnification

A. Independent Contractor Status

Contractor and the Department agree that the Contractor is an independent contractor, and not an employee of the Department or the City of New York.

B. Consultant Not an Employee of the City

Consultant shall not in any way be considered a servant, contractor, agent or employee of the City of New York. Consultant shall not be entitled to any remuneration from the City, or to any benefits, including but not limited to Workers' Compensation coverage, Disability Benefits coverage, Unemployment Insurance benefits, Social Security coverage or employee retirement membership or any other rights or benefits normally afforded employees of the City. This Agreement shall not be construed as a joint venture or as to make the City or the Consultant an agent of the other. Each of the parties hereto expressly disclaims any intention to enter into any such agency or joint venture and agrees to conduct itself so as not to act or purport to act on behalf of the other. This Agreement does not authorize Consultant to act as the agent or legal representative of the City for any purpose whatsoever. Consultant is not granted any express or implied right or authority to assume or create any obligation or responsibility on behalf of or in the name of the City or to bind the City in any manner or thing whatsoever.

C. Indemnification

Contractor shall defend, indemnify and hold the City, its officers and employees harmless from any and all claims (even if the allegations of the lawsuit are without merit) or judgments for damages on account of any injuries or death to any person or damage to any property and from costs and expenses to which the City, its officers and employees may be subjected or which it may suffer or incur allegedly arising out of the operations of the Contractor and/or its subcontractors or in any way relating to this Contract to the extent resulting from any negligent act of commission or omission, any intentional tortious act, or failure to comply with the provisions of this Contract or applicable law. Insofar as the facts or law relating to any claim would preclude the City from being completely indemnified by the Contractor, the City shall be partially indemnified by the Contractor to the fullest extent permitted by law.

ARTICLE VII. Conflicts

A. Procurement of Agreement

Consultant represents and warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage fee, contingent fee or any other compensation. The Consultant further represents and warrants that no payment, gift or thing of value has been made, given or promised to obtain this or any other agreement between the parties. The Consultant makes such representations and warranties to induce the City to enter into this Agreement and the City relies upon such representations and warranties in the execution of this Agreement.

B. Conflict of Interest

Consultant represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its directors, officers, members, partners or employees, has any interest nor shall they acquire any interest, directly or indirectly, which would or may conflict in any manner or degree with the performance or rendering of the services herein provided. The Consultant further represents and warrants that in the performance of this Agreement no person having such interest or possible interest shall be employed by it. No elected official or other officer or employee of the City or Department, nor any person whose salary is payable, in whole or in part, from the City Treasury, shall participate in any decision relating to this Agreement which affects his or her personal interest or the interest of any corporation, partnership or association in which he or she is, directly or indirectly, interested; nor shall any such person have any interest, direct or indirect, in this Agreement or in the proceeds thereof.

ARTICLE VIII. Assignments

No assignment of this Contract shall be valid without the prior, written consent of the ACCO, or his or her designee.

ARTICLE VIII. Termination of Agreement

- A. The Department and/or City shall have the right to terminate this Agreement, in whole or in part:
  - 1. Under any right to terminate as specified in any section of this Agreement.
  - 2. Upon the failure of the Contractor to comply with any of the terms and conditions of this Agreement.
  - 3. Upon the Contractor's becoming insolvent.
  - 4. Upon the commencement under the Bankruptcy Act of any proceeding by or against the Contractor, either voluntarily or involuntarily.
  - 5. Upon the Commissioner's determination, termination for any reason without cause.
- B. The Department shall give the Contractor 2 days written notice of termination of this Agreement specifying therein the applicable provisions of subsection A of this section.

ARTICLE IX. Taxpayer Affirmation

Contractor affirms that Contractor is not in arrears to the City of New York upon debt or contract, or taxes, and is not a defaulter as surety or otherwise, upon obligation to the City of New York, and has not been declared not responsible, or disqualified, by any agency of the City of New York, nor is there any proceeding pending relating to the responsibility or qualification of the Contractor to receive public contracts except:

ARTICLE X. MacBride Principles

This Article (MacBride Principles) is applicable if this Contract is for more than $10,000. It does not apply if the Contractor is a not-for-profit corporation. If this is applicable to this Contract, the MacBride Principles Provisions for New York City Contractors Rider is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

ARTICLE XI Iran Divestment Act Compliance and Bidder's Certification. This Section 5 (Iran Divestment Act Compliance and Bidder's Certification) is applicable if this Contract is for more than $5000. If this Section 5 is applicable to this Contract, the Iran Divestment Act Compliance Rider and Bidder's Certification is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

ARTICLE XII Confidential Information

(a) The Contractor agrees to hold confidential, both during and after the completion or termination of this Contract, all of the reports, information, or data, furnished to, or prepared, assembled or used by, the Contractor under this Contract. The Contractor agrees that such reports, information, or data shall not be made available to any person or entity without the prior written approval of the Agency. The Contractor agrees to maintain the confidentiality of such reports, information, or data by using a reasonable degree of care, and using at least the same degree of care that the Contractor uses to preserve the confidentiality of its own confidential information. The Contractor shall restrict access to confidential information to persons who have a legitimate work-related purpose to access such information, and will instruct its officers, employees, and agents to maintain confidentiality as required by this Contract. In the event that the data contains social security numbers or other Personal Identifying Information, as such term is defined in Section 3(b) below, the Contractor shall utilize best practice methods (e.g., encryption of electronic records) to protect the confidentiality of such data. The obligation under this Section 3(b) to hold reports, information or data confidential shall not apply where the City would be required to disclose such reports, information or data pursuant to the State Freedom of Information Law (“FOIL”), provided that the Contractor provides advance notice to the City, in writing or by e-mail, that it intends to disclose such reports, information or data and the City does not inform the Contractor, in writing or by e-mail, that such reports, information, or data are not subject to disclosure under FOIL.

(b) The Contractor shall provide notice to the Agency within three (3) days of the discovery by the Contractor of any breach of security, as defined in Administrative Code § 10-501(b), of any data, encrypted or otherwise, in use by the Contractor that contains social security numbers or other personal identifying information as defined in Administrative Code § 10-501 (“Personal Identifying Information”), where such breach of security arises out of the acts or omissions of the Contractor or its employees, subcontractors, or agents. Upon the discovery of such security breach, the Contractor shall take reasonable steps to remediate the cause or causes of such breach, and shall provide notice to the Agency of such steps. In the event of such security breach, without limiting any other right of the City, the Contractor shall be liable for, and the City shall have the right to withhold further payments under this Contract for the purpose of set-off in sufficient sums to cover, the costs of (i) notifications and/or other actions mandated by any law, or administrative or judicial order, to address the breach, (ii) any fines or disallowances imposed by the State or federal government as a result of such disclosure, (iii) credit monitoring services for the victims of such a security breach by a national credit reporting agency, and (iv) any other commercially reasonable preventive measure.

(c) At the City’s request, the Contractor shall return to the Agency any and all confidential information in the possession of the Contractor or its subcontractors.

ARTICLE XIII. Citywide Information Security Policy

To the extent that this Contract is used to purchase information technology services, the Contractor agrees to comply with all citywide information security policies and standards as published by the City of New York’s Department of Information Technology and Telecommunications at <http://www.nyc.gov/infosec>. Citywide policies and standards include a requirement that the Contractor cooperate with and ensure the successful completion of any security accreditation tasks and processes relevant to the Services and /or deliverables it provides. The Contractor must bear the cost of compliance with all such citywide policies and standards.

ARTICLE XIV. Publicity

The Contractor, and its officers, employees,, and agents shall notify the Agency, at any time either during or after completion or termination of this Contract, of any intended statement to the press or any intended issuing of any material for publication in any media of communication (print, news, television, radio, Internet, etc.) regarding the Services provided or the data collected pursuant to this Contract: (a) at least twenty-four (24) hours prior to any statement to the press; or (b) at least five (5) business days prior to the submission of the material for publication, or such shorter periods as are reasonable under the circumstances. The Contractor may not issue any statement or submit any material for publication that includes confidential information as described in Article I (Confidential Information) above.

ARTICLE XV. Subcontracting

(a) The Bidder shall not enter into any subcontract for the performance of its obligations, in whole or in part, under this Contract without submitting a written request for and obtaining the prior approval by the Agency of the subcontractor. Upon the Agency’s request, the Bidder shall provide a copy of the proposed subcontract and information demonstrating that the proposed subcontractor has the necessary facilities, skill, integrity, past experience and financial resources to perform the specified services in accordance with this Contract. If required, the proposed subcontractor’s Vendex Questionnaire must be submitted within thirty (30) days after the ACCO has granted preliminary approval of the proposed subcontractor.

(b) All subcontracts must be in writing and shall contain provisions specifying that (i) the work performed by the subcontractor must be in accordance with the terms of the contract between the City and the Bidder; (ii) nothing contained in the contract between the Bidder and the subcontractor shall impair the rights of the City; and (iii) nothing in the contract between the Bidder and the subcontractor, or under the contract between the City and the Bidder, shall create any contractual relation between the subcontractor and the City.

(c) The Bidder agrees that it is as fully responsible to the Agency for the acts and omissions of its subcontractors and of persons either directly or indirectly employed by such subcontractors as it is for the acts and omissions of any person directly employed by it.

(d) The Agency may revoke in writing the approval of a subcontractor granted under this Section 9 (Subcontracting) if revocation is deemed to be in the interest of the City.

ARTICLE XVI. Dispute Resolution

All disputes between the City and the supplier that arise under, or by virtue of, this Agreement shall be finally resolved in accordance with the provisions of Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules. The procedure for resolving all such disputes set forth in Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall be the exclusive means of resolving any such disputes. The dispute resolution provisions of this article and Section 4-09 of the PPB Rules shall not apply to disputes concerning matters dealt with in other sections of the PPB Rules or to disputes involving patents, copyrights, trademarks, or trade secrets (as interpreted by the courts of New York State) relating to proprietary rights in computer software.

ARTICLE XVII. Part of this Agreement

The Agreement consists of the following components:

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause, MacBride Principal and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XVIII. Compliance with Law

Contractor shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIX. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Contractor.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

THE CONTRACTOR

BY: _____

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

This ____ day of _____ 20 ____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

LAW

Rev
8/90

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to testify before a grand jury or other governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath concerning the award of or performance under any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision or public authority thereof, or the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, or any local development corporation with the City, or any public benefit corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, or:

1.2 (b) If any person refuses to testify for a reason other than the assertion of his or her privilege against self-incrimination in an investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by the City or State governmental agency or authority empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to take testimony under oath, or by the Inspector General of the governmental agency that is a party in interest in, and is seeking testimony concerning the award of, or performance under, any transaction, agreement, lease, permit, contract, or license entered into with the City, the State, or any political subdivision thereof or any local development corporation within the City, then:

1.3(a) The commissioner or agency head whose agency is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license shall convene a hearing upon not less than five (5) days written notice to the parties involved to determine if any penalties should attach for the failure of a person to testify.

1.3(b) If any non-governmental party to the hearing requests an adjournment, the commissioner or agency head who convened the hearing may, upon granting the adjournment, suspend any contract, lease, permit, or license pending the final determination pursuant to paragraph 1.5 below without the City incurring any penalty or damages for delay or otherwise.

1.4 The penalties which may attach after a final determination by the commissioner or agency head may include but shall not exceed:

- (a) The disqualification for a period not to exceed five (5) years from the date of an adverse determination for any person, or any entity of which such person was a member at the time the testimony was sought, from submitting bids for, or transacting business with, or entering into or obtaining any contract, lease, permit or license with or from the City and/or
- (b) The cancellation or termination of any and all such existing City contracts, leases, permits or licenses that the refusal to testify concerns and that have not been assigned as permitted under this agreement, nor the proceeds of which pledged, to an unaffiliated and unrelated institutional leader for fair value prior to the issuance of the notice scheduling the hearing, without the City incurring any penalty or damages on account of such cancellation or termination; monies lawfully due for goods delivered, work done, rentals, or fees accrued prior to the cancellation or termination shall be paid by the City.

1.5 The commissioner or agency head shall consider and address in reaching his or her determination and in assessing an appropriate penalty the factors in paragraphs (a) and (b) below. He or she may also consider, if relevant and appropriate, the criteria established in paragraphs (c) and (d) below in any other information which may be relevant and appropriate;

- (a) The party's good faith endeavors or lack thereof to cooperate fully and faithfully with any governmental investigation or audit, including but not limited to the discipline, discharge, or disassociation of any person failing to testify, the production of accurate and complete books and records, and the forthcoming testimony of all other members, agents, assignees or fiduciaries whose testimony is sought.
- (b) The relationship of the person who refused to testify to any entity that is a party of the hearing, including, but not limited to, whether the person whose testimony is sought has an ownership interest in the entity and/or the degree of authority and responsibility the person within the entity.
- (c) The nexus of the testimony sought to the subject entity and its contracts, leases, permits or licenses with the City.
- (d) The effect a penalty may have on an unaffiliated and unrelated party or entity that has a significant interest in an entity subject to penalties under 1.4 above, provided that the party or entity has given actual notice to the commissioner or agency head upon the acquisition of the interest, or at the hearing called for in 1.3(a) above gives notice and proves that such interest was previously acquired. Under either circumstance the party or entity must present evidence at the hearing demonstrating the potential adverse impact a penalty will have on such person or entity.

1.6 (a) The term "license" or "permit" as used herein shall be defined as a license, permit, franchise or concession not granted as a matter of right.

(b) The term "person" as used herein shall be defined as any natural person doing business alone or associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

(c) The term "entity" as used herein shall be defined as any firm, partnership, corporation, association, or person that receives monies, benefits, licenses, leases, or permits from or through the City or otherwise transact business with the City.

(d) The term "member" as used herein shall be defined as any person associated with another person or entity as a partner, director, officer, principal or employee.

1.7 In addition to and notwithstanding any other provision of this agreement the Commissioner or agency head may in his or her sole discretion terminate this agreement upon not less than three (3) days written notice in the event contractor fails to promptly report in writing to the Commissioner of Investigation of the City of New York any solicitation of money, goods, requests for future employment or other benefit or thing of value, by or on behalf of any employee of the City or other person, firm, corporation or entity for any purpose which may be related to the procurement or obtaining of this agreement by the contractor, or affecting the performance of this contract.

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Tarlow_Mindy
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Fwd: Point to Point - NSW announcement
Date: Saturday, December 26, 2015 7:35:40 AM
Attachments: M850\_3\_P2P\_TRANSPORT\_REFORMS\_WCAG.pdf
Andrew Constance med rel - Point to point transport reforms.pdf
M850\_2\_P2P\_FACTSHEET\_V4\_WCAG.pdf
M850\_5\_4\_PAGER\_V5\_WCAG.pdf
Andrew Constance med rel - Point to Point transport reforms to boost accessibility.pdf
M850\_1\_CONSUMER\_BENEFITS\_FACTSHEET\_WCAG.pdf

---

Mindy

As I mentioned, the largest state in Australia, NSW, released its version of the FHV report last week. One of my good friends is [REDACTED] to the [REDACTED] and was involved if you wanted to talk to him or someone else.

I've included some of the summary materials, which are quite simply written.

Major highlights are:

[REDACTED]

Hope you're enjoying the holiday weekend.

Cheers, [REDACTED]

>
>

+ =====+
This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.
+ =====+

Point to point transport reform

Improving accessibility, choice and inclusion

Wheelchair accessible services

- > We're committed to ensuring wheelchair accessible taxis (WATs) are available and affordable for customers who need them – and will now commit $15.5 million each year to support wheelchair accessible services for point to point services. What we are doing?

Raise the Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme cap from $30 to $60

Expanding the current WAT interest free loan scheme to help get more WATs on the road

Increase the WAT driver incentive payment from $7.70 (ex GST) to $15 (ex GST)

Subsidising the cost of a central booking service for WATs in Sydney, saving businesses that provide these services $2,130 per year

Reducing WAT licence fees in metro areas to zero (in line with the rest of NSW)

- > The NSW Government has also accepted the point to point transport taskforce's recommendation to better target subsidies and incentives to improve the quality and range of services available to customers with disabilities. This review will be a priority for Transport for NSW in the coming year.

Community transport

- > The community transport sector provides critical point to point transport services for thousands of people across the state.
- > We're committed to working with the community transport sector to adapt to these changes.
- > As part of new reforms announced by the NSW Government, community transport providers will continue to be responsible for ensuring their services are operated safely, and that their drivers have passed comprehensive background checks.
- > The reforms will offer community transport operators the potential to provide a range of new booked point to point services – if they wish to and as long as they comply with contract requirements.

More choice in regional NSW

- > Taxis provide essential transport services in rural and regional NSW. Our reforms will reduce costs and red tape for taxis in regional areas and will help make taxi businesses more sustainable.
- > Our reforms give regional customers more choice, with new types of booked services likely to become available. Fewer restrictions on what services can be provided will encourage innovative new services that can better meet customers' needs, as well as better use of existing services.
- > For example, there will no longer be any restrictions on where booked services (including booked taxis) can be provided, with all taxi and booking companies free to provide booked services throughout the state.
- > For the first time, we will introduce annual taxi licences outside of Sydney. A Bill will be brought to Parliament in the New Year to give effect to this decision.

Andrew Constance
Minister for Transport and Infrastructure

MEDIA RELEASE

Thursday 17 December 2015

A NEW TRANSPORT ECONOMY: CONSUMER CHOICE, COMPETITION AND DOWNWARD PRESSURE ON FARES

Minister for Transport and Infrastructure Andrew Constance today announced from midnight tonight, consumers will have more choice, more competition for their business and experience downward pressure on fares with ride-sharing to become legal.

The landmark reforms put taxis and ride-sharing services such as Uber on a more even playing field and pave the way for thousands of new and cheaper service options for customers.

Mr Constance said with more people than ever buying goods and services on their smart phone – it's time NSW updated its out-dated transport regulations to give customers the services they're calling for.

"Customers, taxi and hire car operators, drivers and new entrants have all made clear they want change and today we are making it happen," Mr Constance said.

Today's changes comprise four main components:

- Ride-sharing services will become legal, with a driver authority required in a transition period
- The immediate repeal of more than 50 taxi and hire car regulations, expected to generate $30 million in benefits each year for the industry
- Safety will be boosted, with a new regulator and Commissioner to oversee the industry
- Establishment of a $250 million industry adjustment package for taxi and hire car licence plate owners

Under the new model, taxis will continue to have exclusive access to rank and hail jobs, but customers will have the choice to book taxis, hire cars or ride-sharing services on their smart phone, along with many other services yet to come to Australia.

"These reforms are expected to blow the doors of innovation wide open for 'booked' services, where customers can track their driver, provide direct feedback, hold them more accountable and choose from accessible price points," Mr Constance said.

"All up the reform package equates to $30 million each year in reduced regulatory costs for the industry.

"By taking regulatory and cost pressure off the industry and unlocking more point to point services, we expect to create hundreds of new jobs over the next few years."

The changes will be rolled out over two stages, including the establishment of a stand-alone regulator and Commissioner to crack down on customer safety and ensure the industry is abiding by the rules.

From midnight tonight, more than 50 pieces of red tape for taxi and hire car drivers will be repealed, creating a more level playing field in the point to point transport market.

“Safety measures are being maintained, to ensure we have strong and enforceable standards across drivers, vehicles and the companies providing the service,” Mr Constance said.

“Once Parliament resumes, I will introduce legislation to provide for the full reform package including a new regulator and Commissioner to hold all point to point services to account, with significant power and penalties.

“These include the ability to name and shame companies, seek court imposed fines of millions of dollars and in the worst case scenario a two year prison term for their company personnel.

“For the first time the buck will stop with the company making profit from the services – not just the driver.”

In recognition of the potential impact these changes will have on existing taxi and hire car licence holders, the NSW Government has set aside $250 million in a structural assistance fund to help licence owners adjust to the new regulatory framework.

“It’s important that we don’t forget those who have poured their savings into taxi licences over the past decades and ensure they get equitable assistance as this industry adjusts to changes in our economy,” Mr Constance said.

The cost of this reform package will be met from consolidated revenue, along with a temporary levy on all point to point transport providers, equivalent to $1 per trip for a maximum of five years. It will be up to service providers to decide whether or not they choose to pass on this cost to their customers. At the same time, costs for taxi and hire car operators are being reduced with lower license fees and other cost heavy regulations removed, equivalent to $30 million a year in red tape savings for the industry.

Today’s reforms are part of the NSW Government’s response to the Sturgess Point to Point Transport Report, which handed down its findings last month following more than 5,000 submissions from industry and the public.

For more information go to www.transport.nsw.gov.au/pointtopoint

MEDIA: Josh Murphy | Minister Constance | 0409 086 207
Dominic Cuschieri | Minister Constance | 0467 741 503

A new framework for point to point transport

We're cutting red tape for the point to point industry

From day one we're removing more than 50 pieces of unnecessary regulation which will allow the industry to focus on how to deliver more innovative customer services. By 2019, these reforms will deliver more than $30 million a year in savings.

Focus on safety

The new law will assign clear accountabilities to ensure services meet the NSW Government's safety and security standards.

Booked services subject to fewer restrictions

Under the reforms, the booked point to point market will be opened up and competition increased.

Ridesharing drivers to operate legally

From day one rideshare drivers will be permitted to operate legally, provided they get a hire car driver authorisation and have a business registration for their car.

A strong new safety regulator

The new framework will be overseen by a new safety regulator that will have unprecedented powers.

Safety

We're maintaining safety standards

Drivers of point to point services, including taxis, will have to undergo medical checks, criminal background checks and meet high driver standards. Importantly, if they don't meet the standards, they simply will not be able to drive a point to point vehicle.

Taxi and booking companies will be held accountable

There will be a modern safety regime with the new regulator in place. The regulator will focus on ensuring that taxi and booking companies are meeting their obligations. This will ensure the safe provision of services instead of handing out infringement notices to drivers for minor offences - most of which are not related to the safety of the services.

Changes to industry

Greater competition means more customers

Taxi drivers will be better off under the new regulatory regime. We know customers take more taxi trips when costs go down and these reforms will mean more opportunities for drivers.

Rank and hail stays the same

Taxis will continue to have exclusive access to the rank and hail market, which represents 70 per cent of a taxi driver's work. Less red tape means lower costs.

The removal of unnecessary regulations that have nothing to do with safety will reduce red-tape by about $30m each year and give drivers more opportunities to maximise their earnings.

Industry adjustment assistance available

Reform on this scale won't be easy for everyone. That's why there is a $250 million industry structural adjustment package to provide assistance to perpetual licence owners to adjust to changes in the regulatory framework for booked services, and to provide financial assistance for those facing hardship. A range of business advisory support initiatives will be rolled out by the Office of the NSW Small Business Commissioner to support existing industry participants to adjust to the new operating environment in NSW.

The new regulator

Unprecedented powers

A new stand-alone regulator will be the toughest regulator the NSW point to point transport industry has ever had. It will have extensive investigative and information gathering powers and will be able to initiate prosecutions for serious matters.

Tough fines for non-compliance

The new regulator will have the power to impose significant fines against taxi and booking companies that do not meet their safety obligations. In addition, the new laws will include maximum court-imposed fines based on how much profit the company generates, which may be in the millions of dollars. Courts will also be able to impose prison terms of up to two years for nominated directors and managers found guilty of serious safety breaches.

Point to point transport

The NSW Government response to the taskforce report

In November 2015, the independent Point to Point Transport Taskforce provided the Government its report with 57 recommendations on how to improve the point to point transport industry, which includes taxis, hire cars and emerging services such as ridesharing.

The NSW Government's response to the report will legalise rideshare services and modernise regulation for point to point services to provide more opportunities for all drivers along with stronger safety mechanisms, better competition and choice for customers.

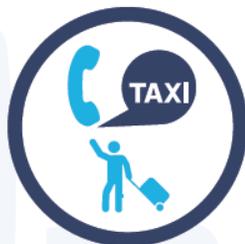

The response also includes assistance for parts of the industry, which will need to adjust to the new regulatory and market changes.

A new regulatory framework

The Taskforce recommended:

A new regulatory framework for point to point transport services that:

- > Focuses on outcomes and innovative service delivery.
- > Distinguishes between booked services (with a booking record) and taxi services hailed or hired from a rank.
- > Makes taxi and booking companies accountable for ensuring services are safe.

NSW Government response:

The new regulatory regime allows rideshare drivers to operate legally, provided they get a hire car driver authorisation and have a business registration for their car. The new model also focuses on customer and driver safety and will reduce red tape and costs for service providers. This will encourage new and innovative services that will better meet the needs of individual customers.

The NSW Government will maintain current standards for safety and security, but industry will be better able to decide the best and most cost-effective means of meeting those standards. Taxi and booking companies will be accountable for ensuring their services are safe. For the first time these companies will have a duty to ensure services are safe.

A new dedicated regulator and graduated penalty regime will be introduced - the toughest regulator the NSW transport industry has ever had - to promote a culture of safety.

What is the difference between booked services and rank and hail taxi services?

Taxis caught from a rank or hailed in the street are anonymous, and so additional security measures, such as security cameras, are necessary. Booked trips come with a record of the journey and so have different safety requirements. Only taxis will be able to provide rank or hail services and there will be strict enforcement of safety standards.

Why do we need to change?

The current prescriptive regulations increase the cost of delivering services and limit the ability of existing industry participants to innovate in response to customer demand.

Under the changes, all industry participants will be obliged to ensure their services are safe. The law will assign clear accountabilities to ensure services meet the safety and security standards. Providers will have more flexibility in making their services safe.

How will the new framework be implemented?

To bring in the new safety framework, the NSW Government will introduce a Bill to Parliament in 2016.

Competition, quality and supply

The Taskforce recommended:

- > Removing restrictive requirements for booked services – for example, vehicles won't need to be licensed to operate in a particular area, restrictions on the kinds of vehicles will be lifted and the companies providing the service will set fares.
- > Stopping the regulation of the quality of services, with industry to be responsible for customer service and other quality issues.
- > Creating legislation to remove existing perpetual taxi licences, and not growing the number of non-wheelchair accessible taxi licences in Sydney for four years.

NSW Government response:

We're removing restrictive regulations for services booked by customers. This reform will create a more level playing field by stripping back unnecessary red tape which has been adding to costs and stifling innovation.

From day one, we're removing more than 50 pieces of unnecessary regulation. This will free up the industry to focus on providing quality services for customers.

By 2019, these reforms will deliver more than $30 million a year in red tape savings, shorter waiting times and more innovative services. They will increase demand for point to point services, creating new opportunities for existing industry participants to grow their businesses and more jobs in the future.

What about taxi and hire car licences?

A special licence like a hire car licence will not be required for any booked service. This will immediately cut costs for existing hire car operators and make it easier for the point to point transport industry to provide new services. Booked services won't have to operate in particular geographical areas and will be able to accept bookings for journeys anywhere in NSW.

For taxis, the NSW Government has accepted the Taskforce's recommendation to stop the release of perpetual licences. In Sydney, the NSW Government will stop the release of growth taxi licences in Sydney for four years to help the industry adjust. However, the NSW Government has not accepted the recommendation to create legislation to remove existing perpetual taxi licences, as this would significantly affect the rights of taxi licence owners.

For other areas of the state, the NSW Government will introduce a Bill to allow the release of annual licences in the future, similar to arrangements that have been in place in Sydney since 2009.

What will happen to fares?

Like current hire cars and tourist services, fares for all booked services (including in taxis) will be unregulated. This means companies will be able to set their own fares for booked trips. Customers will need to agree on fares before bookings are confirmed, but a rate and estimate of the total fare will be provided.

The NSW Government will continue to set maximum fares for taxis caught at a taxi rank or hailed on the street. As is the case at the moment, companies can charge less than the maximum fare. Well informed customer choices can influence fare offerings. There will be no immediate changes to maximum taxi fares, which will also continue to apply to Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme trips in the short term.

Adjustment assistance

The Taskforce recommended:

- > Providing assistance to owners of perpetual taxi licences to help them adjust to the changes in the regulatory framework, with additional assistance for those most adversely affected.
- > Providing practical assistance for industry, such as education and guidance.
- > Developing a public education campaign about the changes for customers.

NSW Government response:

A $250 million industry adjustment assistance package to provide assistance to perpetual licence owners to adjust to changes in the regulatory framework for booked services and a more competitive market. This includes:

- > Transition assistance of $20,000 per perpetual licence, for up to two licences, for taxi licencees who obtained a licence before 1 July 2015, to help them adjust to a more competitive market.
- > An industry adjustment fund of up to $142 million for taxi licencees facing hardship as a result of the changes.
- > A buy back scheme for perpetual hire car licences, reflecting the fact that – unlike taxi licences – these licences will have little or no value going forward.

This means that more than 90 per cent of licencees who own only one or two licences will receive structural adjustment assistance payments of $20,000 for each licence. This structural adjustment assistance is subject to legislation giving effect to the reforms being passed by the NSW Parliament.

What other assistance is available?

In addition to the adjustment assistance package, the NSW Government is providing a range of other support measures to taxi licencees and operators, including:

- > $3 million for the Office of the NSW Small Business Commissioner to provide a range of business advisory services to taxi operators, to help them to adjust to the new operating environment and make the most of new opportunities.

- > $15.5 million per year additional funding to support the delivery of safe and reliable wheelchair accessible taxi services to customers who rely on them.

How will this package be funded?

The cost of this assistance will be recovered through a levy on all point to point transport providers, equivalent to $1 per trip for five years. It will be up to service providers to decide whether or not they choose to pass on this cost to their customers.

Why provide adjustment assistance?

The decision to remove most NSW Government requirements for booked only services will impact on taxi licence values as there will be increased competition for those services. The Government is providing structural adjustment assistance to help licence owners adjust to these changes.

What isn't changing?

The reform package does not change the legal rights of taxi licence owners. Taxi licencees give taxis the right to service the rank and hail market, which accounts for around 70 per cent of taxi work in Sydney. This means taxi licencees will continue to have a significant value in the future.

Transport access and inclusion

The Taskforce recommended:

- > Exploring opportunities to better target subsidies and incentives for improved services for customers with disabilities. Replacing universal service obligations (USOs) with explicit and targeted measures to support different customer groups, where required.
- > Introducing arrangements to release a small number of annual taxi licences that can be used anywhere in the state outside of Sydney.

NSW Government response:

The NSW Government is committed to ensuring wheelchair accessible services are available and affordable for customers who need them. That is why the NSW Government will be committing $15.5 million a year to support wheelchair accessible services, including:

- > Raising the Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme cap from $30 to $60 per journey. Increasing the wheelchair accessible taxi (WAT) driver incentive payment from $7.70 (ex GST) to $15.
- > Reducing WAT licence fees in metro areas to zero (in line with the rest of NSW).
- > Expanding the current WAT interest free loan scheme to help get more WATs on the road.
- > Subsidising the cost of a central booking service for WATs in Sydney, saving businesses that provide these services $2,130 per year.

The NSW Government has also accepted the recommendation to better target subsidies and incentives for improved services for customers with disabilities. This review will be a priority for Transport for NSW in the coming year.

What about community transport?

The community transport sector provides critical point to point transport services for thousands of customers across the state. The NSW Government will work with them to adapt to these reforms.

As is the case today, community transport organisations will continue to be responsible for ensuring their services are safe and that their drivers have passed background checks.

These reforms will also allow community transport operators to provide a range of new booked point to point services as long as they comply with contract requirements.

What do the reforms mean for regional areas?

Taxis provide essential transport services in rural and regional NSW. These reforms help reduce cost and red tape for taxis in regional areas and will help make taxi businesses sustainable by allowing them to be more flexible about how they do business.

These reforms will also open up more choice for regional customers with new types of booked services likely to become available. Fewer restrictions on what services can be provided will encourage innovative new services that better meet the needs of individual customers.

Additionally, the NSW Government has accepted the Taskforce's recommendation to introduce annual taxi licences outside of Sydney. A Bill will be brought to Parliament in the New Year to give effect to this decision.

Andrew Constance
Minister for Transport and Infrastructure

MEDIA RELEASE

Thursday 17 December 2015

POINT TO POINT TRANSPORT REFORMS TO BOOST ACCESSIBILITY

Minister for Transport and Infrastructure Andrew Constance today released a package of reforms to modernise the point to point transport industry and improve accessibility for all customers, including those with a disability.

The point to point industry includes taxis, hire cars and other transport services that take customers from their point of origin, to their intended destination.

“We have kept customers at the forefront of these changes, and have ensured all customers will benefit, including people with disability who rely on taxis to get around,” Mr Constance said.

“Our reforms will improve accessible point to point services by increasing driver incentives and the subsidy scheme for customers – a huge boost for those who rely on these point to point services on a daily basis.”

The reform package includes $15.5 million each year to support wheelchair accessible services including:

- Raising the Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme (TTSS) cap from $30 to $60 to improve affordability for customers
- Increasing the Wheelchair Accessible Taxis (WAT) driver incentive payment from $7.70 (ex GST) to $15 (ex GST) to give more incentive for taxi drivers to provide services
- Reducing Sydney Wheelchair Accessible Taxi (WAT) licence fees from $1,000 to zero (bringing them in line with the rest of NSW)
- Expanding the Wheelchair Accessible Taxi (WAT) interest-free loan scheme at a cost of up to $5 million a year to assist with purchase and modifications for accessible vehicles

The NSW Government will also investigate ways to apply incentives like the TTSS to a broader range of services in the future.

Mr Constance said the landmark reforms will put taxis and ride sharing on a more even playing field and pave the way for thousands of new and cheaper service options for customers.

“This is about getting the industry ready for the future and opening up all the customer benefits and economic gains of a modern transport market,” Mr Constance said.

Mr Constance said the industry reforms also offered opportunities for the community transport sector.

“The community transport sector provides critical point to point transport services for thousands of customers across the state and we’re keen to ensure they take advantage of these reforms.

“Community transport operators will continue to be responsible for ensuring their services are operated safely and have passed comprehensive background checks.

“However we’ve been very careful to ensure they don’t have face any unnecessary red tape, when they should be focusing on their customers.”

For more information go to www.transport.nsw.gov.au/pointtopoint

MEDIA: Josh Murphy | Minister Constance | 0409 086 207
Dominic Cuschieri | Minister Constance | 0467 741 503

A new era for point to point transport

- > We're removing more than 50 pieces of red tape and boosted safety so the point to point industry can focus on customer service, safety and innovation.
- > Taxis will still be the only service that can accept 'rank and hail' jobs, with all point to point services subject to strict safety standards.
- > The package also provides improvements to accessibility for people with a disability including increasing the Taxi Transport Subsidy Scheme and giving more incentives for wheelchair accessible taxi services.
- > From 2016, licence owners can start applying for short-term assistance payments.
- > In the new year, a Bill will be tabled in Parliament to implement a $250 million industry assistance package for licence owners that will be funded by a levy on industry equivalent to $1 per trip. It will also establish a new, modernised safety regime and a new regulator to hold companies directly accountable for the safety of the services provided under their brand.

Taxis, hire cars and ridesharing realities

- > The point to point transport industry in NSW including taxis, hire cars and ridesharing services has changed significantly in recent years.
- > Customers have embraced new booking systems through apps and it is estimated that approximately 1 in 10 people in Sydney have used ridesharing services.
- > These booking services include driver ratings and feedback mechanisms that give customers more information and more control.
- > At the same time, the current regulations for taxis and hire cars are too prescriptive, add cost and make it difficult for these services to innovate.
- > It's clear that the current regulations don't work and aren't giving customers better services.
- > For example, 1 in 10 customers are unhappy with on-time arrival, the cleanliness of the taxi and presentation of the driver.
- > We need to prepare our economy for this challenge and give customers a broader range of services that provide better reliability, stronger customer service and more affordable choices.

1 IN 10 CUSTOMERS UNHAPPY WITH ON-TIME ARRIVAL

1 IN 10 CUSTOMERS DISSATISFIED WITH TAXI CLEANLINESS

1. Based on early estimates from ride share operators

---

The law is changing

- > The current regulations are out of date and focus on the wrong things.
- > Rideshare drivers will be permitted to operate legally, provided they get a hire car driver authorisation and have a business registration for their car.
- > The new legislative framework will focus on customer and driver safety and consumer protection and will reduce red-tape and costs for service providers.
- > Under the reforms all industry participants will be obliged to ensure that point to point transport services are safe. The law will assign clear accountabilities to ensure services meet the NSW Government's safety and security standards.

---

Benefits for customers

- > Reforms to the point to point market will give customers more choice. It will encourage booked services and taxi services to compete for customers on a level playing field.
- > These reforms will deliver customer benefits from more choice of services, shorter waiting times and more innovative services.

---

Benefits for the economy

- > From day one, we're lifting more than 50 pieces of unnecessary regulation. This will free up the industry to focus on better services for customers.
- > By 2019, these reforms will deliver more than $30 million a year in red tape savings.
- > People who see a demand and want to start new services will be able to do so, without excessive regulations and costs.
- > The reforms will increase demand for point to point services, creating more jobs for drivers in the future.

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Delus, Marie
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: AGREEMENT: Neogitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004
Date: Tuesday, January 05, 2016 1:58:27 PM
Attachments: scan0030.pdf

---

Marie - It's in the mail, and attached are the two notarized signature pages. You have everything else already.

On Tue, Jan 5, 2016 at 10:18 AM, Delus, Marie <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yes; please send it to me via both .PDF and US Mail.

Thank you,

Marie Delus

Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer

Phone #: 212-788-2680

Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 12:05 PM
To: Delus, Marie
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: AGREEMENT: Neogitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004

Marie - I have the contract completed and notarized. Should I send it to you via pdf or US Mail?

On Thu, Dec 24, 2015 at 3:00 PM, Delus, Marie <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hello,

The Law Department reviewed your revised agreement and made additional changes. I should note that most of the boiler-plate languages that were removed were re-added by the Law Department.

Please review the agreement, sign, notarize and return three (3) signed copies to:

Office of the Mayor/Fiscal Operations

100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor

New York, NY 10038

Attention: Marie Delus

If you have any questions pertaining to the boiler-plate language; I will connect you with the Law Department Attorney, Lindsey James, for follow-up.

Thank you,

Marie Delus

Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer

Phone #: 212-788-2680

Fax #: 212-788-2406

BIDDER'S CERTIFICATION OF COMPLIANCE WITH IRAN DIVESTMENT ACT

Pursuant to General Municipal Law §103-g, which generally prohibits the City from entering into contracts with persons engaged in investment activities in the energy sector of Iran, the bidder/proposer submits the following certification:

[Please Check One]

BIDDER'S CERTIFICATION

- By submission of this bid or proposal, each bidder/proposer and each person signing on behalf of any bidder/proposer certifies, and in the case of a joint bid each party thereto certifies as to its own organization, under penalty of perjury, that to the best of its knowledge and belief, that each bidder/proposer is not on the list created pursuant to paragraph (b) of subdivision 3 of Section 165-a of the State Finance Law.

- I am unable to certify that my name and the name of the bidder/proposer does not appear on the list created pursuant to paragraph (b) of subdivision 3 of Section 165-a of the State Finance Law. I have attached a signed statement setting forth in detail why I cannot so certify.

Dated: _____, New York
Jan-4, 2016

Robert B. Schaller
SIGNATURE

Robert B. Schaller
PRINTED NAME

Principal
TITLE

Sworn to before me this
4 day of Jan, 2016.

Sajid Patel
Notary Public

Dated: 1/4/16

SAJID PATEL
NOTARY PUBLIC-STATE OF NEW YORK
No. 01PA6318967
Qualified in Kings County
My Commission Expires February 09, 2019

- A. The Agreement
- B. EFT Application, Investigation Clause, MacBride Principal and Tax Affirmation

ARTICLE XVIII. Compliance with Law

Contractor shall render all services under this Agreement in accordance with applicable provisions of federal, state and local laws, rules and regulations that are in effect at the time such services are rendered.

ARTICLE XIX. Entire Agreement

This Agreement, together with all its attachments, contains all the term, conditions and representations agreed upon by the parties. No other agreement, oral or otherwise, regarding the subject matter of this Agreement shall be deemed to exist or to bind any of the parties hereto, or to vary any of the terms contained herein, unless it is in the form of a written amendment signed by the Agency Head or his/her designee and the Contractor.

Please indicate your consent to this Letter of Agreement, with Attachments, by signing in the space provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK

BY: _____

TITLE: _____

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This ____ day of _____ 20____.

_____
NOTARY PUBLIC

THE CONTRACTOR

BY: [Signature]

TITLE: Principal

Subscribed and sworn to before me

This 4 day of January 2016.

[Signature]

NOTARY PUBLIC
 SAJID PATEL LAW
 NOTARY PUBLIC-STATE OF NEW YORK
 No. 01PA6318967 Rev
 @qualified in Kings County 8/90
 Commission Expires February 09, 2019

INVESTIGATION CLAUSE

1.1 The parties to this agreement agree to cooperate fully and faithfully with any investigation, audit or inquiry conducted by a State of New York (State) or City of New York (City) governmental agency or authority that is empowered directly or by designation to compel the attendance of witnesses and to examine witnesses under oath, or conducted by the Inspector General of a governmental agency that is a party in interest to the transaction, submitted bid, submitted proposal, contract, lease, permit, or license that is the subject of the investigation, audit or inquiry.

1.2 (a) If any person who has been advised that his or her statement, and information from such statement, will not be used against him or her in any subsequent criminal proceeding refuses to

From: Delus, Marie
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: AGREEMENT: Neogitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004
Date: Tuesday, January 05, 2016 1:59:38 PM

---

Thank you; I procurement will go to the next Stage. I will send you an email with the status of the contract as soon as it reach the next steps.

Thank you,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer
Phone #: 212-788-2680
Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 05, 2016 1:58 PM
To: Delus, Marie
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: AGREEMENT: Neogitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004

Marie - It's in the mail, and attached are the two notarized signature pages. You have everything else already.

On Tue, Jan 5, 2016 at 10:18 AM, Delus, Marie <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yes; please send it to me via both .PDF and US Mail.

Thank you,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer
Phone #: 212-788-2680
Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 04, 2016 12:05 PM
To: Delus, Marie
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: AGREEMENT: Neogitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004

Marie - I have the contract completed and notarized. Should I send it to you via pdf or US Mail?

On Thu, Dec 24, 2015 at 3:00 PM, Delus, Marie <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hello,

The Law Department reviewed your revised agreement and made additional changes. I should note that most of the boiler-plate languages that were removed were re-added by the Law Department.

Please review the agreement, sign, notarize and return three (3) signed copies to:

Office of the Mayor/Fiscal Operations
100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor
New York, NY 10038
Attention: Marie Delus

If you have any questions pertaining to the boiler-plate language; I will connect you with the Law Department Attorney, Lindsey James, for follow-up.

Thank you,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer
Phone #: 212-788-2680
Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Delus, Marie
To: "Bruce Schaller"
Cc: Sheehan, David; Sidis, Joshua; Jimenez, Jose
Subject: RE: Negotitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004
Date: Wednesday, January 13, 2016 3:05:23 PM

---

You're welcome 😊.

Thank you,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer
Phone #: 212-788-2680
Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Bruce Schaller mailto:[bruceschaller2@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 13, 2016 2:58 PM
To: Delus, Marie
Cc: Sheehan, David; Sidis, Joshua; Jimenez, Jose
Subject: Re: Negotitation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004

Great
Thanks for moving this so quickly
Bruce

On Jan 13, 2016 2:38 PM, "Delus, Marie" <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hello Bruce and Joshua,

Please note that I've received all over-sight approvals and submitted the Negotiated Acquisition package to the Comptroller's Office for review. This is the final review step.

I will send you an email with the final status of this procurement.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer
Phone #: 212-788-2680
Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Tarlow, Mindy
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Cc: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: RE: Sending
Date: Thursday, January 14, 2016 3:13:00 PM

---

[REDACTED]

Report: Uber Hasn't Worsened NYC Traffic

$2 million traffic study 'does not point the finger at Uber'

An Uber driver in Brooklyn. PHOTO ANDREW HINDERAKER FOR THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

By
Andrew Tangel and Josh Dawsey

The Wall Street Journal

Jan. 14, 2016 2:15 p.m. ET

A long-awaited traffic study has found that Uber and other car-hailing services haven't significantly added to Manhattan's increasingly congested streets, people familiar with the matter said on Thursday.

"It does not point the finger at Uber," said a person briefed on its findings who works in the taxi and for-hire car-services industry. The study hasn't yet been released but is expected to be in the coming days. It was prompted by a fight last summer between Uber and New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio, when he proposed capping the growth of the city's for-hire vehicle fleet. He backed off after Uber attacked him and City Hall in response, and the city then ordered up the $2 million congestion study. It was conducted by the consulting firm McKinsey & Co. and a former city transportation official but delayed for months as City Hall officials tried to decide what to do about Uber.

The study is expected to examine factors contributing to slowing traffic speeds in New York City's central business district, using taxi and Uber trip data provided by both parties, another person familiar with the study said. Among its expected findings is that Uber's growth has led to rapid change in the taxi and for-hire-vehicle industries, he person said.

The San Francisco company's growth in the city has been offset by declines in trips by yellow taxis, but this person said that Uber's contribution to traffic congestion could increase if the service continues on the same growth trajectory.

Uber declined to comment. A City Hall spokeswoman didn't immediately respond to a request for comment.

City Hall officials have said that they want to avoid another showdown with Uber. Some of the mayor's aides were annoyed when the City Council said last week that it would release its own legislation soon, according to people familiar with the matter.

Council members are expected to focus on driver-licensing, transit funding, accessibility, safety and consumer protections, said a person familiar with the potential legislation.

The study and proposals come amid intensifying competition for New York City riders by app-driven car services such as Uber, Lyft, Via and Gett.

Lyft, Uber and Via, for example, have been aggressively marketing their carpooling services in the city, at times attracting riders with the lower fares even when the "carpool" trip only picks up one passenger, the person familiar with the study noted. Such one-man carpool trips could eventually contribute to more congestion.

The industry is changing rapidly, the person said. "No one really knows how this is going to go."

---

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com [mailto:[REDACTED]@mckinsey.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 14, 2016 2:53 PM
To: Tarlow, Mindy; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com; Sidis, Joshua; [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Sending

[REDACTED]

Sent from my iPhone

---

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

+=====+

From: Sidis_Joshua
To: @mckinsey.com; @mckinsey.com
Subject: FW: ***FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*** NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL TO INTRODUCE LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE TO REFORM TAXI AND FOR-HIRE VEHICLE INDUSTRIES
Date: Friday, January 15, 2016 1 07 56 PM
Attachments: image001.png
image003.png
image004.png

---

From: Tarlow, Mindy
Sent: Friday, January 15, 2016 12:12 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Fw: ***FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*** NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL TO INTRODUCE LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE TO REFORM TAXI AND FOR-HIRE VEHICLE INDUSTRIES

---

Sent from my BlackBerry 10 smartphone on the Verizon Wireless 4G LTE network.

---

From: Gunaratna, Mahen <MGunaratna@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Sent: Friday, January 15, 2016 12:08 PM
To: @Press Office; @IGA; Walzak, Phil; Williams, Dominic; Shorris, Anthony; Tarlow, Mindy
Subject: FW: ***FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*** NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL TO INTRODUCE LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE TO REFORM TAXI AND FOR-HIRE VEHICLE INDUSTRIES

---

From: Varghese, Amy [<mailto:AVarghese@council.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, January 15, 2016 12:02 PM
To: Varghese, Amy
Subject: ***FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*** NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL TO INTRODUCE LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE TO REFORM TAXI AND FOR-HIRE VEHICLE INDUSTRIES

---

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF COMMUNICATIONS

City Hall
New York, NY 10007
(212) 788-7116

**FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE****

January 15, 2016

---

Contact: (212) 788-7116
Release: 003-2016

NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL TO INTRODUCE LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE TO REFORM TAXI AND FOR-HIRE VEHICLE INDUSTRIES

Legislative package helps level the playing field while also fostering innovation and protecting consumers

New York - New York City Council Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito announced today that the New York City Council will introduce a legislative package to reform the taxi and for-hire vehicle (FHV) industries in New York City. The legislation, which will be introduced by Council Members Ydanis Rodriguez, Corey Johnson, Brad Lander, Fernando Cabrera, Stephen Levin, Rory Lancman, and Dan Garodnick is a result of the efforts of a Council working group led by Transportation Committee Chair Ydanis Rodriguez, along with Council Members Stephen Levin, Brad Lander, and James Vacca. This working group comprehensively reviewed the taxi and FHV industries, continually meeting with industry stakeholders from all sectors over the past six months to discuss their concerns with the current state of regulation and proposals for reform.

"After months of thoughtful deliberation, we have produced a package of bills that will benefit all in the rapidly changing taxi and for-hire vehicle industries," said Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez. "We listened to the concerns of advocates, industry representatives and the riding public and now return with solution-oriented proposals to be discussed in the coming months. Going forward, we will continue to receive input on these ideas and more to finalize laws that work for New York City's ever-evolving transportation network. I am pleased that the time we have put into this process has yielded a fine array of bills and I thank Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito, her team and my colleagues for their care on each of these important issues. I look forward to working with each of them as well as Mayor de Blasio, industry leaders, drivers and riders, as we seek to complete a lasting framework for the future."

"The Council is proud to take the lead on reforming the taxi and for-hire vehicles in New York City while also ensuring continued innovation and convenience," said Speaker Mark-Viverito. "This legislation will work to protect consumers and create more accessibility while improving working conditions for drivers. This package is the result of months of study by hard working Council Members along with countless meetings with the industry and stakeholders. We look forward to continuing these conversations and working collaboratively with the de Blasio administration as we work to build a transit system that reflects New York City in the 21st century."

"I am proud to have been a part of the working group that deliberatively and carefully created a package of reforms for the taxi and for-hire vehicle industries," said Council Member Vacca. "These policy proposals and pieces of legislation will make great strides toward a fairer, more consumer-friendly industry. I am pleased to address issues relating to persons with disabilities, especially the blind, deaf and hard-of-hearing communities, whose needs have long been overlooked when it comes to the taxi and for-hire-vehicle industries. I thank the Speaker for her leadership on this issue, and I am eager to work with my colleagues in the Council and the administration to bring these proposals to reality."

Council Member Stephen Levin said: "Smartphone apps for taxis and black cars have evolved significantly over the past few years, but rules and regulations haven't kept up. This bill will reduce licensing hurdles, make it easier for more bases and drivers to access the newest and best technologies on the market, and ultimately improve consumer choice and experience by encouraging innovation. I am proud to partner with Speaker Melissa Mark-Viverito on this important legislation and I commend her and Mayor de Blasio for their thoughtful and deliberative leadership on this issue."

Council Member Brad Lander said: "With the taxi and for-hire vehicle industries in transition from new technology and forms of work, the City Council is taking the lead in setting a new regulatory framework that's better for consumers, drivers, people with disabilities, and that creates more parity across the system. I'm especially excited that we will move forward with an innovative 'driver benefits fund' to provide drivers -- whether they drive a yellow or a green taxi, an Uber or a Lyft -- some of the benefits that traditional employees have through their jobs."

The Council identified four areas of major concern—drivers, service classifications, consumer protections, and accessible vehicle service—that it will address in the coming weeks through legislation and budget proposals.

Drivers

- As most drivers are independent contractors, they do not have access to an employer-provided health care plan and often have limited disability insurance coverage. To broaden access to a range of benefits, Council Members Johnson, Rodriguez, and Lander will introduce a bill to require the TLC to directly administer a health care services program and purchase supplemental disability insurance coverage for drivers.
- Licenses to drive taxis and FHV's have different requirements, even though these drivers serve many of the same riders. Council Member Rodriguez will introduce a bill to create a universal license that allows for the operation of a taxi or FHV. The bill would eliminate the requirement that an applicant pass a written English language exam—a significant barrier to entry to driving a taxi—while ensuring that we keep City safety and operating standards high.
- There are over 140,000 licensed taxi and FHV drivers in New York City, with hundreds more applying for a license each week. These applicants can face waits over three months. The Council is exploring ways of streamlining the TLC's licensing process, including oversight over recent efforts to reduce processing time, a review of ongoing and potential technological improvements, and an assessment of any need for funding for additional staff.

Service Classifications

- Livery bases face a unique hurdle to operating as an FHV service as they must provide off-street parking for half of their affiliated vehicles. As the vast majority of livery drivers own their vehicles and take them home when not working, the off-street parking requirement places a tremendous financial burden on bases that provides little benefit to the public. Int. No. 47, introduced by Council Member Cabrera, would eliminate the requirement that livery bases maintain off-street parking spaces. The Council will also work with the TLC to ensure that any complaints related to livery vehicles are fully addressed.
- Smartphone apps that dispatch vehicles have revolutionized the private transportation industry, yet app developers seeking to work with other bases or service classes must meet separate, burdensome licensing requirements. Council Member Levin and Speaker Mark-Viverito will introduce a bill that allows any app used by a licensed base to be used by other bases or medallion owners. By allowing bases and medallion owners to contract with apps that are already licensed, market-tested and valuable technology will be available to smaller bases and taxis seeking a competitive e-dispatch option.
- Black cars are subject to a mandatory retirement schedule, depending on the model year of the vehicle, forcing drivers to buy newer vehicles even though their current vehicle can pass inspection. Council Member Lancman will introduce a bill extending the time that a black car may remain in service.
- The Taxi of Tomorrow was launched as the City's official taxi in 2015, yet an array of stakeholders—including drivers, medallion owners, and advocates for people with disabilities—have raised concerns about the lack of a hybrid option and challenges related to accessibility. The Committee on Transportation will hold an oversight hearing to examine these issues and the impact of the Taxi of Tomorrow on riders, drivers, and medallion owners.

Consumers

- Apps can provide quick and efficient service, but may not provide riders with enough information on pricing to allow them to make an educated decision. Speaker Mark-Viverito, Council Member Garodnick, and Council Member Rodriguez will introduce a bill to increase price transparency in black car trips by allowing riders to receive a price estimate and requiring that the actual fare charged not be more than twenty percent higher than the estimate.
- Apps collect a tremendous amount of information from riders, creating the potential for serious violations of privacy and data breaches. Int. No. 658, introduced by Council Member Garodnick, would require bases to protect passenger information, only use that information for certain purposes, and to report on any security breaches.
- Aside from street hail liveries, FHV's are prohibited from picking up passengers on the street unless the ride was prearranged. Rides accepted through illegal street hails infringe on the rights of yellow and green taxis and leave riders without many of the consumer protections offered through regulated service. Council Member Rodriguez will introduce a bill to increase penalties for illegal street hails, including enhanced penalties for illegal pick-ups in the hail exclusionary zone, and the Council will work to increase the TLC's enforcement squads to combat unregulated pick-ups.

Accessibility

- Riders seeking accessible taxi or FHV service in New York City have long struggled with excessive wait times, unreliable service, and limited options. All residents and visitors should have meaningful access to taxis and FHV's, regardless of any physical, visual, or hearing impairments. The Council is committed to working with stakeholders to develop a comprehensive system that will not only quickly and efficiently connect accessible vehicles and riders, but that will incentivize drivers to offer accessible service.

###

From: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
To: Sidis, Joshua
Cc: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Subject: Re: FW: STATEMENT FROM MAYORAL SPOKESPERSON PETER KADUSHIN ON FOR-HIRE VEHICLE AND TRANSPORTATION STUDY REPORT
Date: Friday, January 15, 2016 1:10:53 PM

---

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] | McKinsey & Company | +1 [REDACTED]

▼ "Sidis, Joshua" ---01/15/2016 01:08:09 PM--- [REDACTED] From: Newman, Emily

From: "Sidis, Joshua" <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov>
To: [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com, [REDACTED]@mckinsey.com
Date: 01/15/2016 01:08 PM
Subject: FW: STATEMENT FROM MAYORAL SPOKESPERSON PETER KADUSHIN ON FOR-HIRE VEHICLE AND TRANSPORTATION STUDY REPORT

---

[REDACTED]

From: Newman, Emily
Sent: Friday, January 15, 2016 12:39 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Re: STATEMENT FROM MAYORAL SPOKESPERSON PETER KADUSHIN ON FOR-HIRE VEHICLE AND TRANSPORTATION STUDY REPORT

[REDACTED]

On Jan 15, 2016, at 12:27, Sidis, Joshua <JSidis@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

[REDACTED]

From: Newman, Emily
Sent: Friday, January 15, 2016 12:27 PM
To: Sidis, Joshua
Subject: Fwd: STATEMENT FROM MAYORAL SPOKESPERSON PETER KADUSHIN ON FOR-HIRE VEHICLE AND TRANSPORTATION STUDY REPORT

[REDACTED]

Begin forwarded message:

From: Mayor's Press Office <pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: January 15, 2016 at 12:25:16 EST
To: Mayor's Press Office <pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: STATEMENT FROM MAYORAL SPOKESPERSON PETER KADUSHIN ON FOR-HIRE VEHICLE AND TRANSPORTATION STUDY REPORT

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: January 15, 2015
CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM MAYORAL SPOKESPERSON PETER KADUSHIN ON FOR-HIRE VEHICLE AND TRANSPORTATION STUDY REPORT

"We are pleased to release the findings of our study and look forward to continued work with the City Council and industry partners to create comprehensive proposals to address accessibility, consumer and employee safety, mobility and securing support for our public transit system."

The report is available online:

<http://www1.nyc.gov/site/operations/index.page>

<http://www1.nyc.gov/assets/operations/downloads/pdf/For-Hire-Vehicle-Transportation-Study.pdf>

###

+ ===== +

This email is confidential and may be privileged. If you have received it in error, please notify us immediately and then delete it. Please do not copy it, disclose its contents or use it for any purpose.

+=====+

From: Bruce Schaller
To: Delus, Marie
Cc: Sheehan, David; Sidis, Joshua; Jimenez, Jose; Walsh, Ella; Gaton, Maritza
Subject: Re: Negotiation Acquisition: For Hire Vehicle (FHV) Transportation Study Contract: Robert Bruce Schaller - EPIN#: 00216N0004
Date: Thursday, January 28, 2016 10:16:35 AM

---

Marie - Terrific. Thank you so much. I will send an invoice this week.
Bruce

On Thu, Jan 28, 2016 at 10:06 AM, Delus, Marie <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hello,

Please be advised that the contract between the Office of the Mayor and your organization has been registered. The Contract # is CT1 002 20161415544.

I am currently out of my office until next week; however, I wanted to notify you as soon as possible.

I will send you a copy of your agreement, next week, once I return to the office. In the meantime, please submit your invoice to:

Office of the Mayor/Fiscal Operations
100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor
New York, NY 10038
Attention: Ms. Ella Walsh

My best,

Marie Delus
Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer

Sent from my iPad

On Jan 13, 2016, at 2:57 PM, Bruce Schaller <bruceschaller2@gmail.com> wrote:

Great
Thanks for moving this so quickly
Bruce

On Jan 13, 2016 2:38 PM, "Delus, Marie" <mdelus@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hello Bruce and Joshua,

Please note that I've received all over-sight approvals and submitted the Negotiated Acquisition package to the Comptroller's Office for review. This is the final review step.

I will send you an email with the final status of this procurement.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Marie Delus

Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer

Phone #: 212-788-2680

Fax #: 212-788-2406

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: "Jessica Leigh Hester"
Cc: jhester@citylab.com; Gordon, Greg \(TLC\); Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: Hello!
Date: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:19:41 PM

---

No, that captures it perfectly!! Thank you! Apologies on the email.....press@tlc.nyc.gov is a new email drop for us and we've had some access issues with it!

From: Jessica Leigh Hester mailto:[jhester@theatlantic.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:18 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Cc: jhester@citylab.com; Gordon, Greg \(TLC\); Wiley Norvell \(wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov\)
Subject: Re: Hello!

Hi Allan,

Many thanks for your email. I actually reached out to the TLC on May 29 to request an interview (I emailed the press@tlc.nyc.gov address, but did not receive a response). So I'll happily keep this on file for the future--I'm sure we'll be doing many more stories relating to transportation in NYC, and I look forward to working together.

I do believe that the piece clarifies that the Vision Zero plan hopes to remove the exemption granted to taxis and make those policies conform to the ones for passenger vehicles. Here's what I'm referring to:

We clarify that this is a state exemption in the block text, then go on to say,

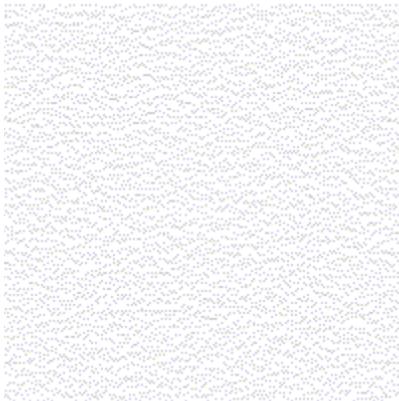

"Taxi drivers and passengers would have to buckle up if Mayor de Blasio's Vision Zero addendum is enacted. In an April report released in conjunction with the initiative's one-year anniversary, the Mayor's office announced a proposal to revise laws about seat belt usage and require all front seat passengers, as well as back seat riders under age 16, to strap in."

Please let me know if this is inaccurate.

Thanks again!

Best,
Jessica

On Tue, Jun 2, 2015 at 3:00 PM, Fromberg, Allan (TLC) <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:

Jessica, my name is Allan Fromberg and I work for the NYC Taxi and Limousine. Needless to say, aside from being thought-provoking, your piece was particularly interesting to us, and I wanted to take a moment to thank you for making people think about this incredibly important issue! I should also let you know, in case you wanted to update your piece, that the administration of Mayor Bill de Blasio has made it a legislative priority in Albany to remove the exemption that now exists for taxicabs and various other types of for-hire vehicles (FHVs). Right now, all passengers in the front seat of a vehicle and all passengers under age 16 in the back seat are required by state law to wear seatbelts. Taxis and FHVs have been exempt from this law since 1984, when NYS became the first state to enact a mandatory seatbelt law. The administration's bill proposes to remove the taxi and FHV exemption, so that they would be in-line with personal vehicles.

I should mention that this bill is one of many initiatives branching out from Mayor de Blasio's Vision Zero Action Plan, which seeks to end traffic fatalities and serious traffic-related injuries.

If a quote on this would be helpful to you at some point in time, here is something I had on hand from TLC Commissioner Meera Joshi: "Seatbelts save lives, so, if there was ever a time that the existing exemption made sense, it certainly doesn't make sense to us here and now.....the bottom line is that, like everything we're doing as part of Mayor de Blasio's Vision Zero Action Plan, this would bring us closer to our goal of zero traffic fatalities and serious injuries."

Thanks again for your article!

Navigator (from The Atlantic)

Ask CityLab: Do I Really Need to Wear a Seat Belt Whenever I Ride in a Taxi?

There's a lot of debate over that strap.

- Jessica Leigh Hester
- @jessicahester
- 12:08 PM ET

Comments

Syda Productions/Shutterstock.com

Ask CityLab is where we answer thorny questions about urban life. Email your Q's to AskCityLab@CityLab.com.

Dear CityLab: Do I really need to wear a seat belt every time I'm in a cab? Even for short trips?

So much for “click it or ticket.” In many places, cab drivers and riders are exempt from state laws about buckling up. For instance, New York City’s Taxi and Limousine Commission notes that both drivers and passengers get a pass:

Drivers of yellow medallion taxicabs and for-hire vehicles and their passengers, are exempt from laws regarding car seats and seatbelts. Keep in mind, the TLC encourages everyone in the vehicle to buckle their seatbelts while riding in a cab. There are no Taxi and Limousine Commission rules regarding this, as it is a State exemption.

FYI, similar exemptions also apply to drivers and passengers in emergency vehicles, any car manufactured prior to 1964, buses other than school buses, and to “rural letter carriers,” adds the New York State DMV.

But that free-wheeling lifestyle may have an end date. Taxi drivers and passengers would have to buckle up if Mayor de Blasio’s Vision Zero addendum is enacted. In an April report released in conjunction with the initiative’s one-year anniversary, the Mayor’s office announced a proposal to revise laws about seat belt usage and require all front seat passengers, as well as back seat riders under age 16, to strap in. (Unlike the drivers of private vehicles, who stand to receive a fine when passengers break the law, TLC drivers wouldn’t be penalized for riders’ behavior.)

In other areas, the legality depends on whether you’re the driver or the passenger. In England, for instance, taxi passengers are required to wear the restraint, but drivers aren’t. The rationale: Drivers may need to make a quick escape from dangerous riders, BBC reported.

Taxi and livery drivers also get off the hook under Massachusetts state law. But passengers who fail to buckle up can be slapped with a $25 fine.

(Joe Ravi/Shutterstock.com)

But I just don't want to wear one.

Well, that's dumb: Wearing a seat belt can reduce risk of a fatal injury by 45 to 50 percent, the National Highway Transportation Safety Association (NHTSA) estimates. In May, venerated mathematician John Nash and his wife, Alicia, were flung from the back seat of a taxi on the New Jersey Turnpike; neither were wearing seat belts. Michael O'Loughlin, the campaign director for the advocacy group Cab Riders United, told the New York Times that doctors even have a name for some of the serious injuries that can occur when backseat passengers are hurled against the plexiglass divider separating them from the front seat: "partition face."

But unfortunately, you're not alone in opting against a restraint. Approximately 62 percent of NYC taxi passengers rode fast and loose last year, reported the TLC 2014 Taxicab Factbook. CityLab asked some cab riders how often they buckle up. (Hint: Most of them don't.) A couple of themes cropped up: distractions (Is this guy taking the fastest route?), an elevated sense of security, and weird misinterpretations of the laws of physics. Here's what they said:

It never even occurs to me, to be honest. Which I know is dumb because those are some of the scariest car rides I've ever been in.

My friend claims he doesn't need to wear one because he thinks that keeping his feet planted on the ground keeps him safe.

I don't even consider cab rides to be car rides. It's almost like I consider them a different type of transportation, because I'm never in a taxi for a long period of time—I rarely take them, and when I do it's 10-15 minutes at the most to get from point A to point B.

To be fair, a few of our interviewees do buckle up—and it's largely because they've had some harrowing experiences. This is what they told us:

I was in a terrible car accident in high school; my seat belt saved me that day, and I've buckled up ever since. I insist that my kids and husband do, too.

A friend got rear ended coming home from LaGuardia one Thanksgiving and needed reconstructive surgery after his face hit the plastic divider.

TL;DR: You might not legally have to wear a seat belt, but you definitely should.

Allan J. Fromberg
NYC TLC
33 Beaver Street
212-676-1013

--

Jessica Leigh Hester
Associate editor, CityLab.com
@jessicahester

From: Bajaj, Vikas
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FHV rules
Date: Tuesday, June 23, 2015 6:07:34 PM

---

Hi Wiley,

I saw the news story on this. Interesting development. Let's chat tomorrow. I am in meetings 10-11, 1-2 and 3:45-4:15.

Vikas

On Tue, Jun 23, 2015 at 5:58 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Vikas,

Some news breaking on the Uber/For-Hire-Vehicle front. Can we talk in the morning? London doing exact same as NYC and think this is something other cities may follow. I'd like to explain a bit!

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

\(212\) 788-2958788-2958)

\(917\) 428-8307428-8307) (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

From: Gastel, Scott
To: "ygonen@nypost.com"
Cc: "Rebecca Harshbarger"; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Docs
Date: Wednesday, June 24, 2015 11:21:45 AM
Attachments: FHV-Growth-Limitation-Bill-Briefer.pdf
FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

Proposed Bills to Limit and Study the Growth of For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

What the Bills Propose:

The TLC may only issue a limited quantity of new For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) licenses until (1) DOT, DEP and TLC complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first). The limitation depends for each base on the number of affiliated vehicles they had as of June 15, 2015:

Bases with:

- 500+ vehicles: may grow by 1%
- 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow by 5%
- 19 or fewer: may grow by 15%

During the growth limitation period TLC, DOT, DEP and other agencies will extensively study the impact of taxi and FHV industry growth on traffic congestion, air quality, noise, and public health. Once completed, the TLC will submit recommendations for mitigating any impacts identified in those areas to the Speaker and the Mayor. In accordance with State law, this growth limitation would not apply to green Boro Taxi vehicles.

Why it's necessary now: Unlike other TLC-regulated industries, there is no growth control mechanism in the FHV industry. Recent growth in this industry has been tremendous, and concentrated in the Manhattan Core, which could be a significant factor in (1) traffic congestion/declining vehicle speeds, and (2) air quality. These affect New Yorkers' quality of life, the ability for businesses to thrive, and public health.

Growth in the FHV industry in recent years has been tremendous.

- In the last two years, approximately 20,000 new FHVs have been added to NYC's traffic dynamic.
- In June 2011, there were 38,600 FHVs. Today, there are nearly 63,000 FHVs, a 63% increase.

If things remain as they are, rapid growth in the FHV industry is expected to continue.

- In each month of FY2015, the TLC has issued approximately 2,000 new FHV licenses.
- There are no signs that this level of growth will slow.

New Data Show Manhattan-Centric Growth.

- New FHV trip records show that most new FHV activity — 72% of pickups — is taking place in the already-congested Manhattan Core.

Manhattan Traffic Speeds Have Been Declining.

- Between 2010 and 2014, average Manhattan traffic speeds have declined significantly, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph (-8.98%). Bus speeds are also showing declines. During rush hour (4-6pm) they were 5% lower in Nov. 2014 than they were in Nov. 2013. Overall daytime (7am – 7pm) bus speeds were down 3% over this period.
- Preliminarily there are indications that there is a correlation between FHV fleet growth and congestion. The study will help us better understand whether and how FHVs are impacting congestion and related problems.

It is time to “tap the brakes” while we look at the impact this growth is having on the City.

- Before growth continues at this rapid pace, and many more individuals invest in putting new FHV's on the road, logic and prudent policy suggest that we study the impacts so that we can develop an informed policy going forward.

Public and Industry Impacts of the Growth Limitation:

- Public: Between the 13,587 taxis and 63,000 FHV's, there is an ample pool of vehicles available to meet demand.
- Existing FHV Owners/Drivers: Existing FHV licenses could still be renewed, and FHV license holders would still have the ability to maximize their opportunities by switching vehicles and bases. They may also take calls from any licensed base of the same business class, with some drivers even potentially benefiting from a time-out in seeing additional competing vehicles added to the fleet.
- New and Existing Bases: The growth limitation would not limit a base from affiliating as many existing vehicles as wish to work with it. Bases can also grow by giving each affiliated vehicle more calls (which would be welcome), or by sending extra calls to other bases' vehicles. New bases can form by finding ten existing vehicles that wish to affiliate with them.
- New Drivers: They could join the industry by joining a base with vehicle capacity in its temporary growth cap, driving a secondary shift on an existing vehicle, or signing on with a base with existing vehicles needing drivers.

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
To: Allan J. Fromberg; "ygonen@nypost.com"; "SGastel@dot.nyc.gov"
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: from DOT
Date: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 11:13:30 AM
Attachments: Temp Limiting FHV Licenses + Study Bill Hearing Testimony 6\_30\_15 FINAL.pdf

---

Here you go!

Greg Gordon
Public Affairs Officer
New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
212-676-1169 phone
212-676-1101 fax
347-844-0227 cell
Greg.Gordon@tlc.nyc.gov
www.nyc.gov/tlc

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Sent: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 11:13 AM
To: 'ygonen@nypost.com'; 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
Cc: 'wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov'; Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: Re: from DOT

Greg, can you please send Yoav the testimony as soon as you can? Thanks!

---

From: Yoav Gonen [<mailto:ygonen@nypost.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 11:11 AM
To: Gastel, Scott <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>
Cc: wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>; Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: Re: from DOT

Thanks. Can you send me Mira and nilda's testimony pls?

Yoav Gonen
City Hall Bureau Chief
New York Post
Cell: 646-229-8322
yoavgonen

On Jun 30, 2015, at 9:36 AM, Gastel, Scott <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yoav:

This is in response to some questions you had re FHV's.

The study proposed in the legislation would allow for DOT to identify potential impacts of taxis, for-hire-vehicles and similar industries. The live-saving measures you describe are about saving lives, and not about slowing down every day New Yorkers observing the speed limit and traffic rules. Our projects focus is on addressing speeding and excessive speeds, not about slowing travel times for all. There is a distinct difference here.

On background:

Furthermore, DOT has designed its projects, particularly in Manhattan, to serve overall mobility. DOT tailored each to the unique considerations of the intersections and corridors where they took place. These projects served to provide better transportation choices particularly for high capacity and efficient modes. They resulted in New Yorkers choosing these efficient modes, which improves the mobility for all New Yorkers, including drivers and taxi and for-hire vehicle passengers. The projects unclogged bottlenecks and better managed the myriad of demands placed on our streets. DOT constantly evaluated projects with before and after metrics, and we found that they typically improved mobility or maintained it. We designed projects with the input from the local community and received community support. Overall, our work has improved the mobility, economic output, quality of life and safety of our streets. The period of most significant DOT work in the Manhattan core was from 2008 through 2011. The period where we are seeing slowed traffic based on Taxi GPS data is primarily from 2012 to 2014.

As for the data you've seen recently, here is a description of methodology used from the DOT Sustainable Streets Index: All yellow taxicabs are equipped with GPS devices which create electronic trip sheets for all customer-carrying taxi trips 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The data includes time and location of trip origin and trip destination, time elapsed, distance traveled, and fare. The system records approximately 13 million trips per month. DOT receives the taxi GPS data from the Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds to support agency policymaking and operations. The taxi speed data are based on the distance and duration of the entire trip for customer-carrying taxi rides within CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. DOT has usable data from fall 2007 to the present.

Comparing the '09 data (rather than '10) to '14 still shows a decline of more than 8.2%.

*****

This message and any attachments are solely for the individual(s) named above and others who have been specifically authorized to receive such and may contain information which is confidential, privileged or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, any disclosure, copying, use or distribution of the information included in this message and any attachments is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us by reply e-mail and immediately and permanently delete this message and any attachments.

Thank you.

Testimony of Meera Joshi

NYC Taxi & Limousine Commission Commissioner/Chair

Testimony On:

Int. No. 842: A Local Law in relation to temporarily limiting the issuance of new for-hire vehicle licenses.

Int. No. 847: A Local Law in relation to requiring a study on the impact of growth in the taxicab and for-hire vehicle industries.

City Council Committee on Transportation

June 30, 2015

Good morning Chair Rodriguez, members of the Transportation Committee, and City Council. I am Meera Joshi, Chair of the New York City Taxi & Limousine Commission. Today with me are two individuals I'm sure you all know well: DOT Commissioner Trottenberg and Nilda Mesa, Director of the Mayor's Office of Sustainability. Thank you for the opportunity to speak today about legislation introduced by Chair Rodriguez and Council Member Levin to limit and study the growth of FHV's for one-year--or the duration of the study--whichever is earliest.

TLC supports limiting the issuance of new FHV licenses while TLC, DOT, DEP, the Mayor's Office of Sustainability and other agencies conduct a study of the impact that rapid FHV industry growth, and growth in other TLC-regulated industries, is having on NYC traffic congestion, air quality, noise, and public health. Following the completion of the study, TLC would submit recommendations to the Speaker and the Mayor for mitigating any impacts identified. These bills would not impact the issuance of green Boro Taxi permits, which is already regulated by state law.

Several emerging trends, new data obtained by the TLC, and concerns regarding the future of mobility, public health, driver welfare and accessibility in New York City have led TLC to support an impact study and a growth limitation during the pendency of the study.

First, some background on how the FHV industry works as compared to other industries under TLC's jurisdiction is helpful.

Unlike other TLC-regulated industries, there is no real growth control mechanism in the FHV industry. For yellow taxis, the number of medallions is set by state and local law. For green taxis, the number of permits that can be issued is set by state law and findings from a market analysis TLC performs between each issuance period. For commuter vans, new authorities are subject to DOT review of community needs and TLC approval. But for FHV's, TLC currently has no authority to limit the number of licenses. They stand alone in the private for-hire world as the sector without a meaningful growth oversight mechanism.

Recent trends demonstrate the potentially problematic consequences of a system without a growth control mechanism. Growth in the FHV industry in the past several years has been tremendous. Since 2011 about 25,000 new FHV's have joined the fleet. There are now nearly 63,000 FHV's, a 66% increase from just four years ago.

We have strong reason to believe that, without Council action, growth in the FHV industry is expected to continue. In each month of Fiscal Year 2015, TLC issued approximately 2,000 new FHV licenses. One FHV company has stated that by the end of 2015, it intends to have 10,000 additional drivers. It is estimated that this means, at a minimum, 7,500 additional cars.

Growth isn't necessarily a bad thing, particularly if it is bringing about better service in our city's most transit-starved neighborhoods. We're excited to have new entrants in New York City's FHV market, and that new and old FHV companies alike are leveraging technologies that could improve the efficiency of our transportation network. We're hopeful that true shared riding, long the dream of transportation planners specifically for that "last mile" home from the train station, could finally become a reality due to wider adoption of technology. However, new data TLC has received demonstrates that the past several years' growth in the FHV industry has not focused on transit-starved neighborhoods, but has been Manhattan-centric. New FHV trip records show that most new FHV activity—72% of pickups—is taking place in the Manhattan Core, the most congested area of the city.

The rapid, ongoing growth in the number of vehicles and their concentration in Manhattan could be causing unintended negative consequences. As Commissioner Trottenberg will explain, between 2010 and 2014, average Manhattan traffic speeds declined significantly, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph, a decrease of 9%. Bus speeds have also declined. During the evening rush hour<sup>1</sup> Manhattan bus speeds were 5% lower in November 2014 than they were a year earlier, a trend that none of us would like to see continue. Correlation does not equal causation; however, we are at the point at which there are enough data points, and a strong logical nexus between FHV industry growth and Manhattan congestion that a closer look is necessary.

A limitation in growth while we study the issue and develop informed policy is so important because traffic congestion is no minor issue. By some estimates traffic congestion costs the New York Metropolitan Region's economy $16 billion each year, driven by factors such as the difficulty businesses have trying to move goods around the city. A recent report issued by the Partnership for New York City cited traffic congestion on our roads as a significant factor driving up the high cost of doing business in NYC, and a threat to our continued status as the preferred headquarters for the important global financial services industry.

Beyond serious economic impacts, the negative effects of congestion are also demonstrated in our public health statistics. As Director Mesa will explain in more detail, chronic exposure to traffic-related air pollution has been linked to the risk of respiratory disorders, such as asthma, as well as premature death from heart attacks and strokes. Air pollution from traffic congestion in 83 of the nation's largest urban areas contributes to more than 2,200 premature deaths annually, costing the health system at least $18 billion. The New York Metropolitan Area is second only to Los Angeles in the United States in premature deaths and related costs due to congestion-related air pollution.<sup>22</sup>

---

<sup>1</sup> 4-6pm

I also have concerns about two other issues that relate to mobility. First, is driver income. Congestion itself can hurt drivers' income because it limits their ability to get to the next fare. Additionally, although I do believe that the pie of overall for-hire passengers is expanding, it may not be expanding as rapidly as the supply of vehicles. I hear concerns that drivers are cannibalizing one another's business, making it difficult for any single driver to earn a living. The ability for the people who work hard on the streets of NYC to meet expenses and earn a decent living has to be something we look at as a city and take into account in our policymaking.

A second concern of mine is mobility for those who need accessible service. Whereas in the yellow and green taxi industries we have clear paths—and progress already—towards accessibility, there is not yet something similar for the FHV industry. As FHV's become ever more part of the fabric of NYC, a pathway towards accessibility in this industry—which is no simple matter in an open-entry system—becomes increasingly important to the ability of people who use wheelchairs to efficiently navigate the city.

For all these reasons, and before more people invest in putting new FHV's on the road, it is time to tap the brakes while we look at the impact of rapid FHV industry growth and growth in other for-hire segments. TLC has already begun coordinating with DOT, DEP, DOHMH and the Mayor's Office of Sustainability on a study that is part of the OneNYC plan, and a limitation on growth would enable us to make better use of the study's findings—and conduct a more robust study—by preventing runaway growth while we study the issue.

While we fully support the bills, we do think there could be another way to distribute the limited growth allotments so that it is as fair as possible. Regardless of the calculation methodology that is ultimately decided on, the growth limitation proposed in Intro. No. 842 would be a significant step.

We've thought through what impacts this step would have on service availability for the public and job opportunities for New Yorkers.

We are certain that the public will not lack for-hire transportation options during the period of the pause. Between the 13,587 yellow taxis and 63,000 FHV's, including green taxis, there are plenty of vehicles available to meet demand. Many of these vehicles are not on the road full-time, and if consumer demand grows, each existing vehicle could as needed be used more intensively.

A few facts boost my confidence that, despite claims to the contrary, passengers will continue to enjoy excellent levels of service. For example, in December 2014, when NYC had nearly 7,000 fewer FHV's than it has today, Uber told Newsweek magazine that its median wait time was 3 minutes, 8 seconds in the outer boroughs and 2 minutes, 25 seconds in Manhattan.<sup>3</sup> Wait times for taxis in the areas they cruise are typically just a couple of minutes. Consumers will continue to have plenty of options for fast service during the growth limitation period regardless of whether they prefer to street-hail or e-hail a yellow or green taxi, call a local car service base, or use an app to book an FHV.

---

<sup>22</sup> According to a study by the Harvard School of Public Health. Jonathan I. Levy, Jonathan J. Buonocore, & Katherine von Stackelberg, "The Public Health Costs of Traffic Congestion," Harvard Center for Risk Analysis and Harvard School of Public Health: 2010. <http://ibttta.org/sites/default/files/The%20Public%20Health%20Costs%20of%20Traffic%20Congestion.pdf>

New Yorkers who already earn their living in the FHV industry would continue to be able to do so for a number of reasons.

Existing FHV licenses could still be renewed and FHV license holders would still be able to switch vehicles and bases.

Existing bases could still grow their businesses beyond the growth cap outlined in this bill by affiliating FHV drivers that were previously affiliated with other bases, or by giving each affiliated vehicle more calls. Based on the 250 to 700 FHV drivers who get summonses and sometimes even their vehicles seized for illegal street hails each month—an indication that they are not kept busy enough with dispatch work—I suspect that many drivers would welcome more legitimate dispatch work.

Even new drivers wishing to join the industry would have options. They could drive the second shift on an existing vehicle or work with a base with existing vehicles. This could be a good thing for those drivers looking to work without taking on an onerous car loan.

There are several other important questions we've gotten and that I've heard in the media since these bills were introduced, and I'd like to take this opportunity to address them.

First, some have accused the TLC of supporting these bills in an attempt to protect the existing yellow and green taxi industries or the traditional car service industry. I can assure you that is not the case. In recent years new market entrants have come to NYC and flourished. TLC demanded that these new entrants meet the same licensing standards as similar existing companies, and once they did, they enjoyed growth only capped by their potential to provide excellent service.

The numbers and TLC's actions speak for themselves. There are now 76 different FHV apps operating in NYC, and an estimated 25,000 FHV drivers getting their trips through apps.

Any review of TLC rule-making over the past year would find that our primary approach to the profound changes in the industry has been to buckle down and focus on ensuring that passengers have the safety and consumer protections they deserve regardless of whether their car of choice is yellow, green or black.

A great example of this was our most recent rulemaking surrounding dispatch service providers. Throughout the process we had fruitful discussions and received helpful feedback from Uber, Lyft, Via, the longstanding FHV industries, drivers and Council, which ultimately resulted in a set of rules that protects the public while allowing for continued innovation.

---

<sup>3</sup> <http://www.newsweek.com/exclusive-heres-how-long-it-takes-get-uber-across-us-cities-289133>

However, given the trends I described earlier, we must recognize that unbridled growth at some point poses its own challenges and we must legislate responsibly.

A second question we've gotten is, given policy debates around the world and here in NYC, whether TLC is supporting this bill to target Uber.

Uber is one of many FHV companies legally operating under TLC licensure, and if enacted, this law would apply to all 893 FHV companies. Uber is not the only FHV company that has been growing recently. 654 non-Uber bases actually grew by an average of 14 cars each between last summer and this spring, and across the board this growth has added up.

We are even in court right now fighting lawsuits brought against the City by yellow medallion owners and lenders that think FHV companies, including Uber, should not be allowed to provide prompt service to passengers who order them by smartphone apps.

Beyond the growth allotment each base receives, during the period of the study, any FHV company can continue to grow further in vehicles by competing to work with vehicles already in the industry. Another great way these companies could grow would be by giving each vehicle more trips, which as I mentioned earlier would be more than welcome by most drivers.

The wealth of breadcrumb data on traffic circulation that FHV's equipped with technology now collect, if they agree to share it with the City, could even help us with the study and shorten the time it takes to complete it by enabling us to understand more about how FHV's move around the city and how this impacts congestion.

Another way in which FHV companies could help with the study pertains to car ownership trends. Census data available so far seems to refute the assertion that rapid growth in the size of the FHV industry in NYC has brought about decreases in car ownership; however, if FHV companies agree to work with the City on surveys of their customers and drivers, this could help us all understand more clearly what impacts a larger number of FHV's are having on car ownership.

There are also those who might wonder whether a better approach would be to let the market and consumer demand dictate how many FHV's are on the road.

Although in many cases I agree that allowing consumer demand to dictate supply is a solid approach, we also know that markets aren't perfect. The government needs to consider and sometimes create policies to account for externalities: that is, impacts on the rest of society that are the result of market transactions between two parties.

Anyone who rides in a vehicle in New York City, whether it's a private vehicle, a taxi, or an FHV, creates some negative externalities on the rest of the community in the form of congestion, noise, pollution and mobility challenges. By taking a hard look at the impact of large numbers of vehicles for hire on NYC streets, the City will weigh the benefits to these vehicles' passengers against any associated negative externalities in terms of congestion and air pollution. The study will try to determine what policies need to be in place so that we take into account not only individual consumer demand, which the market captures, but also externalities faced by everyone else sharing the city.

What it boils down to is that, at some point, I strongly believe the City needs to step in and make sure that there is balance between those of us who choose the instant gratification and convenience of travel in private vehicles and the much larger group who cannot afford private car service, and for which it is literally inaccessible, and nonetheless are affected by mobility challenges the rapid expansion of this sector could present.

We are at a real crossroads. We need to provide fertile ground for new services to thrive, but not at the expense of those who do not have the privilege of using them regularly. So we will be guided by the data and the need to provide an overall efficient regulatory framework that leverages technology to improve service in all sectors as well as the overall quality of life for all New Yorkers and visitors.

I'd like to sum up by bringing us back to the numbers. As I said earlier, since 2011 we have added about 25,000 vehicles to the fleet. The fleet has grown by 16,000 vehicles since 2013, and by about 5,000 vehicles in just the first half of 2015. Yes, this is a big city. Yes, in a theoretical world without externalities the laws of supply and demand would naturally bring us to some optimal number of vehicles. But month after month we have been licensing 2,000 new vehicles without signs of slowing. This should give even the strongest proponent of an uncapped system some pause. It is time for us to moderate growth for a limited time period while we engage with researchers and other experts, stakeholders, the public and Council, to take a hard look at whether the path we're on is the right one for our economy, public health, and quality of life. We hope that Council will support bills to temporarily limit and study growth in the various for-hire sectors and would be happy to answer any questions you may have.

From: Henry Goldman \(BLOOMBERG/ NEWSROOM:\)
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re:Response from me, on FHV hearing
Date: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 11:16:29 AM

---

Thank you

From: WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov At: Jun 30 2015 09:58:02

To: Henry Goldman \(BLOOMBERG/ NEWSROOM:\)
Subject: Re:Response from me, on FHV hearing

"We are facing 2,000 more cars coming onto our streets every month—overwhelmingly in the most congested and crowded areas of Manhattan. It's good public policy to temporarily manage that influx of new vehicles so we can fully assess its impact on traffic and air quality. Our global competitors like London are facing the exact same phenomenon, and are responding in the same way. New Yorkers will continue to be well-served during this study period, with access to the most transportation options and the most for-hire vehicles in our city's history."

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

(212) 788-2958

(917) 428-8307 (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

From: Shore, Berry
To: Iglesias, Ariel
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FW: Information on FHV Study Legislation
Date: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 11:50:55 AM

---

Ariel:

Please refer any press inquiry to our press officer for air, Elias Rodriquez.

Elias can be reached at 212-637-3364.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 10:26 AM
To: Thompson, Ashley; Iglesias, Ariel
Cc: Ruvo, Richard; Wieber, Kirk; Shore, Berry; Mesa, Nilda
Subject: RE: Information on FHV Study Legislation

A pleasure to meet you, Ariel. May I steer reporters your way who are inquiring on this topic?
Best,
WN

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

---

From: Thompson, Ashley
Sent: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 9:52 AM
To: Iglesias.Ariel@epa.gov
Cc: Ruvo.Richard@epa.gov; Wieber.Kirk@epa.gov; Shore.Berry@epa.gov; Mesa, Nilda; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Information on FHV Study Legislation

Ariel,
As requested, the Powerpoint presentation and testimony for today's hearing on for-hire vehicles are attached. I've also copied Wiley Norvell, from City Hall's press office, who can assist.

Sincerely,

Ashley Thompson
Mayor's Office of City Legislative Affairs
p: 212-788-7774 | m: 646-659-2612

athompson@cityhall.nyc.gov

From: Tim Fernholz
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: INCOMING: Quartz re: ride-sharing bills -- Tim Fernholz, tim@qz.com, 603-340-1105. DEADLINE: Early afternoon
Date: Wednesday, July 01, 2015 8:29:02 AM

---

Hey, unfortunately I was turned away at the hearing door and the live-stream didn't work.

On London, a knowledge test is a bit different from an expansion cap.

On the jobs front, you are the first person I've talked to mentioning current jobs; I'm talking about potential future ones. I understand that existing cars can be used more widely, but it seems weird to pretend the cap won't prevent future growth driver jobs of when keeping new cars off the street is the stated purpose and that is the main way new drivers join the platform companies. Especially after the argument from Rodriguez that the problem with new car service cars is that they are on the road so much more than the average driver...

On Wednesday, July 1, 2015, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

All of this was discussed at length at yesterday's hearing by our commissioners.

- 1.) Yes, as our TLC chair conveyed yesterday, the City previously placed a cap on commuter van service to assess its impact.
- 2.) London has been grappling with the same phenomenon and has been looking at a range of solutions (most recently knowledge tests) as a way to manage the growth of FHV service.
- 3.) Jobs—addressed at length at yesterday's hearing. This legislation would only place restrictions on the number of new vehicles coming onto NYC streets, not the number of drivers. New drivers can continue to access employment, enabled by greater utilization of existing vehicles. It is very disingenuous to allege that any current drivers would lose employment, or that new drivers could not secure employment in the sector.

---

From: "tim@qz.com" <tim@qz.com>

Date: Wednesday, July 1, 2015 at 7:51 AM

To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Subject: Re: INCOMING: Quartz re: ride-sharing bills -- Tim Fernholz, tim@qz.com, 603-340-1105. DEADLINE: Early afternoon

Hi Wiley,

Just looking this over. Before I update with your quote, can you get back to me with some specifics on the London case? I'm checking with my colleagues there but as far as I know they never froze the number of car-service platform drivers.

And I understand the rationale for freezing hiring during the study, but I'm curious why the city has never frozen operations during a study before? (Or if it has, when?) I see the 24,000 in four years thing but that's a tiny percentage of the cars on Manhattan's streets.

And is that a no comment on the 10,000 jobs?

thanks,

Tim

On Tue, Jun 30, 2015 at 7:01 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

So sorry this got caught in our filter, Tim. Attached is a presentation explaining this policy's rationale and impact, and below is response from me you can include. Happy to chat through any of this anytime at 646-422-9614.

Attribute to me:

"We are facing 2,000 more cars coming onto our streets every month—overwhelmingly in the most congested and crowded areas of Manhattan. It's good public policy to temporarily manage that influx of new vehicles so we can fully assess its impact on traffic and air quality. Our global competitors like London are facing the exact same phenomenon, and are responding in the same way. New Yorkers will continue to be well-served during this study period, with access to the most transportation options and the most for-hire vehicles in our city's history."

Best,

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

\(212\) 788-2958788-2958)

\(917\) 428-8307428-8307) (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

From: Tim Fernholz [<mailto:tim@gz.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, June 30, 2015 9:33 AM
To: Mayor's Press Office
Subject: media inquiry—ride-sharing bills

Hi there,

I'm a reporter at Quartz, the global business news site. I'm writing about two bills before the city council that the Mayor has endorsed—council bills 842 and 847—that would impose a hiring freeze on platform-based ride-sharing services like Uber during a study of their affect on traffic.

Uber says this will block the creation of 10,000 new jobs in the next year, and notes that there has never been a similar freeze during past traffic studies.

So, questions for the Mayor's office:

- What does the city expect to learn from this study?

- Why does this traffic study require freezing hiring at these companies?

- Does the Mayor's office think that the city has enough car service access, especially in Brooklyn, Queens and Harlem?

- How does this fit with the mayor's economic growth agenda?

- And, I'm hearing a lot of comparisons to NJ governor Chris Christie's politically-motivated "traffic study"—think that's a fair comparison?

I'm writing this morning to publish in the early afternoon, I am available at 603-340-1105 and will also be outside your offices in a bit if you'd rather talk in person.

best,

Tim

--

--

Tim Fernholz

Reporter, Quartz

@timfernholz

+1.347.778.1414

--

--

Tim Fernholz

Reporter, Quartz

@timfernholz

+1.347.778.1414

--

--

Tim Fernholz

Reporter, Quartz

@timfernholz

+1.347.778.1414

From: Rivoli, Dan
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap
Date: Friday, July 03, 2015 10:28:54 AM
Attachments: USBC July 1 2015.pdf

---

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 10:26 AM
To: Rivoli, Dan
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Pls send me full letter.

---

From: Rivoli, Dan [mailto:drivoli@nydailynews.com]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 10:05 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Hey Wiley,

Hope you're rarin' for the holiday weekend.

Need a comment from you for a story I'm running Monday—a black business group called the U.S. Black Chambers sent a letter from its president Ron Busby to Mayor de Blasio critical of the FHV cap. The 10,000 jobs Uber claims will be lost this year from the cap would mean fewer opportunities to make money for minority New Yorkers and outerborough residents.

A sample:

“Your campaign focused on lifting up communities that had been overlooked, particularly in the outer-boroughs. This would be the first time that City government would adopt a policy that would directly kill thousands of jobs for New Yorkers, especially in the communities for which you advocated.”

I wanted to get comment from the mayor's office on this.

Thanks for taking the request,

Dan Rivoli
NY Daily News
Office: 212-210-1548
Cell: 646-283-8094
Twitter: @danrivoli; @nydntransit

-----

U.S. BLACK CHAMBERS, INC.

---

The National Voice of Black Business

**Not affiliated with the National Black Chamber of Commerce*

Honorable Bill de Blasio
Mayor
City of New York
City Hall
New York, NY 10007

July 1, 2015

Dear Mayor de Blasio,

As the national voice of black business, we are writing today to express our concern over a new City Council bill that would result in the loss of 10,000 jobs predominantly in communities of color. Capping the number of new for-hire vehicles (FHVs) has serious ramifications for those looking for good jobs to support their families in New York City.

Your campaign focused on lifting up communities that had been overlooked, particularly in the outer-boroughs. This would be the first time that City government would adopt a policy that would directly kill thousands of jobs for New Yorkers, especially in the communities for which you advocated.

New York City currently faces a 6.1% unemployment rate which is higher than the State's current unemployment rate and the national average. We can't afford to lose more jobs at a time when our city's economy is still struggling to rebound and families in every borough are trying to make ends meet.

In addition to the 10,000 jobs that Uber has vowed to create in the next year and that will be wiped out by this bill, in the immediate term, hundreds of New Yorkers who had signed up to earn a living through Uber would be left without work. Since June 15, 2015, 500 new FHV licenses have been issued, and more than 900 appointments have been made for new vehicles to be registered to the bases that use the Uber app. This policy would erase these new job opportunities.

Uber driver-partners are small businesses owners—earning a good living and supporting their families predominantly outside of Manhattan.

We urge you to take your time to think through any new policy that would put these hard working New Yorkers at risk.

In the Spirit of Success,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "R Busby", is written over a horizontal line.

Ron Busby, Sr.
President/CEO
U.S. Black Chambers, Inc.

From: Rivoli, Dan
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap
Date: Friday, July 03, 2015 6:06:39 PM

---

Yea I saw, thanks for the heads up

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 6:06 PM
To: Rivoli, Dan
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

And you saw that Bhairavi from the Taxi Workers Alliance (which reps Uber drivers) has come out in favor of the study/cap because status quo is forcing drivers to work for less and less pay?

---

From: <Rivoli>, Dan Rivoli <drivoli@nydailynews.com>
Date: Friday, July 3, 2015 at 5:20 PM
To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Gotcha, ok. Thanks for clearing that up

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 5:21 PM
To: Rivoli, Dan
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

On background, a big part of Uber's growth is attracting drivers from other bases to come work for them. And I think it's clear, based on the hearing, that when Uber makes projections about jobs or cars or service, they're simply speaking for their own company. That doesn't necessarily mean those are net-positive jobs for the industry as a whole.

---

From: <Rivoli>, Dan Rivoli <drivoli@nydailynews.com>
Date: Friday, July 3, 2015 at 5:05 PM
To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Thanks Wiley. What do you mean by "prevent them from transferring between bases" – you mean fact that drivers could work with other bases, like how you can be a part timer with Uber and work with, say, XYZ Car Service? How does that relate to getting enough work?

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 4:56 PM
To: Rivoli, Dan
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Here ya go. Attribute to me:

"Respectfully, the claims of 'job losses' are both inaccurate and misleading. The legislation being considered by the Council is driven by the influx of 2,000 new vehicles coming onto our already congested streets every month. That's why this policy applies only to new vehicles, not to new drivers. It would not prevent new drivers from entering this industry, nor would it prevent them from transferring between bases."

---

From: <Norvell>, Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Friday, July 3, 2015 at 4:18 PM
To: Dan Rivoli <drivoli@nydailynews.com>
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

I feel ya. Same here. Give me 15 and I'll get you something.

---

From: <Rivoli>, Dan Rivoli <drivoli@nydailynews.com>
Date: Friday, July 3, 2015 at 4:14 PM
To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Sorry should have mentioned it. Just wanna get the story filed before the holiday. Appreciate it.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 4:14 PM
To: Rivoli, Dan
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Sorry dude—didn't realize you needed today. Will turn something around for you.

---

From: <Rivoli>, Dan Rivoli <drivoli@nydailynews.com>
Date: Friday, July 3, 2015 at 3:03 PM
To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Hey Wiley,

How's the statement coming? Know when it'll land? I'm about ready to file for the weekend.

---

From: Rivoli, Daniel
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 10:29 AM
To: 'Norvell, Wiley'
Subject: RE: comment on letter re: taxi cap

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 10:26 AM

To: Rivoli, Dan
Subject: Re: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Pls send me full letter.

---

From: Rivoli, Dan [<mailto:drivoli@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 03, 2015 10:05 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: comment on letter re: taxi cap

Hey Wiley,

Hope you're rarin' for the holiday weekend.

Need a comment from you for a story I'm running Monday—a black business group called the U.S. Black Chambers sent a letter from its president Ron Busby to Mayor de Blasio critical of the FHV cap. The 10,000 jobs Uber claims will be lost this year from the cap would mean fewer opportunities to make money for minority New Yorkers and outerborough residents.

A sample:

“Your campaign focused on lifting up communities that had been overlooked, particularly in the outer-boroughs. This would be the first time that City government would adopt a policy that would directly kill thousands of jobs for New Yorkers, especially in the communities for which you advocated.”

I wanted to get comment from the mayor's office on this.

Thanks for taking the request,

Dan Rivoli
NY Daily News
Office: 212-210-1548
Cell: 646-283-8094
Twitter: @danrivoli; @nydntransit

-----

This transmission is intended only for the use of the addressee and may contain information that is confidential, privileged and/or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of the information contained herein is strictly unauthorized and prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete this message. Thank you.

***** (NJ)

From: Gastel, Scott
To: Allan J. Fromberg
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FW: Free-market academic backs Uber against de Blasio
Date: Tuesday, July 07, 2015 12:44:18 PM

---

---

From: Nicole Gelinias [<mailto:ngelinias@city-journal.org>]
Sent: Tuesday, July 07, 2015 12:43 PM
To: Gastel, Scott
Subject: FW: Free-market academic backs Uber against de Blasio

Do you have #s on the # of FHV trips and taxi trips this year vs. last and, say, 2011? I am trying to add some actual facts to this debate ... thanks. 646 839 3353. Writing for Thursday Post – deadline early tomorrow. I asked the TLC, too, but as you guys are doing the traffic side, figured you should know, too ...

From: Capital Pro [<mailto:info@capitalnewyork.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, July 07, 2015 11:57 AM
To: Nicole Gelinias
Subject: Free-market academic backs Uber against de Blasio

Free-market academic backs Uber against de Blasio

By Dana Rubinstein

11:56 a.m. | Jul. 7, 2015

A Harvard economics professor has issued a statement in support of Uber in its fight with the de Blasio administration and the City Council over a bill to cap the growth of car services in the city until their impact on traffic can be studied.

In a statement he provided to Uber, and which Uber provided to Capital, Harvard University economics professor Ed Glaeser said, “It is terrible that so many New Yorkers—rich and poor alike—waste so many hours trapped in traffic. But the right answer for urban congestion is not to target a single flow of urban mobility—the users and drivers of Uber. New York needs to follow London and impose a more widespread congestion charge, especially on peak hour driving in Manhattan south of 96th Street.”

Glaser is affiliated with the right-leaning Manhattan Institute and has been known to inveigh against “overzealous local regulators.”

Last week, the Council held a contentious hearing on a de Blasio-backed bill that would impose a temporary cap on the growth of car services in New York City so that it can study their rapid growth and their impact on worsening gridlock.

The population of for-hire cars in New York City has grown in lockstep with Uber, which now has more vehicles affiliated with it in New York City than the number of yellow taxis on the streets.

In recent years, even as the total number of vehicles entering Manhattan has declined, traffic speeds have decreased.

City officials believe it's possible that for-hire vehicles are the reason.

"Opinions and ideas around the issue of congestion abound, and it's only empirical data that will ultimately determine which ones are right for the unique characteristics of New York City," said Taxi and Limousine Commission spokesman Allan Fromberg. "One key answer will be to the counter-intuitive question of why car volumes entering Manhattan have decreased, while congestion has increased, coinciding with the explosive growth in the For-Hire Vehicle sector."

Congestion, while apparently worsening, is not a new issue for New York City. The Bloomberg administration tried, and failed, to implement congestion pricing in New York City. De Blasio, then a councilman from Park Slope, opposed the effort.

In recent years, former city traffic commissioner (Gridlock) Sam Schwartz has been promoting a more borough-friendly version of that congestion pricing plan. De Blasio has yet to take a position on it.

Glaeser argued for a more global approach to congestion.

"In the old Soviet Union, grocery stores sold eggs and butter at prices that were too low," Glaeser said in his statement. "The result was long-lines and stock-outs. New York gives away access to its valuable city streets for free. The result is the urban equivalent of stock-outs: traffic jams and gridlock."

For its part, Uber, which believes itself the target of the proposed rules, has responded with outrage and what one councilman described as "sarcasm."

It has targeted one of the legislation's sponsors, Steve Levin, in email petitions and Facebook ads. It has sent print mailers to residents in Sunnyside, Queens.

Uber has also solicited support from academics, including Glaeser, as well as Carlo Ratti and Paolo Santi of the MIT Senseable City Laboratory, who recently authored a study about car utilization and sent along an Uber-friendly missive of their own.

"[I]nnovative transportation applications that make extensive use of trip sharing can substantially contribute to reduce traffic congestion and pollution in the city of New York," they said.

Glaeser has received no funding from Uber, according to the company. Uber is exploring a potential partnership with MIT in the future.

The de Blasio administration's position also has the support of taxi drivers, who worry that the growth in the number of for-hire vehicles has led to more drivers competing against each other for an ever-shrinking piece of the pie.

You've received this Capital Pro content because your customized settings include: City Hall (all articles) or one of the following City Hall topics: Bill de Blasio, infrastructure, transportation.

To change your alert settings, please go to your Pro settings page.

This email alert has been sent for the exclusive use of Capital Pro subscriber ngelinas@manhattan-institute.org. Forwarding or reproducing the alert without the express, written permission of Capital Pro is a violation of federal law and the Capital Pro subscription agreement. Copyright © 2015 by CapNY LLC. To subscribe to Pro, please go to <http://www.capitalnewyork.com/page/why-pro>.

If you believe this has been sent to you in error, please safely unsubscribe.

From: Fitzsimmons, Emma
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Hey
Date: Friday, July 10, 2015 10:42:11 AM

---

Ah, thank you. I'll reach out to him and yes, we saw Charlie's piece. This isn't for tomorrow's paper - I'll remind Fleg to give you a call.

On Fri, Jul 10, 2015 at 10:31 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

That was andrew raseij from ny tech meetup (prob the biggest voice on nyc tech). Also, did you see charlie komanoff's piece this week? He's probably the most respected traffic analyst in nyc. Is this for tomorrow's paper? Fleg hasn't returned my calls yet.

---

From: Fitzsimmons, Emma mailto:[emma.fitzsimmons@nytimes.com]
Sent: Friday, July 10, 2015 10:25 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Hey

Good morning,

Hope all is well - happy parade day. You may have already talked to Flegenheimer, but we're working on a story about the FHV limitations and trying to reach out to a bunch of different voices.

After the initial call, you mentioned someone who had supported Uber over the app rules, but was not supporting them on this. Could you remind me who that was? I can't find it in my notes. Is there anyone else we should be reaching out to?

Thanks,

--

Emma Graves Fitzsimmons
The New York Times
212-556-1442

--

Emma Graves Fitzsimmons
The New York Times
212-556-1442

From: Greenman, Joshua
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: ok, here we go.
Date: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:42:52 PM
Attachments: uber-bdb-edited.docx

---

Back to you with changes throughout and some comments in all caps. work off this one, please.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:13 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: ok, here we go.

Possible. Asking now.

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:13 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: ok, here we go.

He got all that online. Online can run you in full.
May be another way to run at closer to length if you're pushing hard for that, but only if you wait til Sunday. Not saying yes, but would have to explore. Is that an option on your end?
Could you wait til Sunday?

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:11 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: ok, here we go.

Didn't Wayne Barrett just get 3,700 words? Can you run this in the body of the paper instead of on the op-ed page? Assume you'll have Uber news running alongside tomorrow.

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:10 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: ok, here we go.

FYI, it's 935 words. Will go through now. For print, we'll have to trim.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:09 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: ok, here we go.

I'm at 646-422-9614.

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive.

And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: for-hire vehicle companies like Uber. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year—the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need any oversight. IS THAT FAIR? I MEAN, THEY'RE ALREADY UNDER MANY TLC RULES. BUT I'LL LET YOU MAKE ASSERTION.

ANY CHANCE HE'LL ADD A COMMENT ABOUT THE 'DE BLASIO' ON THE APP? WOULD ADD SOME LIVELINESS. IF NOT, OKAY.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers <http://www.latimes.com/business/la-fi-uber-suspended-20150715-story.html>.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. In France, cab drivers went on strike and Uber executives were actually taken into police custody for "inciting undeclared work." ADDED THIS BECAUSE WAS REALLY HIGH PROFILE. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicle sector has been only lightly regulated for decades because it was a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than almost anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a City. DOESN'T EXPLAIN LENGTH OR LOGIC OF THE PAUSE. PLEASE ELABORATE. BILL AUTHORS SAY YOU NEED TO FREEZE THE MARKET IN ORDER TO DO AN ACCURATE STUDY.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles seemingly growing faster than passenger demand, that drivers are fighting for slices of a finite pie by concentrating their efforts in areas already so choked with congestion. DO YOU HAVE EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT THIS? They are working harder to achieve the same (or less) money than before this explosive growth changed the landscape. BROKE THIS INTO TWO SENTENCES BECAUSE WAS WAY TOO LONG.

While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living. NOT CHALLENGING THIS SENTENCE, BUT: DOES THE CITY DO ANYTHING TO ENSURE THAT CAB DRIVERS EARN A DECENT LIVING?

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than taxis on our streets PLEASE CONFIRM THIS IS CORRECT. AND IS IT TAXIS OR YELLOW TAXIS? — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like taxi trips currently do. ADD A DETAIL HERE ON THE 50-CENT PER RIDE CHARGE; MOST READERS WON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT IT. The MTA is facing an over $15 billion capital shortfall THROUGH WHAT YEAR [AND SHORTFALL IS ALL CAPITAL, YES? OR IS THERE AN OPERATING SHORTFALL YOU CAN CITE TOO?], and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding. We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. CAN YOU ADD A FACT TO SUPPORT THIS? TRAFFIC SPEEDS? We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around.

Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York City.

From: Greenman, Joshua
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached
Date: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:41:14 PM

---

It's the same, with a few phrases tweaked for grammatical reasons. Sorry, didn't mark. You might use document compare to check.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:35 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Is this exactly what I sent you or are their cuts/edits?

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:24 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Here's where we are:

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive. And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: for-hire vehicle companies like Uber. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year—the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need more oversight.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than almost anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'd ensure that current service remains in place—and can even grow modestly—but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited.

There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders — something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core. While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding. We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around. Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:13 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: edits highlighted in attached

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----
This transmission is intended only for the use of the addressee and may contain information that is confidential, privileged and/or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of the information contained herein is strictly unauthorized and prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete

From: Greenman, Joshua
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached
Date: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:53:40 PM

---

it says Uber is operating more cars than “almost anyone else.” We’re taking out the “almost.” Okay with you?

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:35 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Is this exactly what I sent you or are their cuts/edits?

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:24 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Here's where we are:

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We’re here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive. And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we’re working to do all those things in an industry that’s changing fast: for-hire vehicle companies like Uber. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we’re facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year—the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn’t need more oversight.

This isn’t just a New York City issue. In Uber’s home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber’s workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what’s at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than almost anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'd ensure that current service remains in place—and can even grow modestly—but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited.

There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders — something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core. While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding. We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around. Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:13 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: edits highlighted in attached

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----
This transmission is intended only for the use of the addressee and may contain information that is confidential, privileged and/or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of the information contained herein is strictly unauthorized and prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete

From: Greenman, Joshua
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached
Date: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:45:15 PM

---

Thanks. Michael Aronson is my source, so I know I'm solid.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:32 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Allan fact checking now.

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:23 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Numbers going in sidebar. Give a look to see if anything in piece needs adjusting.

Total yellow cabs: 13,587
Total livery and black cars: 64,500
Of these 64,500, number that are affiliated with Uber: 20,278
Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab
Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car
Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020
Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:02 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

This works. Also, removing the 'almost' works too.

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:58 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

And one other sentence fix in second graph, because "an industry that's changing fast" didn't exactly track with "companies like Uber." We changed to:

And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: the for-hire vehicle sector being reshaped by fast-growing companies like Uber.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:35 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Is this exactly what I sent you or are their cuts/edits?

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:24 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Here's where we are:

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive. And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: for-hire vehicle companies like Uber. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year—the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need more oversight.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than almost anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'd ensure that current service remains in place—and can even grow modestly—but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited.

There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders — something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core. While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding. We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around. Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:13 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: edits highlighted in attached

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----
This transmission is intended only for the use of the addressee and may contain information that is confidential, privileged and/or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of the information contained herein is strictly unauthorized and prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete this message. Thank you.

*****
(NJ)

-----
This transmission is intended only for the use of the addressee and may contain information that is confidential, privileged and/or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are

From: Greenman, Joshua
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached
Date: Friday, July 17, 2015 6:05:11 PM

---

Sure.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 6:03 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: Re: edits highlighted in attached

How's 11am?

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 05:54 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

We will post tomorrow. Anytime okay with you? And news story (and editorial about this) in Sunday's paper, along with full piece.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:32 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Allan fact checking now.

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:23 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Numbers going in sidebar. Give a look to see if anything in piece needs adjusting.

Total yellow cabs: 13,587
Total livery and black cars: 64,500
Of these 64,500, number that are affiliated with Uber: 20,278
Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab
Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car
Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020
Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 5:02 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

This works. Also, removing the 'almost' works too.

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:58 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

And one other sentence fix in second graph, because “an industry that’s changing fast” didn’t exactly track with “companies like Uber.” We changed to:

And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we’re working to do all those things in an industry that’s changing fast: the for-hire vehicle sector being reshaped by fast-growing companies like Uber.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:35 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Is this exactly what I sent you or are their cuts/edits?

---

From: Greenman, Joshua [<mailto:jGreenman@nydailynews.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:24 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: edits highlighted in attached

Here’s where we are:

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We’re here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive.

And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we’re working to do all those things in an industry that’s changing fast: for-hire vehicle companies like Uber. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we’re facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year—the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn’t need more oversight.

This isn’t just a New York City issue. In Uber’s home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber’s workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than almost anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'd ensure that current service remains in place—and can even grow modestly—but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited.

There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders — something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core. While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding. We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around. Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 4:13 PM
To: Greenman, Joshua
Subject: edits highlighted in attached

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----

have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete this message. Thank you.

***** (NJ)

From: Tangel, Andrew
To: Norvell, Wiley; "Gastel, Scott"
Cc: "Tsang, Bonny"; "Chin, Gloria"; "Bayona, Jose"
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal
Date: Friday, July 17, 2015 6:38:12 PM

---

Thanks much. Will digest this and get back with you. Keep in touch on all things FHV/Uber (along with our reporters in City Hall of course).

-----

Andrew Tangel
Reporter
The Wall Street Journal
212-416-3715 (o)
917-743-0789 (c)
andrew.tangel@wsj.com
Twitter: @AndrewTangel

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 6:33 PM
To: 'Gastel, Scott'; Tangel, Andrew
Cc: 'Tsang, Bonny'; 'Chin, Gloria'; 'Bayona, Jose'
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Sorry for delay dude:

TRAFFIC SPEEDS

On record: Speeds last year were the slowest since data collection began the City began measuring taxi GPS data, and coincided—paradoxically—with a drop in vehicles entering the Manhattan core. These two contradictory phenomena, coupled with the unprecedented increase in for-hire-vehicles, is what is driving our belief that a thorough analysis is needed here. The functioning of our transportation system is a vital priority for us, as regulators. But we are ensuring that during the evaluation period there will continue to be more and better for-hire service than at any time in our history, with modest growth continuing to serve New Yorkers.

On background: All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year.

For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph compared to 8.29 mph in 2014 (a 3.8% drop) and 9.18 mph in 2010 (a 13.1% drop).

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

***As of May 2015, Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

BUS SPEEDS

Between November 2013 and November 2014, average MTA bus running speeds in Manhattan south of 96th Street dropped by 5% during the evening rush (4-6pm). [Bus speeds in Manhattan south of 96th Street fell by 3% for the 7 am-7 pm period.] All MTA buses are equipped with GPS devices, which power the MTA’s BusTime system. DOT receives BusTime data from the MTA in order to identify ways to improve bus speed and reliability on slow routes.

BUS RIDERSHIP

Between 2013 and 2014, local bus ridership in Manhattan declined by 6%. This decrease is part of an overall trend in declining bus ridership in New York, but the decreases have been most significant in Manhattan. [Between 2009 and 2014, bus ridership in Manhattan has dropped 16%]

% Change in bus ridership by Borough

	2013-2014 change	2009-2014 change
Brooklyn Local	-2%	-12%
Bronx Local	1%	2%
Manhattan Local	-6%	-16%
Queens Local	-2%	-1%
Staten Is Local	2%	1%
Express Total	-2%	-3%
Citywide	-1%
Outer Boros Only	0%

-
-

TRAFFIC VOLUMES

A preliminary review shows that traffic volumes into the CBD have been flat or slightly down between 2010 and 2014, indicating that external traffic into the CBD is not a primary factor in increasing traffic in the Manhattan CBD. [Preliminary data indicate that average daily traffic into the Manhattan CBD in 2014 is at its lowest level since 2001.]

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

% change 2010-2014 Mn CBD traffic: -6.0%

% change 2010-2014 All Mn crossings: -3.9%

---

From: Norvell, Wiley
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:58 PM
To: 'Gastel, Scott'; 'Tangel, Andrew'
Cc: Tsang, Bonny; Chin, Gloria; Bayona, Jose
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Yup. I have some/most of this to share.

---

From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:58 PM
To: 'Tangel, Andrew'
Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Tsang, Bonny; Chin, Gloria; Bayona, Jose
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Adding Wiley here. We'll get you a reply.

---

From: Tangel, Andrew [<mailto:Andrew.Tangel@wsj.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:27 PM
To: Gastel, Scott
Subject: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Scott,

We are going to be covering the city's proposed cap on for-hire vehicles early next week. Would the DOT be able to share with us DOT data showing speeds (all traffic and MTA buses) and vehicle trips into the CBD over, say, the last five years? Any analysis produced by the DOT would be helpful too.

I'm available if you can talk through this.

Thanks,
Andrew

=====

Andrew Tangel
Reporter
The Wall Street Journal
212-416-3715 (o)
917-743-0789 (c)
andrew.tangel@wsj.com
Twitter: @AndrewTangel

From: Vikas Bajaj
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: the piece
Date: Saturday, July 18, 2015 8:03:27 AM

---

Yes, I am sure this is not the last time we write about this. Happy to chat further as this moves ahead.

> On Jul 17, 2015, at 10:33 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
>
> We're disappointed, of course.
>
> I'd point out that Congestion Pricing (which London has, and which has not solved its FHV problem) only targets in-bound CBD traffic, which isn't the source of our recent congestion, as the data we provided indicates.
>
> And, given all the hysteria, we had hoped the NYT would sound a sober note about the apocalyptic campaign Uber is running—which they've run in other jurisdictions where they've faced regulation, and is especially distasteful.
>
> In any case, this will probably be one of the defining issues of our transportation system for the next decade, so I hope we have more than one bite at the apple with you here. Let's continue the discussion!
>
> Best,
> Wiley

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: Hinton, Karen
Subject: Op-ed
Date: Saturday, July 18, 2015 8:27:22 AM

---

ICYMI: Mayor de Blasio—A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

The op-ed below from Mayor de Blasio was just published on the Daily News' website and will run in print in Sunday's edition.

LINK TKTK

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers
by Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive. And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: the for-hire vehicle sector being reshaped by fast-growing companies like Uber.

More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year — the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need more oversight.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'll ensure that current service remains in place - and can even grow modestly — but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited. There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders - something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core. While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding.

We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around. Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York.

From: Hinton, Karen
To: Hinton, Karen
Subject: Mayor de Blasio - A Fair Ride for New Yorkers
Date: Saturday, July 18, 2015 11:23:10 AM

---

ICYMI: Mayor de Blasio—A Fair Ride for New Yorkers

The op-ed below from Mayor de Blasio was just published on the Daily News' website and will run in print in Sunday's edition.

<http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/bill-de-blasio-fair-ride-new-yorkers-article-1.2296041>

A Fair Ride for New Yorkers
by Mayor Bill de Blasio

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive. And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: the for-hire vehicle sector being reshaped by fast-growing companies like Uber.

More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year — the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need more oversight.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'll ensure that current service remains in place - and can even grow modestly — but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited. There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders - something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core. While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding.

We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around. Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

De Blasio is mayor of New York.

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: Hagelgans, Andrea; Anderson, Michael \(TLC\); Furrey, Charles \(TLC\); Garber, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Genser, Emily \(TLC\); Goddin, Daniel \(TLC\); Goldapper, Ira \(TLC\); Singleton, Jessica; Grunfeld, Jeffrey S. \(TLC\); Kurland, Ben \(TLC\); Labadie, Madeline \(TLC\); Murray, Edward \(TLC\); Paulucci, Theadora \(TLC\); Rausen, Joanne \(TLC\); Roth, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Spitalnick, Amy \(OMB\); Sukonnik, Marina \(TLC\); Vais, Izabella \(TLC\); Valdivia, Midori \(TLC\); Walsh, Keith \(TLC\); "billheinzen@gmail.com"; Wilson, Chris \(TLC\); Cohen, Sherry \(TLC\); Davidson, Cindi \(TLC\); Miller, Dawn \(TLC\); Williams, Dominic; Eluto, Sherryl \(TLC\); Fox, Aileen \(TLC\); Freud, Conan \(TLC\); Gordon, Greg \(TLC\); Grindley, Martin \(TLC\); Joshi, Meera \(TLC\); Joyce, Patrick \(TLC\); Ahlers, Kate O'Brien \(Law\); Klahr, David \(TLC\); Leyva, Erika \(TLC\); Goldberg-Cahn, Michelle \(Law\); Moore, Elaine \(TLC\); Paolucci, Nicholas \(Law\); Quintero, Omar \(TLC\); Rojas, Carmen \(TLC\); Royter, Serge \(TLC\); Scanlon, Raymond \(TLC\); Switzer, Brian \(TLC\); Timmeny, Daniel \(TLC\); Wanttaja, Ryan \(TLC\); Weiss, Gary \(TLC\); Norvell, Wiley
Subject: A Fair Ride
Date: Saturday, July 18, 2015 1:18:52 PM

---

Opinion

Bill de Blasio: A fair ride for New Yorkers
BILL DE BLASIO
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS Today, 11:00 AM ET
NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive.

And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: the for-hire vehicle sector being reshaped by fast-growing companies like Uber.

More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year — the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need more oversight.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'll ensure that current service remains in place — and can even grow modestly — but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited.

There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders — something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core.

While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding.

We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around.

Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: Hagelgans, Andrea; Anderson, Michael \(TLC\); Furrey, Charles \(TLC\); Garber, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Genser, Emily \(TLC\); Goddin, Daniel \(TLC\); Goldapper, Ira \(TLC\); Singleton, Jessica; Grunfeld, Jeffrey S. \(TLC\); Kurland, Ben \(TLC\); Labadie, Madeline \(TLC\); Murray, Edward \(TLC\); Paulucci, Theadora \(TLC\); Rausen, Joanne \(TLC\); Roth, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Spitalnick, Amy \(OMB\); Sukonnik, Marina \(TLC\); Vais, Izabella \(TLC\); Valdivia, Midori \(TLC\); Walsh, Keith \(TLC\); "billheinzen@gmail.com"; Wilson, Chris \(TLC\); Cohen, Sherry \(TLC\); Davidson, Cindi \(TLC\); Miller, Dawn \(TLC\); Williams, Dominic; Eluto, Sherryl \(TLC\); Fox, Aileen \(TLC\); Freud, Conan \(TLC\); Gordon, Greg \(TLC\); Grindley, Martin \(TLC\); Joshi, Meera \(TLC\); Joyce, Patrick \(TLC\); Ahlers, Kate O'Brien \(Law\); Klahr, David \(TLC\); Leyva, Erika \(TLC\); Goldberg-Cahn, Michelle \(Law\); Moore, Elaine \(TLC\); Paolucci, Nicholas \(Law\); Quintero, Omar \(TLC\); Rojas, Carmen \(TLC\); Royter, Serge \(TLC\); Scanlon, Raymond \(TLC\); Switzer, Brian \(TLC\); Timmeny, Daniel \(TLC\); Wanttaja, Ryan \(TLC\); Weiss, Gary \(TLC\); Norvell, Wiley
Subject: NYTWA/Coalition to Rally for Council Bills
Date: Sunday, July 19, 2015 8:41:16 PM

---

Media Advisory

Taxi Workers and Allies Rally and Press Conference for FHV Cap

Media Advisory for Monday, July 20th, 1 p.m.

PROGRESSIVE GROUPS, COMMUNITIES OF COLOR, TAXI WORKERS ANNOUNCE COALITION TO COMBAT UBER'S CYNICAL, DIVISIVE, FALSE "RACE STRATEGY"

Coalition to target $40 billion Uber for exploiting workers, cheating customers, worsening traffic, and shirking responsibilities to disabled riders, MTA users

WHO: Councilman Ydanis Rodríguez, New York Taxi Workers Alliance, International Association of Machinists, Central Labor Council, Transport Workers Local 100, New York Communities for Change, The Black Institute, Make the Road New York, workers, advocates and supporters.

WHAT: A press conference on Uber's destructive economic model and the self-serving race strategy and fictitious jobs claims used to promote it. Ubernomics recasts taxi driving income as supplemental income, justifying low-wages and relentless competition between drivers on the streets. All the while, profits keep rising for Uber's billionaire hedge fund backers. Taxi drivers and their allies are calling on the City Council to pass common-sense regulation to temporarily limit the issuance of new FHV (for-hire-vehicle) permits while an environmental impact study of the current 66,000 black cars – 66% more than just four years ago - is conducted.

WHERE: City Hall steps, Lower Manhattan.

WHEN: Monday July 20, 1 p.m.

WHY: Highly paid lobbyists – Uber has 250 nationwide, or one-third more than Wal-Mart - are leading its charge against a bill that would temporarily limit the number of black car and livery vehicle licenses by falsely claiming that it would hurt communities of color and leave the outer boroughs underserved. 72% of Uber trips are in the Manhattan's central business district.

Currently, over 30,000 yellow taxi and Uber drivers – 94% immigrant - are just scraping by, all competing in congested streets for limited fares. If allowed to go unchecked, Uber would sign-up 10,000 more workers – underpaid at other full-time jobs - to compete for the scraps, earning take home pay lower than employees at McDonald's or Wal-Mart, as congestion and competition would put all drivers in the race to the bottom.

Ubernomics is not the answer to underemployment; uplifting low-wage workers and protecting full-time work is the only way forward.

From: Allan J. Fromberg
To: natalie.shutler@nytimes.com
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf
Date: Sunday, July 19, 2015 11:28:32 PM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

I thought this might be helpful as well.

-- Allan J. Fromberg

Sent from my iPad

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Emergency Services

Quality of Life

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHVs and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHVs already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive During While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Allan J. Fromberg
To: natalie.shutler@nytimes.com
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FHV-Growth-Limitation-Bill-Briefer.pdf
Date: Sunday, July 19, 2015 11:29:34 PM
Attachments: FHV-Growth-Limitation-Bill-Briefer.pdf

---

Sorry, this one, too!

Sent from my iPad

Proposed Bills to Limit and Study the Growth of For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

What the Bills Propose:

The TLC may only issue a limited quantity of new For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) licenses until (1) DOT, DEP and TLC complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first). The limitation depends for each base on the number of affiliated vehicles they had as of June 15, 2015:

Bases with:

- 500+ vehicles: may grow by 1%
- 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow by 5%
- 19 or fewer: may grow by 15%

During the growth limitation period TLC, DOT, DEP and other agencies will extensively study the impact of taxi and FHV industry growth on traffic congestion, air quality, noise, and public health. Once completed, the TLC will submit recommendations for mitigating any impacts identified in those areas to the Speaker and the Mayor. In accordance with State law, this growth limitation would not apply to green Boro Taxi vehicles.

Why it's necessary now: Unlike other TLC-regulated industries, there is no growth control mechanism in the FHV industry. Recent growth in this industry has been tremendous, and concentrated in the Manhattan Core, which could be a significant factor in (1) traffic congestion/declining vehicle speeds, and (2) air quality. These affect New Yorkers' quality of life, the ability for businesses to thrive, public health and emergency services.

Growth in the FHV industry in recent years has been tremendous.

- In the last two years, approximately 20,000 new FHVs have been added to NYC's traffic dynamic.
- In June 2011, there were 38,600 FHVs. Today, there are nearly 63,000 FHVs, a 63% increase.

If things remain as they are, rapid growth in the FHV industry is expected to continue.

- In each month of FY2015, the TLC has issued approximately 2,000 new FHV licenses.
- There are no signs that this level of growth will slow.

New Data Show Manhattan-Centric Growth.

- New FHV trip records show that most new FHV activity — 72% of pickups — is taking place in the already-congested Manhattan Core.

Manhattan Traffic Speeds Have Been Declining.

- Between 2010 and 2014, average Manhattan traffic speeds have declined significantly, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph (-8.98%). Bus speeds are also showing declines. During rush hour (4-6pm) they were 5% lower in Nov. 2014 than they were in Nov. 2013. Overall daytime (7am – 7pm) bus speeds were down 3% over this period.
- Preliminarily there are indications that there is a correlation between FHV fleet growth and congestion. The study will help us better understand whether and how FHVs are impacting congestion and related problems.

It is time to “tap the brakes” while we look at the impact this growth is having on the City.

- Before growth continues at this rapid pace, and many more individuals invest in putting new FHV's on the road, logic and prudent policy suggest that we study the impacts so that we can develop an informed policy going forward.

Public and Industry Impacts of the Growth Limitation:

- Public: Between the 13,587 taxis and 63,000 FHV's, there is an ample pool of vehicles available to meet demand.
- Existing FHV Owners/Drivers: Existing FHV licenses could still be renewed, and FHV license holders would still have the ability to maximize their opportunities by switching vehicles and bases. They may also take calls from any licensed base of the same business class, with some drivers even potentially benefiting from a time-out in seeing additional competing vehicles added to the fleet.
- New and Existing Bases: The growth limitation would not limit a base from affiliating as many existing vehicles as wish to work with it. Bases can also grow by giving each affiliated vehicle more calls (which would be welcome), or by sending extra calls to other bases' vehicles. New bases can form by finding ten existing vehicles that wish to affiliate with them.
- New Drivers: They could join the industry by joining a base with vehicle capacity in its temporary growth cap, driving a secondary shift on an existing vehicle, or signing on with a base with existing vehicles needing drivers.

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Ben Popper"
Subject: RE: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 10:59:49 AM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

Attached, and some additional material below:

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

***As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY DATA Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

On background:

All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year.

For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph (this is the figure you'd use if you were comparing fiscal years).

As part of the upcoming study, the City will analyze the role that increased traffic from the Bronx, Brooklyn, Upper Manhattan, Queens, and New Jersey may be playing in increased congestion in the Manhattan CBD. A preliminary review shows that traffic volumes into the CBD have been flat or slightly down between 2010 and 2014, indicating that external traffic into the CBD is not a primary factor in increasing traffic in the Manhattan CBD. [Preliminary data indicate that average daily traffic into the Manhattan CBD in 2014 is at its lowest level since 2001.]

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

% change 2010-2014 Mn CBD traffic: -6.0%

% change 2010-2014 All Mn crossings: -3.9%

From: Ben Popper [mailto:ben.popper@theverge.com]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 10:56 AM

To: Norvell, Wiley

Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Thanks for chatting this morning.

Don't forget to send over that data and details on the proposed cap.

Cheers, Ben

On Mon, Jul 20, 2015 at 9:56 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey Ben—you can reach me at 646-422-9614. Happy to discuss.

Best,

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
\(212\) 788-2958
\(917\) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

Begin forwarded message:

From: Ben Popper <ben.popper@theverge.com>
Date: July 20, 2015 at 9:54:42 AM EDT
To: <NGrybauskas@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Hello Mrs. Grybauskas - I'm going to be covering the City Hall vote tomorrow on a proposed cap to the number of Uber drivers who can operate in NYC. I would love to chat today to get context on background and perhaps a quote for the record. Can you assist, or connect me with a communications person who can?

Thanks, Ben

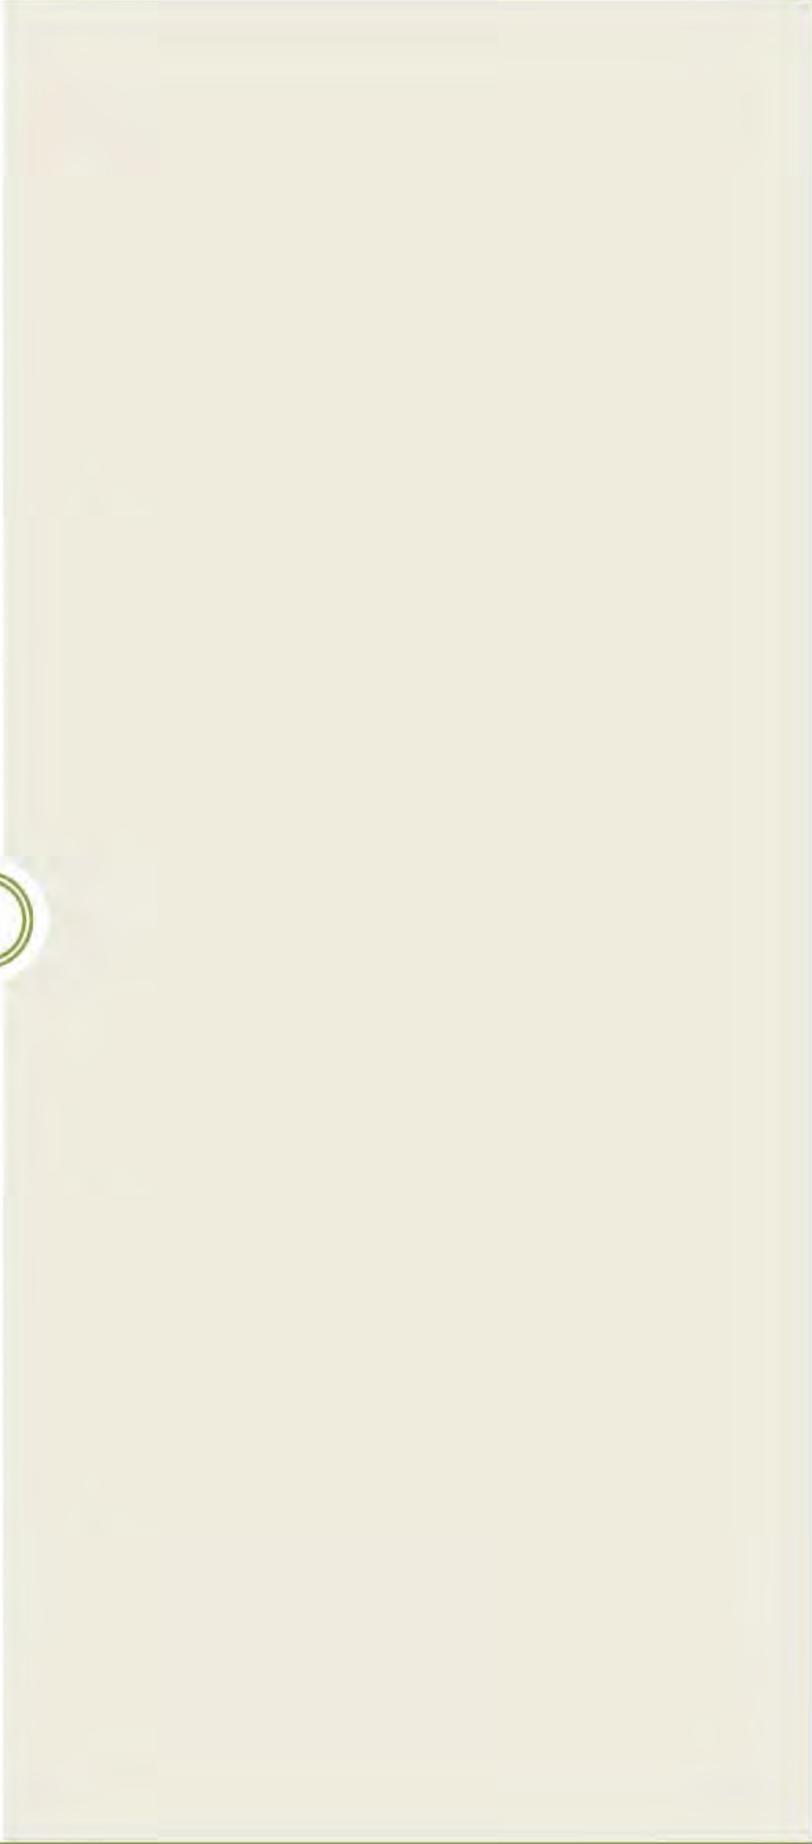

--

Ben Popper
Business Editor - The Verge

--

Ben Popper
Business Editor - The Verge

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

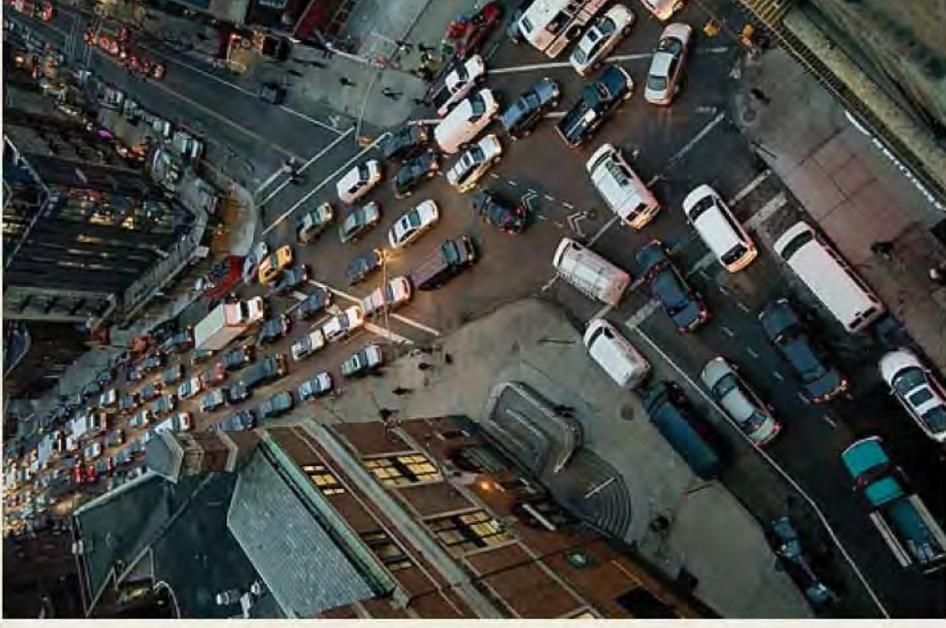

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: Adams, Marti
Subject: For MSNBC
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 11:01:23 AM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

Explanation of the bills attached.

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

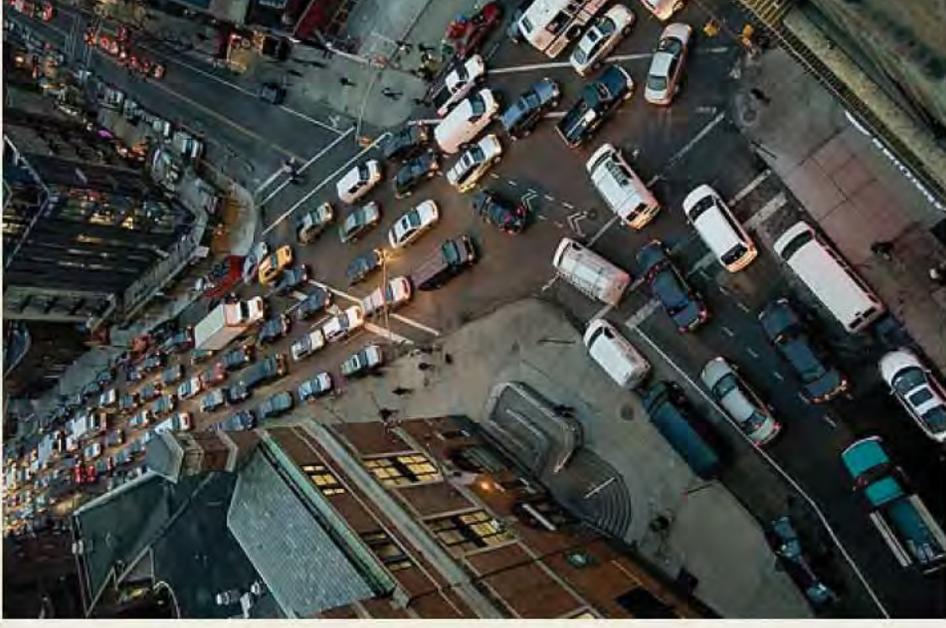

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Clips
Subject: GOTHAMIST: De Blasio Wants To Save NYC From An Uber "Flood"
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 11:52:05 AM

---

De Blasio Wants To Save NYC From An Uber "Flood"

GOTHAMIST – Emma Whitford

http://gothamist.com/2015/07/20/uber\_deblasio\_nyc.php

The City Council could vote to put a temporary cap on Uber's expansion as soon as Thursday, and yesterday the Daily News published an op-ed by Mayor de Blasio explaining why he supports the cap: to prevent Uber from "flooding" the streets of New York.

"Our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace," he wrote, running through a bulleted list of concerns: Unregulated Uber would mean more competition between drivers, and more surge pricing, he argued. More traffic, more carbon emissions, and more vehicles without mandatory wheelchair accessibility (50% of yellow cabs will be wheelchair accessible by 2020).

Under the proposed legislation, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and August 2016. The DOT and TLC argue that the cap, which would apply to all for hire vehicles, is necessary in order to conduct an accurate study of the FHV industry's environmental impact (their ranks have jumped 66% since 2011).

Uber counters that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons. (Bloomberg News reports that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.") Uber also says that the cap would force them to turn away 10,000 potential Uber drivers in the next year. This number is based off of Uber's calculation that they must hire hundreds of new drivers each week, to keep up with the 25,000 New Yorkers who join the platform on a weekly basis.

Yesterday's op-ed is the most the mayor has spoken up on the issue since legislation was proposed in June. Uber, meanwhile, has been explicit in targeting the mayor. Last Thursday, the app was updated in New York to include a "De Blasio" tab, which allows users to preview what wait times will look like (spoiler: very long), if the temporary cap legislation passes.

On Wednesday, the company released a TV spot featuring Uber drivers. "I make more money, and get to spend more time with my family," says one. "When the mayor came in town, he promised to provide jobs," adds another.

Meanwhile, many have countered that "job" is a generous definition for what Uber provides to its drivers. "There are serious questions about how Uber treats its customers, its workers," said Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris in an e-mail to Uber supporters on Friday, to which Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer responded, point-for-point in an open letter.)

At a City Council hearing on the legislation last month, TLC commissioner Meera Joshi said dryly, "'Jobs' is a funny term. Jobs I associate with healthcare, vacation time, and pensions. These are streams of income, but they are not jobs."

On Tuesday, the company hosted a press conference at Sylvia's Restaurant in Harlem, with black community leaders who have expressed opposition to the cap, on the grounds that it will destroy those 10,000 jobs.

"Uber's latest claim that the latest legislation to cap its growth will 'affect communities of color' is appalling," said Jonathan Westin, Executive Director of New York Communities for Change, in a statement on Friday. "While Uber's CEO joins the billionaire's list, workers get scraps: low-wages, no health insurance, no unemployment benefits, and no job security."

Later today, Transportation Committee Chair Ydanis Rodriguez will reportedly rally against Uber at City Hall, with members of the New York Taxiworkers Alliance and the Transport Workers Union Local 100. Both of these groups are particularly concerned about increased competition for riders as the FHV industry continues to grow. (Bloomberg also notes that Rodriguez accepted over $8,500 in donations from the taxi industry in 2013.)

From: Tangel, Andrew
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:10:36 PM

---

Wiley, in this chart, what does the first “average speed” column signify vs. the second “average speed column? The former being the average speed during the fiscal year noted, the latter being the average speed in the calendar year?

And the average speeds only refer to the daytime traffic speeds in the Manhattan as measured by yellow taxi GPS data, correct?

Thanks,
Andrew

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

***As of May 2015, Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

=====

Andrew Tangel
Reporter
The Wall Street Journal
212-416-3715 (o)
917-743-0789 (c)
andrew.tangel@wsj.com
Twitter: @AndrewTangel

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 6:33 PM
To: 'Gastel, Scott'; Tangel, Andrew
Cc: 'Tsang, Bonny'; 'Chin, Gloria'; 'Bayona, Jose'
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Sorry for delay dude:

TRAFFIC SPEEDS

On record: Speeds last year were the slowest since data collection began the City began measuring taxi GPS data, and coincided—paradoxically--with a drop in vehicles entering the Manhattan core. These two contradictory phenomena, coupled with the unprecedented increase in for-hire-vehicles, is what is driving our belief that a thorough analysis is needed here. The functioning of our transportation system is a vital priority for us, as regulators. But we are ensuring that during the evaluation period there will continue to be more and better for-hire service than at any time in our history, with modest growth continuing to serve New Yorkers.

On background: All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year.

For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph compared to 8.29 mph in 2014 (a 3.8% drop) and 9.18 mph in 2010 (a 13.1% drop).

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

***As of May 2015, Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

BUS SPEEDS

Between November 2013 and November 2014, average MTA bus running speeds in Manhattan south of 96th Street dropped by 5% during the evening rush (4-6pm). [Bus speeds in Manhattan south of 96th Street fell by 3% for the 7 am-7 pm period.] All MTA buses are equipped with GPS devices, which power the MTA's BusTime system. DOT receives BusTime data from the MTA in order to identify ways to improve bus speed and reliability on slow routes.

BUS RIDERSHIP

Between 2013 and 2014, local bus ridership in Manhattan declined by 6%. This decrease is part of an overall trend in declining bus ridership in New York, but the decreases have been most significant in Manhattan. [Between 2009 and 2014, bus ridership in Manhattan has dropped 16%]

% Change in bus ridership by Borough

	2013-2014 change	2009-2014 change
Brooklyn Local	-2%	-12%
Bronx Local	1%	2%
Manhattan Local	-6%	-16%
Queens Local	-2%	-1%
Staten Is Local	2%	1%
Express Total	-2%	-3%
Citywide	-1%
Outer Boros Only	0%

TRAFFIC VOLUMES

A preliminary review shows that traffic volumes into the CBD have been flat or slightly down between 2010 and 2014, indicating that external traffic into the CBD is not a primary factor in increasing traffic in the Manhattan CBD. [Preliminary data indicate that average daily traffic into the Manhattan CBD in 2014 is at its lowest level since 2001.]

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

% change 2010-2014 Mn CBD traffic: -6.0%
% change 2010-2014 All Mn crossings: -3.9%

---

From: Norvell, Wiley
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:58 PM
To: 'Gastel, Scott'; 'Tangel, Andrew'
Cc: Tsang, Bonny; Chin, Gloria; Bayona, Jose
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Yup. I have some/most of this to share.

---

From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:58 PM
To: 'Tangel, Andrew'
Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Tsang, Bonny; Chin, Gloria; Bayona, Jose
Subject: RE: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Adding Wiley here. We'll get you a reply.

---

From: Tangel, Andrew [<mailto:Andrew.Tangel@wsj.com>]
Sent: Friday, July 17, 2015 1:27 PM
To: Gastel, Scott
Subject: FHV cap // Wall Street Journal

Scott,

We are going to be covering the city's proposed cap on for-hire vehicles early next week. Would the DOT be able to share with us DOT data showing speeds (all traffic and MTA buses) and vehicle trips into the CBD over, say, the last five years? Any analysis produced by the DOT would be helpful too.

I'm available if you can talk through this.

Thanks,
Andrew

=====

Andrew Tangel
Reporter
The Wall Street Journal
212-416-3715 (o)
917-743-0789 (c)
andrew.tangel@wsj.com
Twitter: @AndrewTangel

From: Klein, Monica
To: B
Subject: DN - Your oped: A fair ride for New Yorkers: How the city should respond to the rapid rise of Uber
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:41:52 PM

---

A fair ride for New Yorkers: How the city should respond to the rapid rise of Uber

DAILY NEWS - Bill de Blasio - July 18, 2015

Our responsibilities as public servants are clear: We're here to keep people safe, make sure workers and consumers are treated fairly, and keep this city growing and competitive.

And right now, like cities across the country and around the world, we're working to do all those things in an industry that's changing fast: the for-hire vehicle sector being reshaped by fast-growing companies like Uber.

More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan. For perspective, that means we're facing the addition of over 25,000 cars to our streets over the next year — the rough equivalent of two times the total number of yellow taxis in all of New York City.

While most businesses recognize the role of the city to set basic standards and look out for the broader public interest, Uber — a $40 billion corporation — is out with multi-million dollar ads trying to convince New Yorkers that it doesn't need more oversight.

This isn't just a New York City issue. In Uber's home state of California, a court just recommended that the company be suspended and fined $7.3 million for failing to share data with the state, as required by law, to ensure they are not discriminating against passengers.

London is looking at capping or slowing the increase in new for-hire services to address the growing crush of traffic on its streets. Massachusetts has moved to raise standards for Uber's workers. And Uber has tangled with regulators in jurisdictions across the country over basic insurance requirements to keep drivers and passengers protected.

When you consider what's at stake — from ensuring workers can make a decent living, to managing the surge of more than 2,000 new cars on our streets every month, to protecting consumers from overcharges, to making sure we have more accessible vehicles for New Yorkers with disabilities — it's our responsibility to act.

New York City's for-hire vehicles have been regulated lightly compared to other sectors for decades because they were a relatively small part of our transportation system. That's all changed.

The upside for riders has been more options when someone needs a ride, and that's a very positive thing. But there are a host of challenges that come with this, and now that Uber has gone from upstart innovator to operating more cars than anyone else, we have to make sure that the rules are fair for all New Yorkers.

We want a data-driven approach, guided by detailed study, so we can develop a comprehensive, long-term strategy for a thriving, sustainable and innovative for-hire car market. And we support a short pause in the rapid increase of for-hire vehicles to make sure that the future growth of this industry lives up to the policies and principles we set out as a city.

We'll ensure that current service remains in place — and can even grow modestly — but our goal is to ensure that our streets aren't flooded with tens of thousands more cars before we can stand up new rules to govern the marketplace.

The principles that drive us are simple:

Protect workers. This industry is evolving so rapidly, with the number of vehicles skyrocketing even as the pool of New Yorkers who can afford to pay $10 or $20 to take car trip is far more limited.

There's a point at which more and more drivers will find themselves fighting over the same group of riders — something we see already with 72% of pick-ups made by high-growth companies like Uber taking place in the heavily congested Manhattan core.

While we see real benefits to drivers able to supplement their income and work with greater flexibility, we still need basic standards that ensure people who work hard in this sector can earn a decent living.

Protect riders. Riders deserve honest rates and security against surge-pricing schemes that look an awful lot like price-gouging. And Uber shouldn't get immunity if one of its drivers attacks or injures a customer.

Improve accessibility. We need to end discrimination in our transportation system. Because of hard work, half of all yellow taxis will become wheelchair accessible by 2020. But there are now nearly five times as many for-hire cars than yellow taxis on our streets — and next to no compliance with the requirement that they provide accessible service to people with disabilities. We need more accessibility among for-hire vehicles.

Invest in public transit. For-hire trips by Uber and other companies should contribute to the MTA, just like every taxi trip currently gives 50 cents to keep our transit running. The MTA is facing a capital shortfall of more than $15 billion over the coming five years, and the millions of riders who depend on our subways and buses see that deficit in delays and overcrowding.

We need everyone, Uber included, to pay a fair share so we can invest in the subways and buses that millions of New Yorkers rely upon every day.

Promote low-carbon transportation. The city is focused on making our transportation more sustainable by improving access to ride-sharing, investing in low-carbon and multi-modal options like walking and biking, and reducing dependency on private fossil fuel vehicles.

Keep our transportation system moving. More than 2,000 new for-hire vehicles are being added to our streets every month, overwhelming the most congested parts of Manhattan, and traffic is getting worse. Last year was the slowest year on record for the streets of the Manhattan — barely 8.5 mph on average, and preliminary data from this May shows speeds dropping further to under 8 mph.

We need to find a way to manage the huge increase in new vehicles to keep our streets moving, protect air quality and make sure our buses and other vehicles can also get around.

Uber is welcome in New York City. Passengers deserve more and better service — and new companies like Uber are helping provide it. There are and will continue to be more for-hire cars and drivers on our roads than at any time in our history.

But no company's multi-billion-dollar political war chest gives it a blank check to skirt vital protections and oversight for New Yorkers. We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public. And no number of lobbyists or ad campaigns will change that.

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "courtney.gross@ny1news.com"
Subject: this breaks it down
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:18:00 PM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

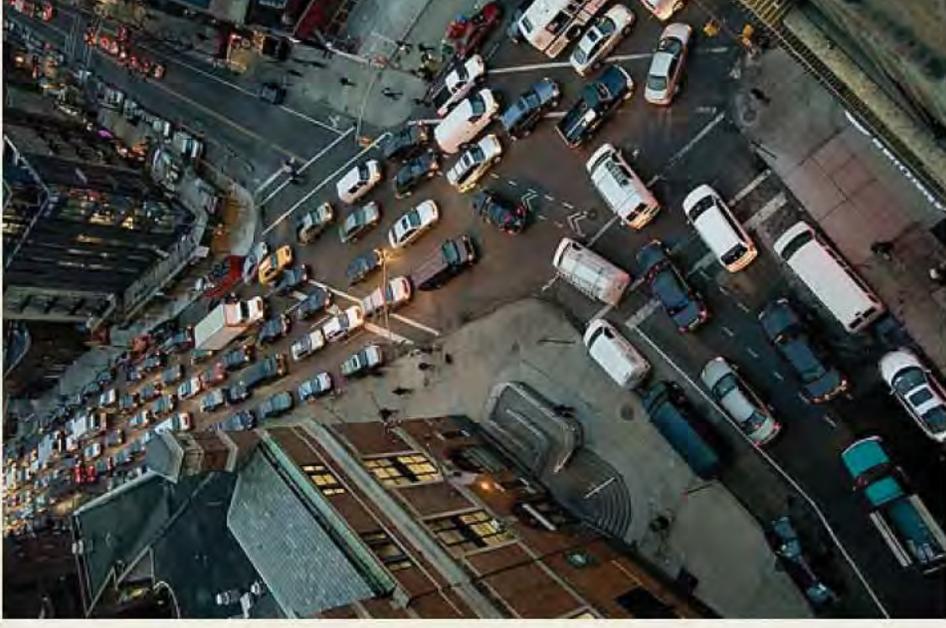

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: Singleton, Jessica; Kim-Mai Cutler
Subject: RE: Who's your taxi, Uber person?
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:33:39 PM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

-----Original Message-----

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 8:25 AM
To: Kim-Mai Cutler
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Who's your taxi, Uber person?

Hi! Adding Wiley who can help you with this.

> On Jul 20, 2015, at 02:42, Kim-Mai Cutler <kim@techcrunch.com> wrote:
>
> Is there anyone I can talk to on background to understand what's going on?
>
> -Kim

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

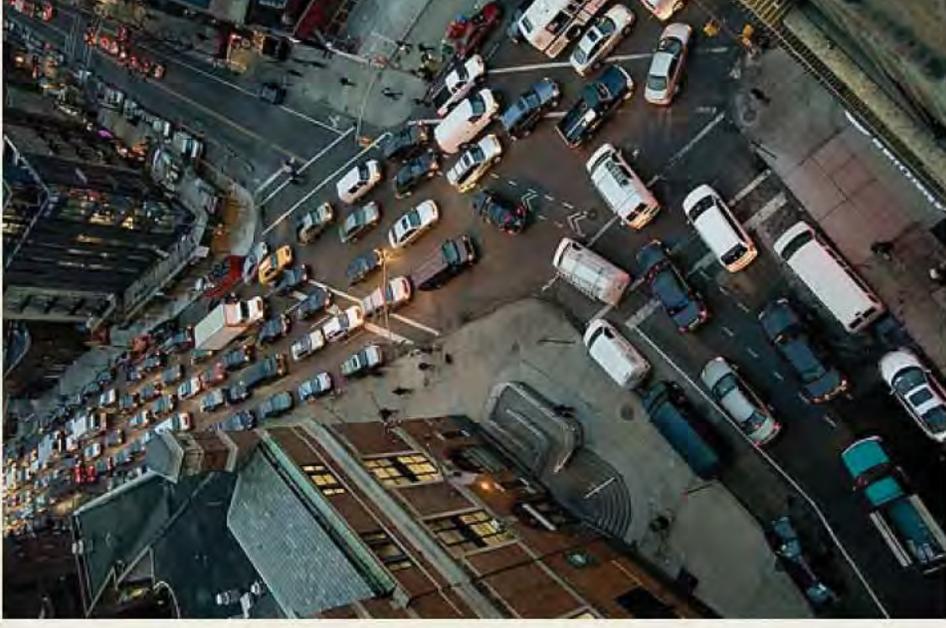

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Tangel, Andrew"; "Gastel, Scott"
Subject: RE: Trottenberg interview // WSJ
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:40:20 PM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

Hi Andrew,

Ringin you in a sec. Some thoughts/info below and attached.

For analysis on this issue, Charles Komanoff, who authored the MoveNY toll plan, has an interesting piece I'd recommend:
<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Detailed info below:

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065

2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

Green cabs (which serve only outer boroughs and upper Manhattan): 7,239

63,451 for-hire vehicles

20,638 FHV's are affiliated with Uber

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab

Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car

Approximate number of green cab rides per day: 57,000

Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020

Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

Additional info: 100% of green cab pick-ups are in Upper Manhattan or outer boroughs. 72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

---

From: Tangel, Andrew [mailto:Andrew.Tangel@wsj.com]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:59 PM

To: 'Gastel, Scott'

Cc: Norvell, Wiley

Subject: Trottenberg interview // WSJ

Hi Scott, Wiley:

Is Commissioner Trottenberg available for an interview later today (late afternoon, early evening) or early Tuesday? Wanted to talk about congestion in Manhattan, automobile pollution and what a study of the growth in for-hire vehicles would accomplish.

Please let me know what times might work. Working on a broad story about Uber and other car-services in New York, what's at stake for the city and those companies with the proposed cap.

Thanks,

Andrew

=====

Andrew Tangel

Reporter

The Wall Street Journal

212-416-3715 (o)

917-743-0789 (c)

andrew.tangel@wsj.com

Twitter: @AndrewTangel

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

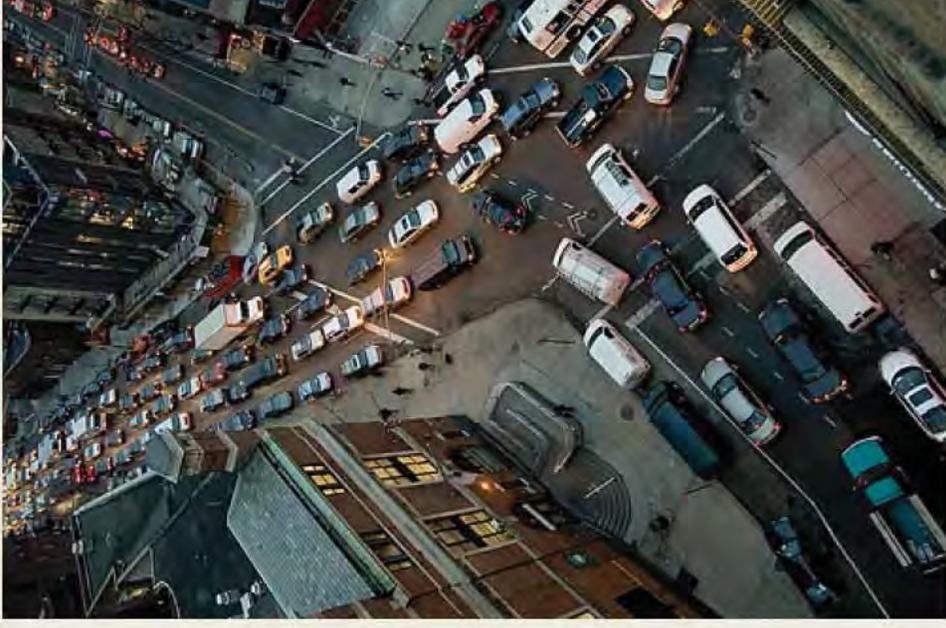

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Gastel, Scott"; "Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com"
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; "Tsang, Bonny"
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:40:40 PM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

Also, see attached.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:39 PM
To: 'Gastel, Scott'; 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl,

For analysis on this issue, Charles Komanoff, who authored the MoveNY toll plan, has an interesting piece I'd recommend:

<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Detailed info below. You can reach me anytime at 646-422-9614.

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733

2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

Green cabs (which serve only outer boroughs and upper Manhattan): 7,239

63,451 for-hire vehicles

20,638 FHV's are affiliated with Uber

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab

Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car

Approximate number of green cab rides per day: 57,000

Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020

Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

Additional info: 100% of green cab pick-ups are in Upper Manhattan or outer boroughs. 72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

(212) 788-2958

(917) 428-8307 (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

---

From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:43 PM

To: 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonnie

Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl:

Not sure if you tried City Hall or TLC yet, but I want loop them both in here. Wiley is the Mayor's Deputy Press Secretary running point on this issue and Allan runs TLC's press operation.

The City will be in touch.

Scott Gastel

---

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:48 PM
To: Tsang, Bonny; Gastel, Scott
Subject: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Ms. Tsang, Mr. Gastel,

I'm a writer for FiveThirtyEight, Nate Silver's website that focuses on data and quantitative journalism.

I'm interested in checking some of the claims on each side in the dispute between Uber and NYC about capping number of Uber cars on the road.

Is someone with the DOT available to answer questions and provide data?

Among my questions:

What proportion of Uber rides originate in, end in, or both, a borough other than Manhattan? What percentage of all NYC rides? Same Qs for Lyft and for NYC taxis.

What is the average speed of traffic, by neighborhood and time of day, and how has that changed over the time that Uber has been operating in NYC?

What if any other metrics than average speed do you have for congestion, and how have those changed during Uber's operations in NYC?

What do you make of Uber's claim that 10,000 jobs are at risk from the city's proposal?

How specifically is the city planning to study Uber's effect on congestion, and to separate it from other potential causes, such as road construction or population growth in the outer boroughs?

Thanks very much,

Carl Bialik

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight
carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

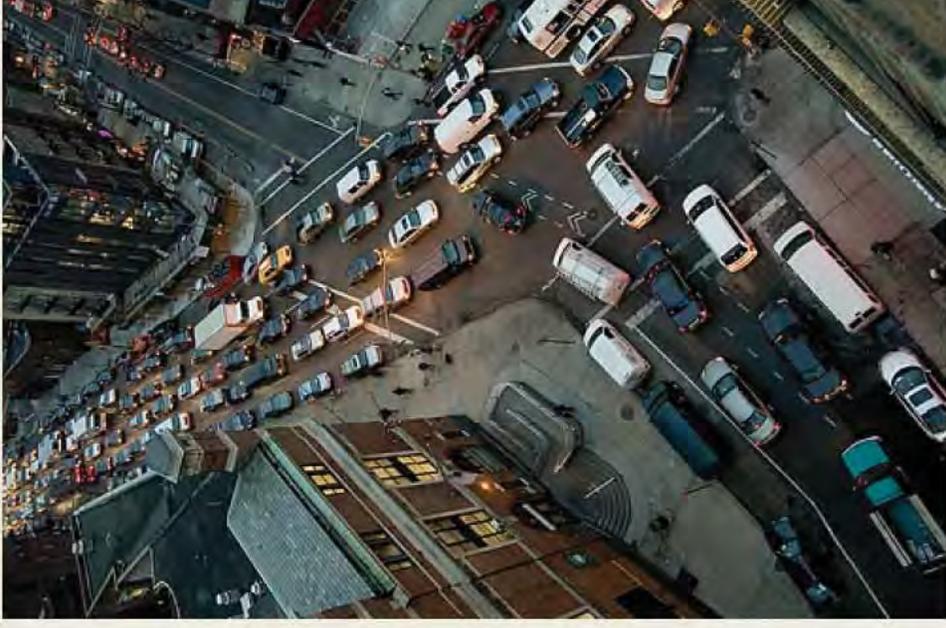

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHVs and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHVs already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "kate.gibson@cbsinteractive.com"
Subject: RE: INCOMING: CBS re: Uber app -- Kate Gibson, kate.gibson@cbsinteractive.com
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 3:40:06 PM
Attachments: FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf

---

<http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/bill-de-blasio-fair-ride-new-yorkers-article-1.2296041>

---

From: Mayor's Press Office
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:28 PM
To: @Incoming
Subject: INCOMING: CBS re: Uber app -- Kate Gibson, kate.gibson@cbsinteractive.com

From: Kate Gibson [<mailto:kate.gibson@cbsinteractive.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:14 PM
To: Mayor's Press Office
Subject: journalist request

Hi there,

I'm a reporter for CBS News, looking for comment from mayor's office on Uber's "de Blasio" option on its app, and also looking for help in trying to figure when the City Council votes on a bill to curb issuance of for-hire vehicle licenses.

Thanks,

Kate Gibson
212 975-6835

Proposed Bills to Facilitate Study of Congestion by Limiting Issuance of New For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) Licenses

Reasons for Temporary Growth Limitation

Recent FHV Fleet Growth Has Been Tremendous

25,000 new FHV's since 2011

63% growth in FHV fleet

FHV Growth Expected to Continue

2,000 new vehicle licenses issued each month of FY2015

FHV Growth Concentrated in Congested Manhattan Core

72% of pickups by high-growth FHV companies take place in congested Manhattan Core

FHV Fleet Growth May Be Causing Worsening Traffic Congestion

- 9% decline in average Manhattan traffic speeds, from 9.35 mph to 8.51 mph*
- 5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds**
- Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's

Public Health

Quality of Life

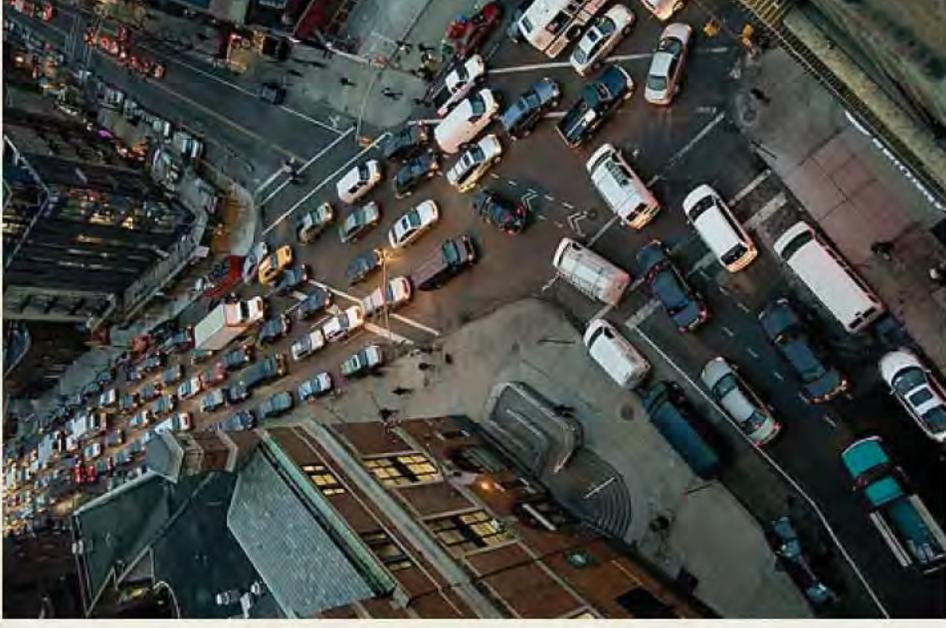

Ability for Businesses to Thrive

* 2010 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.
** 2013 to 2014. Source: NYC DOT.

Proposed Bill

- TLC may only issue limited quantity of new FHV licenses until (1) TLC, DOT and DEP complete a study of the impact of FHV industry growth, or (2) August 31, 2016 (whichever comes first).
- The limitations depend on the base's size as of June 15, 2015:
  - 500+ vehicles: may grow 1%
  - 20 to 499 vehicles: may grow 5%
  - 19 or fewer: may grow 15%
- Bill gives City time to study issue during a period of gradual growth and make informed policy.
- Limitation does not apply to green Boro Taxis, which serve the outer boroughs and Northern Manhattan.

Public Will Continue to Have Excellent For-Hire Access

Plenty of Service Will Be Available

- 63,000 FHV's and 13,587 taxis

App-Based Service Will be Widely Available

- Over 25,000 FHV's already use apps for pickups

App-Based Service Can Continue to Grow

- Drivers can use apps regardless of which base they are affiliated with
- Apps can continue to recruit drivers to their bases, or just to use their apps

FHV Industry Can Continue to Thrive While Growth is Slowed

Existing FHV Owners/Drivers

- Still able to renew licenses and switch vehicles and bases
- May take calls from any app or licensed base of the same class
- May benefit from stemming the tide of new vehicles

Existing Bases

- May affiliate new FHV's within growth limitation and/or affiliate FHV's that were previously with other bases
- Can give each affiliated vehicle more calls (welcome by drivers)
- Can send extra calls to other bases' vehicles

New Drivers

- Can join as new vehicle owners with a base that has not hit its limitation
- May join industry by driving second shift on an existing vehicle
- May join by signing on with a base with existing vehicles

From: Mayor's Press Office
To: @Incoming
Subject: FYI -- : For Karen Hinton. Re: "Uber X (outside of NYC, and in)- is it a Cartel?"
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 5:40:35 PM

---

FYI..

-----Original Message-----

From: Mark Shurtleff [<mailto:markshurtleff@greenwheels.us>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 5:25 PM
To: Mayor's Press Office
Subject: For Karen Hinton. Re: "Uber X (outside of NYC, and in)- is it a Cartel?"

July 20, 2015
Hello Karen (and Team),

In light of the media buzz about a GM for a private company challenging the Mayor of the most diverse city, and in some respects the largest city in the world, to a debate, I offer my insights.

I'm an independent research analyst and consultant that specializes in personal mobility solutions, including taxi cabs and taxi alternatives. And car rentals, car sharing, and car pooling, on a global basis. I've covered the spaces since 2006, after working for many years at firms on and near Wall Street. I track and examine Uber's operations in in cities, states, and provinces, globally:

<https://www.linkedin.com/pub/mark-shurtleff/6/a62/221>

It may be too late to limit Uber's growth: last June was the time to do it, when Uber had less than 7,000 vehicles. Or better still, in October 2013, when it had about 3,000 vehicles. Over this period, many taxi drivers have purchased a black car or livery and signed-on with Uber. And more New Yorkers have smart phones than they did 22 months ago. Let's be clear: Uber wants to diminish the powers of the TLC and the Mayor. "Big Taxi" is Uber's target: if anyone doubts Uber's political savvy, they should look to Las Vegas. Uber, after wrangling, now has access to a $600 million taxi and fhv business- Uber wants ALL of it. If it grows the market by 25%, in 3 to 5 yrs, and wins half, a 25% commission on $375 million is $90 million per year in almost pure profit. The media doesn't bother to size the local markets, but I do. The US taxi and fhv market generates about $50 billion: NYC contributes about $6 billion. The global market generates $500 billion. If Uber expands it 20% and wins just 10%, commissions at 25% will be $15 billion. Uber's CEO and GMs know this, but the media opts not to discuss market sizes.

<http://www.capitalnewyork.com/article/city-hall/2014/06/8546592/uber-expand-further-black-car-territory>

Sidebar:

If you Google the words "Uber" and "Cartel", you'll find one (1) article- this is quite astonishing, given that millions of articles, republished included, have been written about Uber and its business(es). What we have is a regulated monopoly that competes with an under-regulated cartel that fixes prices-and raise them when its math says it's time to surge.

<http://m.smh.com.au/business/is-cab-app-just-an-uber-cartel-20150109-12ktd5.html>

Revenue is a key stat: in May, at Uber's 4th Anniversary, it announced that in 4 years it generated $250 Million in net revenues (commissions)- I estimate half was in 2014 and early-2015. Assuming a 25% commission rate, Uber has put $750 million in drivers' pockets, before operating expenses and depreciation. This is a data point Uber's GM would harp-on if given a chance to debate. Yellow cabs' gross fare box revenue is about $2.4 billion, as per the TLC. Green cabs, aka boro taxis, may end-up going "back to black" livery vehicles as Uber's popularity continues to rise. A lot of the permit holders should've expected that Uber would expand to the outer boros. Many spent $6 to $7,000 to convert their liveries to green taxis.

Let me know if you'd like to talk. Thanks.

PS: Uber's operations and activities should be covered by transportation reporters- not technology reporters. Facebook doesn't have employees in an office in Baku, Azerbaijan who recruit members (or drivers and riders). Uber competes with "Baku Taksi Company", which has about 2,000 of the (iconic) London Black Cabs (painted purple). See <http://www.bakitaksi.az> for more info.

Warm regards,

Mark Shurtleff

Chief Analyst, Consultant, and Founder

Personal Mobility Solutions and Alternative Transportation Systems Green Wheels Research Services New York, NY San Francisco, CA

917-617-9977

MarkShurtleff@GreenWheels.US

Sent from my Verizon Wireless BlackBerry

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Joshi, Meera \(TLC\)
Subject: FW: CNBC Inquiry
Date: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 11:03:28 AM

---

[REDACTED]

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal) [<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 10:33 AM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Thank you!

We could definitely do Friday morning in the 11a hour.

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell: 201-280-4931 | @BenThompson00

First in Business Worldwide

900 Sylvan Avenue | Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC) [<mailto:frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 3:19 PM
To: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Will give that a shot and let you know.

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal) [<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:35 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Thanks for clarifying Allan – and I used the term cap as a quick way to sum up- definitely understand the nuances to it all.

Given that this could be Thursday or Friday – perhaps we can see if Meera could join either morning in the 10a or 11a hours?

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell: 201-280-4931 | @BenThompson00

First in Business Worldwide

900 Sylvan Avenue | Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC) [<mailto:frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:26 PM

To: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

A few important clarifications! 1) it's not "Mayor de Blasio's Uber cap." It's two pieces of City Council-sponsored legislation that, approved, would create a one-year "pause" during which there will be limited growth (bases can add between two and 15% more vehicles, depending on how big they are), to assist in the council-proposed congestion/environmental study (the second bill would specify the study), and it would be imposed on the entire For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) industry, not just Uber – Uber just happens to have 20,638 out of the total 63,451 FHVs. 2) It's not a licensing pause for drivers, it's just a pause on the issuance of additional vehicle licenses. There would still be significant opportunities for drivers!

So, I can't speak for the Council's process, but I can tell you that the earliest the bill could be voted on is Thursday, July 23.

When did you want the interview?

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal) [<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:58 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: CNBC Inquiry

Allan:

Ben Thompson here with CNBC's Squawk on the Street, I hope you are well! I know you've worked with my colleague, Emily Caruthers in the past, but she has since left the company & I wanted to check in with two quick questions:

1. When will Mayor de Blasio's Uber caps set to take effect? I've been hearing tomorrow?
2. Might Meera Joshi consider joining us to discuss the impact & the NYC TLC Response?

Best,

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell: 201-280-4931 |  @BenThompson00

First in Business Worldwide

900 Sylvan Avenue | Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632

From: citywidetech@googlegroups.com on behalf of Brack, Ryan \(CTO\)
To: citywidetech@googlegroups.com
Subject: NYC Tech News 7/18-7/21
Date: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 12:12:26 PM

---

In case you missed them, here are two OpEds worth reading on the for-hire vehicle topic -- the first from Mayor de Blasio and the second by First Deputy Mayor Shorris:

A fair ride for New Yorkers: How the city should respond to the rapid rise of Uber [NY Daily News]

A Temporary Cap on For-Hire Cars Is Necessary [New York Times]

City launches 2015 Big Apps competition [Capital New York]

BigBelly applying to serve WIFI via NYC trash cans [Hacked]

SoHo Teen Wins Award From City For Invention to Help Deaf People [DNA Info]

New York City Transit Uses Analytics to Improve Service to Public [Govtech]

New York's Booming Tech Startup Industry Is On Track For A 7-Year Funding High [CBinsights]

This is the Year to be Queer: Even in Tech [AlleyWatch]

An app to help you win the parking-ticket war [New York Times]

WIFI Risings in NYC phone booths: Google, Q'comm help outfit 10,000 sites [EETimes]

With $7.35M raise for Common, General Assembly Co-Founder gets into the "Co-Living" movement [TechCrunch]

Cuomo delays funding for stem cell research [Capital New York]

City FiOS Audit Shows Cable System Flaws [Capital New York]

Going Underground: As Land Prices Rise, New York Institutions Seek Subterranean Space [Observer]

New York Proton Center Will Be the First Proton Beam Therapy Facility in New York State [Press Release]

[New York] Real estate developers flock to gadgets that make building better [Crain's New York]

RELATED NEWS

London is no Silicon Valley, but it brings together many world-class industries [Tech Crunch]

U.S. vs. Hackers: Still lopsided despite years of warnings and a recent push [New York Times]

BikeTag is a smart safety sensor for cycling [Tech Crunch]

Google hires tech team from Homejoy, readies leap into home services market [<Re/code>]

Watch the first FAA-approved delivery drone drop medicine down to rural Virginians [The Verge]

A new socially-conscious wireless provider [USA Today]

9 localities commit to open data standard for construction, building permits [Gov Tech]

Silicon Valley struggles to hack its diversity problem [Washington Post]

Minnesota's Rural Broadband Development a Game Changer [Govtech]

Major TV networks snub YouTube's new paid-video service [Crain's New York]

Tech Industry, Data Centers Are Sucking California Dry [Govtech]

First successful drone delivery made in the US [The Guardian]

'Civic Eagle' App Wants To Bring Americans Face To Face In Online Debate [Huffington Post]

Silicon Valley's Biggest Companies Take Samsung's Side in Apple Patent Fight [Inside Sources]

Why social robots could be coming soon to a home near you [Washington Post]

--

You received this message because you are subscribed to the Google Groups "Citywide Tech Coordination Group" group.

To unsubscribe from this group and stop receiving emails from it, send an email to citywidetech+unsubscribe@googlegroups.com.

For more options, visit <https://groups.google.com/d/optout>.

From: Furnas, Benjamin
To: "Eddie Bautista"
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Lupo, Jon Paul; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: Letter to Speaker MMV
Date: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 1:25:27 PM
Attachments: For Hire Vehicle study letter of support.pdf

---

Thank you Eddie! I assume you have sent directly as well?

---

From: Eddie Bautista mailto:[eddie@nyc-eja.org]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 7:39 PM
To: Furnas, Benjamin
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Lupo, Jon Paul; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Letter to Speaker MMV

Ben, here you go - sorry for the delay:

Eddie Bautista
Executive Director
NYC Environmental Justice Alliance (NYC-EJA)
166A 22nd Street
Brooklyn, NY 11232
eddie@NYC-EJA.org
nyceja@gmail.com

347-841-4410
www.NYC-EJA.org

Over 20 years of fighting for healthier and more just communities - one block at a time...

On Jul 14, 2015, at 3:55 PM, Furnas, Benjamin <BFurnas@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

<Draft FHV Letter 7.14.15.docx>

166A 22nd Street
Brooklyn, NY 11232 | NYC-EJA.org

On the ground — and at the table.

July 20, 2015

Dear Speaker Mark-Viverito:

I hope this letter finds you well.

I'm reaching out today to share with you our support for several bills under consideration at the City Council, namely Int. No. 842: A Local Law in relation to temporarily limiting the issuance of new for-hire vehicle licenses and Int. No. 847: A Local Law in relation to requiring a study on the impact of growth in the taxicab and for-hire vehicle industries. As the city's only citywide coalition representing the environmental justice interests of low-income communities and communities of color, it is vitally important that these bills are successfully enacted as quickly as possible.

Unlike the yellow cab industry, which has historically grown in moderation only after a comprehensive environmental review, there is no growth control mechanism in the for-hire vehicle (FHV) industry. There has been unprecedented and frankly explosive growth in this industry over the past several years, which has notably been concentrated in the Manhattan Core. We agree with the bill's sponsors that this saturation of vehicles could represent a significant factor in traffic congestion and declining vehicle speeds, and of particular concern to us, the quality of our air.

TLC statistics confirm that, in the last two years, approximately 20,000 new for-hire vehicles have been dumped into the stew that is NYC's traffic dynamic. A more dramatic perspective on this is the fact that, in June 2011, there were 38,600 FHVs. Today, that number exceeds 63,000 FHVs — an increase of 63%. It is also true that the TLC has issued approximately 2,000 new FHV licenses for every month, this year, and there is no indication that, if unchecked, this level of growth will slow. We have also learned that, paradoxically, while traffic speeds (and most importantly, bus speeds — moving the largest number of people in the most environmentally-efficient way) — have slowed, even as the number of vehicles entering the Manhattan core has decreased.

The data are compelling, and they point to the need for a comprehensive study of substantial scope, and I believe that, with the Council's guidance and oversight through Int. No. 847, we will have this necessary analysis. That said, we are also of the strong belief that a period of managed, limited growth in the FHV industry offers the means by which this study would achieve its greatest value potential.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to me if you have any questions,

Sincerely,

Eddie Bautista

Executive Director

New York City Environmental Justice Alliance

From: eddie@nyc-eja.org
To: Furnas, Benjamin
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Lupo, Jon Paul; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Letter to Speaker MMV
Date: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 1:31:31 PM

---

Oops - no, I haven't. What's a good email for MMV's people?

Eddie Bautista
Executive Director
NYC Environmental Justice Alliance
166A 22nd Street
Brooklyn, NY 11232
Eddie@nyc-eja.org
Nyceja@gmail.com
WWW.NYC-EJA.org
347-841-4410

---

From: Furnas, Benjamin
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 1:26 PM
To: 'Eddie Bautista'
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Lupo, Jon Paul; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: Letter to Speaker MMV

---

Thank you Eddie! I assume you have sent directly as well?

---

From: Eddie Bautista [<mailto:eddie@nyc-eja.org>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 7:39 PM
To: Furnas, Benjamin
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Lupo, Jon Paul; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Letter to Speaker MMV

Ben, here you go - sorry for the delay:

Eddie Bautista
Executive Director
NYC Environmental Justice Alliance (NYC-EJA)
166A 22nd Street
Brooklyn, NY 11232
eddie@NYC-EJA.org
nyceja@gmail.com

347-841-4410
www.NYC-EJA.org

Over 20 years of fighting for healthier and more just communities - one block at a time...

On Jul 14, 2015, at 3:55 PM, Furnas, Benjamin <BFurnas@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

<Draft FHV Letter 7.14.15.docx>

From: Rogers, Kate \(NBCUniversal\)
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Hello- statement on FHV vote tomorrow for CNBC?
Date: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 2:10:58 PM

---

Hi there—I know the Mayor wrote an op-ed over weekend. Wanted to see if there were any additional comments you can provide in a statement to CNBC ahead of Thursday's vote?

Thanks!

Kate

Kate Rogers
Reporter
Phone: 201-735-2640
Cell: 201-218-5671

 @katerogersnews

First in Business Worldwide

900 Sylvan Avenue | Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Bialik, Carl"; "Gastel, Scott"
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; "Tsang, Bonny"
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 9:25:37 AM
Attachments: Congestion Charts.pdf

---

Hi Carl,

Doing our best to hustle on this for you. Should be able to get you more on the data side. Your latest Qs answered below. Also, some strong data here:

As a parallel, an increase of 2,000 medallion taxi cabs had a significant adverse traffic impact that needed to be mitigated in the EIS process. Strong parallels since Uber/app-drive vehicles service the same areas and have similar behavior: (pp. 5-6 in http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/statement\_of\_findings\_11\_04\_2013.pdf),

and chapter 15 in full EIS:

http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/taxi\_deis\_september\_2013.pdf

You Q's:

Q. Does TLC or DOT or anyone else in NYC govt have a traffic model that can simulate impact to congestion speed of adding cars to the road?

A. Yes. DOT has such a model. Other private sector folks have different ones. For example, Charles Komanoff's Balanced Transportation Analyzer:

<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Q. How do you define CBD and daytime speeds? And are these based on readings every minute of every day's daytime period, or a sampling?

A. All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year. For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph compared to 8.29 mph in 2014 (a 3.8% drop) and 9.18 mph in 2010 (a 13.1% drop).

Q. Do you have the comparable numbers for years before 2009? Want to see what the trend was before Uber et al

A. Unfortunately not. We only installed the taxi GPS system in 2008 (but keep in mind the rapid growth in FHV's didn't start until 2012, so those first 3 years are a fair baseline). See attached charts.

Q, "As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph" — this is 2015 through May? Or for all of fiscal 2015?

A. That is the last data we have, from the month of May 2015. Believe full FY data is still being compiled.

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Bialik>, Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 at 9:44 PM

To: "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>, "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>

Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>

Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Thanks very much. A few followups:

--Can you send annual numbers for yellow cabs, green cabs, FHV's, Uber-affiliated FHV's?

--For this stat, can you define "emerging players" and "Manhattan core"?

72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

Also do you have the equivalent percentage for drop-offs?

--Do you have the comparable percentages for yellow cabs? And for Ubers only as opposed to all emerging FHV's?

—"Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car" — wouldn't this be 5 per car if there are about 20,000 Ubers?

—"5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds"

from the presentation — that's from 2013 to 2014. Do you have annual rush hour and non-rush hour bus speeds, for more than just 2013 and 2014?

—presentation also says: "Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's" — have details of proposed study?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Norvell>, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 at 7:40 PM

To: "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>, Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>

Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Also, see attached.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:39 PM

To: 'Gastel, Scott'; 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny

Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl,

For analysis on this issue, Charles Komanoff, who authored the MoveNY toll plan, has an interesting piece I'd recommend:

<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Detailed info below. You can reach me anytime at 646-422-9614.

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961

2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

Green cabs (which serve only outer boroughs and upper Manhattan): 7,239

63,451 for-hire vehicles

20,638 FHV's are affiliated with Uber

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab

Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car

Approximate number of green cab rides per day: 57,000

Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020

Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

Additional info: 100% of green cab pick-ups are in Upper Manhattan or outer boroughs. 72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

(212) 788-2958

(917) 428-8307 (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

---

From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:43 PM

To: 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny

Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl:

Not sure if you tried City Hall or TLC yet, but I want loop them both in here. Wiley is the Mayor's Deputy Press Secretary running point on this issue and Allan runs TLC's press operation.

The City will be in touch.

Scott Gastel

---

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:48 PM
To: Tsang, Bonny; Gastel, Scott
Subject: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Ms. Tsang, Mr. Gastel,

I'm a writer for FiveThirtyEight, Nate Silver's website that focuses on data and quantitative journalism.

I'm interested in checking some of the claims on each side in the dispute between Uber and NYC about capping number of Uber cars on the road.

Is someone with the DOT available to answer questions and provide data?

Among my questions:

What proportion of Uber rides originate in, end in, or both, a borough other than Manhattan? What percentage of all NYC rides? Same Qs for Lyft and for NYC taxis.

What is the average speed of traffic, by neighborhood and time of day, and how has that changed over the time that Uber has been operating in NYC?

What if any other metrics than average speed do you have for congestion, and how have those changed during Uber's operations in NYC?

What do you make of Uber's claim that 10,000 jobs are at risk from the city's proposal?

How specifically is the city planning to study Uber's effect on congestion, and to separate it from other potential causes, such as road construction or population growth in the outer boroughs?

Thanks very much,

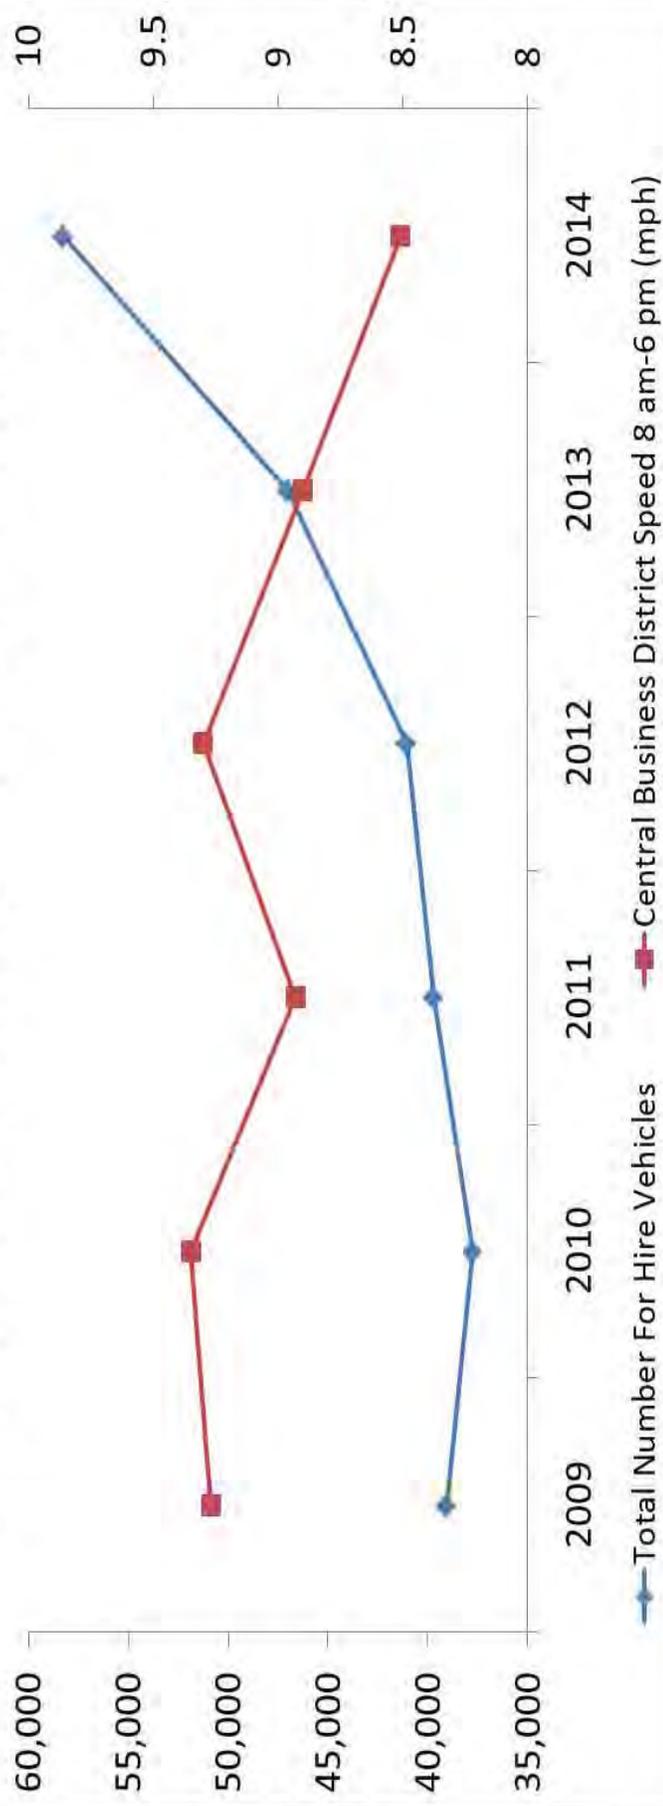

Carl Bialik

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight
carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

Trends in For-Hire Vehicle Growth and Manhattan Central Business District Traffic

From 2009-2014, the number of For Hire Vehicles increased. Speeds in the Central Business District declined in the same time period.

From 2009-2014, the number of vehicles that entered the Central Business District decreased. The speeds declined in the CBD in the same time period.

From: Bialik, Carl
To: Norvell, Wiley; "Gastel, Scott"
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; "Tsang, Bonny"
Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 9:42:17 AM

---

Thanks very much.

What were the actual numbers for 2009 and FY 2009? I see them plotted in the attachment but not an actual number.

"an increase of 2,000 medallion taxi cabs had a significant adverse traffic impact that needed to be mitigated in the EIS process." — what was the source of the finding of significant adverse traffic impact? These were projections — based on DOT model?

What does DOT model say specifically about the impact of increase in FHV's on speed? What are the comparable numbers to Komanoff's in the link you sent?

Since you're highlighting May 2015 numbers — what were the numbers for May in prior years in the data set?

Are Uber, Lyft et al currently providing to NYC their GPS data? If not, why aren't they required to?

Meera Joshi said in testimony: "Census data available so far seems to refute the assertion that rapid growth in the size of the FHV industry in NYC has brought about decreases in car ownership" — what data specifically was he citing?

The NY Times and NY Post have said that the Move NY plan would relieve congestion much more than caps on growth of FHV companies. What is the mayor's position on Move NY?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight
carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Norvell>, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 at 2:25 PM
To: Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>, "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>
Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl,

Doing our best to hustle on this for you. Should be able to get you more on the data side. Your latest Qs answered below. Also, some strong data here:

As a parallel, an increase of 2,000 medallion taxi cabs had a significant adverse traffic impact that needed to be mitigated in the EIS process. Strong parallels since Uber/app-drive vehicles service the same areas and have similar behavior: (pp. 5-6 in http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/statement\_of\_findings\_11\_04\_2013.pdf),

and chapter 15 in full EIS:

http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/taxi\_deis\_september\_2013.pdf

You Q's:

Q. Does TLC or DOT or anyone else in NYC govt have a traffic model that can simulate impact to congestion speed of adding cars to the road?

A. Yes. DOT has such a model. Other private sector folks have different ones. For example, Charles Komanoff's Balanced Transportation Analyzer:

<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Q. How do you define CBD and daytime speeds? And are these based on readings every minute of every day's daytime period, or a sampling?

A. All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year. For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph compared to 8.29 mph in 2014 (a 3.8% drop) and 9.18 mph in 2010 (a 13.1% drop).

Q. Do you have the comparable numbers for years before 2009? Want to see what the trend was before Uber et al

A. Unfortunately not. We only installed the taxi GPS system in 2008 (but keep in mind the rapid growth in FHV's didn't start until 2012, so those first 3 years are a fair baseline). See attached charts.

Q, "As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph" — this is 2015 through May? Or for all of fiscal 2015?

A. That is the last data we have, from the month of May 2015. Believe full FY data is still being compiled.

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight
carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Bialik>, Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 at 9:44 PM
To: "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>, "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>
Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>
Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Thanks very much. A few followups:

--Can you send annual numbers for yellow cabs, green cabs, FHV's, Uber-affiliated FHV's?

--For this stat, can you define "emerging players" and "Manhattan core"?
72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.
Also do you have the equivalent percentage for drop-offs?

--Do you have the comparable percentages for yellow cabs? And for Ubers only as opposed to all emerging FHV's?

—"Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car" — wouldn't this be 5 per car if there are about 20,000 Ubers?

—"5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds "
from the presentation — that's from 2013 to 2014. Do you have annual rush hour and non-rush hour bus speeds, for more than just 2013 and 2014?

—presentation also says: "Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's " — have details of proposed study?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight
carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Norvell>, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 at 7:40 PM
To: "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>, Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>
Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Also, see attached.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:39 PM
To: 'Gastel, Scott'; 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl,

For analysis on this issue, Charles Komanoff, who authored the MoveNY toll plan, has an interesting piece I'd recommend:
<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Detailed info below. You can reach me anytime at 646-422-9614.

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247

2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

Green cabs (which serve only outer boroughs and upper Manhattan): 7,239

63,451 for-hire vehicles

20,638 FHV's are affiliated with Uber

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab

Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car

Approximate number of green cab rides per day: 57,000

Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020

Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

Additional info: 100% of green cab pick-ups are in Upper Manhattan or outer boroughs. 72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

(212) 788-2958

(917) 428-8307 (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

---

From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:43 PM

To: 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny

Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl:

Not sure if you tried City Hall or TLC yet, but I want loop them both in here. Wiley is the Mayor's Deputy Press Secretary running point on this issue and Allan runs TLC's press operation.

The City will be in touch.

Scott Gastel

---

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:48 PM

To: Tsang, Bonny; Gastel, Scott

Subject: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Ms. Tsang, Mr. Gastel,

I'm a writer for FiveThirtyEight, Nate Silver's website that focuses on data and quantitative journalism.

I'm interested in checking some of the claims on each side in the dispute between Uber and NYC about capping number of Uber cars on the road.

Is someone with the DOT available to answer questions and provide data?

Among my questions:

What proportion of Uber rides originate in, end in, or both, a borough other than Manhattan? What percentage of all NYC rides? Same Qs for Lyft and for NYC taxis.

What is the average speed of traffic, by neighborhood and time of day, and how has that changed over the time that Uber has been operating in NYC?

What if any other metrics than average speed do you have for congestion, and how have those changed during Uber's operations in NYC?

What do you make of Uber's claim that 10,000 jobs are at risk from the city's proposal?

How specifically is the city planning to study Uber's effect on congestion, and to separate it from other potential causes, such as road construction or population growth in the outer boroughs?

Thanks very much,

Carl Bialik

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Bialik, Carl"; "Gastel, Scott"
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; "Tsang, Bonny"
Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 10:04:50 AM

---

Here are those actuals. Working on others.

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

***As of May 2015, Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

---

From: Bialik, Carl [mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 9:42 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley; 'Gastel, Scott'
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; 'Tsang, Bonny'
Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Thanks very much.

What were the actual numbers for 2009 and FY 2009? I see them plotted in the attachment but not an actual number.

"an increase of 2,000 medallion taxi cabs had a significant adverse traffic impact that needed to be mitigated in the EIS process." — what was the source of the finding of significant adverse traffic impact? These were projections — based on DOT model?

What does DOT model say specifically about the impact of increase in FHV's on speed? What are the comparable numbers to Komanoff's in the link you sent?

Since you're highlighting May 2015 numbers — what were the numbers for May in prior years in the data set?

Are Uber, Lyft et al currently providing to NYC their GPS data? If not, why aren't they required to?

Meera Joshi said in testimony: "Census data available so far seems to refute the assertion that rapid growth in the size of the FHV industry in NYC has brought about decreases in car ownership" — what data specifically was he citing?

The NY Times and NY Post have said that the Move NY plan would relieve congestion much more than caps on growth of FHV companies. What is the mayor's position on Move NY?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Norvell>, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 at 2:25 PM

To: Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>, "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>

Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>

Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl,

Doing our best to hustle on this for you. Should be able to get you more on the data side. Your latest Qs answered below. Also, some strong data here:

As a parallel, an increase of 2,000 medallion taxi cabs had a significant adverse traffic impact that needed to be mitigated in the EIS process. Strong parallels since Uber/app-drive vehicles service the same areas and have similar behavior: (pp. 5-6 in http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/statement\_of\_findings\_11\_04\_2013.pdf),

and chapter 15 in full EIS:

http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/taxi\_deis\_september\_2013.pdf

You Q's:

Q. Does TLC or DOT or anyone else in NYC govt have a traffic model that can simulate impact to congestion speed of adding cars to the road?

A. Yes. DOT has such a model. Other private sector folks have different ones. For example, Charles Komanoff's Balanced Transportation Analyzer:

<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Q. How do you define CBD and daytime speeds? And are these based on readings every minute of every day's daytime period, or a sampling?

A. All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year. For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph compared to 8.29 mph in 2014 (a 3.8% drop) and 9.18 mph in 2010 (a 13.1% drop).

Q. Do you have the comparable numbers for years before 2009? Want to see what the trend was before Uber et al

A. Unfortunately not. We only installed the taxi GPS system in 2008 (but keep in mind the rapid growth in FHV's didn't start until 2012, so those first 3 years are a fair baseline). See attached charts.

Q, "As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph" — this is 2015 through May? Or for all of fiscal 2015?

A. That is the last data we have, from the month of May 2015. Believe full FY data is still being compiled.

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Bialik>, Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 at 9:44 PM

To: "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>, "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>

Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>

Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Thanks very much. A few followups:

--Can you send annual numbers for yellow cabs, green cabs, FHV's, Uber-affiliated FHV's?

--For this stat, can you define "emerging players" and "Manhattan core"?

72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

Also do you have the equivalent percentage for drop-offs?

--Do you have the comparable percentages for yellow cabs? And for Ubers only as opposed to all emerging FHV's?

—"Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car" — wouldn't this be 5 per car if there are about 20,000 Ubers?

—"5% decline in rush hour MTA bus speeds"

from the presentation — that's from 2013 to 2014. Do you have annual rush hour and non-rush hour bus speeds, for more than just 2013 and 2014?

—presentation also says: "Need a study to determine impact associated with FHV's" — have details of proposed study?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Norvell>, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Monday, July 20, 2015 at 7:40 PM

To: "'Gastel, Scott'" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>, Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

Cc: "Allan J. Fromberg" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>, "'Tsang, Bonny'" <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>

Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Also, see attached.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:39 PM

To: 'Gastel, Scott'; 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny

Subject: RE: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl,

For analysis on this issue, Charles Komanoff, who authored the MoveNY toll plan, has an interesting piece I'd recommend:

<http://www.streetsblog.org/2015/07/08/uber-and-manhattan-gridlock-are-rising-together/>

Detailed info below. You can reach me anytime at 646-422-9614.

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3
2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118
2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

Green cabs (which serve only outer boroughs and upper Manhattan): 7,239

63,451 for-hire vehicles

20,638 FHV's are affiliated with Uber

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab

Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 per car

Approximate number of green cab rides per day: 57,000

Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020

Number of accessible Uber cars: 0

Additional info: 100% of green cab pick-ups are in Upper Manhattan or outer boroughs. 72% of pick-ups by emerging players like Uber are in the Manhattan core.

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

---

From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:43 PM
To: 'Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'
Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg; Tsang, Bonny
Subject: Re: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Hi Carl:

Not sure if you tried City Hall or TLC yet, but I want loop them both in here. Wiley is the Mayor's Deputy Press Secretary running point on this issue and Allan runs TLC's press operation.

The City will be in touch.

Scott Gastel

---

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:48 PM
To: Tsang, Bonny; Gastel, Scott
Subject: inquiry from ESPN/FiveThirtyEight about Uber & NYC

Ms. Tsang, Mr. Gastel,

I'm a writer for FiveThirtyEight, Nate Silver's website that focuses on data and quantitative journalism.

I'm interested in checking some of the claims on each side in the dispute between Uber and NYC about capping number of Uber cars on the road.

Is someone with the DOT available to answer questions and provide data?

Among my questions:

What proportion of Uber rides originate in, end in, or both, a borough other than Manhattan? What percentage of all NYC rides? Same Qs for Lyft and for NYC taxis.

What is the average speed of traffic, by neighborhood and time of day, and how has that changed over the time that Uber has been operating in NYC?

What if any other metrics than average speed do you have for congestion, and how have those changed during Uber's operations in NYC?

What do you make of Uber's claim that 10,000 jobs are at risk from the city's proposal?

How specifically is the city planning to study Uber's effect on congestion, and to separate it from other potential causes, such as road construction or population growth in the outer boroughs?

Thanks very much,

Carl Bialik

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

From: Norvell Wiley
To: Hinton Karen; Walzak Phil; Wolfe Emma; Lupo Jon Paul; Williams Dominic; Shorris Anthony; Schnake Mahl Gabriel
Subject: Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 10:53:29 AM
Attachments: image002.png

---

http://gothamist.com/2015/07/22/uber\_fight\_day\_5782.php Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn

BY EMMA WHITFORD IN NEWS ON JUL 22, 2015 10:48 AM

(Jean Phillippe WALLET/Shutterstock)

A mass e-mail sent to new Uber drivers in New York City late last fall encouraged those drivers to "position" themselves in the "busiest areas of the city"—Manhattan below the north end of Central Park, plus a swath of Brooklyn from Greenpoint south to Park Slope—if they hoped to receive a "guaranteed" $5,000 for their first full month of driving. The e-mail states: "If you are found avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee."

Map presented to new Uber drivers last December, incentivizing them to position themselves in the highlighted areas (via Uber)

An Uber spokesperson confirmed that this particular incentive was only in place between October and December of last year. The Mayor's office counters that, regardless, the incentive (which was also published on Uber's website, and is still outlined on the app's Newsroom page) contradicts the message that Uber has been sending in recent weeks—that Uber fills a void in the outer boroughs, where taxis "often refuse people in minority neighborhoods."

De Blasio spokesman Wiley Norvell said of the incentive, "It takes some serious duplicity to run millions of dollars in ads talking about a five borough city, while pushing and paying drivers to spend all their time in lower Manhattan and a small fraction of Brooklyn." He added, "This multi-billion dollar corporation is not being straight with New Yorkers. Far from solving inequities, these practices just augment them." Norvell also pointed out that the three month promotion encompassed several of New York's official gridlock alert days, when the DOT encourages New Yorkers to take public transit in Manhattan.

Here is Uber's cheeky response to the Mayor's office, in full:

"Last time I checked, Hell's Kitchen to East Harlem was not 'lower Manhattan' and Park Slope to Greenpoint was not just a small fraction of Brooklyn. This was a short-term incentive to meet high demand during the holiday season and has not been in effect anytime this year. During the short time it was in place, reliable rides were still readily available in the outer boroughs."

Included in Uber's map of "busiest areas" is Manhattan's Central Business District below 60th Street, which has been central to the TLC and DOT's argument in favor of capping the growth of for-hire vehicles [FHVs] until next April. At a City Council hearing last month, the TLC and DOT pointed out that since 2011, the number of licensed FHVs in the city has jumped 66% from 25,000 to 63,000—specifically in the already-congested Manhattan CBD where, according to DOT data, 72% of FHV pickups take place.

Under the proposed legislation, which will likely go to a vote on Thursday, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and April 2016.

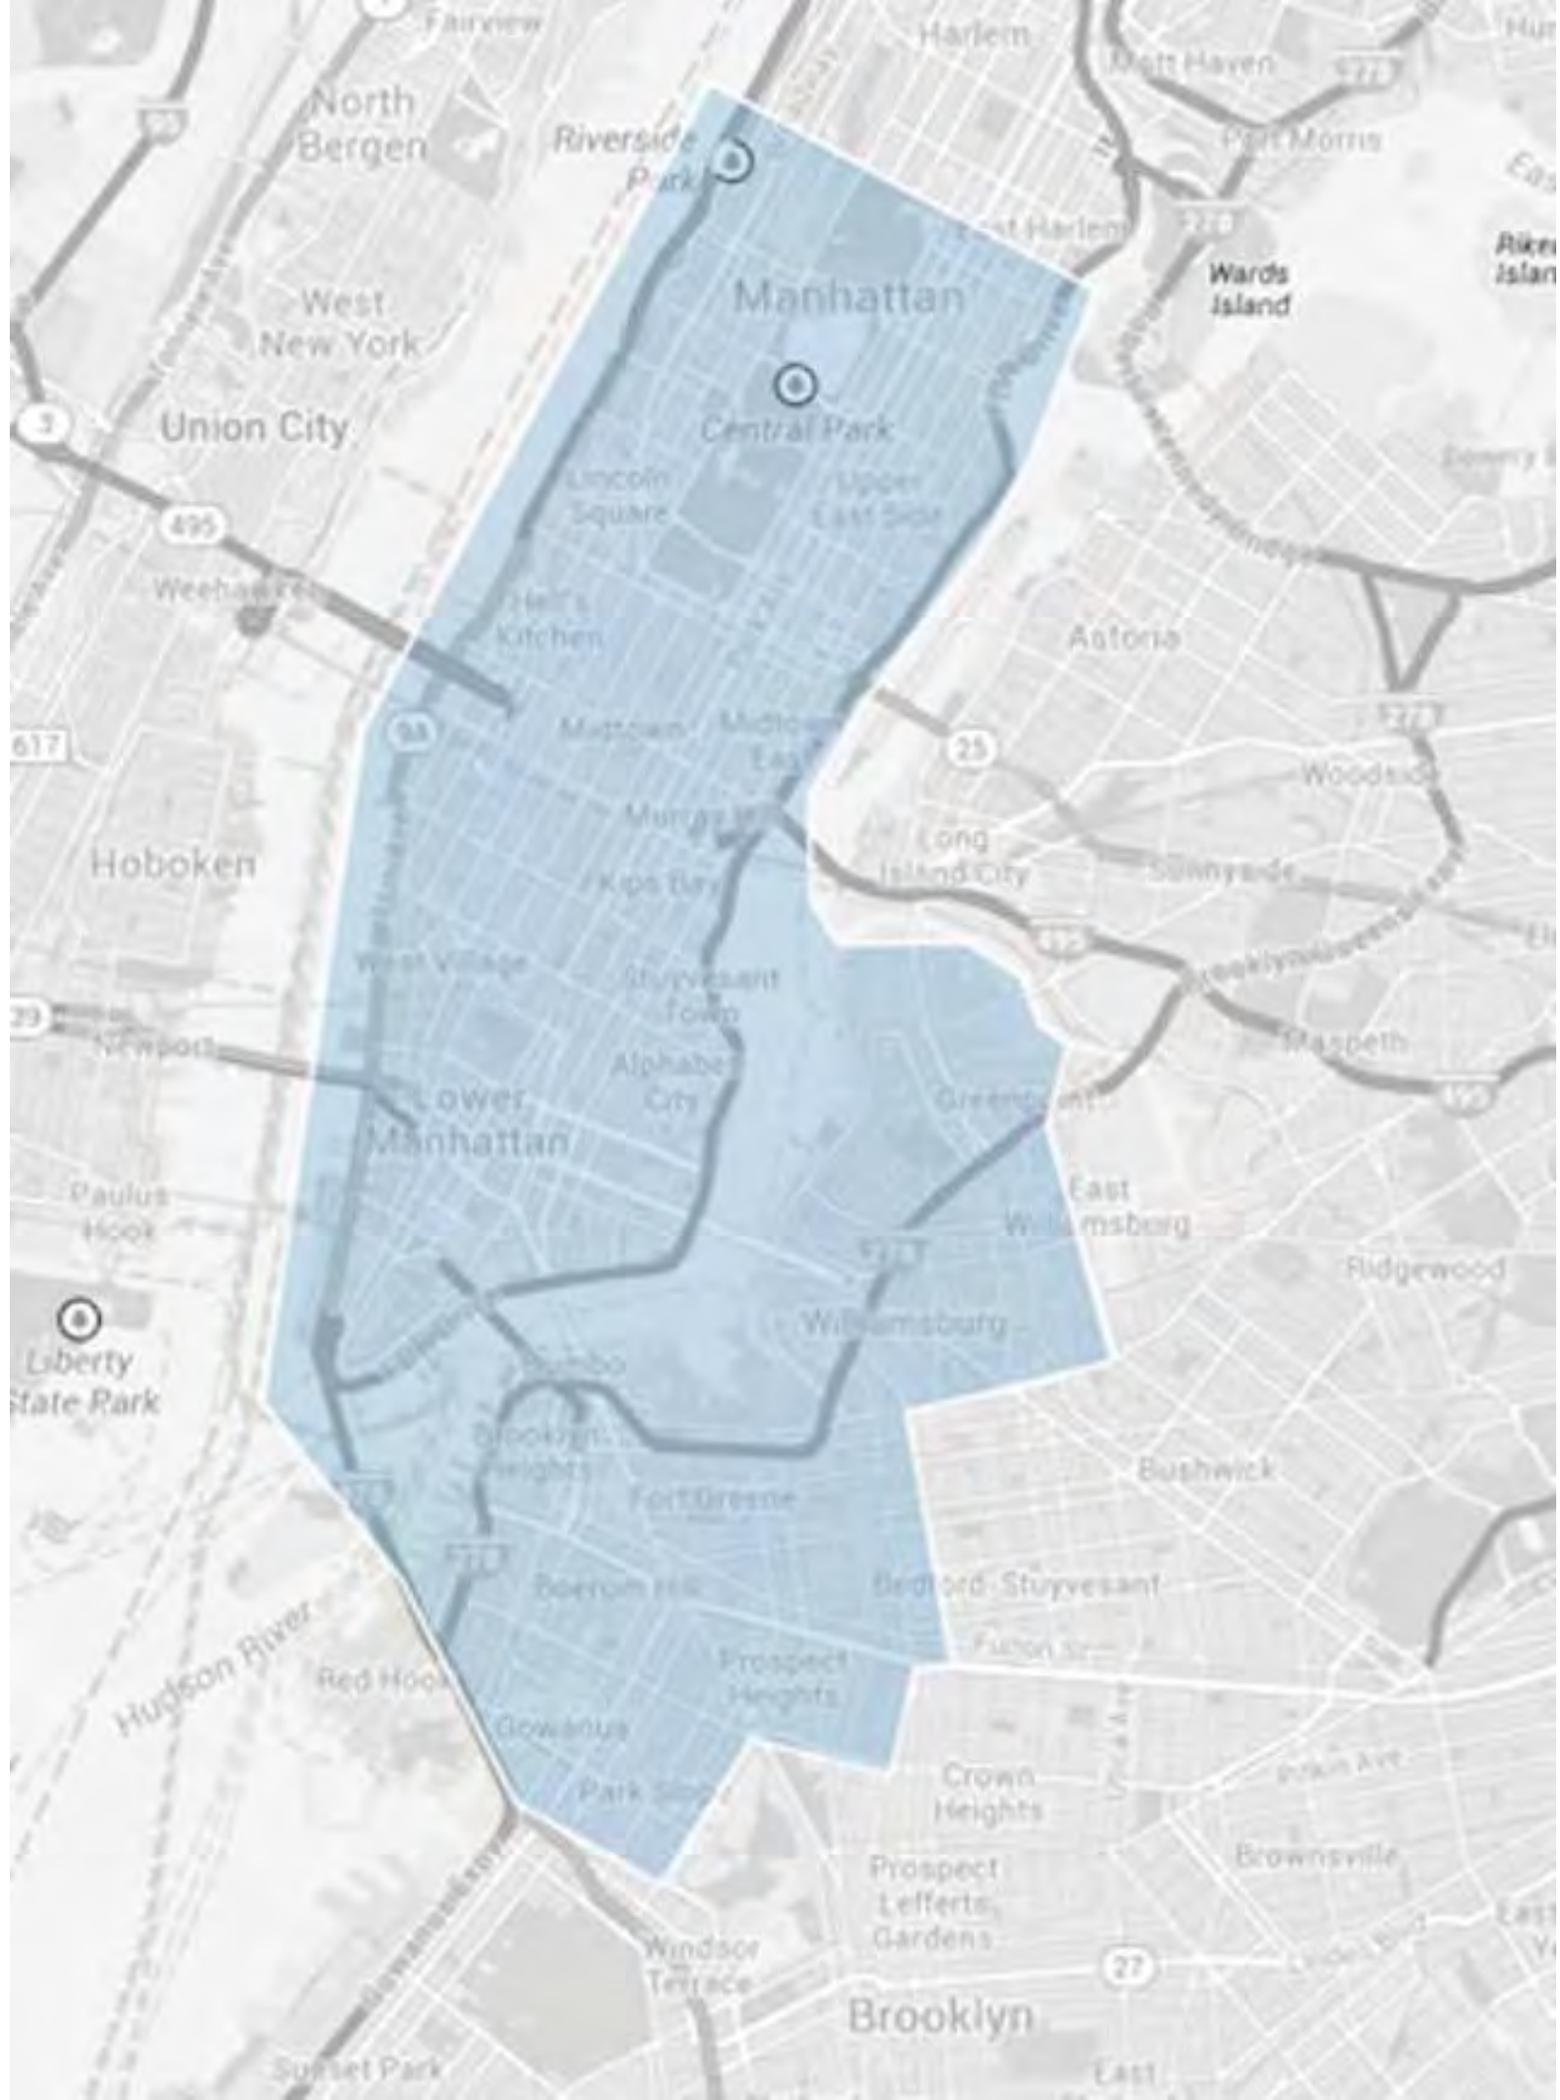

Meanwhile, Uber has argued vehemently that their drivers do not contribute to congestion in Manhattan's busiest corridors. Instead, they posit that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons. (Bloomberg News reports that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.") In an interview with Fusion earlier this week, Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer stressed that "Uber encourages the use of mass transit (especially in the outer boroughs) by providing a 'last mile' link to the subway." Interestingly, Mohrer frets that the cap will result in the same Manhattan-centric strategy Uber implemented last fall. In this context, it's used as a threat: "If you supply-constrain Uber, it too will eventually become unreliable. Vehicles will focus on the high end in midtown Manhattan, rather than the outer boroughs," he said.

And this morning, Uber shared its usage data from June 1st through July 19th, which shows that although there are 20,448 registered Ubers in New York City (compared to 13,587 licensed yellow cabs and 8,043 green cabs), on average, in the last month and a half, only 1,904 of them were on the road in Manhattan below 59th Street, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. In a statement accompanying these numbers, Mohrer accused de Blasio of withholding information. "For months, we have provided the de Blasio administration with data that shows this exact same trend," he said. "Yet apparently the Mayor's approach was to hide this data from the public and blame Manhattan's congestion on Uber even when his own facts show the exact opposite."

Uber also loves to point out that, according to the 2014 Taxi Cab Fact Book, 94% of yellow cab rides originate in Manhattan, or at one of the city's airports.

Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams spoke out against the Uber cap yesterday, on the grounds that the app serves minority communities in the outer boroughs. "One of the biggest struggles I had was the fact that many people who were in the yellow cab industry were too yellow to come to Brooklyn," he told reporters, at an Uber job fair in Long Island City. "Many of you... provided a service that was absent to many people who lived in the outer boroughs. Your story is the American Dream." But several other advocacy groups, including New York Communities for Change, Make the Road New York, the Black Institute, will rally outside of City Hall this afternoon, on the grounds that "Uber's mostly white male leadership is spreading illogical assertions that legislation to cap for-hire-vehicles will affect underserved outer-boroughs and communities of color."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

From: Clips
Subject: GOTHAMIST: Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 10:53:48 AM

---

Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn

GOTHAMIST – Emma Whitford

http://gothamist.com/2015/07/22/uber\_fight\_day\_5782.php

A mass e-mail sent to new Uber drivers in New York City late last fall encouraged those drivers to "position" themselves in the "busiest areas of the city"—Manhattan below the north end of Central Park, plus a swath of Brooklyn from Greenpoint south to Park Slope—if they hoped to receive a "guaranteed" $5,000 for their first full month of driving.

The e-mail states: "If you are found avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee."

An Uber spokesperson confirmed that this particular incentive was only in place between October and December of last year. The Mayor's office counters that, regardless, the incentive (which was also published on Uber's website, and is still outlined on the app's Newsroom page) contradicts the message that Uber has been sending in recent weeks—that Uber fills a void in the outer boroughs, where taxis "often refuse people in minority neighborhoods."

De Blasio spokesman Wiley Norvell said of the incentive, "It takes some serious duplicity to run millions of dollars in ads talking about a five borough city, while pushing and paying drivers to spend all their time in lower Manhattan and a small fraction of Brooklyn." He added, "This multi-billion dollar corporation is not being straight with New Yorkers. Far from solving inequities, these practices just augment them." Norvell also pointed out that the three month promotion encompassed several of New York's official gridlock alert days, when the DOT encourages New Yorkers to take public transit in Manhattan.

Here is Uber's cheeky response to the Mayor's office, in full:

"Last time I checked, Hell's Kitchen to East Harlem was not 'lower Manhattan' and Park Slope to Greenpoint was not just a small fraction of Brooklyn. This was a short-term incentive to meet high demand during the holiday season and has not been in effect anytime this year. During the short time it was in place, reliable rides were still readily available in the outer boroughs."

Included in Uber's map of "busiest areas" is Manhattan's Central Business District below 60th Street, which has been central to the TLC and DOT's argument in favor of capping the growth of for-hire vehicles [FHV] until next April. At a City Council hearing last month, the TLC and DOT pointed out that since 2011, the number of licensed FHV in the city has jumped 66% from 25,000 to 63,000—specifically in the already-congested Manhattan CBD where, according to DOT data, 72% of FHV pickups take place.

Under the proposed legislation, which will likely go to a vote on Thursday, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and April 2016.

Meanwhile, Uber has argued vehemently that their drivers do not contribute to congestion in Manhattan's busiest corridors. Instead, they posit that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons. (Bloomberg News reports that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.")

In an interview with Fusion earlier this week, Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer stressed that "Uber encourages the use of mass transit (especially in the outer boroughs) by providing a 'last mile' link to the subway." Interestingly, Mohrer frets that the cap will result in the same Manhattan-centric strategy Uber implemented last fall. In this context, it's used as a threat: "If you supply-constrain Uber, it too will eventually become unreliable. Vehicles will focus on the high end in midtown Manhattan, rather than the outer boroughs," he said.

And this morning, Uber shared its usage data from June 1st through July 19th, which shows that although there are 20,448 registered Ubers in New York City (compared to 13,587 licensed yellow cabs and 8,043 green cabs), on average, in the last month and a half, only 1,904 of them were on the road in Manhattan below 59th Street, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

In a statement accompanying these numbers, Mohrer accused de Blasio of withholding information. "For months, we have provided the de Blasio administration with data that shows this exact same trend," he said. "Yet apparently the Mayor's approach was to hide this data from the public and blame Manhattan's congestion on Uber even when his own facts show the exact opposite."

Uber also loves to point out that, according to the 2014 Taxi Cab Fact Book, 94% of yellow cab rides originate in Manhattan, or at one of the city's airports.

Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams spoke out against the Uber cap yesterday, on the grounds that the app serves minority communities in the outer boroughs. "One of the biggest struggles I had was the fact that many people who were in the yellow cab industry were too yellow to come to Brooklyn," he told reporters, at an Uber job fair in Long Island City. "Many of you... provided a service that was absent to many people who lived in the outer boroughs. Your story is the American Dream."

But several other advocacy groups, including New York Communities for Change, Make the Road New York, the Black Institute, will rally outside of City Hall this afternoon, on the grounds that "Uber's mostly white male leadership is spreading illogical assertions that legislation to cap for-hire-vehicles will affect underserved outer-boroughs and communities of color."

From: Norvell Wiley
To: mgkramer@cbs2ny.com
Subject: FW: Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:12:03 AM
Attachments: image002.png

---

http://gothamist.com/2015/07/22/uber\_fight\_day\_5782.php
Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn

BY EMMA WHITFORD IN NEWS ON JUL 22, 2015 10:48 AM

(Jean Phillippe WALLETT/Shutterstock)

A mass e-mail sent to new Uber drivers in New York City late last fall encouraged those drivers to "position" themselves in the "busiest areas of the city"—Manhattan below the north end of Central Park, plus a swath of Brooklyn from Greenpoint south to Park Slope—if they hoped to receive a "guaranteed" $5,000 for their first full month of driving. The e-mail states: "If you are found avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee."

Map presented to new Uber drivers last December, incentivizing them to position themselves in the highlighted areas (via Uber)

An Uber spokesperson confirmed that this particular incentive was only in place between October and December of last year. The Mayor's office counters that, regardless, the incentive (which was also published on Uber's website, and is still outlined on the app's Newsroom page) contradicts the message that Uber has been sending in recent weeks—that Uber fills a void in the outer boroughs, where taxis "often refuse people in minority neighborhoods."

De Blasio spokesman Wiley Norvell said of the incentive, "It takes some serious duplicity to run millions of dollars in ads talking about a five borough city, while pushing and paying drivers to spend all their time in lower Manhattan and a small fraction of Brooklyn." He added, "This multi-billion dollar corporation is not being straight with New Yorkers. Far from solving inequities, these practices just augment them." Norvell also pointed out that the three month promotion encompassed several of New York's official gridlock alert days, when the DOT encourages New Yorkers to take public transit in Manhattan.

Here is Uber's cheeky response to the Mayor's office, in full:

"Last time I checked, Hell's Kitchen to East Harlem was not 'lower Manhattan' and Park Slope to Greenpoint was not just a small fraction of Brooklyn. This was a short-term incentive to meet high demand during the holiday season and has not been in effect anytime this year. During the short time it was in place, reliable rides were still readily available in the outer boroughs."

Included in Uber's map of "busiest areas" is Manhattan's Central Business District below 60th Street, which has been central to the TLC and DOT's argument in favor of capping the growth of for-hire vehicles [FHVs] until next April. At a City Council hearing last month, the TLC and DOT pointed out that since 2011, the number of licensed FHVs in the city has jumped 66% from 25,000 to 63,000—specifically in the already-congested Manhattan CBD where, according to DOT data, 72% of FHV pickups take place.

Under the proposed legislation, which will likely go to a vote on Thursday, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and April 2016.

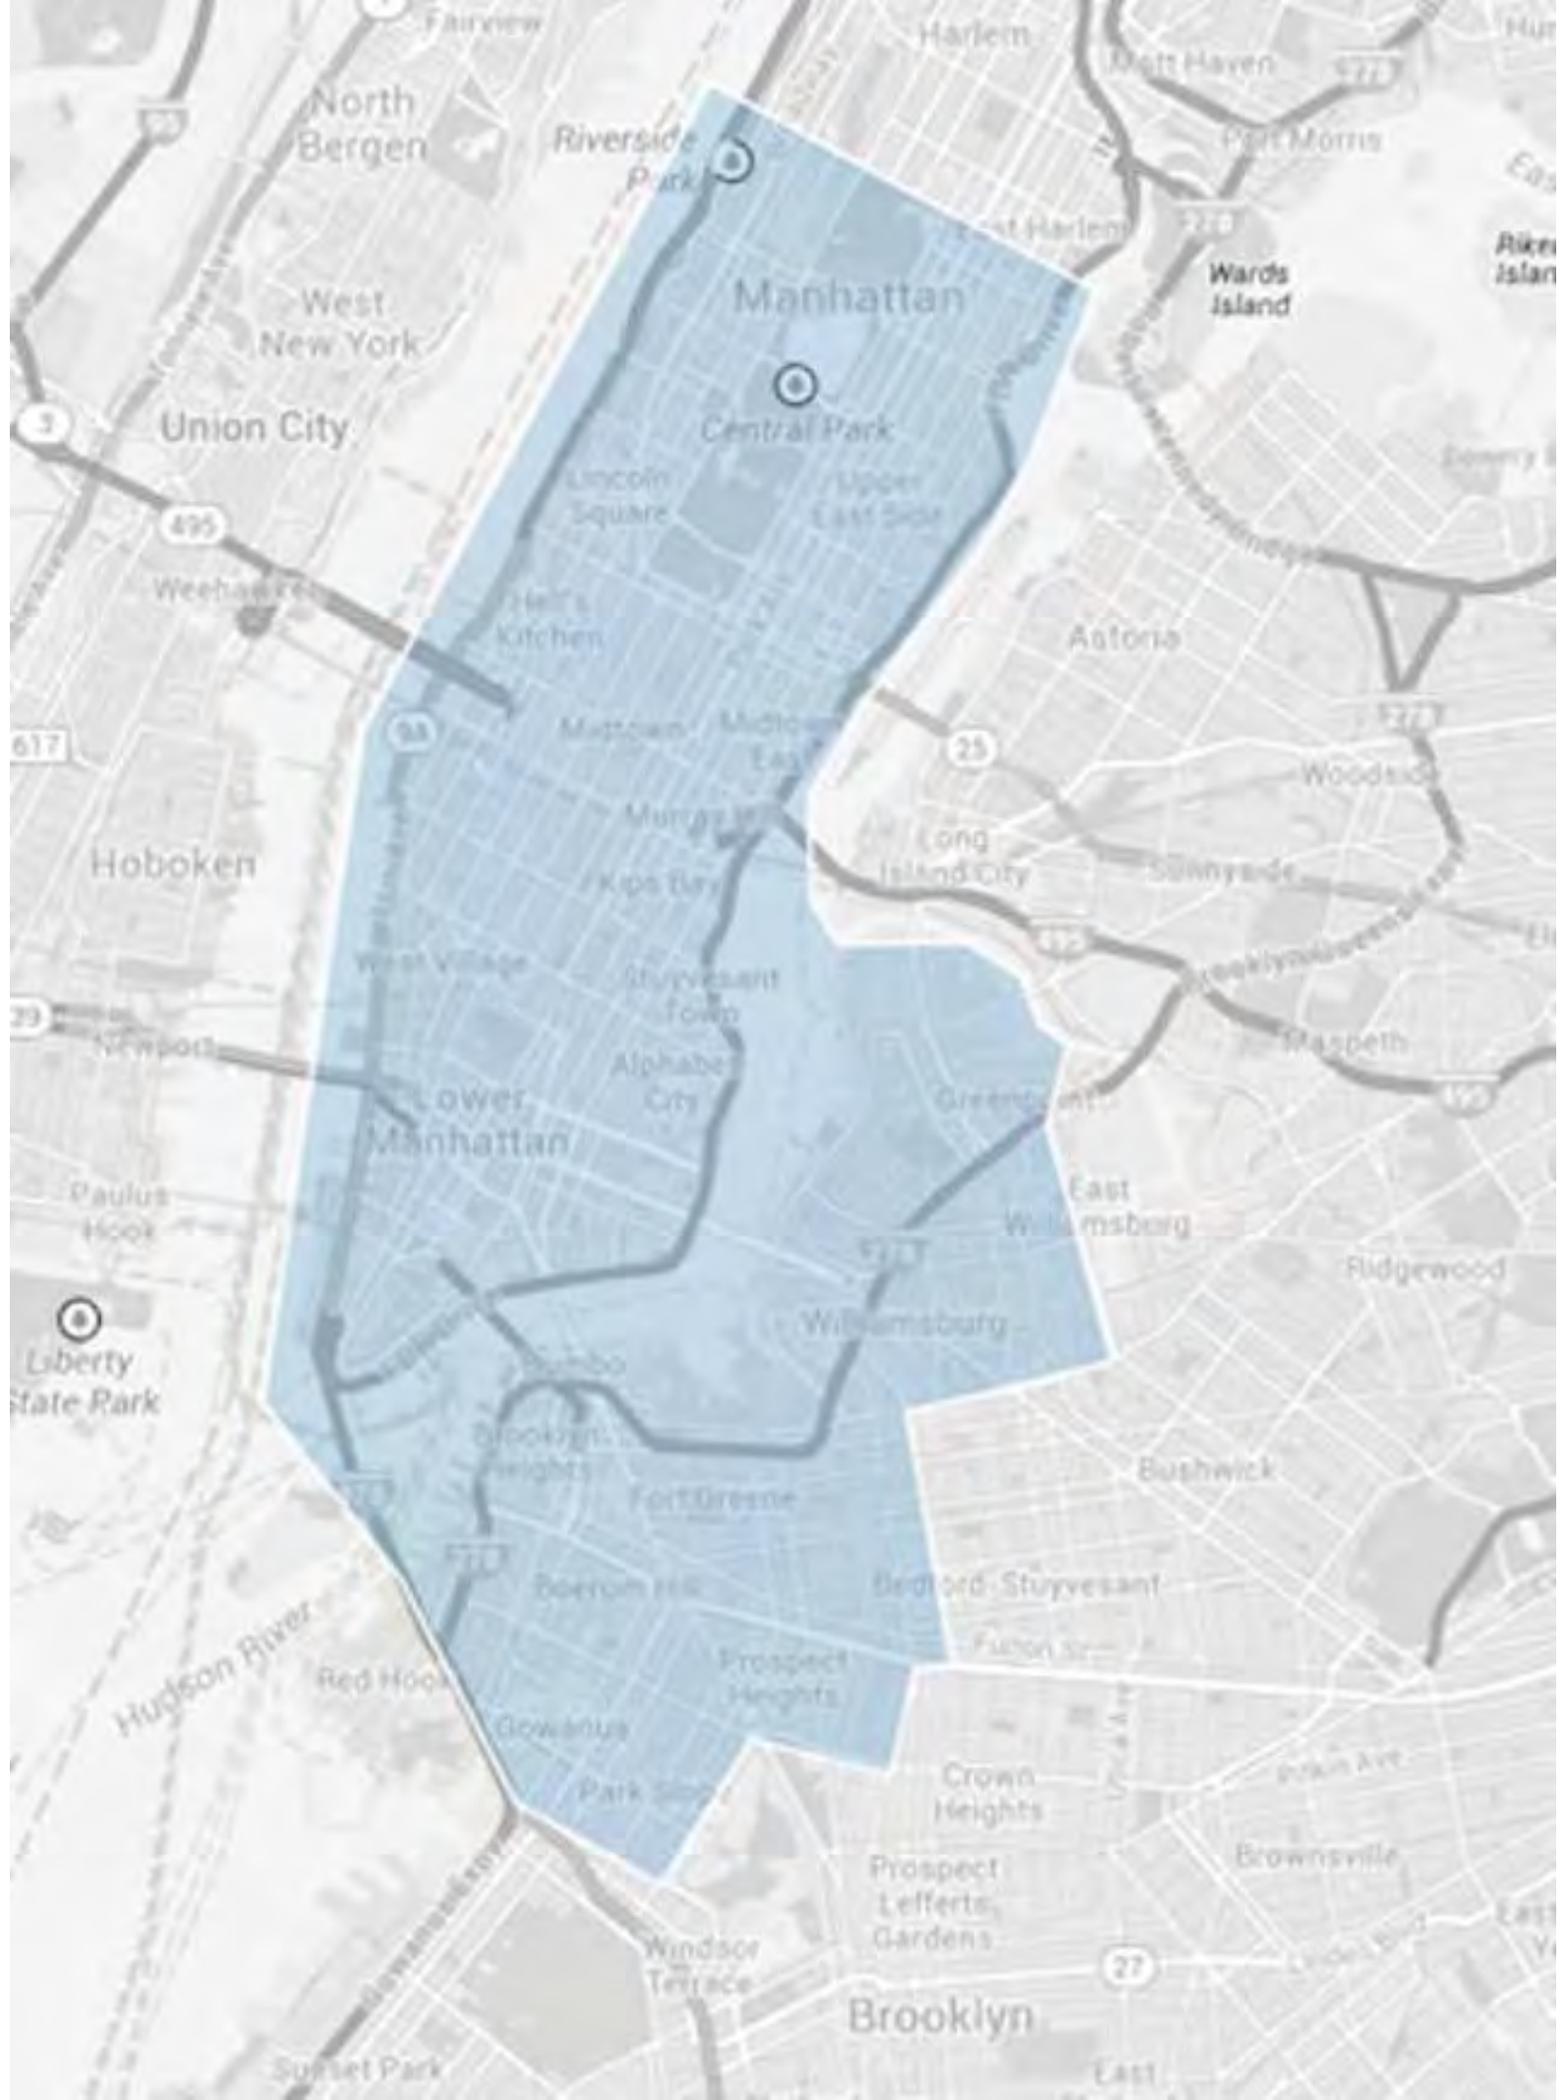

Meanwhile, Uber has argued vehemently that their drivers do not contribute to congestion in Manhattan's busiest corridors. Instead, they posit that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons. (Bloomberg News reports that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.") In an interview with Fusion earlier this week, Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer stressed that "Uber encourages the use of mass transit (especially in the outer boroughs) by providing a 'last mile' link to the subway." Interestingly, Mohrer frets that the cap will result in the same Manhattan-centric strategy Uber implemented last fall. In this context, it's used as a threat: "If you supply-constrain Uber, it too will eventually become unreliable. Vehicles will focus on the high end in midtown Manhattan, rather than the outer boroughs," he said.

And this morning, Uber shared its usage data from June 1st through July 19th, which shows that although there are 20,448 registered Ubers in New York City (compared to 13,587 licensed yellow cabs and 8,043 green cabs), on average, in the last month and a half, only 1,904 of them were on the road in Manhattan below 59th Street, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. In a statement accompanying these numbers, Mohrer accused de Blasio of withholding information. "For months, we have provided the de Blasio administration with data that shows this exact same trend," he said. "Yet apparently the Mayor's approach was to hide this data from the public and blame Manhattan's congestion on Uber even when his own facts show the exact opposite."

Uber also loves to point out that, according to the 2014 Taxi Cab Fact Book, 94% of yellow cab rides originate in Manhattan, or at one of the city's airports.

Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams spoke out against the Uber cap yesterday, on the grounds that the app serves minority communities in the outer boroughs. "One of the biggest struggles I had was the fact that many people who were in the yellow cab industry were too yellow to come to Brooklyn," he told reporters, at an Uber job fair in Long Island City. "Many of you... provided a service that was absent to many people who lived in the outer boroughs. Your story is the American Dream." But several other advocacy groups, including New York Communities for Change, Make the Road New York, the Black Institute, will rally outside of City Hall this afternoon, on the grounds that "Uber's mostly white male leadership is spreading illogical assertions that legislation to cap for-hire-vehicles will affect underserved outer-boroughs and communities of color."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

From: Norvell Wiley
To: "Mark.Crudele@abc.com"
Subject: FW: Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:12:13 AM
Attachments: image002.png

---

Dude!!

http://gothamist.com/2015/07/22/uber\_fight\_day\_5782.php
Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn

BY EMMA WHITFORD IN NEWS ON JUL 22, 2015 10:48 AM

(Jean Phillippe WALLEY/Shutterstock)

A mass e-mail sent to new Uber drivers in New York City late last fall encouraged those drivers to "position" themselves in the "busiest areas of the city"—Manhattan below the north end of Central Park, plus a swath of Brooklyn from Greenpoint south to Park Slope—if they hoped to receive a "guaranteed" $5,000 for their first full month of driving. The e-mail states: "If you are found avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee."

Map presented to new Uber drivers last December, incentivizing them to position themselves in the highlighted areas (via Uber)

An Uber spokesperson confirmed that this particular incentive was only in place between October and December of last year. The Mayor's office counters that, regardless, the incentive (which was also published on Uber's website, and is still outlined on the app's Newsroom page) contradicts the message that Uber has been sending in recent weeks—that Uber fills a void in the outer boroughs, where taxis "often refuse people in minority neighborhoods."

De Blasio spokesman Wiley Norvell said of the incentive, "It takes some serious duplicity to run millions of dollars in ads talking about a five borough city, while pushing and paying drivers to spend all their time in lower Manhattan and a small fraction of Brooklyn." He added, "This multi-billion dollar corporation is not being straight with New Yorkers. Far from solving inequities, these practices just augment them." Norvell also pointed out that the three month promotion encompassed several of New York's official gridlock alert days, when the DOT encourages New Yorkers to take public transit in Manhattan.

Here is Uber's cheeky response to the Mayor's office, in full:

"Last time I checked, Hell's Kitchen to East Harlem was not 'lower Manhattan' and Park Slope to Greenpoint was not just a small fraction of Brooklyn. This was a short-term incentive to meet high demand during the holiday season and has not been in effect anytime this year. During the short time it was in place, reliable rides were still readily available in the outer boroughs."

Included in Uber's map of "busiest areas" is Manhattan's Central Business District below 60th Street, which has been central to the TLC and DOT's argument in favor of capping the growth of for-hire vehicles [FHVs] until next April. At a City Council hearing last month, the TLC and DOT pointed out that since 2011, the number of licensed FHVs in the city has jumped 66% from 25,000 to 63,000—specifically in the already-congested Manhattan CBD where, according to DOT data, 72% of FHV pickups take place.

Under the proposed legislation, which will likely go to a vote on Thursday, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and April 2016.

Meanwhile, Uber has argued vehemently that their drivers do not contribute to congestion in Manhattan's busiest corridors. Instead, they posit that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons. (Bloomberg News reports that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.") In an interview with Fusion earlier this week, Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer stressed that "Uber encourages the use of mass transit (especially in the outer boroughs) by providing a 'last mile' link to the subway." Interestingly, Mohrer frets that the cap will result in the same Manhattan-centric strategy Uber implemented last fall. In this context, it's used as a threat: "If you supply-constrain Uber, it too will eventually become unreliable. Vehicles will focus on the high end in midtown Manhattan, rather than the outer boroughs," he said.

And this morning, Uber shared its usage data from June 1st through July 19th, which shows that although there are 20,448 registered Ubers in New York City (compared to 13,587 licensed yellow cabs and 8,043 green cabs), on average, in the last month and a half, only 1,904 of them were on the road in Manhattan below 59th Street, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. In a statement accompanying these numbers, Mohrer accused de Blasio of withholding information. "For months, we have provided the de Blasio administration with data that shows this exact same trend," he said. "Yet apparently the Mayor's approach was to hide this data from the public and blame Manhattan's congestion on Uber even when his own facts show the exact opposite."

Uber also loves to point out that, according to the 2014 Taxi Cab Fact Book, 94% of yellow cab rides originate in Manhattan, or at one of the city's airports.

Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams spoke out against the Uber cap yesterday, on the grounds that the app serves minority communities in the outer boroughs. "One of the biggest struggles I had was the fact that many people who were in the yellow cab industry were too yellow to come to Brooklyn," he told reporters, at an Uber job fair in Long Island City. "Many of you... provided a service that was absent to many people who lived in the outer boroughs. Your story is the American Dream." But several other advocacy groups, including New York Communities for Change, Make the Road New York, the Black Institute, will rally outside of City Hall this afternoon, on the grounds that "Uber's mostly white male leadership is spreading illogical assertions that legislation to cap for-hire-vehicles will affect underserved outer-boroughs and communities of color."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

From: Siff, Andrew \(NBCUniversal\)
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:13:19 AM
Attachments: image002.png

---

Melissa is handling this today brutha!

> On Jul 22, 2015, at 11:12 AM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
>
> Dude!
>
> http://gothamist.com/2015/07/22/uber\_fight\_day\_5782.php
> Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
> BY EMMA WHITFORD<<http://gothamist.com/author/Emma%20Whitford>> IN NEWS<<http://gothamist.com/news>> ON JUL 22, 2015 10:48 AM
> [Description: 072215uber.jpg]
> (Jean Phillippe WALLET/Shutterstock)
>
> A mass e-mail sent to new Uber drivers in New York City late last fall encouraged those drivers to
"position" themselves in the "busiest areas of the city"—Manhattan below the north end of Central Park, plus a swath of Brooklyn from Greenpoint south to Park Slope—if they hoped to receive a "guaranteed"
$5,000 for their first full month of driving.
>
> The e-mail states: "If you are found avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee."
> [Description: 072215UberMap2.png]
> Map presented to new Uber drivers last December, incentivizing them to "position" themselves in the highlighted areas (via Uber)
>
> An Uber spokesperson confirmed that this particular incentive was only in place between October and December of last year. The Mayor's office counters that, regardless, the incentive (which was also published on Uber's website, and is still outlined on the app's Newsroom page<<http://newsroom.uber.com/nyc/2014/09/make-5000-per-month-for-the-rest-of-the-year/>>) contradicts the message that Uber has been sending in recent weeks—that Uber fills a void in the outer boroughs, where taxis "often refuse people in minority neighborhoods."
>
> De Blasio spokesman Wiley Norvell said of the incentive, "It takes some serious duplicity to run millions of dollars in ads talking about a five borough city, while pushing and paying drivers to spend all their time in lower Manhattan and a small fraction of Brooklyn." He added, "This multi-billion dollar corporation is not being straight with New Yorkers. Far from solving inequities, these practices just augment them." Norvell also pointed out that the three month promotion encompassed several of New York's official gridlock alert days<<http://www.myfoxny.com/story/27448446/gridlock-alert-days>>, when the DOT encourages New Yorkers to take public transit in Manhattan.
>
> Here is Uber's cheeky response to the Mayor's office, in full:
> "Last time I checked, Hell's Kitchen to East Harlem was not 'lower Manhattan' and Park Slope to Greenpoint was not just a small fraction of Brooklyn. This was a short-term incentive to meet high demand during the holiday season and has not been in effect anytime this year. During the short time it was in place, reliable rides were still readily available in the outer boroughs."
>
> Included in Uber's map of "busiest areas" is Manhattan's Central Business District below 60th Street, which has been central to the TLC and DOT's argument in favor of capping the growth of for-hire vehicles [FHV] until next April. At a City Council hearing last month, the TLC and DOT pointed out<http://gothamist.com/2015/07/01/uber\_is\_furious\_that\_the\_city\_counc.php> that since 2011, the number of licensed FHV in the city has jumped 66% from 25,000 to 63,000—specifically in the alreadycongested Manhattan CBD where, according to DOT data, 72% of FHV pickups take place.
>
> Under the proposed legislation, which will likely go to a vote on Thursday, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and April 2016.

>

> Meanwhile, Uber has argued vehemently that their drivers do not contribute to congestion in Manhattan's busiest corridors. Instead, they posit that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons<<http://newsroom.uber.com/nyc/2015/06/killing-10000-nyc-jobs-with-one-taxi-backed-bill/>>. (Bloomberg News reports<<http://www.bloomberg.com/politics/articles/2015-07-01/nyc-council-joins-de-blasio-war-on-uber-with-bid-to-limit-growth>> that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.")

>

> In an interview with Fusion<<http://fusion.net/story/170159/uber-mohrer-deblasio/>> earlier this week, Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer stressed that "Uber encourages the use of mass transit (especially in the outer boroughs) by providing a 'last mile' link to the subway." Interestingly, Mohrer frets that the cap will result in the same Manhattan-centric strategy Uber implemented last fall. In this context, it's used as a threat: "If you supply-constrain Uber, it too will eventually become unreliable. Vehicles will focus on the high end in midtown Manhattan, rather than the outer boroughs," he said.

>

> And this morning, Uber shared its usage data from June 1st through July 19th<<http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/editorial-bill-phony-uber-stats-article-1.2299587>>, which shows that although there are 20,448 registered Ubers in New York City (compared to 13,587 licensed yellow cabs and 8,043 green cabs), on average, in the last month and a half, only 1,904 of them were on the road in Manhattan below 59th Street, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

>

> In a statement accompanying these numbers, Mohrer accused de Blasio of withholding information. "For months, we have provided the de Blasio administration with data that shows this exact same trend," he said. "Yet apparently the Mayor's approach was to hide this data from the public and blame Manhattan's congestion on Uber even when his own facts show the exact opposite."

>

> Uber also loves to point out that, according to the 2014 Taxi Cab Fact Book<http://www.nyc.gov/html/tlc/downloads/pdf/2014\_taxicab\_fact\_book.pdf>, 94% of yellow cab rides originate in Manhattan, or at one of the city's airports.

>

> Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams spoke out against the Uber cap yesterday, on the grounds that the app serves minority communities in the outer boroughs. "One of the biggest struggles I had was the fact that many people who were in the yellow cab industry were too yellow to come to Brooklyn," he told reporters, at an Uber job fair in Long Island City<http://gothamist.com/2015/07/21/uber\_job\_fair\_free\_food\_stunt.php>. "Many of you... provided a service that was absent to many people who lived in the outer boroughs. Your story is the American Dream."

>

> But several other advocacy groups, including New York Communities for Change, Make the Road New York, the Black Institute, will rally outside of City Hall this afternoon, on the grounds that "Uber's mostly white male leadership is spreading illogical assertions that legislation to cap for-hire-vehicles will affect underserved outer-boroughs and communities of color."

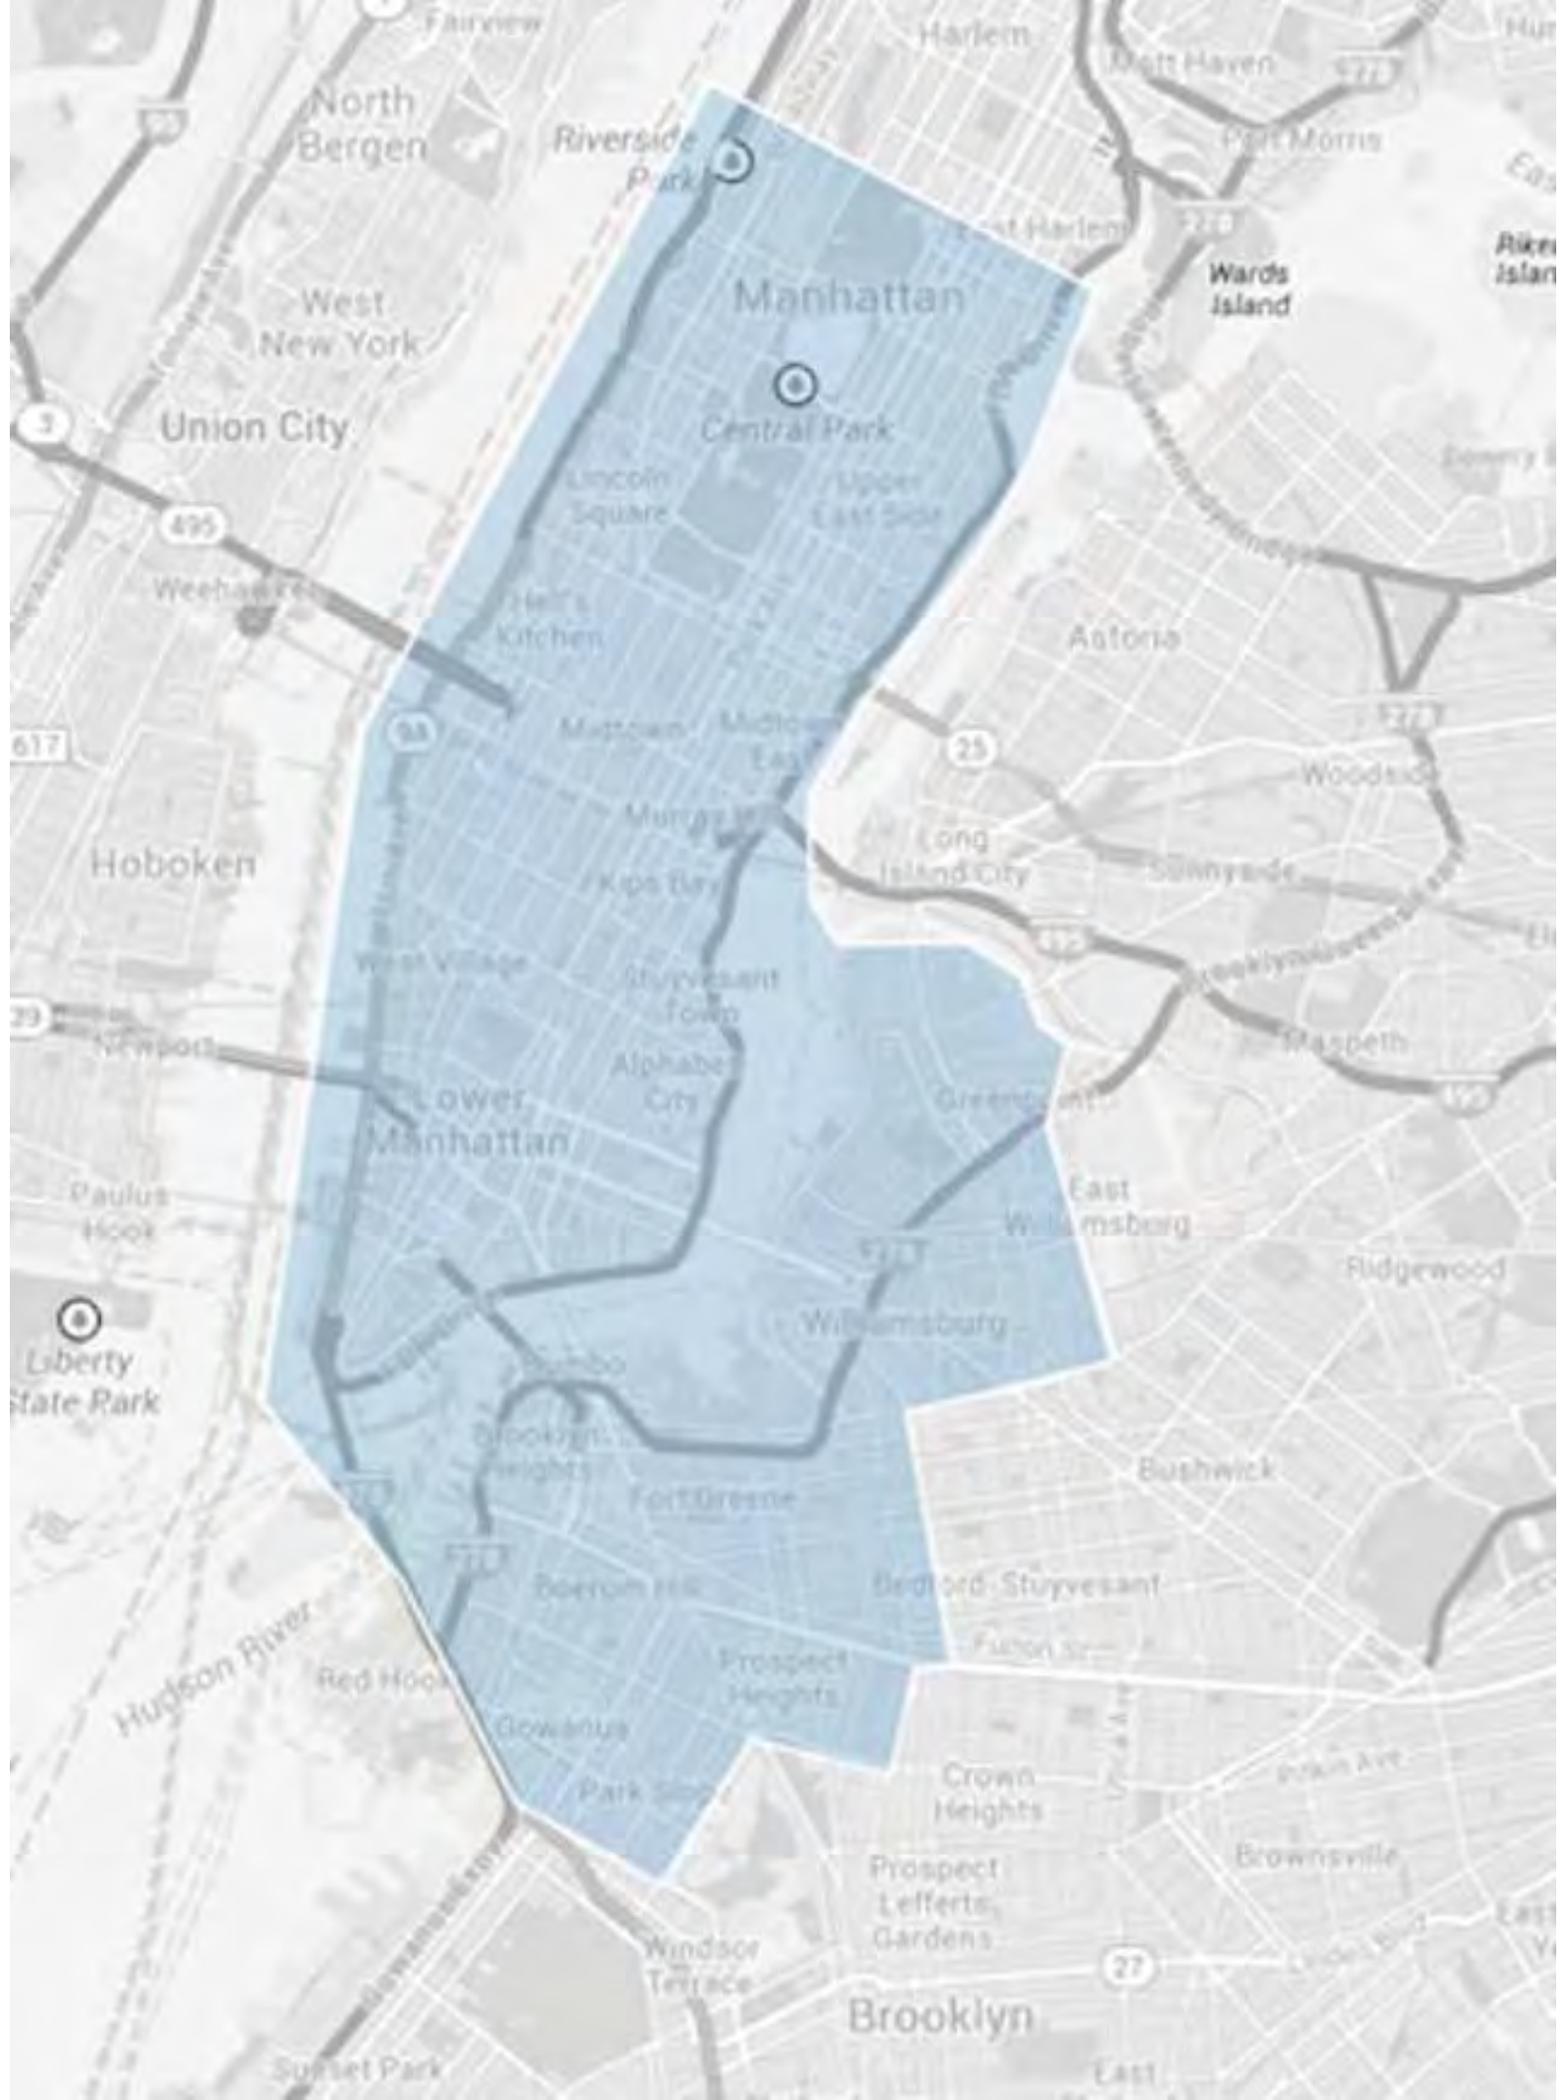

>

>

> Wiley Norvell
> Deputy Press Secretary
> Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
> (212) 788-2958
> (917) 428-8307 (mobile)
> wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov<<mailto:wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>>
> @wileynorvell

>

> <image001.jpg>
> <image002.png>

From: Norvell Wiley
To: "melissa.russo@nbcuni.com"
Subject: FW: Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:13:52 AM
Attachments: image002.png

---

!

http://gothamist.com/2015/07/22/uber\_fight\_day\_5782.php
Gothamist--Uber Rewarded Drivers Who Avoided Boroughs Beyond Manhattan & Yupster Brooklyn

BY EMMA WHITFORD IN NEWS ON JUL 22, 2015 10:48 AM

(Jean Phillippe WALLET/Shutterstock)

A mass e-mail sent to new Uber drivers in New York City late last fall encouraged those drivers to "position" themselves in the "busiest areas of the city"—Manhattan below the north end of Central Park, plus a swath of Brooklyn from Greenpoint south to Park Slope—if they hoped to receive a "guaranteed" $5,000 for their first full month of driving. The e-mail states: "If you are found avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee."

Map presented to new Uber drivers last December, incentivizing them to position themselves in the highlighted areas (via Uber)

An Uber spokesperson confirmed that this particular incentive was only in place between October and December of last year. The Mayor's office counters that, regardless, the incentive (which was also published on Uber's website, and is still outlined on the app's Newsroom page) contradicts the message that Uber has been sending in recent weeks—that Uber fills a void in the outer boroughs, where taxis "often refuse people in minority neighborhoods."

De Blasio spokesman Wiley Norvell said of the incentive, "It takes some serious duplicity to run millions of dollars in ads talking about a five borough city, while pushing and paying drivers to spend all their time in lower Manhattan and a small fraction of Brooklyn." He added, "This multi-billion dollar corporation is not being straight with New Yorkers. Far from solving inequities, these practices just augment them." Norvell also pointed out that the three month promotion encompassed several of New York's official gridlock alert days, when the DOT encourages New Yorkers to take public transit in Manhattan.

Here is Uber's cheeky response to the Mayor's office, in full:

"Last time I checked, Hell's Kitchen to East Harlem was not 'lower Manhattan' and Park Slope to Greenpoint was not just a small fraction of Brooklyn. This was a short-term incentive to meet high demand during the holiday season and has not been in effect anytime this year. During the short time it was in place, reliable rides were still readily available in the outer boroughs."

Included in Uber's map of "busiest areas" is Manhattan's Central Business District below 60th Street, which has been central to the TLC and DOT's argument in favor of capping the growth of for-hire vehicles [FHVs] until next April. At a City Council hearing last month, the TLC and DOT pointed out that since 2011, the number of licensed FHVs in the city has jumped 66% from 25,000 to 63,000—specifically in the already-congested Manhattan CBD where, according to DOT data, 72% of FHV pickups take place.

Under the proposed legislation, which will likely go to a vote on Thursday, Uber would only be allowed to add 200 additional drivers to its platform between now and April 2016.

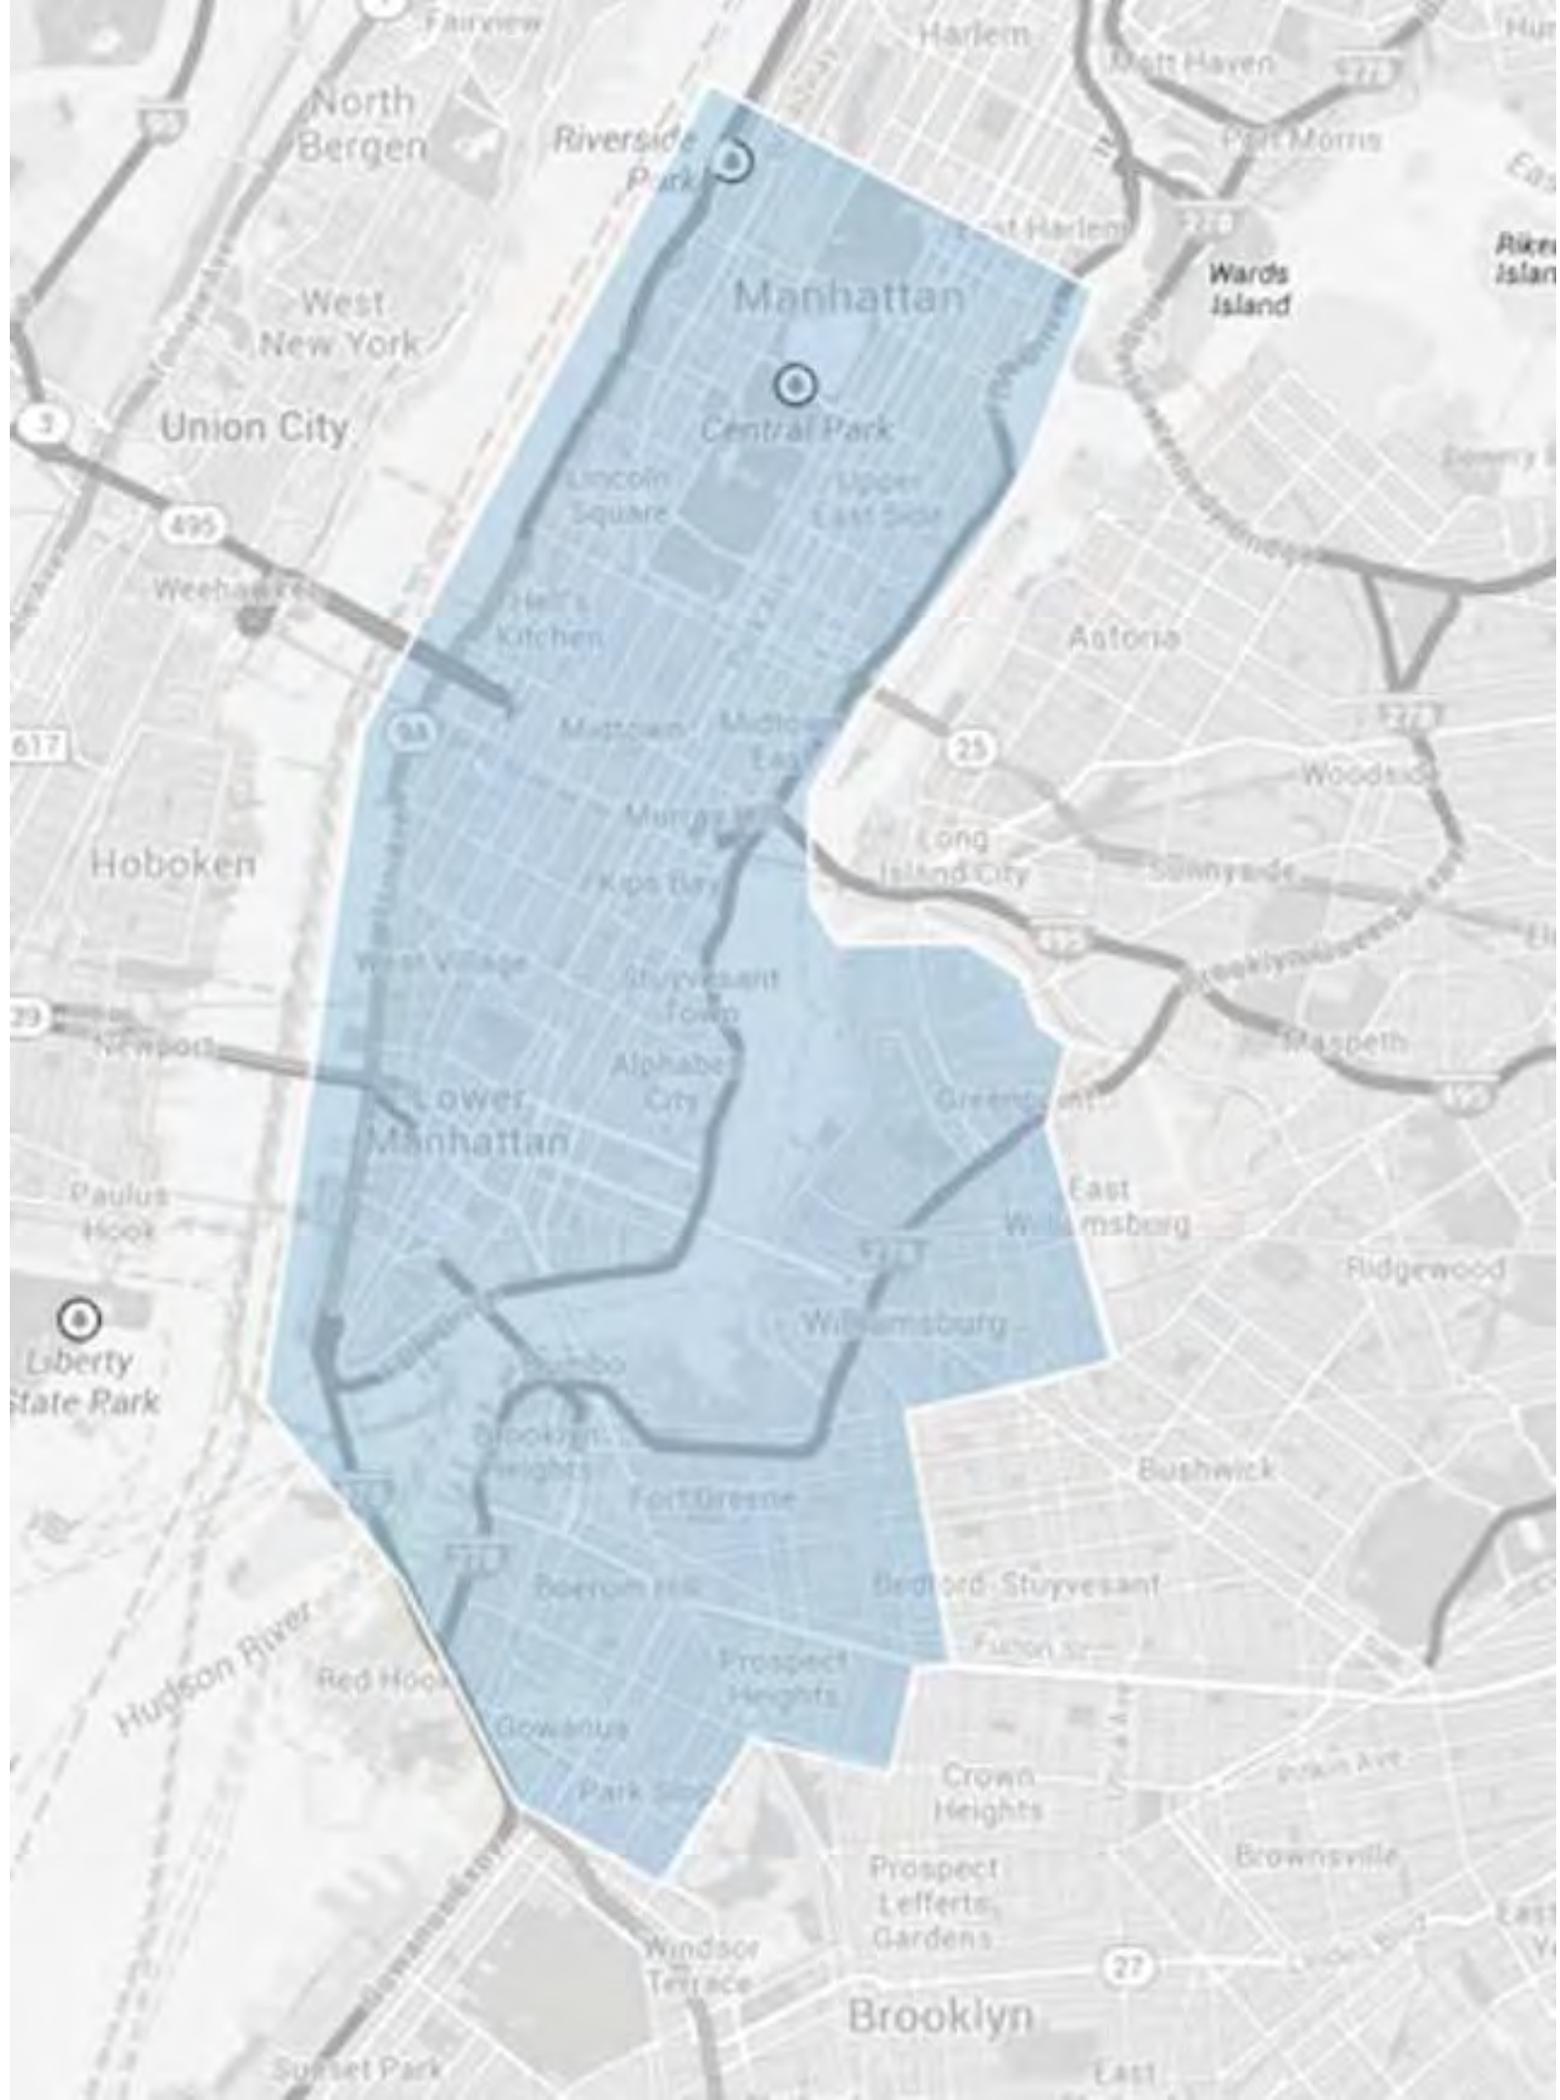

Meanwhile, Uber has argued vehemently that their drivers do not contribute to congestion in Manhattan's busiest corridors. Instead, they posit that de Blasio is acting under pressure from taxi barons. (Bloomberg News reports that de Blasio received over $500,000 in campaign donations in 2013 for his mayoral campaign from the "traditional taxi and limousine industry.") In an interview with Fusion earlier this week, Uber's New York GM Josh Mohrer stressed that "Uber encourages the use of mass transit (especially in the outer boroughs) by providing a 'last mile' link to the subway." Interestingly, Mohrer frets that the cap will result in the same Manhattan-centric strategy Uber implemented last fall. In this context, it's used as a threat: "If you supply-constrain Uber, it too will eventually become unreliable. Vehicles will focus on the high end in midtown Manhattan, rather than the outer boroughs," he said.

And this morning, Uber shared its usage data from June 1st through July 19th, which shows that although there are 20,448 registered Ubers in New York City (compared to 13,587 licensed yellow cabs and 8,043 green cabs), on average, in the last month and a half, only 1,904 of them were on the road in Manhattan below 59th Street, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. In a statement accompanying these numbers, Mohrer accused de Blasio of withholding information. "For months, we have provided the de Blasio administration with data that shows this exact same trend," he said. "Yet apparently the Mayor's approach was to hide this data from the public and blame Manhattan's congestion on Uber even when his own facts show the exact opposite."

Uber also loves to point out that, according to the 2014 Taxi Cab Fact Book, 94% of yellow cab rides originate in Manhattan, or at one of the city's airports.

Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams spoke out against the Uber cap yesterday, on the grounds that the app serves minority communities in the outer boroughs. "One of the biggest struggles I had was the fact that many people who were in the yellow cab industry were too yellow to come to Brooklyn," he told reporters, at an Uber job fair in Long Island City. "Many of you... provided a service that was absent to many people who lived in the outer boroughs. Your story is the American Dream." But several other advocacy groups, including New York Communities for Change, Make the Road New York, the Black Institute, will rally outside of City Hall this afternoon, on the grounds that "Uber's mostly white male leadership is spreading illogical assertions that legislation to cap for-hire-vehicles will affect underserved outer-boroughs and communities of color."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

From: Capital Pro
To: Gunaratna, Mahen
Subject: Whiteboard: Garodnick comes out against Uber cap
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:51:42 AM

---

Garodnick comes out against Uber cap

By Gloria Pazmino

11:41 a.m. | Jul. 22, 2015

Councilman Dan Garodnick, a Democrat representing Midtown East, has come out against a proposal to place a temporary cap on hail-app vehicle licenses.

Garodnick, who was undecided as of yesterday, sits on the Council's transportation committee, which would have to approve the bill before it is sent to the Council floor.

Garodnick explained his reasoning in a 537-word statement, saying the cap could solidify Uber's market position and potentially add to Manhattan's congestion problems.

The full statement is below:

"After careful consideration, I have decided to vote against Intro 842, the temporary cap on For Hire Vehicles (FHVs).

People are using taxis in New York City differently than they were even a few years ago. Companies like Uber and Lyft have grown in number and popularity, and it has upended the playing field. Our rules were written for a time when yellow taxis dominated, and yet FHVs today far outnumber our entire yellow taxi fleet -- and Uber alone has roughly 19,000 cars to the yellow taxis' 14,000.

Our rules need to catch up with this changing dynamic.

Some of our taxis today -- like the yellows and greens -- are strictly regulated on price, cannot go on the road without a full environmental impact statement, are subject to real-time trip data collection, and their customers are required to pay a surcharge to support the MTA.

Our liveries need to do a limited environmental review before they open a base, are required to reserve actual spaces for parking vehicles, and must file a rate plan on their prices with the Taxi and Limousine Commission.

In contrast -- black car companies like Uber can charge whatever they want, and are subject to no additional environmental reviews or trip data disclosure, and while they pay sales tax, there are no additional fees imposed to pay for mass transit.

It is most certainly time to level the playing field and to free yellow and green taxis from some of the burdensome rules that they currently face. It is also time to ensure that the rest of the industry has to share its data, to fully disclose or limit its price "surges" to consumers, and to protect customer privacy.

These are all things that can and should be done today. Unfortunately, none of these things is accomplished with a nine month "cap" on the growth of FHV's. In fact, by implementing a cap, we are simply kicking this can down the road. And in the process, we may potentially destroy smaller FHV companies, such as Lyft or Via, whose growth will be limited, while Uber is able to further solidify its market position. That may be good for Uber, but it is certainly not good for consumers.

We also may, ironically, add to Manhattan's congestion problems in the process. By capping supply while demand continues to grow, there will be even more pressure on FHV's to rush to the areas where demand is the highest -- our central business district -- which I happen to represent. Manhattan traffic speeds are abysmal, and congestion is causing billions of dollars in lost economic activity every year. Let's study the cause, and then, rather than dabble on the margins, let's go the distance and get a congestion pricing policy on the books to reduce traffic and raise necessary funds for mass transit.

There is no question that the FHV industry deserves additional regulation, and that the playing field across all classes of taxi needs to be leveled. That said, government works best when we set out a clear set of rules, and then allows private industry to innovate and thrive. I look forward to having that conversation over the coming months."

You've received this Capital Pro content because your customized settings include: City Hall (all whiteboards) or one of the following City Hall topics: Bill de Blasio, Melissa Mark-Viverito, New York City Council, transit, transportation.

To change your alert settings, please go to your Pro settings page.

This email alert has been sent for the exclusive use of Capital Pro subscriber mgunaratna@cityhall.nyc.gov. Forwarding or reproducing the alert without the express, written permission of Capital Pro is a violation of federal law and the Capital Pro subscription agreement. Copyright © 2015 by CapNY LLC. To subscribe to Pro, please go to <http://www.capitalnewyork.com/page/why-pro>.

If you believe this has been sent to you in error, please safely unsubscribe.

From: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
To: Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: FW: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:43:01 PM

---

Hi Wiley,

Greg Gordon
Public Affairs Officer
New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
212-676-1169 phone
212-676-1101 fax
347-844-0227 cell
Greg.Gordon@tlc.nyc.gov
www.nyc.gov/tlc

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:15 PM
To: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

And do you mind if I include this in my copy?

But the New York City Taxi & Limousine Commission contests Uber's claims – telling FoxNews.com the company's bases have added about 25,000 new vehicles to the system over the past two years. A TLC spokesman also noted the dispute, "isn't 'the mayor doing this to Uber.' "

"It's the NYC Council, responding to the alarmingly unprecedented growth of the For-Hire Vehicle industry over the last two years, that proposed two bills – one that temporarily limits the entire industry's growth, and another that mandates a study of congestion and environmental effects of these incredible numbers," TLC spokesman Greg Gordon said. "The mayor and TLC support these bills, but they aren't ours, and they don't single out Uber, though they are the biggest operator by far, and are mostly responsible for those huge number increases."

Cristina Corbin
Reporter
FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

---

From: Gordon, Greg (TLC) mailto:[Gordong@tlc.nyc.gov] On Behalf Of Press TLC
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:03 PM
To: Corbin, Cristina; Press TLC
Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Hi Cristina,

Here is some basic info, and below that and attached, basically everything you need to know and more about what's going on. The upshot is, this isn't "the mayor doing this to Uber" – it's the NYC Council, responding to the alarmingly unprecedented growth of the For-Hire Vehicle industry over the last two years, that proposed two bills – one that temporarily limits the entire industry's growth, and another that mandates a study of congestion and environmental effects of these incredible numbers. The mayor and TLC support these bills, but they aren't ours, and they don't single out Uber, though they are the biggest operator by far, and are mostly responsible for those huge number increases.

Green Cabs (SHLs) – 7,239 (1220 wheelchair accessible, 6019 Non-accessible)

TLC-Licensed Vehicles:

Black Car (BK) – 29,960
Livery (LV) – 27,577
Lux Limo – 5914
Total FHV = 63,451

BK/LV ONLY = 57,537

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

(The number is set by City and State law)

Of these 63,451 For-Hire Vehicles, 20,638 are affiliated with Uber-owned bases

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab

Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 trips day, per car

Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. (Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020)

Number of accessible Uber-affiliated Vehicles: 0

Uber bases have added about 25,000 new vehicles to the system over the past two years.

The TLC does support the Council's proposed bills. I've attached recent testimony on this topic delivered by TLC Commissioner Meera Joshi's before the Council Transportation Committee.

Here are some links to columns by Mayor d Blasio and First Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris on the administration's support for the bills:

A Temporary Cap on For-Hire Cars Is Necessary

Anthony E. Shorris, first deputy mayor, New York City

It is always the government's responsibility to ensure that unlimited expansion in a for-profit industry we already regulate doesn't worsen our problems.

A Fair Ride For All New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

<http://www.google.com/url?url=http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/bill-de-blasio-fair-ride-new-yorkers-article-1.2296041&rct=j&frm=1&q=&esrc=s&sa=U&ved=0CBcQqQlWAGoVChMIInpW42LrqqglVhYQQCh1JAwqs&usg=AFQjCNHb77EVCT1kf4J7tTTN7BWXU6Cn7w>

We're not presupposing anything, other than the fact that the recent explosive growth of the FHV industry is unquestionably a factor in worsening congestion, but we have to ascertain the actual effects of this on congestion and the environment. A more involved answer would be that it's important to note that "pause," or "limited growth period" that everyone is calling a cap isn't actually the change agent, as your question would suggest – it would, if passed, be there to facilitate the study, the result of which would be to ascertain what change agent(s) would be necessary. It's also important to note it's not in any way limiting drivers, it's limiting vehicles – drivers, in fact, would still have a number of opportunity paths in the FHV industry. For example, they may lease an existing FHV from a driver or vehicle owner, and expand a single-shifted vehicle into a multiple-shifted vehicle – increasing its efficiency in the bargain. They may also drive a vehicle operated by a base in the livery industry that owns its own fleet of cars, which is not at all uncommon in that sector. They may also register and affiliate a vehicle to a base that has additional capacity during the pause – there are bases that would be able to expand its fleet by as much as 15% during the period, depending on their size. Small bases can add a higher percentage of cars over the year.

There's also the outer borough question, because with allegations that people would be "stranded" in the boroughs if we temporarily pause FHV growth, which just plain and simple isn't true. There's just been a lot of misleading talk on that topic. First, it's important to note that this is only a temporary period of limited growth. Fact: Uber cars do at least 73% of their business in the Central Business District of Manhattan, while the fleet of over 7,200 Green Cabs – a serviced that didn't even exist three years ago -- is now averaging over 57,000 trips per day in the outer boroughs and northern Manhattan! By all appearances, if you will pardon the pun, the state of service in the boroughs appears to be in a good place!

TLC Spokesman Allan J. Fromberg: "Opinions and ideas around the issue of congestion abound, and it's only empirical data that will ultimately determine which ones are right for the unique characteristics of New York City. One key answer will be to the counter-intuitive question of why car volumes entering Manhattan have decreased, while congestion has increased, coinciding with the explosive growth in the For-Hire Vehicle sector. We believe this represents a strong basis for a limited FHV growth period while we engage in a detailed study to determine the appropriate policies for this sector — something supported by many strong voices across our transportation and planning communities." (This last sentence alludes to the statements below.)

NYTWA

Statement from Bhairavi Desai, Executive Director, New York Taxi Workers Alliance (18,000-member union of Yellow Taxi, Green Cab, and Uber Drivers)
"For months, we have seen drivers in all sectors lose income because of the saturation of vehicles. With 25,000 FHV's affiliated with Apps and 13,600 yellow medallion taxis, you now have essentially close to 40,000 taxis and black cars all competing in Manhattan during the same limited prime hours. No one can move around. And there are only so many hours that anyone can earn their primary fares: AM and PM rush hours, weekend nights. You can't complete a fare fast enough to pick up the next one. And especially for yellow taxis which run on the meters, drivers earn less money when stuck in traffic. The meter fare is highest at the drop of $2.50, so you earn the most by picking up a high number of fares.

The cars are spending more time idling in traffic and just cruising. Drivers are working more hours for less income, paying more for gasoline and facing greater health risks such as kidney failure, back pain and respiratory illnesses.

Cities like San Francisco are now paying a high price for having had no similar study or vehicle limitations. In 2012, SF was not in the top 25 most polluted US Cities. In 2013, it was not there. In 2014, for the first time in recent history, SF entered the list at number 9 on one count – short-term particle pollution. In 2015, SF has entered on 2 counts – number 7 on long-term or year round particle pollution and number 6 on short-term. Add to this, SF now ranks as the second most congested US city.”

Manhattan Borough President Gale Brewer

“The number of for-hire vehicles on our streets has spiked by 63 percent since 2011, and right now we are adding vehicles at a rate of 2,000 per month. These massive increases are adding to Manhattan traffic and could even be threatening our air quality. Councilmember Levin and the TLC have proposed a sensible strategy to slow – but not stop – the issuance of new for-hire licenses while we study the impact of all this extra traffic, a concept I support.

“The rise of ‘e-hailing’ is great for consumers, but the huge increase in traffic is something we need to deal with. You’ll find no bigger proponent of tech in our city than me, but just like in software development, sometimes government needs to troubleshoot new issues. I hope this is part of a larger conversation on congestion in New York City, and that, working together with the for-hire industry, we can arrive at sensible regulations for this growing ecosystem.”

Sam Schwartz

Press:

"I would absolutely support a moratorium until this could be studied," said Samuel Schwartz, a transportation engineer and advocate of controlling traffic through tolls. "The specter of gridlock looms if we continue these trends," said Schwartz, who is also known as "Gridlock Sam."

Source: older CTZ FHV cap proposal in USA Today - <http://www.usatoday.com/story/tech/2015/03/20/uber-success-taxis-medallions-congestion/25027241/>

If the hired car industry is allowed “to grow unchecked, it will grow to the point where we will slow down and all we’ll be providing will be seating for people in midtown Manhattan,” said Sam Schwartz, a transportation engineer who spent years with the DOT.

Source: <http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2015/06/26/experts-nyc-conveniences-causing-congestion/>

Susan Shaheen, UC Berkley Transportation Expert

Press:

"The bottom-line here is, more research is needed on this," said Susan Shaheen, a transportation expert with the University of California, Berkeley, who recently published a paper examining the impact of Uber, Lyft and other ride-hailing companies on transportation in the San Francisco area.

Sheheen’s study found that ride-hailing companies like Uber and Lyft carried slightly more passengers per ride than traditional taxis. But such services also had no visible reduction on private car ownership.

Source: older CTZ FHV cap proposal in USA Today - <http://www.usatoday.com/story/tech/2015/03/20/uber-success-taxis-medallions-congestion/25027241/>

Transportation Alternatives

Press:

"If there is evidence that the proliferation of new services is leading to chaos on our streets, the TLC should more forcefully flex its regulatory muscle," added Paul White, executive director of Transportation Alternatives, a non-profit that advocates decreasing private car use.

Source: older CTZ FHV cap proposal in USA Today - <http://www.usatoday.com/story/tech/2015/03/20/uber-success-taxis-medallions-congestion/25027241/>

Regional Plan Association

Press:

There “seems to be sort of an insatiable demand for more rapid and frequent deliveries, people want that, they expect that from online services,” said Richard Barone, director of transportation programs for the Regional Plan Association.

“Congestion and traffic is considered sort of a barometer of success — up to a point, it’s a good thing,” Barone said. “But obviously you reach a tipping point where congestion affects your ability to get people to work in a reasonable amount of time and obviously impacts the cost of moving goods in the region.”

Source: <http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2015/06/26/experts-nyc-conveniences-causing-congestion/>

Greg Gordon
Public Affairs Officer
New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
212-676-1169 phone
212-676-1101 fax
347-844-0227 cell
Greg.Gordon@tlc.nyc.gov
www.nyc.gov/tlc

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [<mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:53 AM
To: Press TLC
Subject: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Cristina Corbin

Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

This message and its attachments may contain legally privileged or confidential information. It is intended solely for the named addressee. If you are not the addressee indicated in this message (or responsible for delivery of the message to the addressee), you may not copy or deliver this message or its attachments to anyone. Rather, you should permanently delete this message and its attachments and kindly notify the sender by reply e-mail. Any content of this message and its attachments that does not relate to the official business of Fox News or Fox Business must not be taken to have been sent or endorsed by either of them. No representation is made that this email or its attachments are without defect.

From: Corbin, Cristina
To: Norvell, Wiley; Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 1:05:12 PM

---

One more thing ... the Uber folks claim this is all politically motivated (has nothing to do with congestion) and point to $250,000 in direct contributions the mayor received from the taxi industry in 2013. Can I get a response to that? Want to include it high up in the piece. Many thanks!

Cristina Corbin

Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 1:01 PM
To: Corbin, Cristina; Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

We aim to please!

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [<mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 1:01 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Awesome, THANK YOU

Cristina Corbin

Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 1:00 PM
To: Corbin, Cristina; Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Can attribute this to me:

“Congestion has a clock on it. The rapid influx of 2,000 new cars a month could have serious impacts on the mobility, health and safety of New Yorkers. Without action, we’d face for-hire companies adding nearly as many new cars in the next six months as there are taxicabs in all of New York City. But the administration is no less concerned about the protections and rights of drivers, passengers, people with disabilities, as well as the health of our broader transit system. This is a sector that’s evolving rapidly, and a holistic approach is necessary to make sure its future growth meets the values and the interests of the public.”

And if you need more, quote anything from Mayor de Blasio’s op-ed this weekend:
<http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/bill-de-blasio-fair-ride-new-yorkers-article-1.2296041>

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [<mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:58 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Thanks Wiley. Ideally I'd like a statement that points to the bigger problems with Uber (i.e. making drivers "independent contractors," instead of full-time employees, therefore no health benefits). Crashing on a tight deadline, so appreciative of anything you can send me.

Cristina Corbin

Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [<mailto:WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:54 PM
To: Corbin, Cristina; Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Christina, what specific facet of this issue would you like the quote to address?

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [<mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:46 PM
To: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Cc: Allan J. Fromberg; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Ok, thanks. I really need a statement as well

Cristina Corbin

Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

---

From: Gordon, Greg (TLC) [<mailto:Gordong@tlc.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:46 PM
To: Corbin, Cristina
Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Wiley Norvell (wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov)
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

On Background: These bills have been proposed by the NYC Council, in response to the alarmingly explosive growth of the For-Hire Vehicle industry over the last two years.

The mayor and TLC strongly support the Council's proposals.

While the huge number of vehicles Uber has brought into service is clearly the largest change factor, the proposals speak to far more than simply the Uber dynamic and will address the impacts on congestion and the environment of an industry segment that has seen unprecedented growth.

I have cc'd Wiley Norvell from the Mayor's Press Office who can supply a statement.

Greg Gordon
Public Affairs Officer
New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
212-676-1169 phone
212-676-1101 fax

347-844-0227 cell
Greg.Gordon@tlc.nyc.gov
www.nyc.gov/tlc

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [<mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:15 PM
To: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

And do you mind if I include this in my copy?

But the New York City Taxi & Limousine Commission contests Uber's claims – telling FoxNews.com the company's bases have added about 25,000 new vehicles to the system over the past two years. A TLC spokesman also noted the dispute, "isn't 'the mayor doing this to Uber.' "

"It's the NYC Council, responding to the alarmingly unprecedented growth of the For-Hire Vehicle industry over the last two years, that proposed two bills – one that temporarily limits the entire industry's growth, and another that mandates a study of congestion and environmental effects of these incredible numbers," TLC spokesman Greg Gordon said. "The mayor and TLC support these bills, but they aren't ours, and they don't single out Uber, though they are the biggest operator by far, and are mostly responsible for those huge number increases."

Cristina Corbin

Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

---

From: Gordon, Greg (TLC) [<mailto:Gordong@tlc.nyc.gov>] On Behalf Of Press TLC
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 12:03 PM
To: Corbin, Cristina; Press TLC
Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Hi Cristina,

Here is some basic info, and below that and attached, basically everything you need to know and more about what's going on. The upshot is, this isn't "the mayor doing this to Uber" – it's the NYC Council, responding to the alarmingly unprecedented growth of the For-Hire Vehicle industry over the last two years, that proposed two bills – one that temporarily limits the entire industry's growth, and another that mandates a study of congestion and environmental effects of these incredible numbers. The mayor and TLC support these bills, but they aren't ours, and they don't single out Uber, though they are the biggest operator by far, and are mostly responsible for those huge number increases.

Green Cabs (SHLs) – 7,239 (1220 wheelchair accessible, 6019 Non-accessible)

TLC-Licensed Vehicles:

Black Car (BK) – 29,960
Livery (LV) – 27,577
Lux Limo – 5914

Total FHV = 63,451

BK/LV ONLY = 57,537

Total yellow cabs: 13,587

(The number is set by City and State law)

Of these 63,451 For-Hire Vehicles, 20,638 are affiliated with Uber-owned bases

Approximate number of yellow cab rides per day: 430,000, about 32 per cab
Approximate number of Uber rides per day: 100,000, about 8 trips day, per car
Number of accessible yellow cabs: 581. (Starting on Jan. 1, 50% of the fleet (around 7,000) will be phased-in by 2020)
Number of accessible Uber-affiliated Vehicles: 0

Uber bases have added about 25,000 new vehicles to the system over the past two years.

The TLC does support the Council's proposed bills. I've attached recent testimony on this topic delivered by TLC Commissioner Meera Joshi's before the Council Transportation Committee.

Here are some links to columns by Mayor d Blasio and First Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris on the administration's support for the bills:

A Temporary Cap on For-Hire Cars Is Necessary

Anthony E. Shorris, first deputy mayor, New York City

It is always the government's responsibility to ensure that unlimited expansion in a for-profit industry we already regulate doesn't worsen our problems.

A Fair Ride For All New Yorkers

By Mayor Bill de Blasio

<http://www.google.com/url?url=http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/bill-de-blasio-fair-ride-new-yorkers-article-1.2296041&rct=j&frm=1&q=&esrc=s&sa=U&ved=OCBcQqQlWAGovChMlnpW42LrxxglVhYQOCh1JAwqs&usg=AFQjCNhb77EVCT1kf4J7tTTN7BWXU6Cn7w>

We're not presupposing anything, other than the fact that the recent explosive growth of the FHV industry is unquestionably a factor in worsening congestion, but we have to ascertain the actual effects of this on congestion and the environment. A more involved answer would be that it's important to note that "pause," or "limited growth period" that everyone is calling a cap isn't actually the change agent, as your question would suggest – it would, if passed, be there to facilitate the study, the result of which would be to ascertain what change agent(s) would be necessary. It's also important to note it's not in any way limiting drivers, it's limiting vehicles – drivers, in fact, would still have a number of opportunity paths in the FHV industry. For example, they may lease an existing FHV from a driver or vehicle owner, and expand a single-shifted vehicle into a multiple-shifted vehicle – increasing its efficiency in the bargain. They may also drive a vehicle operated by a base in the livery industry that owns its own fleet of cars, which is not at all uncommon in that sector. They may also register and affiliate a vehicle to a base that has additional capacity during the pause – there are bases that would be able to expand its fleet by as much as 15% during the period, depending on their size. Small bases can add a higher percentage of cars over the year.

There's also the outer borough question, because with allegations that people would be "stranded" in the boroughs if we temporarily pause FHV growth, which just plain and simple isn't true. There's just been a lot of misleading talk on that topic. First, it's important to note that this is only a temporary period of limited growth. Fact: Uber cars do at least 73% of their business in the Central Business District of Manhattan, while the fleet of over 7,200 Green Cabs – a serviced that didn't even exist three years ago -- is now averaging over 57,000 trips per day in the outer boroughs and northern Manhattan! By all appearances, if you will pardon the pun, the state of service in the boroughs appears to be in a good place!

TLC Spokesman Allan J. Fromberg: "Opinions and ideas around the issue of congestion abound, and it's only empirical data that will ultimately determine which ones are right for the unique characteristics of New York City. One key answer will be to the counter-intuitive question of why car volumes entering Manhattan have decreased, while congestion has increased, coinciding with the explosive growth in the For-Hire Vehicle sector. We believe this represents a strong basis for a limited FHV growth period while we engage in a detailed study to determine the appropriate policies for this sector — something supported by many strong voices across our transportation and planning communities." (This last sentence alludes to the statements below.)

NYTWA

Statement from Bhairavi Desai, Executive Director, New York Taxi Workers Alliance (18,000-member union of Yellow Taxi, Green Cab, and Uber Drivers) "For months, we have seen drivers in all sectors lose income because of the saturation of vehicles. With 25,000 FHVs affiliated with Apps and 13,600 yellow medallion taxis, you now have essentially close to 40,000 taxis and black cars all competing in Manhattan during the same limited prime hours. No one can move around. And there are only so many hours that anyone can earn their primary fares: AM and PM rush hours, weekend nights. You can't complete a fare fast enough to pick up the next one. And especially for yellow taxis which run on the meters, drivers earn less money when stuck in traffic. The meter fare is highest at the drop of $2.50, so you earn the most by picking up a high number of fares.

The cars are spending more time idling in traffic and just cruising. Drivers are working more hours for less income, paying more for gasoline and facing greater health risks such as kidney failure, back pain and respiratory illnesses.

Cities like San Francisco are now paying a high price for having had no similar study or vehicle limitations. In 2012, SF was not in the top 25 most polluted US Cities. In 2013, it was not there. In 2014, for the first time in recent history, SF entered the list at number 9 on one count – short-term particle pollution. In 2015, SF has entered on 2 counts – number 7 on long-term or year round particle pollution and number 6 on short-term. Add to this, SF now ranks as the second most congested US city."

Manhattan Borough President Gale Brewer

"The number of for-hire vehicles on our streets has spiked by 63 percent since 2011, and right now we are adding vehicles at a rate of 2,000 per month. These massive increases are adding to Manhattan traffic and could even be threatening our air quality. Councilmember Levin and the TLC have proposed a sensible strategy to slow – but not stop – the issuance of new for-hire licenses while we study the impact of all this extra traffic, a concept I support.

"The rise of 'e-hailing' is great for consumers, but the huge increase in traffic is something we need to deal with. You'll find no bigger proponent of tech in our city than me, but just like in software development, sometimes government needs to troubleshoot new issues. I hope this is part of a larger conversation on congestion in New York City, and that, working together with the for-hire industry, we can arrive at sensible regulations for this growing ecosystem."

Sam SchwartzPress:*

"I would absolutely support a moratorium until this could be studied," said Samuel Schwartz, a transportation engineer and advocate of controlling traffic through tolls. "The specter of gridlock looms if we continue these trends," said Schwartz, who is also known as "Gridlock Sam."

Source: older CTZ FHV cap proposal in USA Today - <http://www.usatoday.com/story/tech/2015/03/20/uber-success-taxis-medallions-congestion/25027241/>

If the hired car industry is allowed "to grow unchecked, it will grow to the point where we will slow down and all we'll be providing will be seating for people in midtown Manhattan," said Sam Schwartz, a transportation engineer who spent years with the DOT.

Source: <http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2015/06/26/experts-nyc-conveniences-causing-congestion/>

Susan Shaheen, UC Berkley Transportation ExpertPress:*

"The bottom-line here is, more research is needed on this," said Susan Shaheen, a transportation expert with the University of California, Berkeley, who recently published a paper examining the impact of Uber, Lyft and other ride-hailing companies on transportation in the San Francisco area.

Sheheen's study found that ride-hailing companies like Uber and Lyft carried slightly more passengers per ride than traditional taxis. But such services also had no visible reduction on private car ownership.

Source: older CTZ FHV cap proposal in USA Today - <http://www.usatoday.com/story/tech/2015/03/20/uber-success-taxis-medallions-congestion/25027241/>

Transportation AlternativesPress:*

"If there is evidence that the proliferation of new services is leading to chaos on our streets, the TLC should more forcefully flex its regulatory muscle," added Paul White, executive director of Transportation Alternatives, a non-profit that advocates decreasing private car use.

Source: older CTZ FHV cap proposal in USA Today - <http://www.usatoday.com/story/tech/2015/03/20/uber-success-taxis-medallions-congestion/25027241/>

Regional Plan AssociationPress:*

There "seems to be sort of an insatiable demand for more rapid and frequent deliveries, people want that, they expect that from online services," said Richard Barone, director of transportation programs for the Regional Plan Association.

"Congestion and traffic is considered sort of a barometer of success — up to a point, it's a good thing," Barone said. "But obviously you reach a tipping point where congestion affects your ability to get people to work in a reasonable amount of time and obviously impacts the cost of moving goods in the region."

Source: <http://newyork.cbslocal.com/2015/06/26/experts-nyc-conveniences-causing-congestion/>

Greg Gordon
Public Affairs Officer
New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
212-676-1169 phone
212-676-1101 fax
347-844-0227 cell
Greg.Gordon@tlc.nyc.gov
www.nyc.gov/tlc

---

From: Corbin, Cristina [<mailto:Cristina.Corbin@FOXNEWS.COM>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 11:53 AM
To: Press TLC
Subject: from Cristina Corbin/FoxNews.com

Cristina Corbin*Reporter

FoxNews.com
1211 Avenue of the Americas
New York, New York 10036
O: 212.301.5783
C: 202.905.4998

This message and its attachments may contain legally privileged or confidential information. It is intended solely for the named addressee. If you are not the addressee indicated in this message (or responsible for delivery of the message to the addressee), you may not copy or deliver this message or its attachments to anyone. Rather, you should permanently delete this message and its attachments and kindly notify the sender by reply e-mail. Any content of this message and its attachments that does not relate to the official business of Fox News or Fox Business must not be taken to have been sent or endorsed by either of them. No representation is made that this email or its attachments are without defect.

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: Hagelgans, Andrea; Anderson, Michael \(TLC\); Furrey, Charles \(TLC\); Garber, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Genser, Emily \(TLC\); Goddin, Daniel \(TLC\); Goldapper, Ira \(TLC\); Gordon, Greg \(TLC\); Singleton, Jessica; Grunfeld, Jeffrey S. \(TLC\); Kurland, Ben \(TLC\); Labadie, Madeline \(TLC\); Martin, Karen \(TLC\); Murray, Edward \(TLC\); Paulucci, Theadora \(TLC\); Rausen, Joanne \(TLC\); Roth, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Spitalnick, Amy \(OMB\); Sukonnik, Marina \(TLC\); Vais, Izabella \(TLC\); Valdivia, Midori \(TLC\); Walsh, Keith \(TLC\); [\[REDACTED\]](#); Wilson, Chris \(TLC\); Cohen, Sherry \(TLC\); Davidson, Cindi \(TLC\); Miller, Dawn \(TLC\); Williams, Dominic; Eluto, Sherryl \(TLC\); Fox, Aileen \(TLC\); Grindley, Martin \(TLC\); Joshi, Meera \(TLC\); Joyce, Patrick \(TLC\); Klahr, David \(TLC\); Leyva, Erika \(TLC\); Moore, Elaine \(TLC\); Walzak, Phil; Quintero, Omar \(TLC\); Rojas, Carmen \(TLC\); Royter, Serge \(TLC\); Scanlon, Raymond \(TLC\); Switzer, Brian \(TLC\); Timmeny, Daniel \(TLC\); Wanttaja, Ryan \(TLC\); Weiss, Gary \(TLC\); Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Garodnick Against Pause
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 2:45:54 PM

---

Capital Pro

Garodnick comes out against Uber cap

By Gloria Pazmino

11:41 a.m. | Jul. 22, 2015

Councilman Dan Garodnick, a Democrat representing Midtown East, has come out against a proposal to place a temporary cap on hail-app vehicle licenses.

Garodnick, who was undecided as of yesterday, sits on the Council's transportation committee, which would have to approve the bill before it is sent to the Council floor.

Garodnick explained his reasoning in a 537-word statement, saying the cap could solidify Uber's market position and potentially add to Manhattan's congestion problems.

The full statement is below:

"After careful consideration, I have decided to vote against Intro 842, the temporary cap on For Hire Vehicles (FHVs).

People are using taxis in New York City differently than they were even a few years ago. Companies like Uber and Lyft have grown in number and popularity, and it has upended the playing field. Our rules were written for a time when yellow taxis dominated, and yet FHVs today far outnumber our entire yellow taxi fleet -- and Uber alone has roughly 19,000 cars to the yellow taxis' 14,000.

Our rules need to catch up with this changing dynamic.

Some of our taxis today -- like the yellows and greens -- are strictly regulated on price, cannot go on the road without a full environmental impact statement, are subject to real-time trip data collection, and their customers are required to pay a surcharge to support the MTA.

Our liveries need to do a limited environmental review before they open a base, are required to reserve actual spaces for parking vehicles, and must file a rate plan on their prices with the Taxi and Limousine Commission.

In contrast -- black car companies like Uber can charge whatever they want, and are subject to no additional environmental reviews or trip data disclosure, and while they pay sales tax, there are no additional fees imposed to pay for mass transit.

It is most certainly time to level the playing field and to free yellow and green taxis from some of the burdensome rules that they currently face. It is also time to ensure that the rest of the industry has to share its data, to fully disclose or limit its price "surges" to consumers, and to protect customer privacy.

These are all things that can and should be done today. Unfortunately, none of these things is accomplished with a nine month "cap" on the growth of FHV's. In fact, by implementing a cap, we are simply kicking this can down the road. And in the process, we may potentially destroy smaller FHV companies, such as Lyft or Via, whose growth will be limited, while Uber is able to further solidify its market position. That may be good for Uber, but it is certainly not good for consumers.

We also may, ironically, add to Manhattan's congestion problems in the process. By capping supply while demand continues to grow, there will be even more pressure on FHV's to rush to the areas where demand is the highest -- our central business district -- which I happen to represent. Manhattan traffic speeds are abysmal, and congestion is causing billions of dollars in lost economic activity every year. Let's study the cause, and then, rather than dabble on the margins, let's go the distance and get a congestion pricing policy on the books to reduce traffic and raise necessary funds for mass transit.

There is no question that the FHV industry deserves additional regulation, and that the playing field across all classes of taxi needs to be leveled. That said, government works best when we set out a clear set of rules, and then allow private industry to innovate and thrive. I look forward to having that conversation over the coming months."

From: Clips
Subject: OBSERVER: Uber Launches Job Tour as Counterargument to Cap Bill
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 3:24:01 PM

---

Uber Launches Job Tour as Counterargument to Cap Bill

NY OBSERVER - Giulia Olsson

<http://observer.com/2015/07/uber-launches-job-tour-as-counterargument-to-cap-bill/>

Uber is using every minute they have to show the city that Mayor Bill de Blasio's potential cap bill will hurt the company and hundreds of New Yorkers looking for job opportunities. The vote could come as soon as tomorrow, and Uber knows the consequences will be detrimental for their business.

Yesterday, Uber kicked off its citywide job tour for hundreds of New Yorkers interested in becoming drivers. Present were also current driver-partners, Uber New York's General Manager Josh Mohrer, elected officials like South Bronx Assemblyman Michael Blake, and Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams.

The point of yesterday's event was clear: to show Mr. de Blasio that Uber is a platform that benefits New York by providing the city with hundreds and hundreds of jobs.

Inside Queensbridge Park, Uber stationed a tent for driver sign-ups. Hundreds of interested drivers lined up in a single file line that crossed the park. A current driver-partner also told the Observer that he was in line waiting to refer friends to the company.

Mr. de Blasio's cap bill, Uber's worst nightmare, could potentially pass on Thursday, which would put a clear, objective cap on the company's growth in the nation's largest city.

Over the next 14 months, if the bill goes into effect, Uber will only add 200 vehicles to the streets. According to Mr. Mohrer at a June 30th Protest, 25,000 New Yorkers take their first Uber ride every week, and Uber projects that over 10,000 new drivers will join Uber within the next year. With the cap bill, Mr. Mohrer claimed that an estimated 9,800 job opportunities will be lost only in New York.

The bill seeks to temporarily limit the issuance of new for-hire vehicle licenses during a study on the impact of growth in the taxicab and FHV industries on the environment, focusing on the industry's effect on noise, air quality, and traffic.

In the midst of drizzling rain yesterday, some of Uber's drivers shared their own Uber stories, coming to the stage as they pleased. Some told stories of previous homelessness, others told stories of how they used to make $200 a week to feed a family of five, and some told the large crowd that Uber made it possible for them to afford a college education. The message was clear and repeated many times: Uber has given its drivers a chance at something better than what they had before.

Mr. Blake said that the company has provided opportunities for those that would otherwise not have found them. "Uber is about justice in our communities," he told the crowd. "Uber is about creating opportunities in our communities. This is not about giving someone a ride, it's about giving someone a chance."

Mr. Adams, who arrived late, called Uber the “American dream” and added that, “the precursor to the American dream is gainful employment.”

The Brooklyn Borough President expressed his opposition to the bill and asked it to be put “on hold until we can find out how do we correctly regulate without stymying an important industry like Uber.” Mr. Adams added, “The reason I came out here to join is to state that there is room for growth in this city. There’s room for prosperity.”

Distributed by servers, catered food and drinks were available for all, and the event took over an entire section of the Long Island City park.

In a statement released on Monday, Uber said it hopes to continue the jobs tour beyond yesterday’s event, planning to add six additional events over the next six weeks, sending the city a clear message that Uber is dedicated to providing New Yorkers, especially those from the outer boroughs, with opportunities.

This isn’t Uber’s first reaction to the Mayor’s cap bill. Three weeks ago, Uber partners held an organized protest outside City Hall. Last week, the company added a new feature to its app to show users how long it would take users to get a ride if the bill is passed: an average of 25 minutes.

On Monday, Uber also requested a live-stream negotiation with the Mayor over the bill, and Mr. de Blasio shut them down in a sentence. “I do not debate with heads of private companies over their own self-interest,” he said.

Needless to say, it’s been a tense week for Uber, and there’s definitely more to come. Mr. Mohrer and Chair of the Transportation Committee for the City Council Ydanis Rodriguez were also caught in a Twitter fight on Monday, with Mr. Mohrer claiming that Mr. Rodriguez was making up lies about Uber.

From: Christopher Barca
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Question from the Queens Chronicle
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 4:43:39 PM

---

Can you call me as soon as you can re:Uber? Need to rewrite my massive story I had written.

Sent from my iPhone

On Jul 20, 2015, at 6:04 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey Chris,

I'm attaching a presentation on the legislation, and linking an op-ed by the mayor. I'll call you in the morning to discuss in more detail, ok?

Op-ed: <http://www.nydailynews.com/opinion/bill-de-blasio-fair-ride-new-yorkers-article-1.2296041>

-WN
646-422-9614

From: chrisbar91@aol.com [<mailto:chrisbar91@aol.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 12:58 PM
To: Mayor's Press Office; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Question from the Queens Chronicle

Hello, my name is Chris Barca with the Queens Chronicle newspaper. I'm working on a story this week on the ongoing battle between the city and Uber, and I had a few questions for the Mayor's Office on the issue:

- Why exactly does the Mayor support the proposed City Council legislation that would limit for-hire vehicle licenses?
- The issue of traffic congestion in Manhattan is certainly very understandable, but when it comes to for-hire vehicles in the outer boroughs, where public transportation and cabs are harder to come by, will a limiting of licenses make it tougher for those in the outer boroughs to get where they want to go?
- Does the Mayor believe the proposed legislation will kill numerous jobs as Uber infers in its new TV ad campaign? Does the Mayor have a response to Uber's ad campaign in general?
- Various outlets have made reference to contributions being made to the Mayor from the taxi industry during his campaign, is there any validity to the thought that the Mayor is pushing so hard against Uber because of donations made in the past?
- Does the Mayor believe Uber brings any good at all to the City?
- Is there an expectation that the City Council will pass the proposed pieces of legislation this week?

Thanks! I really appreciate the time. My deadline is tomorrow at 5pm, but obviously the sooner the response, the better.

And for the time being, I'm using this email as opposed to my Chronicle email (chrisb@qchron.com) due to email issues at the paper, so feel free to email me back at this address.

Chris

Christopher Barca
Queens Chronicle
718-205-8000 ext. 124
chrisbar91@aol.com
chrisb@qchron.com

<FHV Growth Limitation Bills Presentation.pdf>

From: Mayor's Press Office
To: @Incoming
Subject: INCOMING: WCBS RE: IR for DM Shorris--Rivka Oppenheim, rbukowski@gmail.com, 212.524.2910
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 4:59:22 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

From: Rivka Oppenheim [mailto:rbukowsky@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 4:52 PM
To: Mayor's Press Office
Subject: Re: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

Hello, if Deputy Mayor Shorris would like to go live on the air with us, we would love to have him on. Best, Rivka Oppenheim (WCBS 880) - (212) 524-2910

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 4:50 PM Mayor's Press Office <pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015
CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

“Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city’s vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

“Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

“Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City’s goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities.”

###

From: Mayor's Press Office
To: Mayor's Press Office
Bcc: "amercogliano@pix11.com"; "anthonyha@techcrunch.com"
Subject: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:03:10 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

---

From: Mayor's Press Office
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 4:50 PM
To: Mayor's Press Office
Subject: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015
CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

“Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city’s vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

“Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

“Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City’s goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities.”

###

From: Mayor's Press Office
To: Mayor's Press Office
Bcc: "katie.reilly@thomsonreuters.com"
Subject: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:11:15 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

---

From: Mayor's Press Office
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 4:50 PM
To: Mayor's Press Office
Subject: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015
CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

“Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city’s vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

“Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

“Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City’s goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities.”

###

From: Dara Kerr
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: comment for CNET News on coming to an agreement with Uber
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:26:27 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

Great, thanks so much!

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 2:20 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Here you go!

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015

CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

"Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city's vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

"Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

"Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City's goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities."

###

From: Dara Kerr mailto:[dara.kerr@cbsinteractive.com]

Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:04 PM

To: Norvell, Wiley

Subject: comment for CNET News on coming to an agreement with Uber

Hi Wiley,

I'm writing up a quick story for CNET News about the Mayor's office coming to an agreement with Uber. Could I get a comment from you all on this?

Many thanks, Dara

--

Dara Kerr

Staff Reporter | CNET News

\(415\) 344-1714344-1714)

dara.kerr@cbsinteractive.com

Twitter: @darakerr

--

Dara Kerr

Staff Reporter | CNET News

(415) 344-1714

dara.kerr@cbsinteractive.com

Twitter: @darakerr

From: Tim Fernholz
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FW: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:33:41 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

Great, thanks!

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 5:26 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Call you in a sec!

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015

CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

“Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city’s vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

“Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

“Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City’s goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities.”

###

--

--

Tim Fernholz
Reporter, Quartz
@timfernholz
+1.347.778.1414

From: Clips
Subject: TECH CRUNCH: De Blasio Administration Reaches Deal With Uber
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 5:56:36 PM

---

De Blasio Administration Reaches Deal With Uber

TECH CRUNCH – Anthony Ha

<http://techcrunch.com/2015/07/22/uber-deal/>

The administration of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio is dropping plans to cap the number of new drivers added by Uber and similar services — at least for now.

De Blasio's team previously proposed limiting transportation companies to growth of 1 percent of their driver pool (in Uber's case, that amounts to around 200 new drivers) over the next year, while the government studied the impact these services have on traffic congestion.

Under the new agreement, the study will last for four months, and it won't come with a driver cap. (Of course that doesn't rule out the possibility of a cap in the future.) The deal was first reported in The New York Times.

In a statement, First Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris outlined the agreement:

Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process

Uber had been pushing back against de Blasio's plan, with efforts including a City Hall protest, a big ad on The New York Times homepage and a feature criticizing de Blasio in the Uber app itself.

In a statement, Uber's New York City General Manager Josh Mohrer said:

We're pleased to have reached an agreement with Mayor de Blasio's administration and the City Council to collaborate on a joint transportation study and to work together on ways to continue expanding economic opportunity, mobility and transportation access in the city. We are pleased new drivers will continue to be free to join the for-hire industry and partner with Uber. Together, we can build an even better, more reliable transportation system. This is great news for all New Yorkers, including Uber riders and drivers.

From: Hinton, Karen
To: "Dana Rubinstein"; Norvell, Wiley
Subject: RE: Free FHV Staging Lot Available at LGA Effective Today
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 6:09:34 PM

---

Hmkmm... don't know. Wiley, do you?

From: Dana Rubinstein mailto:[dana@capitalnewyork.com]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 6:04 PM
To: Hinton, Karen
Subject: Fwd: Free FHV Staging Lot Available at LGA Effective Today is this part of the overall deal?

----- Forwarded message -----

From: My NYC.gov News <MyNYC@nyc.gov>
Date: Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 4:56 PM
Subject: Free FHV Staging Lot Available at LGA Effective Today
To: dana@capitalnewyork.com

July 22, 2015

To All Interested Parties:

Industry Notice #15-31
July 22, 2015

For Immediate Release

TLC ANNOUNCES FREE FHV STAGING LOT AT LAGUARDIA AIRPORT EFFECTIVE 7/22

The TLC wishes to inform all For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) drivers that they are now permitted to park for free at LaGuardia Airport's (LGA) Lot 7 while they wait for passenger fares.

This new parking area has been created to allow TLC-licensed drivers to comply with Rule §55-19(c) of the newly-passed Dispatch Service Provider rules, which prohibits drivers from accepting dispatches while parked in passenger pick-up locations at the airports. Lot 7 at LGA is now available to all TLC-licensed FHV drivers in order to provide them with space to park while waiting for dispatches.

TLC-licensed FHV drivers will be allowed to park in LGA's Lot 7 for up to 30 minutes free of charge. After the first 30 minutes, the lot's regular parking fee of $8.00 will be applied. Drivers who have stayed in the lot for over 30 minutes can pay the fee as they exit in cash, credit card or with EZ-Pass.

Lot 7 is located near the Marine Air Terminal across from the BP gas station, as indicated on the map below:

22 de julio, 2015

Aviso para la industria #15-31

Para publicación inmediata

LA TLC ANUNCIA UN ESPACIO DE ESPERA EN EL AEROPUERTO LAGUARDIA A PARTIR DEL 7/22

La TLC desea informar a todos los choferes de Vehículos de Alquiler (FHV) que ahora se les permite estacionar en el Lot 7 del aeropuerto La Guardia (LGA) gratuitamente mientras esperan para tarifas de pasajeros.

Esta nueva área de estacionamiento ha sido creada para permitir que choferes con licencia de la TLC cumplan con Regla §55-19(c) de las reglas de Proveedores de Servicio de Despacho recientemente aprobadas, que prohíbe que choferes acepten despachos mientras se estacionan en lugares de recogida de pasajeros en los aeropuertos. Lot 7 en LGA ahora está disponible para todos los choferes de FHV licenciados por la TLC para que tengan un espacio de estacionamiento mientras esperan despachos de la base.

Chofers de FHV licenciados por la TLC estarán permitidos estacionar gratuitamente en el Lot 7 de LGA hasta 30 minutos. Después de los primeros 30 minutos, la cuota de estacionamiento regular de $8.00 para el Lot 7 será aplicada. Chofers que se han quedado en el estacionamiento por más de 30 minutos pueden pagar su cuota en efectivo, tarjeta de crédito, o con un EZ-Pass, al salir del Lot 7.

Lot 7 está localizado cerca del Terminal Marine Air en frente de la estación de gasolinera BP, como indicado en el mapa que sigue:

| |

Visit Taxi and Limousine Commission Web site at:
<http://www.nyc.gov/taxi>

Follow Us On:

This is the NYC.gov News you requested for:
TLC NEWS

To unsubscribe, please go to this link:
<https://www.nyc.gov/portal/signin.jsp>

Comment on this news service

PLEASE DO NOT REPLY TO THIS MESSAGE!

| |

--

Senior Writer
Capital New York

646.493.1478

917.526.0995

dana@capitalnewyork.com

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Ben Popper"
Subject: RE: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers
Date: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 7:06:29 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

Want to ring me about latest events?
646-422-9614

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015
CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

“Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city’s vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

“Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

“Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City’s goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities.”

###

From: Ben Popper [<mailto:ben.popper@theverge.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 9:20 AM

To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

<http://www.theverge.com/2015/7/22/9012327/new-york-city-uber-deblasio-cap-limit-jobs-drivers>

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 9:14 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Doing my best, bud! Promise!

From: Ben Popper mailto:[ben.popper@theverge.com]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 9:14 AM

To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Ok, can you still get me something at some point today? I found a smoking gun myself with the screenline stuff

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 8:31 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Don't think we can make that timing. Very sorry bud. Too much incoming for data, and we're working fast as we can.

---

From: Ben Popper mailto:[ben.popper@theverge.com]
Sent: Wednesday, July 22, 2015 08:29 AM

To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Story is going up at 9am, can you get me your data before then?

On Tue, Jul 21, 2015 at 10:43 PM, Ben Popper <ben.popper@theverge.com> wrote:
This Screenline study seems to provide the proof about a drop in inbound traffic. Is the 2014 study available?

<http://www.nyc.gov/html/dot/downloads/pdf/nyc-screenline-report-2013.pdf>

Also, the numbers in here seem quite far from the 2.7M figure quoted by Uber.

On Tue, Jul 21, 2015 at 8:43 PM, Ben Popper <ben.popper@theverge.com> wrote:
Just to clarify - two data points I'm looking for that would be critical to debunking Uber's argument

Uber said -

"Over 2.7 million cars use the toll-free bridges leading into New York every day, excluding cars using tolled bridges and tunnels. The total number of for-hire vehicle (FHV) affiliated with bases using Uber make up less than one percent (1%) of the total and those vehicles are never on the road at the same time, yet they are being targeted as the only cause of congestion. That one percent (1%) of vehicles are the most efficient cars on the road, carrying multiple passengers and not driving around waiting for ride requests."

City Hall told me the opposite was true and offered data to back it up.

1) This quote from them is wrong about them being the most efficient. Average Uber carries 8 trips a day. Cabs carry more than 30. And they are in fact driving around waiting for ride requests, as seen anytime you open the app on your phone! Those figures are average daily trips (we track) divided by registered vehicles.

2) For half century the biggest driver of traffic was inbound from other places. But over the last five years that number of inbound vehicles has fallen and yet congestion has risen. This is completely outside the historic norms and our hypothesis is that rapid growth of for-hire-vehicle is driving that. Can get you historic data tomorrow.

On Tue, Jul 21, 2015 at 8:32 PM, Ben Popper <ben.popper@theverge.com> wrote:
Awesome - will look for them tomorrow.

Thanks, Ben

On Tue, Jul 21, 2015 at 8:26 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Can get you historic data tomorrow. Those figures are average daily trips (we track) divided by registered vehicles.

---

From: Ben Popper mailto:[ben.popper@theverge.com]
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 08:25 PM

To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

But what about that data point on congestion/traffic in and out?

Also where do you get those ride averages?

On Tue, Jul 21, 2015 at 8:20 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
This quote from them is wrong about them being the most efficient. Average Uber carries 8 trips a day. Cabs carry more than 30.

And they are in fact driving around waiting for ride requests, as seen anytime you open the app on your phone!

From: Ben Popper mailto:[ben.popper@theverge.com]
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 8:19 PM

To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Hey - got a second to nail down one fact? Think I found a real flaw in Uber's logic.

I asked them about issues of congestion and the increase in the size of their fleet. This was the response

"Over 2.7 million cars use the toll-free bridges leading into New York every day, excluding cars using tolled bridges and tunnels. The total number of for-hire vehicle (FHVs) affiliated with bases using Uber make up less than one percent (1%) of the total and those vehicles are never on the road at the same time, yet they are being targeted as the only cause of congestion. That one percent (1%) of vehicles are the most efficient cars on the road, carrying multiple passengers and not driving around waiting for ride requests."

You told me that for the first time in NYC history the speed of traffic slowed while the number of cars moving in and out of the city dropped. Is there neutral/empirical data you can share to back that up?

Thanks, Ben

On Tue, Jul 21, 2015 at 8:15 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Sorry this took so long—just too much going on!

Yes, they can apply for new bases, but they'd have to affiliate existing cars that are now affiliated to existing bases.....the bill being aged closes any potential loophole by specifying:

§ 2. The commission shall only issue new for-hire vehicle licenses if such vehicle will affiliate with a base station, black car base, or luxury limousine base that was licensed on June 15, 2015 that has not yet reached the maximum number of such newly licensed vehicles that may be affiliated with such base pursuant to this local law.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 11:11 AM
To: 'Ben Popper'
Subject: RE: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Swell!

I'll ask that Q.

Only one flag: Shorris wanted to know whether Uber should be contributing to the MTA budget.

I'd say "Shorris argues Uber should be contributing to the MTA budget."

From: Ben Popper [<mailto:ben.popper@theverge.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 10:44 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Got a minute to look over this draft for errors?

Question - under the proposed slowdown, can Uber apply to open new bases, say in the outer boroughs?

ARTICLE ROUGH DRAFT

Uber is at war with New York City. It has been trading barbs with Mayor Bill DeBlasio about a proposed limit on the number of new for-hire vehicles that can be licensed. The City Council is expected to vote on that new rule this Thursday. Uber says the cap would eliminate 10,000 new jobs it had planned to create. Because the taxi industry was a donor to the Mayor, the effort to slow down Uber was seen as an act of corrupt protectionism for the ailing incumbents. "Potential Uber cap has all the making of a major scam" screamed the headline in the NY Post.

But the New York City's plan to put a cap on the growth in new cars operating for ride hailing services makes a lot of sense. Over the last three years, Uber has added roughly 20,000 new cars to its fleet here, an enormous number on its own and of course just one of many competing services like Lyft and Gett that are battling for business in the Big Apple. These new cars have a direct impact on the environment, traffic conditions, and even mass transit budget of the city. Stepping in to understand that growth — and if necessary regulate it — is just what smart government does.

City Hall has some hard data to back up its argument about the impact of this new industry. In 2009 and 2010 the average speed of traffic in Manhattan, based on GPS data from thousands of taxi cabs, stayed roughly the same or even increased. Following Uber's launch in 2011, however, the overall speed has fallen between five and six percent. While that may not seem like much, that change multiplied by the millions of vehicles moving through the city each year has an enormous impact on the overall congestion, environment, and economy of New York. According to the city's data 72 percent of pickups from these new for hire vehicles take place in the congested core of Manhattan.

Public policy groups and the editorial board at the NY Times have argued that the real cause of congestion is the growth in the city's population and the improving economy. They may be major contributors to the problem as well. To evaluate the complex web of factors that are creating the congestion would require an in-depth study, which is exactly what the city is proposing. In the meantime, the limits on growth in new for-hire vehicles are flexible enough to allow for plenty of job growth and continued expansion of transportation options in underserved areas outside Manhattan.

New York City currently does not allow just anyone to become a driver for UberX or Lyft and then use their own personal car. Every for-hire car has to belong to a base station and be issued its own license, as well as be operated by a licensed for-hire driver. Uber has opened its own bases and also relies on drivers from other bases who operate on the Uber platform and take ride requests through its app.

The proposed slow down would mean bases with over 500 cars can grow at one percent over the next year, those with 20 or more can grow at five percent, and bases with less than 20 cars can grow at 15 percent. Uber would be restricted to a tough one percent growth in adding vehicles to its own fleet at the six bases it currently operates, but there is no limit to the number of drivers they can sign up to work at bases operated by other companies. Uber could also apply to open new bases in the outer boroughs. As long as there is demand to meet the supply, Uber could continue to add drivers to its service at a good clip, just not new cars. The whole premise of Uber is that it's really a tech platform, a marketplace matching supply and demand. So adding jobs through other fleets is natural for Uber. That makes the claim that 10,000 of the jobs it plans to add over the next year would disappear if it can't license an unlimited supply of new cars rather hard to swallow.

New York City's number two politico, deputy mayor Anthony Shorris, sat down recently with Uber's chief strategist David Plouffe, a former Obama campaign manager. The aim was to discuss the proposed limit on growth and issues vital to the city's health. Shorris wanted to know whether Uber should be contributing to the MTA budget. A portion of every taxi fare in New York City goes to supporting mass transit; Uber and other for hire services currently don't contribute. The rise of services like Uber and Lyft has led to a decline in the number of taxi hails, and the city, reasonably, would like to have Uber help in plugging the hole in that budget. If it wants to profit by driving these streets, it should contribute to the overall health of our transportation system.

Shorris also wanted to know about Uber's plans for making its cars accessible to people with disabilities. New York City has approved a plan to make half its taxi fleet accessible by 2020. So far, Uber has not made any similar promises. According to people present, the meeting between Shorris and Plouffe did not go well. Uber refused to discuss any of these issues so long as the hiring slowdown was still a possibility. In the aftermath it went on the offensive with attack ads and press releases. This is now a public and very nasty feud.

Uber's response is troubling, and par for the course. Whenever government want to regulate, Uber goes on the offensive. Take the question of accessibility. This is not a petty grievance isolated to New York City. In California, the company was recently slapped with a multi-million dollar fine and potential suspension of its operating license for its failure to share data around accessibility. Attorneys general in other states are investigating. Given that Uber's avowed aim is to replace the taxi industry, it makes sense that government would hold this new mode of transportation accountable when it comes to universal access. Instead of working on this problem, Uber is battling the requirements in court.

 A city is a living organism, and its health requires care. As DeBlasio smartly wrote, "We wouldn't let ExxonMobil or Wal-Mart or any other corporate giant operate in New York City without basic rules in place to protect the public." Uber may be a new kind of company and a great job creator, but that does not mean it has carte blanche to grow as much or as fast as it wants.

On Mon, Jul 20, 2015 at 10:59 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote: Attached, and some additional material below:

Manhattan CBD Daytime Traffic Speeds – Based on Taxi GPS

Fiscal Year	Avg. Speed	Calendar Year	Avg. Speed
2009 (7/08-6/09)	9.15	2009	9.27
2010 (7/09-6/10)	9.38	2010	9.35
2011 (7/10-6/11)	9.16	2011	8.93
2012 (7/11-6/12)	9.09	2012	9.3

2013 (7/12-6/13)	9.14	2013	8.9
2014 (7/13-6/14)	8.72	2014	8.51

***As of May 2015 (Fiscal 2015), PRELIMINARY DATA Daytime Traffic Speeds in the CBD had dropped to 7.96 mph

On background:

All yellow taxis are equipped with GPS devices. DOT receives yellow taxi GPS data from the TLC in order to study travel patterns and analyze vehicle traffic speeds, especially in Manhattan. Each year, DOT calculates the average speed of all yellow taxis traveling with passengers between the hours of 8AM-6PM within the Manhattan CBD. Speeds reflect both time in motion and time spent stopped in traffic or at red lights. The taxi GPS system is the most robust source of speed data in the Manhattan CBD; average speed data is based on a sample size of about 24 million CBD taxi trips per year.

For taxi GPS, the City has reliable data going back to the fall of 2008. 2014 (both calendar and fiscal year) is the slowest year on record since DOT began analyzing taxi GPS data. DOT used calendar year data to enable comparison to the latest data available—calendar year 2014. The result does not change significantly if you use 2009 as a base year, instead of 2010. The data show an 8.2% drop in speeds between calendar 2009 and 2014. Preliminary data from 2015 confirm this trend: speed in May 2015 were down to 7.96 mph (this is the figure you’d use if you were comparing fiscal years).

As part of the upcoming study study, the City will analyze the role that increased traffic from the Bronx, Brooklyn, Upper Manhattan, Queens, and New Jersey may be playing in increased congestion in the Manhattan CBD. A preliminary review shows that traffic volumes into the CBD have been flat or slightly down between 2010 and 2014, indicating that external traffic into the CBD is not a primary factor in increasing traffic in the Manhattan CBD. [Preliminary data indicate that average daily traffic into the Manhattan CBD in 2014 is at its lowest level since 2001.]

Average Fall Weekday Vehicles Entering the Mn and Mn CBD

Year	Mn CBD Only	All Mn Crossings
2000	831,000	1,955,506
2001	696,000	1,712,961
2002	792,000	1,857,050
2003	817,000	1,897,411
2004	822,000	1,908,565
2005	805,000	1,884,733
2006	801,000	1,907,118

2007	791,000	1,880,818
2008	756,000	1,830,907
2009	771,000	1,828,065
2010	778,000	1,848,718
2011	764,000	1,808,247
2012	751,000	1,806,649
2013	747,000	1,807,484
2014	731,000	1,776,013

% change 2010-2014 Mn CBD traffic: -6.0%

% change 2010-2014 All Mn crossings: -3.9%

From: Ben Popper mailto:[ben.popper@theverge.com]

Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 10:56 AM

To: Norvell, Wiley

Subject: Re: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Thanks for chatting this morning.

Don't forget to send over that data and details on the proposed cap.

Cheers, Ben

On Mon, Jul 20, 2015 at 9:56 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey Ben—you can reach me at 646-422-9614. Happy to discuss.

Best,

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

\(212\) 788-2958

\(917\) 428-8307 (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

Begin forwarded message:

From: Ben Popper <ben.popper@theverge.com>

Date: July 20, 2015 at 9:54:42 AM EDT

To: <NGrybauskas@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Subject: Comment for story on proposed cap to Uber drivers

Hello Mrs. Grybauskas - I'm going to be covering the City Hall vote tomorrow on a proposed cap to the number of Uber drivers who can operate in NYC. I would love to chat today to get context on background and perhaps a quote for the record. Can you assist, or connect me with a communications person who can?

Thanks, Ben

--

Ben Popper
Business Editor - The Verge

From: Tim Fernholz
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FW: STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS
Date: Thursday, July 23, 2015 9:10:37 AM
Attachments: image001.png

---

<http://qz.com/462206/uber-should-savor-its-new-york-win-because-it-may-be-paying-for-the-subway-before-long/>

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 5:33 PM, Tim Fernholz <tim@qz.com> wrote:
Great, thanks!

On Wed, Jul 22, 2015 at 5:26 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Call you in a sec!

THE CITY OF NEW YORK
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
NEW YORK, NY 10007

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 22, 2015

CONTACT: pressoffice@cityhall.nyc.gov, (212) 788-2958

STATEMENT FROM FIRST DEPUTY MAYOR ANTHONY SHORRIS

“Today the administration, City Council and Uber have agreed to a framework that will advance the city’s vital policy goals for passengers, drivers and the public. It sets in motion a plan to guide a comprehensive and fair public response, driven by data, to the increase in for-hire vehicles. And it ensures that the future growth of this industry matches the values and the interests of New Yorkers.

“Specifically, the City will move forward with a traffic study, to conclude at the end of November, to examine the impact of Uber and the for-hire vehicle industry on traffic congestion on New York City streets. Uber will share information for the study above and beyond what has previously been provided, with safeguards to protect privacy. Uber has also agreed to maintain its approximate current rate of growth and not flood the streets with new licenses and vehicles. In addition to the traffic study, the City and transportation stakeholders will participate in a larger review of the entire taxi, FHV and livery industries, with a particular focus on revenue for public transit, consumer protections, driver and employee protections, and accessibility for people with disabilities. The cap legislation currently before the City Council will be tabled throughout the traffic study process.

“Taken together, these elements represent a smart and fair way to address the issues posed by the FHV industry in New York. The City’s goals and obligations are clear – protect the public, encourage growth and innovation, and keep New York City moving. This framework enables the City to accomplish each of these critical responsibilities.”

###

--
--

Tim Fernholz
Reporter, Quartz
@timfernholz
+1.347.778.1414

--
--

Tim Fernholz
Reporter, Quartz
@timfernholz
+1.347.778.1414

From: Thompson, Ben \(NBCUniversal\)
To: Allan J. Fromberg
Cc: Norvell, Wiley; Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: Re: CNBC Inquiry
Date: Thursday, July 23, 2015 5:00:14 PM

---

Too bad re: tomorrow - but we'd be happy to have Meera back soon!

-----
Ben Thompson
CNBC Sr. Segment Producer
o: 201.735.2290
c: 201.280.4931

Sent from my iPhone

On Jul 23, 2015, at 4:19 PM, Fromberg, Allan (TLC) <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:

Okay, this time copying Wiley!

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 4:19 PM
To: 'Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)'
Cc: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Ben, SO sorry for the delay, but it's been a bear of a week, if you know what I mean. Listen, unfortunately there's no way Meera can do this tomorrow, but I have enlisted the aid of my colleague Wiley Norvell at the Mayor's Office to assist. Raincheck please? Meera loves being on with you guys!

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal) [<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 3:20 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Cc: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: Re: CNBC Inquiry

Thanks for trying - definitely a worthy discussion for our audience - so hoping we can make it work!

Best,

-----
Ben Thompson
CNBC Sr. Segment Producer
o: 201.735.2290
c: 201.280.4931

Sent from my iPhone

On Jul 23, 2015, at 1:37 PM, Fromberg, Allan (TLC) <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:

Things are a bit up in the air here schedule-wise. Will have to get back to you asap!

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal) [<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 1:28 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: Re: CNBC Inquiry

Allan:

We'd be honored to have Meera join us tomorrow AM at 10:50a on set at NYSE.

I look forward to hearing from you!

Best,

-----

Ben Thompson
CNBC Sr. Segment Producer
o: 201.735.2290
c: 201.280.4931

Sent from my iPhone

On Jul 23, 2015, at 11:47 AM, Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal) <Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com> wrote:

Allan:

Just following up - we'd still be interested in having Meera join tomorrow - despite the delayed NYC Uber plans

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell:
201-280-4931 | @BenThompson00
CNBC
First in Business Worldwide
900 Sylvan Avenue | Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC) [frombera@tlc.nyc.gov]
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 11:03 AM
To: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Working on it!

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
[\[mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com\]](mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com)
Sent: Tuesday, July 21, 2015 10:33 AM

To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Thank you!

We could definitely do Friday morning in the 11a hour.

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell:
201-280-4931 | <image001.gif> @BenThompson00

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC) [<mailto:frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 3:19 PM
To: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Will give that a shot and let you know.

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
[<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:35 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

Thanks for clarifying Allan – and I used the term cap as a quick way to sum up- definitely understand the nuances to it all.

Given that this could be Thursday or Friday – perhaps we can see if Meera could join either morning in the 10a or 11a hours?

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell:
201-280-4931 | <image001.gif> @BenThompson00

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC) [<mailto:frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 2:26 PM
To: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
Subject: RE: CNBC Inquiry

A few important clarifications! 1) it's not "Mayor de Blasio's Uber cap." It's two pieces of City Council-sponsored legislation that, approved, would create a one-year "pause" during which there will be limited growth (bases can add between two and 15% more vehicles, depending on how big they are), to assist in the council-proposed congestion/environmental study (the second bill would specify the study), and it would be imposed on the entire For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) industry, not just Uber – Uber just happens to have 20,638 out of the total 63,451 FHVs. 2) It's not a licensing pause for drivers, it's just a pause on the issuance of additional vehicle licenses. There would still be significant opportunities for drivers!

So, I can't speak for the Council's process, but I can tell you that the earliest the bill could be voted on is Thursday, July 23.

When did you want the interview?

---

From: Thompson, Ben (NBCUniversal)
[<mailto:Ben.Thompson@nbcuni.com>]
Sent: Monday, July 20, 2015 1:58 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: CNBC Inquiry

Allan:

Ben Thompson here with CNBC's Squawk on the Street, I hope you are well! I know you've worked with my colleague, Emily Caruthers in the past, but she has since left the company & I wanted to check in with two quick questions:

1. When will Mayor de Blasio's Uber caps set to take effect? I've been hearing tomorrow?
2. Might Meera Joshi consider joining us to discuss the impact & the NYC TLC Response?

Best,

---

Ben Thompson | Sr. Segment Producer | Phone: 201-735-2290 | Cell:
201-280-4931 | <image001.gif> @BenThompson00

First in Business Worldwide

900 Sylvan Avenue | Englewood Cliffs, NJ 07632

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: Hagelgans, Andrea; Anderson, Michael \(TLC\); Furrey, Charles \(TLC\); Garber, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Genser, Emily \(TLC\); Goddin, Daniel \(TLC\); Goldapper, Ira \(TLC\); Singleton, Jessica; Grunfeld, Jeffrey S. \(TLC\); Kurland, Ben \(TLC\); Labadie, Madeline \(TLC\); Murray, Edward \(TLC\); Paulucci, Theadora \(TLC\); Rausen, Joanne \(TLC\); Roth, Jeffrey \(TLC\); Spitalnick, Amy \(OMB\); Sukonnik, Marina \(TLC\); Vais, Izabella \(TLC\); Valdivia, Midori \(TLC\); Walsh, Keith \(TLC\); "billheinzen@gmail.com"; Wilson, Chris \(TLC\); Cohen, Sherry \(TLC\); Davidson, Cindi \(TLC\); Miller, Dawn \(TLC\); Williams, Dominic; Eluto, Sherryl \(TLC\); Fox, Aileen \(TLC\); Freud, Conan \(TLC\); Gordon, Greg \(TLC\); Grindley, Martin \(TLC\); Joshi, Meera \(TLC\); Joyce, Patrick \(TLC\); Ahlers, Kate O'Brien \(Law\); Klahr, David \(TLC\); Leyva, Erika \(TLC\); Goldberg-Cahn, Michelle \(Law\); Moore, Elaine \(TLC\); Paolucci, Nicholas \(Law\); Quintero, Omar \(TLC\); Rojas, Carmen \(TLC\); Royter, Serge \(TLC\); Scanlon, Raymond \(TLC\); Switzer, Brian \(TLC\); Timmeny, Daniel \(TLC\); Wanttaja, Ryan \(TLC\); Weiss, Gary \(TLC\); Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Looking for a few good fights
Date: Tuesday, August 04, 2015 8:37:07 AM

---

MASHABLE

The man who saved Uber in New York is looking for new startups

PHOTO: Josh Mohrer, left, New York's general manager for Uber, speaks during a press conference rally outside City Hall, while inside lawmakers hold a hearing on the growth of the For-Hire-Vehicle (FHV) industry with a focus on Uber, Tuesday, June 30, 2015, in New York.

BY SETH FIEGERMAN

The man who helped Uber beat New York is looking for other startups.

Bradley Tusk, the former campaign manager for Mayor Michael Bloomberg, is selling what some startups desperately want to buy: advice on how to beat the system. The man who helped Uber weave through many of its regulatory scuffles, including last month's victory in New York, is looking to help other startups do the same — and cash in on Silicon Valley's growing sense of urgency about looming regulatory battles.

"Some of the public disputes companies like Uber and AirBnB have had make the reality of regulation and politics far more apparent to founders and startups, which creates both a need on their end and (hopefully) an opportunity on ours," says Tusk, an early Uber political advisor who is now launching Tusk Ventures, billed as the first political strategy firm targeting startups only.

In barely five years, Uber has built a political machine that can beat down some of the nation's most powerful local regulators. The ride-hailing service has successfully pressured lawmakers from Kansas and Virginia to pass more favorable laws and recently convinced the mayor of New York City to back down in a high-profile fight to cap Uber's growth.

Tusk first got involved with Uber in 2011, one year after it launched, when a friend suggested he meet with a "transportation startup with some regulatory issues." Tusk previously worked as the campaign manager for New York City Mayor and billionaire media tycoon Michael Bloomberg. He discovered the startup had no government or public relations department to speak of, despite having run up against local regulators from its earliest days.

In the early days, Tusk worked with Uber's CEO and general managers in new markets to understand and position themselves to navigate regulatory hurdles. As time went on, he helped build up a team of staffers and consultants to deal with government and media relationships.

"Bradley's advice has been invaluable as we remake an industry protected by entrenched interests. We wouldn't have been so successful without his work," Travis Kalanick, CEO of Uber Technologies, said in a statement to Mashable.

Tusk's new consulting firm, staffed with political and legal experts from the beltway and beyond, promises to repeat many of Uber's accomplishments: "fight off unwanted regulatory aggression," "block passage of harmful legislation" and "develop and burnish their public reputation."

It's a pitch that may find an eager audience. The on-demand market is rife with legal issues: car-hailing services like Uber, Lyft and Sidecar must contend with existing taxi regulations requiring specific permits and background checks. Airbnb is dealing with housing laws. And delivery startups like Instacart and Shyp — as well as Uber — are feeling pressure to reclassify their workforce as employees entitled to benefits, rather than independent contractors.

"There's talk of VCs becoming more and more concerned about on-demand startups because of the potential regulatory and labor issues. Startups are definitely being more proactive in thinking about it," says Steve Schlafman, a seed investor with RRE Ventures. That, he says, requires an Uber-like combination of political consultants and experts on staff.

This is a noticeably different approach from the tech giants of yesteryear, like Google and Facebook, which did not immediately impact large existing businesses or touch the offline world, and were therefore not forced to tackle regulatory issues until much later in their timeline.

"Uber is a bit unusual in that it began its lobbying efforts pretty quickly after getting launched," Viveca Novak, a spokesperson for the Center for Responsive Politics, told Mashable in an earlier interview. "Often companies, particular in the tech industry, chug along for a while before realizing they need a stronger Washington presence, a la Google."

Uber and Airbnb, flush with billions in private financing, each spent $200,000 or more on lobbying in D.C. last year and are likely to spend significantly more than that in 2015, according to data from the Center for Responsive Politics.

"Just having a superior platform or engineering or idea isn't necessarily enough," Tusk says. "If someone has the power to shut you down, it's critical to understand it and understand whether and how you can handle it. Otherwise, at best, you're going to spend a lot of time and money dealing with issues that are not core to your growth and at worst, you won't exist at all."

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Sara Pepitone"
Subject: RE: Anthony Shorris + transportation
Date: Thursday, August 06, 2015 2:49:18 PM

---

Give me a few more min here. Broadly good.

From: Sara Pepitone [mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 2:24 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

Thank you. And thanks again for your time. Nice speaking with you.

This is my scribbling. Let me know what you're comfortable with, meaning quotes and attributions, and if you want to add anything...

---

Hard infrastructure – buses, subways – moves everyone. Investments in transportation, like the $300-million, 14-mile, Woodhaven and Cross Bay Boulevard north-south bus route, are important. But the City and its residents have long known that the gap-filling, less traditional, more nimble services are important too, especially as jobs and residences expand to transportation-starved areas. The Last Mile, that too-long walk to the closest station, is a problem that could be solved with a variety of transportation alternatives

“We want to be able to try everything,” said a spokesperson for the City. “Slamming doors inhibits growth.” Imagine a Soundview, Bronx resident who can get a job in south Brooklyn or go to Rockaway beach because of a ferry priced like other MTA modes ($2.75). This winter the City issued a RFP for a manager of the first 5-borough ferry system in a century. Expected annual ridership of 4.6 million isn’t quite the subway weekday -5.6 million in 2014 – but it’s a significant fraction nonetheless.

“The beauty is not just extra capacity or an extra seat improving quality of life, it’s the creation of trips and economic activity that would not have happened otherwise,” said a spokesperson for the City. “That’s where the money is. That’s what the subway did 110 years ago.”

Last month a committee of 15 developers and urban planners hired HR&A Advisors to consider a streetcar or light-rail connecting Astoria to Sunset Park. North-south connects are a deficit everywhere. Like the committee the City is awaiting analysis.

CITY IS NOT ON THAT COMMITTEE, RIGHT?

—

Following City Hall's truce with Uber, Bandwagon was one of 12?? transportation tech companies invited by Deputy Mayor Shorris last month for a preliminary discussion to help shape future For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) policy. “The goal is to have a coherent regulatory framework,” said a spokesperson for the City. “Rideshare really interests us. The regulatory environment has to keep up to help the industry grow responsibly and protect consumers.”

On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 1:22 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ferry map attached.

Bike share release here:

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- August 5, 2015

CONTACT:

Dani Simons, media@motivateco.com; (347) 916-0215

Madeline Kaye, Madeline.Kaye@berlinrosen.com; (646) 200-5297

Scott Gastel/Bonny Tsang, sgastel@dot.nyc.gov/btsang@dot.nyc.gov; (212) 839-4850

Andrew Brent, andrew.brent@citi.com; (212) 559-1299

Citi Bike® Launches Expansion by Opening First Station in Long Island City, Queens

Citi Bike® to double in size over next two years

NYC DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg and Motivate CEO Jay Walder speak about commitment to making bicycling safer, more attractive and more accessible to all New Yorkers

NEW YORK – New York City Department of Transportation (DOT) Commissioner Polly Trottenberg and Motivate CEO Jay Walder kicked off Citi Bike’s dramatic expansion plans by activating the first station in Long Island City, Queens on Wednesday. This is the first step of a larger expansion plan that will double the size of the popular bike share network from 6,000 to 12,000 bikes over the course of two years as it grows across New York City. Twelve stations will be installed in Long Island City beginning this week and expansion will continue immediately into Greenpoint, Williamsburg, and more of Bedford-Stuyvesant, for a total of 91 stations. Expansion will then continue into Upper East and Upper West Sides, from 59th Street to 85th Street, with another 48 stations. These first 139 stations of Citi Bike’s expansion will be installed by early fall. Citi Bike riders have taken over 20 million trips since the program launched over Memorial Day weekend 2013.

The expansion is supported by an increased sponsorship commitment from Citi of up to $70.5 million extended through 2024, a $21 million increase in the credit facility from the Goldman Sachs Urban Investment Group and an infusion of private capital from Motivate’s investors.

DOT and Motivate arrived at the siting plan for the station locations through a comprehensive public engagement process that included more than a hundred meetings with the public and community stakeholders through the course of several years. By 2017, Citi Bike will also expand to the neighborhoods of Harlem, Astoria, Prospect Heights, Crown Heights, Park Slope, Carroll Gardens, Boerum Hill, Cobble Hill, Red Hook, and Gowanus.

To prepare for expansion and further improve service for its customers, Motivate replaced the software that powers Citi Bike and replaced hardware at all existing stations and docking points. These measures have allowed Motivate to deliver accurate, real-time information to customers about bike and dock availability via the Citi Bike App, and improved the ease and reliability of docking bikes. Motivate also overhauled the entire 6,000 bike fleet and created an entirely new line of custom designed bikes. Developed in partnership with Olympic bike designer Ben Serotta, the bikes offer a series of new features and comforts including higher-quality parts and upgraded seats to prevent water from pooling when it rains. The end result is that each bike will spend more time on the street and less in the repair shop. One thousand new bikes were added to the fleet to meet demand, and an additional 1,400 will be put into circulation this summer to stock expansion stations. Motivate has also stepped up their efforts to improve bike and docking point availability at high-volume stations with the use of valets, and the company is finding new ways to move bikes around the system to the places riders need them the most.

“Thanks to the leadership of Mayor Bill de Blasio, residents of Queens will see Citi Bike in the Long Island City for the first time starting today!” said DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg. “We are thrilled to see the bikeshare program expand to Queens, more of Brooklyn, and into upper Manhattan for the first time this year and are already hard at work doing community outreach for expansion into further parts of the city.”

“Nine months ago New Yorkers wondered about the future of Citi Bike,” said Jay Walder, President and CEO of Motivate. “Today New Yorkers see a much improved, and now expanding system. It is a credit to the hard work of our staff, the Department of Transportation and our sponsors and our financing partners, and it’s really just the beginning. We look forward to seeing Citi Bike double in size over the next two years.”

“We are thrilled to enable the expansion of Citi Bike and bring the blue bikes to Queens,” said Citi Head of Public Affairs Edward Skyler. “We have seen only the beginning of what Citi Bike can do to ease transportation, help New Yorkers live healthier lives and make our city more sustainable, and we are proud to help fulfill its far-reaching promise.”

“We are excited to see the success of Citi Bike and to further support the program’s expansion with additional financing, increasing our commitment to over $60 million,” said Margaret Anadu, Managing Director in the Goldman Sachs Urban Investment Group. “This expansion will not only increase access to affordable green transportation but will also create quality jobs and sustainable economic development.”

"After years of hard work, I am proud to join Commissioner Trottenberg in announcing Citi Bike has arrived in Queens," said New York City Council Majority Leader Jimmy Van Bramer. "Since its inception Citi Bike has provided New Yorkers with a vital alternative mode of transportation that is empowering tens of thousands every single day. Now we in Queens will have that opportunity. For years I fought to have our borough incorporated into the nation's largest bike share network and today that becomes a reality. I want to thank the Administration, Motivate and the Department of Transportation for working with my office to expand Citi Bike into Western Queens. I look forward to continuing our collaboration as we work to expand this popular program into Astoria, Sunnyside Woodside and beyond!"

“I am proud to have gotten western Queens included in the Citi Bike expansion plans. The inclusion of Long Island City was a long time coming but I am glad it has finally arrived,” said State Senator Michael Gianaris. “Bike share will allow people to enjoy our neighborhood in a healthy, fun way and facilitate easier travel around western Queens, an area in dire need of better mass transit. I am thrilled to see western Queens given the opportunity to enjoy the benefits of Citi Bike and look forward to its further expansion into more of our neighborhoods.”

"I am an avid Citi Bike rider, and the expansion of stations into Bedford-Stuyvesant, Greenpoint, and Williamsburg will expand opportunities for me and my fellow Brooklyn cyclists to take to the streets. Bike riding is more than recreation; it is daily transportation for an increasing number of commuters. Partners like Citi Bike and the New York City Department of Transportation are to be commended for their continued commitment to cycling,” said Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams.

"It didn't take long for Citi Bike to become a key option in our transit network," said State Senator Daniel Squadron. "Expanding Citi Bike is especially meaningful in neighborhoods where transit options are not as robust, such as those along the waterfront in North Brooklyn in my district. Thanks to Mayor de Blasio, Commissioner Trottenberg, and all of the partners for continuing to build this successful program."

“I am thrilled that Citi Bike is expanding further into my district. With the population explosion in Williamsburg and Greenpoint we need all the transportation options we can get. The New York City Department of Transportation surely sees the benefits of expanding the transportation network for cyclists, as witnessed with the upcoming Pulaski Bridge dedicated bike lane and the newly installed Greenpoint Avenue Bridge bike lane. Not only does this help people connect to other transportation options, it also promotes the live/work community that Williamsburg and Greenpoint has become. I commend Commissioner Trottenberg for realizing the importance of cycling to my constituents, and the city as a whole,” said Assemblyman Joseph R. Lentol (D-North Brooklyn)

“With Citi Bike, NYC has created a thriving new public transit program with no tax payer dollars. I’m extremely pleased that this expansion will create even more Citi Bike employment and will give additional BedStuy residents an opportunity to give bike sharing a try,” said Council Member Robert E. Cornegy, Jr. “In fact, I expect that many residents will find the service is a great way to get to their jobs, local parks and other forms of transit and make cycling a regular part of their lives. I can’t wait to see all these new riders on the streets.”

“The expansion of Citi Bike in Brooklyn means more New Yorkers will have access to an environmentally-friendly mode of transportation. I applaud the Department of Transportation and Motivate for sustaining New York’s bike sharing program, which is an inexpensive and flexible option for daily commuters and tourists,” said Council Member Laurie A. Cumbo.

“The extension of Citi Bike to neighborhoods that are underserved by mass transit is an investment that our Partnership Fund was proud to make, “ stated Kathryn Wylde, President & CEO of the Partnership for New York City. “Motivate is taking the steps necessary to make bike sharing in New York more efficient and convenient, which will result in greater utilization for commuting to work as well as leisure activity.”

“Long Island City has eagerly anticipated the arrival of bikeshare since Citi Bike first began, and we are thrilled that it has finally arrived,” said Elizabeth Lusskin, President of the LIC Partnership. “We thank our local elected officials and everyone who worked so hard to bring bikeshare to our community. This expansion will be key to helping residents, visitors and workers get into and around LIC, experiencing all that we have to offer.”

Citi Bike’s annual membership costs $149 a year, but for any New York City Housing Authority resident, a membership costs only $60. Additionally, to celebrate its expansion, Citi Bike is offering a $25 discount to new members who sign up by August 31. For more details about membership, riders can find out more and view station maps at www.citibikenyc.com/expansion.

###

Neighborhood	Citi Bike Stations to be installed in 2015
Long Island City	12
Greenpoint	20
Williamsburg	33
Bedford Stuyvesant	26
Upper East Side	27
Upper West Side	21

###

ABOUT THE CITI BIKE PROGRAM

The Citi Bike program is New York’s bike share system with thousands of bikes at hundreds of stations every few blocks in Manhattan below 59th Street; in the Brooklyn neighborhoods of Brooklyn Heights, Bedford-Stuyvesant, Williamsburg, Clinton Hill, Fort Greene and DUMBO; and Long Island City Queens. More stations are coming soon to Greenpoint, the Upper East and Upper West Sides. Annual members receive an electronic key to undock a bike from any station, allowing unlimited trips up to 45 minutes without incurring any additional costs. Twenty-four-hour and seven-day access passes are available for purchase at any Citi Bike station and provide unlimited 30-minute trips. There have been over 20 million trips on Citi Bike since the program launched in 2013.

ABOUT MOTIVATE

Motivate is a global leader in bike share. A full-service bike share operator and technology

> Hi,

>

> Checking in. Any word you can share?

>

> One additional question - motorized pedicabs. Anything come of this?:

> http://www.nyc.gov/html/mancb10/downloads/pdf/proposed\_motorized\_pedic

> ab\_rule\_-\_w\_certifications\_-\_final\_-\_5.6.15.pdf

>

> Thank you.

>

> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 8:03 AM, Spitalnick, Amy (OMB) <SpitalnickA@omb.nyc.gov> wrote:

>> +Wiley

>>

>>

>>

>>> On Aug 6, 2015, at 8:02 AM, "[REDACTED]" <[REDACTED]> wrote:

>>>

>>> Good morning,

>>>

>>> I'm working on a story for the Commercial Observer about public transportation. My focus is alternate options like rickshaws, ridesharing and the possible return of a trolley.

>>>

>>> I know Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris invited folks like Via and Bandwagon in for discussion. I wonder if he has a moment today (my deadline is today) to comment about that meeting - was it part of the overall study? - and the benefit (or not) of varied transportation options overall.

>>>

>>> Also, any thoughts on a trolley/streetcar? Good for NYers? Likely to happen?

>>>

>>> Thank you.

>>> Let me know if you have questions for me.

>>>

>>> Sara Pepitone

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> <http://www1.nyc.gov/office-of-the-mayor/news/504-15/statement-first->

>>> d >>> eputy-mayor-anthony-shorris

>>>

>>>

>>>

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: Norvell, Wiley; Joshi, Meera \(TLC\)
Cc: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: FW: DOT response
Date: Thursday, August 06, 2015 6:51:11 PM

---

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 6:46 PM
To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Cc: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: DOT response

Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:

78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan

92% for yellow cabs
30% for green cabs
86% for yellow + green cabs

So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer boroughs.

cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this. Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILED from TLC for Uber, compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.

Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in the city?

And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are different in 2015?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:

>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for me >to bug them any further!

>

>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we had >issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which happened >to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine collection of >FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late last year giving >us the authority to do so. I believe the first batch of Uber aggregate >data for a portion of 2015 is available via the FOIL process.

>

>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >include drop-off specifics.

>

>

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM

>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'

>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'

>Subject: Re: DOT response

>

>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.

>

>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.

>

>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from 5
>Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into context.

>

>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip data >for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location that was >reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC since April >2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green and yellow cab >data?

>

>

>

>

>_____
>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>+1-718-875-0272

><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>

>

>

>

>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>

>wrote:

>

>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and >>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street,
>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone"
>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!

>>

>>

>>----- Original Message -----

>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM

>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,

>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>

>>Subject: DOT response

>>

>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):

>>

>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second one >>you sent.

>>

>>

>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides are >>in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.

>>

>>

>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber
>>base

>>

>>Under the agreement:

>>· TLC will have access to time, pick-up and drop-off data, as >>well as path, traffic speed and GPS data, which will significantly >>improve the quality of our traffic analysis

>>· Uber will anonymize data to protect consumer privacy

>>· We are working collaboratively on methodology for sharing. It >>could run the gamut from them sending us anonymized data, as they do >>for Boston, all the way to clean room access to terminals to work with >>the direct, unvarnished basic transaction data.

>>· We have a shared commitment to maintaining confidentiality of >>raw data.

>>

>>

>>The DOT traffic model, which can simulate individual vehicles and >>detailed roadway operations in Midtown, requires specific inputs about >>the quantity and trip-making behavior (especially pick-up AND drop-off >>locations) to project travel patterns of FHVs and evaluate their >>effect on congestion speed. Without those more specific FHV data, >>accurately simulating those added cars in the model is not possible.

>>The DOT model is not a spreadsheet tool like Komanoff's.
>>
>

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: "Bialik, Carl"; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: RE: DOT response
Date: Thursday, August 06, 2015 7:12:50 PM

---

That's a good working theory.....also true that there are a number of very active mass transit termini in the area.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 6:56 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: Re: DOT response

This is all of Manhattan.

Actual numbers of trips: 80 million total for yellows, 8 million for greens, 4 million for Ubers. (Presumably Uber share higher in 2015) Yes comments can come in tomorrow. Also curious, Allan, if any comment on why taxis are relatively dominant in northwest Queens — maybe cabs picking up on way back from LaGuardia dropoffs?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here. (Central >manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips as well as >percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so you have the >full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?

>

>----- Original Message -----

>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM
>To: Allan J. Fromberg
>Cc: Norvell, Wiley
>Subject: Re: DOT response

>

>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in >our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:

>

>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan

>

>92% for yellow cabs

>30% for green cabs

>86% for yellow + green cabs

>

>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >boroughs.

>

>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.

>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILED from TLC for Uber, compared >to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.

>
>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >the city?
>
>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >different in 2015?
>
>
>_____
>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>+1-718-875-0272
><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>
>
>
>
>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:
>
>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for >>me to bug them any further!
>>
>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we >>had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which >>happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine >>collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late >>last year giving us the authority to do so. I believe the first batch >>of Uber aggregate data for a portion of 2015 is available via the FOIL process.
>>
>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >>include drop-off specifics.
>>
>>
>>
>>-----Original Message-----
>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM
>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'
>>Subject: Re: DOT response
>>
>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.
>>
>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.
>>
>>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from >>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into context.
>>
>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip >>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location that >>was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC since >>April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green and >>yellow cab data?
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>_____
>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>+1-718-875-0272
>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>
>>
>>
>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>wrote:
>>
>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and >>>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street,
>>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone"
>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!
>>>
>>>
>>>----- Original Message -----
>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]
>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM
>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'
>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>
>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,
>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>
>>>Subject: DOT response
>>>
>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):
>>>
>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second one
>>>you sent.
>>>
>>>
>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides >>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.
>>>
>>>
>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber
>>>base
>>>
>>>Under the agreement:
>>>· TLC will have access to time, pick-up and drop-off data, as >>>well as path, traffic speed and GPS data, which will significantly >>>improve the quality of our traffic analysis
>>>· Uber will anonymize data to protect consumer privacy
>>>· We are working collaboratively on methodology for sharing. It >>>could run the gamut from them sending us anonymized data, as they do >>>for Boston, all the way to clean room access to terminals to work >>>with the direct, unvarnished basic transaction data.
>>>· We have a shared commitment to maintaining confidentiality of >>>raw data.
>>>
>>>
>>>The DOT traffic model, which can simulate individual vehicles and >>>detailed roadway operations in Midtown, requires specific inputs >>>about the quantity and trip-making behavior (especially pick-up AND >>>drop-off
>>>locations) to project travel patterns of FHV's and evaluate their >>>effect on congestion speed. Without those more specific FHV data, >>>accurately simulating those added cars in the model is not possible.
>>>The DOT model is not a spreadsheet tool like Komanoff<sup>1</sup>s.

>>>
>>
>

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: "Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com"; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: Re: DOT response
Date: Thursday, August 06, 2015 9:04:28 PM

---

In short, yes! Can I just say, there doesn't appear to be even one in 100 reporters who got that nuance, despite the fact that commissioner Joshi testified to that effect at the council hearing!!

Thank you!

----- Original Message -----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 08:05 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>; Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
Subject: Re: DOT response

Also any comment on this questioning of mayor's math on new FHVs?
Is it because of attrition?

<http://iquantny.tumblr.com/post/125760518214/funny-math-fact-check-de-blasi-o-vs-uber>

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here. (Central >manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips as well as >percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so you have the >full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?

>

>----- Original Message -----

>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM
>To: Allan J. Fromberg
>Cc: Norvell, Wiley
>Subject: Re: DOT response

>

>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in our >analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:

>

>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan

>

>92% for yellow cabs

>30% for green cabs

>86% for yellow + green cabs

>

>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >boroughs.
>
>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this. Wiley, >this is based on trip data we FOIled from TLC for Uber, compared to data
>TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.
>
>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in the >city?
>
>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >different in 2015?
>
>
>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>+1-718-875-0272
><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>
>
>
>
>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:
>
>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for me >>to bug them any further!
>>
>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we had >>issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which happened to >>encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine collection of FHV >>trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late last year giving us >>the authority to do so. I believe the first batch of Uber aggregate data >>for a portion of 2015 is available via the FOIL process.
>>
>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >>include drop-off specifics.
>>
>>
>>
>>-----Original Message-----
>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM
>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'
>>Subject: Re: DOT response
>>
>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.
>>
>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.
>>
>>I FOIled trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from 5
>>Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and longitude, >>date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into context.
>>
>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip data >>for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location that was >>reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC since April >>2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green and yellow cab >>data?

>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>+1-718-875-0272
>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>wrote:
>>
>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and >>>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street, >>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone" south >>>of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!
>>>
>>>
>>>----- Original Message -----
>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]
>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM
>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com' <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>
>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,
>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>
>>>Subject: DOT response
>>>
>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):
>>>
>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second one
>>>you sent.
>>>
>>>
>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides are >>>in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.
>>>
>>>
>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber
>>>base
>>>
>>>Under the agreement:
>>>· TLC will have access to time, pick-up and drop-off data, as >>>well as path, traffic speed and GPS data, which will significantly >>>improve the quality of our traffic analysis
>>>· Uber will anonymize data to protect consumer privacy
>>>· We are working collaboratively on methodology for sharing. It >>>could run the gamut from them sending us anonymized data, as they do >>>for Boston, all the way to clean room access to terminals to work with >>>the direct, unvarnished basic transaction data.
>>>· We have a shared commitment to maintaining confidentiality of >>>raw data.
>>>
>>>
>>>The DOT traffic model, which can simulate individual vehicles and >>>detailed roadway operations in Midtown, requires specific inputs about >>>the quantity and trip-making behavior (especially pick-up AND drop-off >>>locations) to project travel patterns of FHVs and evaluate their effect >>>on congestion speed. Without those more specific FHV data, accurately >>>simulating those added cars in the model is not possible. The DOT model >>>is not a spreadsheet tool like Komanoff<sup>1</sup>s.

>>>
>>
>

>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM
>>To: Allan J. Fromberg
>>Cc: Norvell, Wiley
>>Subject: Re: DOT response
>>
>>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in >>our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:
>>
>>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan
>>
>>92% for yellow cabs
>>30% for green cabs
>>86% for yellow + green cabs
>>
>>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >>boroughs.
>>
>>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.
>>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILED from TLC for Uber, >>compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.
>>
>>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >>the city?
>>
>>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >>different in 2015?
>>
>>
>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>+1-718-875-0272
>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:
>>
>>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for >>>me to bug them any further!
>>>
>>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >>>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we >>>had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which >>>happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine >>>collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late >>>last year giving us the authority to do so. I believe the first >>>batch of Uber aggregate data for a portion of 2015 is available via >>>the FOIL process.
>>>
>>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >>>include drop-off specifics.
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>-----Original Message-----
>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM
>>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'

>>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>>

>>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.

>>>

>>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.

>>>

>>>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from

>>>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into >>>context.

>>>

>>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip

>>>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location

>>>that was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC >>>since April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green >>>and yellow cab data?

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>_____
>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>>+1-718-875-0272

>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>

>>>wrote:

>>>

>>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>>>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and

>>>>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>>>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street,

>>>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone"

>>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>----- Original Message -----

>>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

>>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM

>>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

>>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,

>>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>

>>>>Subject: DOT response

>>>>

>>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):

>>>>

>>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second

>>>>one you sent.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides

>>>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber

>>>>base

From: Sara Pepitone
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation
Date: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:24:49 PM

---

I think it's next week's paper - Wed - but not sure. Will let you know

On Fri, Aug 7, 2015 at 12:07 PM, Norvell, Wiley
<WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

> Any idea when your piece will pop?

>

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Sara Pepitone [<mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com>]

> Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 3:24 PM

> To: Norvell, Wiley

> Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

>

> Great.

>

> Thank you again. Quotes out. I think we're good. I'm filing shortly.

>

> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 3:21 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>> Swell.

>>

>> -----Original Message-----

>> From: Sara Pepitone [<mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com>]

>> Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 3:17 PM

>> To: Norvell, Wiley

>> Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

>>

>> Thank you.

>>

>> This work:

>>

>> Following City Hall's truce with Uber, Bandwagon was one of 15 transportation tech companies invited by Deputy Mayors Alicia Glenn and Anthony Shorris last month for a preliminary discussion to help shape future For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) policy. "We see real potential in ride sharing and other innovations to contribute to the transportation network," Wiley Norvell, Deputy Press Secretary, told Commercial Observer. "And we want to engage in a serious and thoughtful conversation with the sector."

>>

>> ?

>>

>> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 3:06 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>>> From me:

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> "We see real potential in ride sharing and other innovations to >>> contribute to the transportation network. And we want to engage in a >>> serious and thoughtful conversation with the sector."

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> From: Sara Pepitone [<mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com>]

>>> Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 2:24 PM

>>> To: Norvell, Wiley

>>>

>>>

>>> Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> Thank you. And thanks again for your time. Nice speaking with you.

>>>

>>> This is my scribbling. Let me know what you're comfortable with, >>> meaning quotes and attributions, and if you want to add anything...

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> ---

>>> Hard infrastructure – buses, subways – moves everyone. Investments in >>> transportation, like the $300-million, 14-mile, Woodhaven and Cross >>> Bay Boulevard north-south bus route, are important. But the City and >>> its residents have long known that the gap-filling, less traditional, >>> more nimble services are important too, especially as jobs and >>> residences expand to transportation-starved areas. The Last Mile, >>> that too-long walk to the closest station, is a problem that could be >>> solved with a variety of transportation alternatives

>>>

>>> “We want to be able to try everything,” said a spokesperson for the City.
>>> “Slamming doors inhibits growth.” Imagine a Soundview, Bronx resident >>> who can get a job in south Brooklyn or go to Rockaway beach because >>> of a ferry priced like other MTA modes ($2.75). This winter the City >>> issued a RFP for a manager of the first 5-borough ferry system in a >>> century. Expected annual ridership of 4.6 million isn’t quite the >>> subway weekday -5.6 million in 2014 – but it’s a significant fraction nonetheless.

>>>

>>> “The beauty is not just extra capacity or an extra seat improving >>> quality of life, it’s the creation of trips and economic activity >>> that would not have happened otherwise,” said a spokesperson for the City.
>>> “That’s where the money is. That’s what the subway did 110 years ago.”

>>>

>>> Last month a committee of 15 developers and urban planners hired HR&A >>> Advisors to consider a streetcar or light-rail connecting Astoria to >>> Sunset Park. North-south connects are a deficit everywhere. Like the >>> committee the City is awaiting analysis.

>>>

>>> CITY IS NOT ON THAT COMMITTEE, RIGHT?

>>>

>>>

>>> —

>>>

>>> Following City Hall's truce with Uber, Bandwagon was one of 12?? >>> transportation tech companies invited by Deputy Mayor Shorris last >>> month for a preliminary discussion to help shape future For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) policy.
>>> “The goal is to have a coherent regulatory framework,” said a >>> spokesperson for the City. “Rideshare really interests us. The >>> regulatory environment has to keep up to help the industry grow responsibly and protect consumers.”

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 1:22 PM, Norvell, Wiley

>>> <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
>>> wrote:
>>>
>>> Ferry map attached.
>>>
>>> Bike share release here:
>>>
>>>
>>> FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- August 5, 2015
>>>
>>>
>>> CONTACT:
>>>
>>> Dani Simons, media@motivateco.com; (347) 916-0215
>>>
>>> Madeline Kaye, Madeline.Kaye@berlinrosen.com; (646) 200-5297
>>>
>>> Scott Gastel/Bonny Tsang, sgastel@dot.nyc.gov/btsang@dot.nyc.gov;
>>> (212)
>>> 839-4850
>>>
>>> Andrew Brent, andrew.brent@citi.com; (212) 559-1299
>>>
>>>
>>> Citi Bike® Launches Expansion by Opening First Station in Long Island
>>> City, Queens
>>>
>>>
>>> Citi Bike® to double in size over next two years
>>>
>>>
>>> NYC DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg and Motivate CEO Jay Walder >>> speak about commitment to making bicycling safer, more attractive and >>> more accessible to all New Yorkers
>>>
>>>
>>> NEW YORK – New York City Department of Transportation (DOT)
>>> Commissioner Polly Trottenberg and Motivate CEO Jay Walder kicked off
>>> Citi Bike’s dramatic expansion plans by activating the first station >>> in Long Island City, Queens on Wednesday. This is the first step of a >>> larger expansion plan that will double the size of the popular bike >>> share network from 6,000 to
>>> 12,000 bikes over the course of two years as it grows across New York City.
>>> Twelve stations will be installed in Long Island City beginning this >>> week and expansion will continue immediately into Greenpoint,
>>> Williamsburg, and more of Bedford-Stuyvesant, for a total of 91 >>> stations. Expansion will then continue into Upper East and Upper West >>> Sides, from 59th Street to 85th Street, with another 48 stations.
>>> These first 139 stations of Citi Bike’s expansion will be installed >>> by early fall. Citi Bike riders have taken over >>> 20 million trips since the program launched over Memorial Day weekend 2013.
>>>
>>> The expansion is supported by an increased sponsorship commitment >>> from Citi of up to $70.5 million extended through 2024, a $21 million >>> increase in the credit facility from the Goldman Sachs Urban >>> Investment Group and an infusion of private capital from Motivate's investors.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> DOT and Motivate arrived at the siting plan for the station locations >>> through a comprehensive public engagement process that included more >>> than a hundred meetings with the public and community stakeholders >>> through the course of several years. By 2017, Citi Bike will also >>> expand to the neighborhoods of Harlem, Astoria, Prospect Heights, >>> Crown Heights, Park Slope, Carroll Gardens, Boerum Hill, Cobble Hill, Red Hook, and Gowanus.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> To prepare for expansion and further improve service for its >>> customers, Motivate replaced the software that powers Citi Bike and >>> replaced hardware at all existing stations and docking points. These >>> measures have allowed Motivate to deliver accurate, real-time >>> information to customers about bike and dock availability via the >>> Citi Bike App, and improved the ease and reliability of docking bikes.
>>> Motivate also overhauled the entire 6,000 bike fleet and created an >>> entirely new line of custom designed bikes. Developed in partnership >>> with Olympic bike designer Ben Serotta, the bikes offer a series of >>> new features and comforts including higher-quality parts and upgraded >>> seats to prevent water from pooling when it rains. The end result is >>> that each bike will spend more time on the street and less in the >>> repair shop. One thousand new bikes were added to the fleet to meet >>> demand, and an additional 1,400 will be put into circulation this >>> summer to stock expansion stations. Motivate has also stepped up >>> their efforts to improve bike and docking point availability at >>> high-volume stations with the use of valets, and the company is finding new ways to move bikes around the system to the places riders need them the most.

>>>

>>> "Thanks to the leadership of Mayor Bill de Blasio, residents of >>> Queens will see Citi Bike in the Long Island City for the first time starting today!"
>>> said DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg. "We are thrilled to see the >>> bikeshare program expand to Queens, more of Brooklyn, and into upper >>> Manhattan for the first time this year and are already hard at work >>> doing community outreach for expansion into further parts of the city."

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> "Nine months ago New Yorkers wondered about the future of Citi Bike," >>> said Jay Walder, President and CEO of Motivate. "Today New Yorkers >>> see a much improved, and now expanding system. It is a credit to the >>> hard work of our staff, the Department of Transportation and our >>> sponsors and our financing partners, and it's really just the >>> beginning. We look forward to seeing Citi Bike double in size over the next two years."

>>>

>>> "We are thrilled to enable the expansion of Citi Bike and bring the >>> blue bikes to Queens," said Citi Head of Public Affairs Edward Skyler.
>>> "We have seen only the beginning of what Citi Bike can do to ease >>> transportation, help New Yorkers live healthier lives and make our >>> city more sustainable, and we are proud to help fulfill its far-reaching promise."

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> "We are excited to see the success of Citi Bike and to further >>> support the program's expansion with additional financing, increasing >>> our commitment to over $60 million," said Margaret Anadu, Managing >>> Director in the Goldman Sachs Urban Investment Group. "This >>> expansion will not only increase access to affordable green >>> transportation but will also create quality jobs and sustainable economic development."

>>>
>>>

>>> "After years of hard work, I am proud to join Commissioner >>> Trottenberg in announcing Citi Bike has arrived in Queens," said New >>> York City Council Majority Leader Jimmy Van Bramer. "Since its >>> inception Citi Bike has provided New Yorkers with a vital alternative >>> mode of transportation that is empowering tens of thousands every single day.
>>> Now we in Queens will have that opportunity. For years I fought to >>> have our borough incorporated into the nation's largest bike share >>> network and today that becomes a reality. I want to thank the >>> Administration, Motivate and the Department of Transportation for >>> working with my office to expand Citi Bike into Western Queens. I >>> look forward to continuing our collaboration as we work to expand this popular program into Astoria, Sunnyside Woodside and beyond!"

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "I am proud to have gotten western Queens included in the Citi Bike >>> expansion plans. The inclusion of Long Island City was a long time >>> coming but I am glad it has finally arrived," said State Senator Michael Gianaris.
>>> "Bike share will allow people to enjoy our neighborhood in a healthy, >>> fun way and facilitate easier travel around western Queens, an area >>> in dire need of better mass transit. I am thrilled to see western >>> Queens given the opportunity to enjoy the benefits of Citi Bike and >>> look forward to its further expansion into more of our neighborhoods."

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "I am an avid Citi Bike rider, and the expansion of stations into >>> Bedford-Stuyvesant, Greenpoint, and Williamsburg will expand >>> opportunities for me and my fellow Brooklyn cyclists to take to the >>> streets. Bike riding is more than recreation; it is daily >>> transportation for an increasing number of commuters. Partners like >>> Citi Bike and the New York City Department of Transportation are to >>> be commended for their continued commitment to cycling," said Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams.

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "It didn't take long for Citi Bike to become a key option in our >>> transit network," said State Senator Daniel Squadron. "Expanding Citi
>>> Bike is especially meaningful in neighborhoods where transit options >>> are not as robust, such as those along the waterfront in North Brooklyn in my district.
>>> Thanks to Mayor de Blasio, Commissioner Trottenberg, and all of the >>> partners for continuing to build this successful program."

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "I am thrilled that Citi Bike is expanding further into my district.
>>> With the population explosion in Williamsburg and Greenpoint we need >>> all the transportation options we can get. The New York City >>> Department of Transportation surely sees the benefits of expanding >>> the transportation network for cyclists, as witnessed with the >>> upcoming Pulaski Bridge dedicated bike lane and the newly installed
>>> Greenpoint Avenue Bridge bike lane. Not only does this help people >>> connect to other transportation options, it also promotes the >>> live/work community that Williamsburg and Greenpoint has become. I

>>>
>>> Neighborhood
>>>
>>> Citi Bike Stations to be installed in 2015
>>>
>>> Long Island City
>>>
>>> 12
>>>
>>> Greenpoint
>>>
>>> 20
>>>
>>> Williamsburg
>>>
>>> 33
>>>
>>> Bedford Stuyvesant
>>>
>>> 26
>>>
>>> Upper East Side
>>>
>>> 27
>>>
>>> Upper West Side
>>>
>>> 21
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> ###
>>>
>>> ABOUT THE CITI BIKE PROGRAM
>>>
>>> The Citi Bike program is New York's bike share system with thousands >>> of bikes at hundreds of stations every few blocks in Manhattan below
>>> 59th Street; in the Brooklyn neighborhoods of Brooklyn Heights,
>>> Bedford-Stuyvesant, Williamsburg, Clinton Hill, Fort Greene and >>> DUMBO; and Long Island City Queens. More stations are coming soon to >>> Greenpoint, the Upper East and Upper West Sides. Annual members >>> receive an electronic key to undock a bike from any station, allowing >>> unlimited trips up to 45 minutes without incurring any additional >>> costs. Twenty-four-hour and seven-day access passes are available for >>> purchase at any Citi Bike station and provide unlimited 30-minute >>> trips. There have been over 20 million trips on Citi Bike since the program launched in 2013.
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> ABOUT MOTIVATE
>>>
>>> Motivate is a global leader in bike share. A full-service bike share >>> operator and technology innovator, Motivate works to re-envision how >>> people experience and move around cities. Motivate currently manages >>> all of the largest bike share systems in the United States and many >>> of the largest systems in the world, including Bay Area Bike Share
>>> (California Bay Area), Citi Bike (New York), Divvy (Chicago), CoGo
>>> Bike Share (Columbus, Ohio), Capital Bike Share (Washington, D.C.; >>> Arlington and Alexandria, Va.; and Montgomery County, Md.), Hubway
>>> (Boston, Somerville, Cambridge and Brookline, Mass.), Pronto

>>>
>>>> http://www.nyc.gov/html/mancb10/downloads/pdf/proposed\_motorized\_ped >>>> i
>>>> c
>>>
>>>> ab_rule_-_w_certifications_-_final_-_5.6.15.pdf
>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>>> Thank you.
>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>>> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 8:03 AM, Spitalnick, Amy (OMB)
>>>> <SpitalnickA@omb.nyc.gov> wrote:
>>>
>>>>> +Wiley
>>>
>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>
>>>
>>>>> On Aug 6, 2015, at 8:02 AM, "sara.pepitone@gmail.com"
>>>>> <sara.pepitone@gmail.com> wrote:
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Good morning,
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> I'm working on a story for the Commercial Observer about public >>>>>> transportation. My focus is alternate options like rickshaws, >>>>>> ridesharing and the possible return of a trolley.
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> I know Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris invited folks like Via and >>>>>> Bandwagon in for discussion. I wonder if he has a moment today (my >>>>>> deadline is today) to comment about that meeting - was it part of >>>>>> the overall study? - and the benefit (or not) of varied transportation options overall.
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Also, any thoughts on a trolley/streetcar? Good for NYers? Likely >>>>>> to happen?
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Thank you.
>>>
>>>>>> Let me know if you have questions for me.
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Sara Pepitone
>>>
>>>>>> 917-969-1702

>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> <http://www1.nyc.gov/office-of-the-mayor/news/504-15/statement-firs> >>>>>> t
>>>>>> -
>>>
>>>>>> d
>>>
>>>>>> eputy-mayor-anthony-shorris
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>

From: Sara Pepitone
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation
Date: Friday, August 07, 2015 1:03:58 PM

---

8/12 issue.

On Fri, Aug 7, 2015 at 12:07 PM, Norvell, Wiley
<WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

> Any idea when your piece will pop?

>

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Sara Pepitone [<mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com>]

> Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 3:24 PM

> To: Norvell, Wiley

> Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

>

> Great.

>

> Thank you again. Quotes out. I think we're good. I'm filing shortly.

>

> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 3:21 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>> Swell.

>>

>> -----Original Message-----

>> From: Sara Pepitone [<mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com>]

>> Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 3:17 PM

>> To: Norvell, Wiley

>> Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

>>

>> Thank you.

>>

>> This work:

>>

>> Following City Hall's truce with Uber, Bandwagon was one of 15 transportation tech companies invited by Deputy Mayors Alicia Glenn and Anthony Shorris last month for a preliminary discussion to help shape future For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) policy. "We see real potential in ride sharing and other innovations to contribute to the transportation network," Wiley Norvell, Deputy Press Secretary, told Commercial Observer. "And we want to engage in a serious and thoughtful conversation with the sector."

>>

>> ?

>>

>> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 3:06 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>>> From me:

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> "We see real potential in ride sharing and other innovations to >>> contribute to the transportation network. And we want to engage in a >>> serious and thoughtful conversation with the sector."

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> From: Sara Pepitone [<mailto:sara.pepitone@gmail.com>]

>>> Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 2:24 PM

>>> To: Norvell, Wiley

>>>

>>>

>>> Subject: Re: Anthony Shorris + transportation

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> Thank you. And thanks again for your time. Nice speaking with you.

>>>

>>> This is my scribbling. Let me know what you're comfortable with, >>> meaning quotes and attributions, and if you want to add anything...

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> ---

>>> Hard infrastructure – buses, subways – moves everyone. Investments in >>> transportation, like the $300-million, 14-mile, Woodhaven and Cross >>> Bay Boulevard north-south bus route, are important. But the City and >>> its residents have long known that the gap-filling, less traditional, >>> more nimble services are important too, especially as jobs and >>> residences expand to transportation-starved areas. The Last Mile, >>> that too-long walk to the closest station, is a problem that could be >>> solved with a variety of transportation alternatives

>>>

>>> “We want to be able to try everything,” said a spokesperson for the City.
>>> “Slamming doors inhibits growth.” Imagine a Soundview, Bronx resident >>> who can get a job in south Brooklyn or go to Rockaway beach because >>> of a ferry priced like other MTA modes ($2.75). This winter the City >>> issued a RFP for a manager of the first 5-borough ferry system in a >>> century. Expected annual ridership of 4.6 million isn’t quite the >>> subway weekday -5.6 million in 2014 – but it’s a significant fraction nonetheless.

>>>

>>> “The beauty is not just extra capacity or an extra seat improving >>> quality of life, it’s the creation of trips and economic activity >>> that would not have happened otherwise,” said a spokesperson for the City.
>>> “That’s where the money is. That’s what the subway did 110 years ago.”

>>>

>>> Last month a committee of 15 developers and urban planners hired HR&A >>> Advisors to consider a streetcar or light-rail connecting Astoria to >>> Sunset Park. North-south connects are a deficit everywhere. Like the >>> committee the City is awaiting analysis.

>>>

>>> CITY IS NOT ON THAT COMMITTEE, RIGHT?

>>>

>>>

>>> —

>>>

>>> Following City Hall's truce with Uber, Bandwagon was one of 12?? >>> transportation tech companies invited by Deputy Mayor Shorris last >>> month for a preliminary discussion to help shape future For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) policy.
>>> “The goal is to have a coherent regulatory framework,” said a >>> spokesperson for the City. “Rideshare really interests us. The >>> regulatory environment has to keep up to help the industry grow responsibly and protect consumers.”

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 1:22 PM, Norvell, Wiley

>>> <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
>>> wrote:
>>>
>>> Ferry map attached.
>>>
>>> Bike share release here:
>>>
>>>
>>> FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -- August 5, 2015
>>>
>>>
>>> CONTACT:
>>>
>>> Dani Simons, media@motivateco.com; (347) 916-0215
>>>
>>> Madeline Kaye, Madeline.Kaye@berlinrosen.com; (646) 200-5297
>>>
>>> Scott Gastel/Bonny Tsang, sgastel@dot.nyc.gov/btsang@dot.nyc.gov;
>>> (212)
>>> 839-4850
>>>
>>> Andrew Brent, andrew.brent@citi.com; (212) 559-1299
>>>
>>>
>>> Citi Bike® Launches Expansion by Opening First Station in Long Island
>>> City, Queens
>>>
>>>
>>> Citi Bike® to double in size over next two years
>>>
>>>
>>> NYC DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg and Motivate CEO Jay Walder
>>> speak about commitment to making bicycling safer, more attractive and >>> more accessible to all New Yorkers
>>>
>>>
>>> NEW YORK – New York City Department of Transportation (DOT)
>>> Commissioner Polly Trottenberg and Motivate CEO Jay Walder kicked off
>>> Citi Bike’s dramatic expansion plans by activating the first station >>> in Long Island City, Queens on Wednesday. This is the first step of a >>> larger expansion plan that will double the size of the popular bike >>> share network from 6,000 to
>>> 12,000 bikes over the course of two years as it grows across New York City.
>>> Twelve stations will be installed in Long Island City beginning this >>> week and expansion will continue immediately into Greenpoint,
>>> Williamsburg, and more of Bedford-Stuyvesant, for a total of 91
>>> stations. Expansion will then continue into Upper East and Upper West >>> Sides, from 59th Street to 85th Street, with another 48 stations.
>>> These first 139 stations of Citi Bike’s expansion will be installed >>> by early fall. Citi Bike riders have taken over >>> 20 million trips since the program launched over Memorial Day weekend 2013.
>>>
>>> The expansion is supported by an increased sponsorship commitment >>> from Citi of up to $70.5 million extended through 2024, a $21 million >>> increase in the credit facility from the Goldman Sachs Urban >>> Investment Group and an infusion of private capital from Motivate's investors.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> DOT and Motivate arrived at the siting plan for the station locations >>> through a comprehensive public engagement process that included more >>> than a hundred meetings with the public and community stakeholders >>> through the course of several years. By 2017, Citi Bike will also >>> expand to the neighborhoods of Harlem, Astoria, Prospect Heights, >>> Crown Heights, Park Slope, Carroll Gardens, Boerum Hill, Cobble Hill, Red Hook, and Gowanus.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> To prepare for expansion and further improve service for its >>> customers, Motivate replaced the software that powers Citi Bike and >>> replaced hardware at all existing stations and docking points. These >>> measures have allowed Motivate to deliver accurate, real-time >>> information to customers about bike and dock availability via the >>> Citi Bike App, and improved the ease and reliability of docking bikes.
>>> Motivate also overhauled the entire 6,000 bike fleet and created an >>> entirely new line of custom designed bikes. Developed in partnership >>> with Olympic bike designer Ben Serotta, the bikes offer a series of >>> new features and comforts including higher-quality parts and upgraded >>> seats to prevent water from pooling when it rains. The end result is >>> that each bike will spend more time on the street and less in the >>> repair shop. One thousand new bikes were added to the fleet to meet >>> demand, and an additional 1,400 will be put into circulation this >>> summer to stock expansion stations. Motivate has also stepped up >>> their efforts to improve bike and docking point availability at >>> high-volume stations with the use of valets, and the company is finding new ways to move bikes around the system to the places riders need them the most.

>>>

>>> "Thanks to the leadership of Mayor Bill de Blasio, residents of >>> Queens will see Citi Bike in the Long Island City for the first time starting today!"
>>> said DOT Commissioner Polly Trottenberg. "We are thrilled to see the >>> bikeshare program expand to Queens, more of Brooklyn, and into upper >>> Manhattan for the first time this year and are already hard at work >>> doing community outreach for expansion into further parts of the city."

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> "Nine months ago New Yorkers wondered about the future of Citi Bike," >>> said Jay Walder, President and CEO of Motivate. "Today New Yorkers >>> see a much improved, and now expanding system. It is a credit to the >>> hard work of our staff, the Department of Transportation and our >>> sponsors and our financing partners, and it's really just the >>> beginning. We look forward to seeing Citi Bike double in size over the next two years."

>>>

>>> "We are thrilled to enable the expansion of Citi Bike and bring the >>> blue bikes to Queens," said Citi Head of Public Affairs Edward Skyler.
>>> "We have seen only the beginning of what Citi Bike can do to ease >>> transportation, help New Yorkers live healthier lives and make our >>> city more sustainable, and we are proud to help fulfill its far-reaching promise."

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> "We are excited to see the success of Citi Bike and to further >>> support the program's expansion with additional financing, increasing >>> our commitment to over $60 million," said Margaret Anadu, Managing >>> Director in the Goldman Sachs Urban Investment Group. "This >>> expansion will not only increase access to affordable green >>> transportation but will also create quality jobs and sustainable economic development."

>>>
>>>

>>> "After years of hard work, I am proud to join Commissioner >>> Trottenberg in announcing Citi Bike has arrived in Queens," said New >>> York City Council Majority Leader Jimmy Van Bramer. "Since its >>> inception Citi Bike has provided New Yorkers with a vital alternative >>> mode of transportation that is empowering tens of thousands every single day.
>>> Now we in Queens will have that opportunity. For years I fought to >>> have our borough incorporated into the nation's largest bike share >>> network and today that becomes a reality. I want to thank the >>> Administration, Motivate and the Department of Transportation for >>> working with my office to expand Citi Bike into Western Queens. I >>> look forward to continuing our collaboration as we work to expand this popular program into Astoria, Sunnyside Woodside and beyond!"

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "I am proud to have gotten western Queens included in the Citi Bike >>> expansion plans. The inclusion of Long Island City was a long time >>> coming but I am glad it has finally arrived," said State Senator Michael Gianaris.
>>> "Bike share will allow people to enjoy our neighborhood in a healthy, >>> fun way and facilitate easier travel around western Queens, an area >>> in dire need of better mass transit. I am thrilled to see western >>> Queens given the opportunity to enjoy the benefits of Citi Bike and >>> look forward to its further expansion into more of our neighborhoods."

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "I am an avid Citi Bike rider, and the expansion of stations into >>> Bedford-Stuyvesant, Greenpoint, and Williamsburg will expand >>> opportunities for me and my fellow Brooklyn cyclists to take to the >>> streets. Bike riding is more than recreation; it is daily >>> transportation for an increasing number of commuters. Partners like >>> Citi Bike and the New York City Department of Transportation are to >>> be commended for their continued commitment to cycling," said Brooklyn Borough President Eric Adams.

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "It didn't take long for Citi Bike to become a key option in our >>> transit network," said State Senator Daniel Squadron. "Expanding Citi
>>> Bike is especially meaningful in neighborhoods where transit options
>>> are not as robust, such as those along the waterfront in North Brooklyn in my district.
>>> Thanks to Mayor de Blasio, Commissioner Trottenberg, and all of the >>> partners for continuing to build this successful program."

>>>
>>>
>>>

>>> "I am thrilled that Citi Bike is expanding further into my district.
>>> With the population explosion in Williamsburg and Greenpoint we need >>> all the transportation options we can get. The New York City >>> Department of Transportation surely sees the benefits of expanding
>>> the transportation network for cyclists, as witnessed with the >>> upcoming Pulaski Bridge dedicated bike lane and the newly installed
>>> Greenpoint Avenue Bridge bike lane. Not only does this help people >>> connect to other transportation options, it also promotes the >>> live/work community that Williamsburg and Greenpoint has become. I

>>>
>>> Neighborhood
>>>
>>> Citi Bike Stations to be installed in 2015
>>>
>>> Long Island City
>>>
>>> 12
>>>
>>> Greenpoint
>>>
>>> 20
>>>
>>> Williamsburg
>>>
>>> 33
>>>
>>> Bedford Stuyvesant
>>>
>>> 26
>>>
>>> Upper East Side
>>>
>>> 27
>>>
>>> Upper West Side
>>>
>>> 21
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> ###
>>>
>>> ABOUT THE CITI BIKE PROGRAM
>>>
>>> The Citi Bike program is New York's bike share system with thousands >>> of bikes at hundreds of stations every few blocks in Manhattan below
>>> 59th Street; in the Brooklyn neighborhoods of Brooklyn Heights,
>>> Bedford-Stuyvesant, Williamsburg, Clinton Hill, Fort Greene and >>> DUMBO; and Long Island City Queens. More stations are coming soon to >>> Greenpoint, the Upper East and Upper West Sides. Annual members >>> receive an electronic key to undock a bike from any station, allowing >>> unlimited trips up to 45 minutes without incurring any additional >>> costs. Twenty-four-hour and seven-day access passes are available for >>> purchase at any Citi Bike station and provide unlimited 30-minute >>> trips. There have been over 20 million trips on Citi Bike since the program launched in 2013.
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> ABOUT MOTIVATE
>>>
>>> Motivate is a global leader in bike share. A full-service bike share >>> operator and technology innovator, Motivate works to re-envision how >>> people experience and move around cities. Motivate currently manages >>> all of the largest bike share systems in the United States and many >>> of the largest systems in the world, including Bay Area Bike Share
>>> (California Bay Area), Citi Bike (New York), Divvy (Chicago), CoGo
>>> Bike Share (Columbus, Ohio), Capital Bike Share (Washington, D.C.; >>> Arlington and Alexandria, Va.; and Montgomery County, Md.), Hubway
>>> (Boston, Somerville, Cambridge and Brookline, Mass.), Pronto

>>>
>>>> http://www.nyc.gov/html/mancb10/downloads/pdf/proposed\_motorized\_ped
>>>> i
>>>> c
>>>
>>>> ab_rule_-_w_certifications_-_final_-_5.6.15.pdf
>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>>> Thank you.
>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>>> On Thu, Aug 6, 2015 at 8:03 AM, Spitalnick, Amy (OMB)
>>>> <SpitalnickA@omb.nyc.gov> wrote:
>>>
>>>>> +Wiley
>>>
>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>
>>>
>>>>> On Aug 6, 2015, at 8:02 AM, "sara.pepitone@gmail.com"
>>>>> <sara.pepitone@gmail.com> wrote:
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Good morning,
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> I'm working on a story for the Commercial Observer about public >>>>>> transportation. My focus is alternate options like rickshaws, >>>>>> ridesharing and the possible return of a trolley.
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> I know Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris invited folks like Via and >>>>>> Bandwagon in for discussion. I wonder if he has a moment today (my >>>>>> deadline is today) to comment about that meeting - was it part of >>>>>> the overall study? - and the benefit (or not) of varied transportation options overall.
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Also, any thoughts on a trolley/streetcar? Good for NYers? Likely >>>>>> to happen?
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Thank you.
>>>
>>>>>> Let me know if you have questions for me.
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> Sara Pepitone
>>>
>>>>>> 917-969-1702

>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>> <http://www1.nyc.gov/office-of-the-mayor/news/504-15/statement-firs> >>>>>> t
>>>>>> -
>>>
>>>>>> d
>>>
>>>>>> eputy-mayor-anthony-shorris
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>>>>
>>>
>>>

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: "Bialik, Carl"; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: RE: DOT response
Date: Friday, August 07, 2015 1:48:13 PM
Attachments: UBER.PDF

---

Carl, only five of Uber's six bases at the time were of a size that fit with our directive's criteria. The sixth, Grun, only had 10 vehicles affiliated at the time. Today there are eight Uber-owned bases:

Hinter, Weiter, Schmecken, Danach, Grun, Dreist, Drinnen and Unter. (Unter is a lux limo base, and the others are black car bases.)

* This part is off-record, please, but while I've got you, quite interestingly, and pertinent to your analysis, the attached email, described as a mass blast, was provided to us by its recipient. Sorry about the poor, post-redaction quality, but if you look closely at the map on page two, it very clearly speaks to the company's geo priorities. We subsequently learned that this "guidance" was very prominently on their web site as well, at least through the end of 2014.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:39 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: DOT response

Can you call me at 1:30 at +447917053467?

Also one Q -- we had data from 5 of 6 Uber bases. Why not the 6th, and are the 5 we have representative of all Uber bases?

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:20 PM
To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: DOT response

Hey Carl,
Response from me below. Give me a ring to discuss: 646-422-9614

"This tracks very closely with the patterns we've seen in this sector--with the overwhelming majority of pick-ups concentrated in Manhattan. Thanks to the agreement reached between the administration, the City Council and Uber, we'll have significantly more data at our disposal to track the movement of these for-hire vehicles, so we can much more accurately assess what impact they could be having on congestion and air quality. This will be part of a broader look at everything from passenger and worker rights, to contributions to public transit, to accessibility for people with disabilities."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 11:04 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: Re: DOT response

Checking on when you might have a response

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/7/15, 1:39 AM, "Bialik, Carl" <Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com> wrote:

>In Manhattan Core:
>76% of Uber pickups
>90% of yellow taxis
>1% of green taxis
>82% of all taxis

>

>In CBD:
>63% of Uber pickups
>68% of yellow taxis
>1% of green taxis
>62% of all taxis

>

>

>

>

>

---

>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>+1-718-875-0272

><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>

>

>

>

>On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>

>>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here.

>>(Central manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips as >>well as percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so you >>have the full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?

>>

>>----- Original Message -----

>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM

>>To: Allan J. Fromberg

>>Cc: Norvell, Wiley

>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>

>>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in >>our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:

>>

>>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan

>>

>>92% for yellow cabs

>>30% for green cabs

>>86% for yellow + green cabs

>>

>>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >>boroughs.

>>

>>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.

>>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILed from TLC for Uber, >>compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.

>>

>>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >>the city?

>>

>>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >>different in 2015?

>>

>>

>>_____
>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>+1-718-875-0272

>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:

>>

>>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for >>>me to bug them any further!

>>>

>>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >>>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we >>>had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which >>>happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine >>>collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late >>>last year giving us the authority to do so. I believe the first >>>batch of Uber aggregate data for a portion of 2015 is available via >>>the FOIL process.

>>>

>>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >>>include drop-off specifics.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>-----Original Message-----

>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM

>>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'

>>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'

>>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>>

>>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.

>>>

>>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.

>>>

>>>I FOILed trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from >>>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into >>>context.

>>>

>>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip >>>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location >>>that was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC >>>since April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green >>>and yellow cab data?

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>_____
>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>>+1-718-875-0272

>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>

>>>wrote:

>>>

>>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>>>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and >>>>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>>>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street,
>>>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone"
>>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>----- Original Message -----

>>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

>>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM

>>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

>>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,

>>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>

>>>>Subject: DOT response

>>>>

>>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):

>>>>

>>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second
>>>>one you sent.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides >>>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber
>>>>base

>>>>

>>>>Under the agreement:

>>>>· TLC will have access to time, pick-up and drop-off data, as >>>>well as path, traffic speed and GPS data, which will significantly >>>>improve the quality of our traffic analysis

>>>>· Uber will anonymize data to protect consumer privacy

>>>>· We are working collaboratively on methodology for sharing. It >>>>could run the gamut from them sending us anonymized data, as they do

>>>>for Boston, all the way to clean room access to terminals to work >>>>with the direct, unvarnished basic transaction data.

>>>>· We have a shared commitment to maintaining confidentiality of >>>>raw data.
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>The DOT traffic model, which can simulate individual vehicles and >>>>detailed roadway operations in Midtown, requires specific inputs
>>>>about the quantity and trip-making behavior (especially pick-up AND >>>>drop-off
>>>>locations) to project travel patterns of FHVs and evaluate their >>>>effect on congestion speed. Without those more specific FHV data, >>>>accurately simulating those added cars in the model is not possible.
>>>>The DOT model is not a spreadsheet tool like Komanoff's.
>>>>
>>>
>>
>

From: Uber NYC <partnersny@uber.com>

Subject: ~~UBER~~: Earn $5K in December, Guaranteed

Reply-To: Uber NYC <partnersny@uber.com>

U B E R

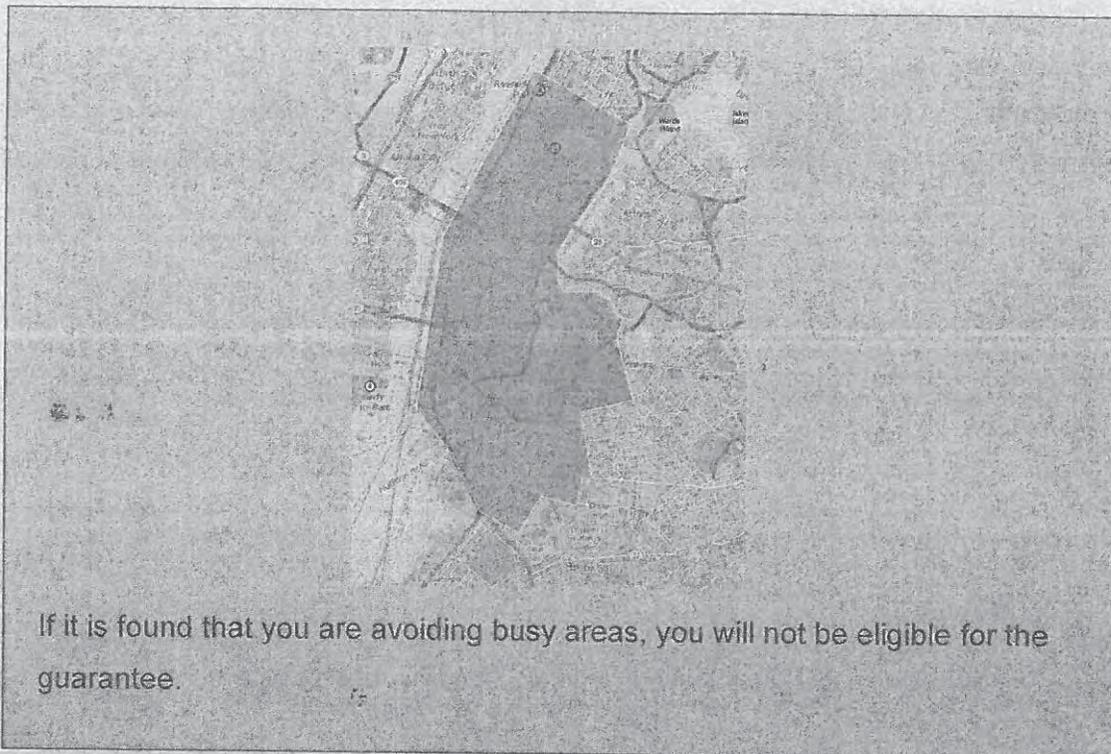

H [REDACTED]

Through the end of 2014, Uber NYC is guaranteeing all partners earn at least $5,000 in net fares each month. Because December is your first full calendar month driving with Uber, we want to provide you with a few more details. Very simply, if you meet the necessary criteria and your net payout falls short of $5,000, Uber will pay you the difference. You can read more on our blog.

$5,000 Guaranteed

To be eligible for the $5,000 guarantee, you must be online for 200 hours in the December and accept 90% of the trip requests received.

Additionally, you must position yourself in busiest areas of the city. Spend time in the parts of the city highlighted in the map below.

If it is found that you are avoiding busy areas, you will not be eligible for the guarantee.

You can earn even more money by referring your friends to Uber. You will get paid $250 for each successful uberX, Uber Black or Uber SUV referral. Click here to refer your friends to Uber.

With any questions, please email PartnersNY@uber.com.

Best,
Uber NYC

---

Copyright © 2014 Uber Technologies, All rights reserved.
unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

---

From: Fromberg, Allan \(TLC\)
To: "Bialik, Carl"; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: RE: DOT response
Date: Friday, August 07, 2015 2:04:23 PM

---

BTW, I haven't forgotten that you asked for the directive itself.....in the process of looking for it!

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 1:48 PM
To: 'Bialik, Carl'; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: RE: DOT response

Carl, only five of Uber's six bases at the time were of a size that fit with our directive's criteria. The sixth, Grun, only had 10 vehicles affiliated at the time. Today there are eight Uber-owned bases:

Hinter, Weiter, Schmecken, Danach, Grun, Dreist, Drinnen and Unter. (Unter is a lux limo base, and the others are black car bases.)

* This part is off-record, please, but while I've got you, quite interestingly, and pertinent to your analysis, the attached email, described as a mass blast, was provided to us by its recipient. Sorry about the poor, post-redaction quality, but if you look closely at the map on page two, it very clearly speaks to the company's geo priorities. We subsequently learned that this "guidance" was very prominently on their web site as well, at least through the end of 2014.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:39 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: DOT response

Can you call me at 1:30 at +447917053467?

Also one Q -- we had data from 5 of 6 Uber bases. Why not the 6th, and are the 5 we have representative of all Uber bases?

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:20 PM
To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: DOT response

Hey Carl,
Response from me below. Give me a ring to discuss: 646-422-9614

"This tracks very closely with the patterns we've seen in this sector--with the overwhelming majority of pick-ups concentrated in Manhattan. Thanks to the agreement reached between the administration, the City Council and Uber, we'll have significantly more data at our disposal to track the movement of these for-hire vehicles, so we can much more accurately assess what impact they could be having on congestion and air quality. This will be part of a broader look at everything from passenger and worker rights, to contributions to public transit, to accessibility for people with disabilities."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 11:04 AM

To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg

Subject: Re: DOT response

Checking on when you might have a response

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/7/15, 1:39 AM, "Bialik, Carl" <Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com> wrote:

>In Manhattan Core:
>76% of Uber pickups
>90% of yellow taxis
>1% of green taxis
>82% of all taxis
>
>In CBD:
>63% of Uber pickups
>68% of yellow taxis
>1% of green taxis
>62% of all taxis

>
>
>
>
>

---

>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>+1-718-875-0272
><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>
>
>
>

>On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>

>>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here.
>>(Central manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips as >>well as percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so you >>have the full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?

>>

>>----- Original Message -----

>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM

>>To: Allan J. Fromberg

>>Cc: Norvell, Wiley

>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>

>>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in >>our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:

>>

>>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan

>>

>>92% for yellow cabs

>>30% for green cabs

>>86% for yellow + green cabs

>>

>>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >>boroughs.

>>

>>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.

>>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILed from TLC for Uber, >>compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.

>>

>>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >>the city?

>>

>>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >>different in 2015?

>>

>>

>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>+1-718-875-0272

>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:

>>

>>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for >>>me to bug them any further!

>>>

>>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through

>>>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we >>>had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which >>>happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine

>>>collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late >>>last year giving us the authority to do so. I believe the first >>>batch of Uber aggregate data for a portion of 2015 is available via

>>>the FOIL process.

>>>

>>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >>>include drop-off specifics.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>-----Original Message-----

>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM

>>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'

>>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'

>>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>>

>>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.

>>>

>>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.

>>>

>>>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from

>>>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into >>>context.

>>>

>>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip

>>>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location

>>>that was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC >>>since April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green >>>and yellow cab data?

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>>+1-718-875-0272

>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>

>>>wrote:

>>>

>>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>>>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and >>>>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>>>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street,
>>>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone"
>>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>----- Original Message -----

>>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

>>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM

>>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

>>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,

>>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>

>>>>Subject: DOT response

>>>>

>>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):

>>>>

>>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second
>>>>one you sent.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides >>>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber
>>>>base

>>>>

>>>>Under the agreement:

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Bialik, Carl"
Subject: RE: DOT response
Date: Friday, August 07, 2015 2:52:24 PM

---

Yup. Just need a few more.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 2:51 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: DOT response

Checking you're sending me that additional comment?

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/7/15, 6:10 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>Yup correct!

>

>----- Original Message -----

>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 01:01 PM
>To: Norvell, Wiley
>Subject: RE: DOT response

>

>By the way -- is it correct that the city's worst congestion is south >of 59th? Is it known that is where traffic is slowest throughout the city?

>

---

>From: Bialik, Carl
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:55 PM
>To: Norvell, Wiley
>Subject: RE: DOT response

>

>I'll try -- have same problem with international dialing

>

>Why do we need to talk beyond statement? Can you tell me by email?

>

>

---

>From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:40 PM
>To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
>Subject: RE: DOT response

>

>Is this an international number? Not sure I can call you there from my >desk. Can you call mine at 1:30? 212-788-8491

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:39 PM
>To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg

>Subject: RE: DOT response
>
>Can you call me at 1:30 at +447917053467?
>
>Also one Q -- we had data from 5 of 6 Uber bases. Why not the 6th, and >are the 5 we have representative of all Uber bases?
>
>-----
>From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:20 PM
>To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
>Subject: RE: DOT response
>
>Hey Carl,
>Response from me below. Give me a ring to discuss: 646-422-9614
>
>"This tracks very closely with the patterns we've seen in this >sector--with the overwhelming majority of pick-ups concentrated in >Manhattan. Thanks to the agreement reached between the administration, >the City Council and Uber, we'll have significantly more data at our >disposal to track the movement of these for-hire vehicles, so we can >much more accurately assess what impact they could be having on >congestion and air quality. This will be part of a broader look at >everything from passenger and worker rights, to contributions to public >transit, to accessibility for people with disabilities."
>
>Wiley Norvell
>Deputy Press Secretary
>Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
>(212) 788-2958
>(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
>wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
>@wileynorvell
>
>
>-----Original Message-----
>From: Bialik, Carl [mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com]
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 11:04 AM
>To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
>Subject: Re: DOT response
>
>Checking on when you might have a response
>
>-----
>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>+1-718-875-0272
><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>
>
>
>
>On 8/7/15, 1:39 AM, "Bialik, Carl" <Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>
>wrote:
>
>>In Manhattan Core:
>>76% of Uber pickups
>>90% of yellow taxis
>>1% of green taxis
>>82% of all taxis
>>

>>In CBD:
>>63% of Uber pickups
>>68% of yellow taxis
>>1% of green taxis
>>62% of all taxis
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>+1-718-875-0272
>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
>>
>>>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here.
>>>(Central manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips >>>as well as percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so >>>you have the full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?
>>>
>>>----- Original Message -----
>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM
>>>To: Allan J. Fromberg
>>>Cc: Norvell, Wiley
>>>Subject: Re: DOT response
>>>
>>>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found >>>in our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:
>>>
>>>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan
>>>
>>>92% for yellow cabs
>>>30% for green cabs
>>>86% for yellow + green cabs
>>>
>>>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >>>boroughs.
>>>
>>>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.
>>>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILED from TLC for Uber, >>>compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.
>>>
>>>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >>>the city?
>>>
>>>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >>>different in 2015?
>>>
>>>
>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>>+1-718-875-0272
>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>>

>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>>wrote:
>>>
>>>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for >>>>me to bug them any further!
>>>>
>>>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >>>>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we >>>>had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which >>>>happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine >>>>collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late >>>>last year giving us the authority to do so. I believe the first >>>>batch of Uber aggregate data for a portion of 2015 is available via >>>>the FOIL process.
>>>>
>>>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does >>>>not include drop-off specifics.
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>-----Original Message-----
>>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM
>>>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>>Subject: Re: DOT response
>>>>
>>>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.
>>>>
>>>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.
>>>>
>>>>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips
>>>>from
>>>>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>>>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into >>>>context.
>>>>
>>>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip >>>>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location >>>>that was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC >>>>since April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green >>>>and yellow cab data?
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>>>+1-718-875-0272
>>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>>>wrote:
>>>>

>>>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about >>>>>the differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan >>>>>number, and Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to >>>>>Uber's very tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below >>>>>59th Street, while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone" >>>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!

>>>>>
>>>>>

>>>>>----- Original Message -----

>>>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

>>>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM

>>>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

>>>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,

>>>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>

>>>>>Subject: DOT response

>>>>>

>>>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):

>>>>>

>>>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second

>>>>>one you sent.

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides >>>>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the >>>>>borough.

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each

>>>>>Uber base

>>>>>

>>>>>Under the agreement:

>>>>>· TLC will have access to time, pick-up and drop-off data, as >>>>>well as path, traffic speed and GPS data, which will significantly

>>>>>improve the quality of our traffic analysis

>>>>>· Uber will anonymize data to protect consumer privacy

>>>>>· We are working collaboratively on methodology for sharing.

>>>>>It >>>>>could run the gamut from them sending us anonymized data, as they >>>>>do for Boston, all the way to clean room access to terminals to >>>>>work with the direct, unvarnished basic transaction data.

>>>>>· We have a shared commitment to maintaining confidentiality

>>>>>of

>>>>>raw data.

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>>The DOT traffic model, which can simulate individual vehicles and >>>>>detailed roadway operations in Midtown, requires specific inputs

>>>>>about the quantity and trip-making behavior (especially pick-up AND >>>>>drop-off

>>>>>locations) to project travel patterns of FHV's and evaluate their >>>>>effect on congestion speed. Without those more specific FHV data, >>>>>accurately simulating those added cars in the model is not possible.

>>>>>The DOT model is not a spreadsheet tool like Komanoff's.

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>>

>

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Bialik, Carl"
Subject: RE: DOT response
Date: Friday, August 07, 2015 6:24:50 PM

---

I'd rather today than the weekend!

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 6:24 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: DOT response

Thanks!

Hit a snag in publishing so now not going out today. Sorry to have rushed you

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/7/15, 8:08 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>Here ya go. Attribute to me:

>

>"There is a long-recognized inequity in service to the outer-boroughs, >which is why Green Cabs that service solely the outer boroughs and >Upper Manhattan were launched, and why the administration has supported >their growth."

>

>On background: Green Cabs average approximately 50,000 rides per day, >occasionally going as high as 57,000

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 2:51 PM
>To: Norvell, Wiley
>Subject: Re: DOT response

>

>Checking you're sending me that additional comment?

>

>

---

>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>+1-718-875-0272
><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>

>

>

>

>On 8/7/15, 6:10 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>

>>Yup correct!

>>

>>----- Original Message -----

>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 01:01 PM
>>To: Norvell, Wiley
>>Subject: RE: DOT response

>>
>>By the way -- is it correct that the city's worst congestion is south >>of 59th? Is it known that is where traffic is slowest throughout the >>city?

>>
-----
>>From: Bialik, Carl
>>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:55 PM
>>To: Norvell, Wiley
>>Subject: RE: DOT response

>>
>>I'll try -- have same problem with international dialing
>>
>>Why do we need to talk beyond statement? Can you tell me by email?

>>
-----
>>From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
>>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:40 PM
>>To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
>>Subject: RE: DOT response

>>
>>Is this an international number? Not sure I can call you there from my >>desk. Can you call mine at 1:30? 212-788-8491

>>
>>-----Original Message-----
>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:39 PM
>>To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
>>Subject: RE: DOT response

>>
>>Can you call me at 1:30 at +447917053467?

>>
>>Also one Q -- we had data from 5 of 6 Uber bases. Why not the 6th, and >>are the 5 we have representative of all Uber bases?

>>
-----
>>From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
>>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:20 PM
>>To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
>>Subject: RE: DOT response

>>
>>Hey Carl,
>>Response from me below. Give me a ring to discuss: 646-422-9614

>>
>>"This tracks very closely with the patterns we've seen in this >>sector--with the overwhelming majority of pick-ups concentrated in >>Manhattan. Thanks to the agreement reached between the administration, >>the City Council and Uber, we'll have significantly more data at our >>disposal to track the movement of these for-hire vehicles, so we can >>much more accurately assess what impact they could be having on >>congestion and air quality. This will be part of a broader look at >>everything from passenger and worker rights, to contributions to >>public transit, to accessibility for people with disabilities."

>>
>>Wiley Norvell
>>Deputy Press Secretary
>>Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
>>(212) 788-2958

>>(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
>>wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
>>@wileynorvell

>>
>>

>>-----Original Message-----

>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 11:04 AM
>>To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>

>>Checking on when you might have a response

>>

>>

>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>+1-718-875-0272

>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>On 8/7/15, 1:39 AM, "Bialik, Carl" <Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>wrote:

>>

>>>In Manhattan Core:

>>>76% of Uber pickups

>>>90% of yellow taxis

>>>1% of green taxis

>>>82% of all taxis

>>>

>>>In CBD:

>>>63% of Uber pickups

>>>68% of yellow taxis

>>>1% of green taxis

>>>62% of all taxis

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>>>+1-718-875-0272

>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>>>

>>>>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here.

>>>>(Central manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips

>>>>as well as percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so >>>>you have the full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?

>>>>

>>>>----- Original Message -----

>>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM

>>>>To: Allan J. Fromberg

>>>>Cc: Norvell, Wiley
>>>>Subject: Re: DOT response
>>>>
>>>>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found >>>>in our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:
>>>>
>>>>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan
>>>>
>>>>92% for yellow cabs
>>>>30% for green cabs
>>>>86% for yellow + green cabs
>>>>
>>>>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the >>>>outer boroughs.
>>>>
>>>>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.
>>>>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOIled from TLC for Uber, >>>>compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.
>>>>
>>>>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >>>>the city?
>>>>
>>>>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >>>>different in 2015?
>>>>
>>>>_____
>>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>>>+1-718-875-0272
>>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>>>wrote:
>>>>
>>>>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this.....no reason >>>>>for me to bug them any further!
>>>>>
>>>>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 >>>>>through September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive >>>>>that we had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, >>>>>which happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the >>>>>routine collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were >>>>>approved late last year giving us the authority to do so. I >>>>>believe the first batch of Uber aggregate data for a portion of >>>>>2015 is available via the FOIL process.
>>>>>
>>>>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does >>>>>not include drop-off specifics.
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>-----Original Message-----
>>>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
>>>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM
>>>>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>>>>
>>>>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.
>>>>>
>>>>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.
>>>>>
>>>>>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips
>>>>>from
>>>>>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>>>>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into >>>>>context.
>>>>>
>>>>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip >>>>>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location >>>>>that was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC >>>>>since April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with >>>>>green and yellow cab data?
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>_____
>>>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>>>>+1-718-875-0272
>>>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" >>>>><frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>>>>wrote:
>>>>>
>>>>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about >>>>>>the differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan >>>>>>number, and Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable >>>>>>to Uber's very tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD >>>>>>below 59th Street, while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail >>>>>>Exclusionary Zone"
>>>>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!
>>>>>>
>>>>>>
>>>>>>----- Original Message -----
>>>>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]
>>>>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM
>>>>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'
>>>>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>
>>>>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>;
>>>>>>Chin, Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose
>>>>>><jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>
>>>>>>Subject: DOT response
>>>>>>
>>>>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):
>>>>>>
>>>>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second >>>>>>one you sent.
>>>>>>
>>>>>>
>>>>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides >>>>>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the >>>>>>borough.

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Rebecca.Harshbarger@amny.com"
Subject: Re:
Date: Monday, August 10, 2015 12:27:25 PM

---

Should be!

---

From: Rebecca Harshbarger [mailto:Rebecca.Harshbarger@amny.com]
Sent: Monday, August 10, 2015 12:03 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject:

Hey Wiley, am going to do something on bill signing for FHV study. Unfortunately I wasn't there, do you know if the transcript will be around later today or would you like to do a statement?

---

From: Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez [mailto:yrodriguez@council.nyc.gov]
Sent: Monday, August 10, 2015 11:34 AM
To: Rebecca Harshbarger
Subject: RELEASE: BILL TO STUDY IMPACTS OF FHV GROWTH ON CONGESTION BECOMES LAW

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

OFFICE OF THE HON. YDANIS RODRIGUEZ

CITY HALL
NEW YORK, NY 10007
(212) 788-7053

August 10th, 2015

***Release*****

Contact: Lucas Acosta lacosta@council.nyc.gov (347) 834-5063

---

BILL TO STUDY IMPACTS OF FHV GROWTH ON CONGESTION BECOMES LAW

New York-- Today, Mayor De Blasio signed and enacted Intro 847, legislation introduced by NYC Council Transportation Chairman Ydanis Rodriguez, to require the Administration to conduct a study on the impacts of growth in the For-Hire Vehicle sector on congestion.

Since 2011, there has been a net increase of over 23,000 vehicles in the for-hire vehicle market leading to impacts like congestion and decreased air quality of whose degree is unknown. Due to that increase, the Council felt strongly about conducting a study to better inform future policy prescriptions. The following is Chairman Rodriguez's statement at this morning's bill signing.

"Good morning everyone. I want to thank Mayor De Blasio, and Speaker Mark Viverito on their leadership on this issue. The rapid growth of the For-Hire Sector caused deep concern among my colleagues and I. After much deliberation and discussion with industry stakeholders we discovered the best path forward to allow us to truly understand this growth's impacts. This process, though tense at times, provided much needed wins for the everyday driver, both licensed and every day. The agreement reached allows our city to develop recommendations to best fight congestion while also beginning conversations surrounding driver's wages, MTA surcharges and consumer protections. These have long been the priority of this Council and with this agreement we take a huge leap forward to move on them. I am proud of the deal that we have been able to come to and look forward to evaluating the results of this study.

As I have said before, corporations should be part of the solution for our city's problems, not their source. This agreement allows every stakeholder to come to the table to operate in a way that's best for every community in our city. Thank you again to Speaker Mark Viverito and Mayor De Blasio for their support throughout this process."

###

Forward This Email to a Friend

This email was sent to Rebecca.harshbarger@amny.com by yrodriguez@council.nyc.gov | Update Profile/Email Address | Rapid removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | About our service provider.

Council Member Ydanis Rodriguez | 250 Broadway | Suite 1731 | New York | NY | 10007

-----
The information transmitted in this email and any of its attachments is intended only for the person or entity to which it is addressed and may contain information concerning Cablevision and/or its affiliates and subsidiaries that is proprietary, privileged, confidential and/or subject to copyright. Any review, retransmission, dissemination or other use of, or taking of any action in reliance upon, this information by persons or entities other than the intended recipient(s) is prohibited and may be unlawful. If you received this in error, please contact the sender immediately and delete and destroy the communication and all of the attachments you have received and all copies thereof.
-----

From: Bialik, Carl
To: Allan J. Fromberg; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg \(TLC\)
Subject: Re: DOT response
Date: Monday, August 10, 2015 2:12:14 PM

---

Thanks all for your help:

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/features/uber-is-serving-new-yorks-outer-boroughs-more-than-taxis-are/>

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight

carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

+1-718-875-0272

<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

---

From: <Fromberg>, "Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
Date: Friday, August 7, 2015 at 7:04 PM
To: Carl Bialik <carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Cc: "Gordon, Greg (TLC)" <Gordong@tlc.nyc.gov>
Subject: RE: DOT response

BTW, I haven't forgotten that you asked for the directive itself.....in the process of looking for it!

---

From: Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 1:48 PM
To: 'Bialik, Carl'; Norvell, Wiley
Cc: Gordon, Greg (TLC)
Subject: RE: DOT response

Carl, only five of Uber's six bases at the time were of a size that fit with our directive's criteria. The sixth, Grun, only had 10 vehicles affiliated at the time. Today there are eight Uber-owned bases:

Hinter, Weiter, Schmecken, Danach, Grun, Dreist, Drinnen and Unter. (Unter is a lux limo base, and the others are black car bases.)

* This part is off-record, please, but while I've got you, quite interestingly, and pertinent to your analysis, the attached email, described as a mass blast, was provided to us by its recipient. Sorry about the poor, post-redaction quality, but if you look closely at the map on page two, it very clearly speaks to the company's geo priorities. We subsequently learned that this "guidance" was very prominently on their web site as well, at least through the end of 2014.

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:39 PM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Fromberg, Allan (TLC)
Subject: RE: DOT response

Can you call me at 1:30 at +447917053467?

Also one Q -- we had data from 5 of 6 Uber bases. Why not the 6th, and are the 5 we have representative of all Uber bases?

---

From: Norvell, Wiley [WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 12:20 PM
To: Bialik, Carl; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: DOT response

Hey Carl,
Response from me below. Give me a ring to discuss: 646-422-9614

"This tracks very closely with the patterns we've seen in this sector--with the overwhelming majority of pick-ups concentrated in Manhattan. Thanks to the agreement reached between the administration, the City Council and Uber, we'll have significantly more data at our disposal to track the movement of these for-hire vehicles, so we can much more accurately assess what impact they could be having on congestion and air quality. This will be part of a broader look at everything from passenger and worker rights, to contributions to public transit, to accessibility for people with disabilities."

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

-----Original Message-----

From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]
Sent: Friday, August 07, 2015 11:04 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: Re: DOT response

Checking on when you might have a response

---

Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>> carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
+1-718-875-0272
<http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

On 8/7/15, 1:39 AM, "Bialik, Carl" <Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com> wrote:

>In Manhattan Core:

>76% of Uber pickups

>90% of yellow taxis

>1% of green taxis

>82% of all taxis

>

>In CBD:

>63% of Uber pickups

>68% of yellow taxis

>1% of green taxis

>62% of all taxis

>

>

>

>

>

>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>

>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com

>+1-718-875-0272

><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>

>

>

>

>On 8/6/15, 11:48 PM, "Norvell, Wiley" <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>

>>carl--let's make sure we're using the right nomenclature here.

>>(Central manhattan vs all of manhattan) and actual numbers of trips as >>well as percentages. Let's work with you to get this full info so you >>have the full picture. Can we work on this tomorrow?

>>

>>----- Original Message -----

>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 06:45 PM

>>To: Allan J. Fromberg

>>Cc: Norvell, Wiley

>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>

>>Allan, also wanted to check if TLC had any comment on what we found in >>our analysis, for April-Sept. 2014:

>>

>>78% of Uber pickups were in Manhattan

>>
>>92% for yellow cabs
>>30% for green cabs
>>86% for yellow + green cabs
>>
>>So that suggests Uber really was disproportionately serving the outer >>boroughs.
>>
>>cc-ing Wiley Norvell in case City Hall wants to weigh in on this.
>>Wiley, this is based on trip data we FOILED from TLC for Uber, >>compared to data TLC has published on yellow and green cabs.
>>
>>Any comment on what this says about Uber's use for transportation in >>the city?
>>
>>And whether there is reason to think any of the above numbers are >>different in 2015?
>>
>>
>>_____
>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>+1-718-875-0272
>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>On 8/6/15, 8:05 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov> wrote:
>>
>>>Hi, Carl.....I'm removing the DOT folks after this....no reason for >>>me to bug them any further!
>>>
>>>So, the aggregate data you received which represented July 1 through >>>September 30, 2014, was actually the product of a directive that we >>>had issued to the 16 largest For-Hire Vehicle (FHV) bases, which >>>happened to encompass five Uber bases. We have begun the routine >>>collection of FHV trip data, thanks to rules that were approved late >>>last year giving us the authority to do so. I believe the first >>>batch of Uber aggregate data for a portion of 2015 is available via >>>the FOIL process.
>>>
>>>And yes, just to confirm, the data we require for submission does not >>>include drop-off specifics.
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>-----Original Message-----
>>>From: Bialik, Carl [<mailto:Carl.Bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>]

>>>Sent: Thursday, August 06, 2015 1:54 PM
>>>To: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); 'SGastel@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>Cc: 'btsang@dot.nyc.gov'; 'gchin@dot.nyc.gov'; 'jbayona@dot.nyc.gov'
>>>Subject: Re: DOT response

>>>

>>>Thanks very much for your help with my piece a couple of weeks ago.

>>>

>>>Wanted to check on something for a potential followup.

>>>

>>>I FOILED trip data for Uber from TLC, and was sent data on trips from >>>5 Uber bases for April-Sept. 2014, including pickup latitude and >>>longitude, date and time. I wanted to be able to put that data into >>>context.

>>>

>>>How was the data collected? Was every base required to submit trip >>>data for that period? And was it only pickup not dropoff location >>>that was reported? Has that data been collected continuously by TLC >>>since April 2014? Will TLC share it online as it has done with green >>>and yellow cab data?

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>_____
>>>Writer, FiveThirtyEight <<http://fivethirtyeight.com/>>
>>>carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com
>>>+1-718-875-0272
>>><http://fivethirtyeight.com/contributors/carl-bialik/>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>On 7/23/15, 10:50 PM, "Fromberg, Allan (TLC)" <frombera@tlc.nyc.gov>
>>>wrote:

>>>

>>>>BTW, Carl, background FYI, there's been a bit of confusion about the >>>>differential between our 72% app-dispatched in Manhattan number, and >>>>Uber's smaller number. In fact, that's attributable to Uber's very >>>>tightly defining the "congestion zone" as the CBD below 59th Street,
>>>>while our area corresponds to the "Yellow Hail Exclusionary Zone"
>>>>south of 110th Street. Congestion doesn't end at 59th!

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>----- Original Message -----

>>>>From: Gastel, Scott [<mailto:SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>]

>>>>Sent: Thursday, July 23, 2015 05:09 PM

>>>>To: 'carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com'

>>>><carl.bialik@fivethirtyeight.com>

>>>>Cc: Fromberg, Allan (TLC); Tsang, Bonny <btsang@dot.nyc.gov>; Chin,

>>>>Gloria <gchin@dot.nyc.gov>; Bayona, Jose <jbayona@dot.nyc.gov>

>>>>Subject: DOT response

>>>>

>>>>Carl: Here is some info on background (from DOT):

>>>>

>>>>I CC'd TLC for the question of yours they can address; the second
>>>>one you sent.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>As I'm sure you are aware both the Upper West and Upper East Sides >>>>are in a very busy, populated and centrally located part of the borough.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>TLC currently receives only time and pick-up location from each Uber
>>>>base

>>>>

>>>>Under the agreement:

>>>>· TLC will have access to time, pick-up and drop-off data, as >>>>well as path, traffic speed and GPS data, which will significantly >>>>improve the quality of our traffic analysis

>>>>· Uber will anonymize data to protect consumer privacy

>>>>· We are working collaboratively on methodology for sharing. It >>>>could run the gamut from them sending us anonymized data, as they do >>>>for Boston, all the way to clean room access to terminals to work >>>>with the direct, unvarnished basic transaction data.

>>>>· We have a shared commitment to maintaining confidentiality of >>>>raw data.

>>>>

>>>>

>>>>The DOT traffic model, which can simulate individual vehicles and >>>>detailed roadway operations in Midtown, requires specific inputs
>>>>about the quantity and trip-making behavior (especially pick-up AND >>>>drop-off

>>>>locations) to project travel patterns of FHVs and evaluate their >>>>effect on congestion speed. Without those more specific FHV data, >>>>accurately simulating those added cars in the model is not possible.
>>>>The DOT model is not a spreadsheet tool like Komanoff's.

>>>>

>>>

>>

>

From: Corey Owens
To: Sevillia, Max
Cc: Justin Kintz
Subject: Re: Uber / NYC
Date: Thursday, January 23, 2014 11:39:26 AM

---

Mistyped Max's email the first time, trying again

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[REDACTED]

On Thu, Jan 23, 2014 at 11:36 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Max, great to run into you today, and congrats on the new gig. At some point soon you should meet Justin Kintz on our team; Justin runs regional public policy for us out of DC, and covers NYC policy issues.

Justin, Max and I go a ways back to leg affairs at the ACLU. Max is now running the federal affairs office for Mayor de Blasio out of DC.

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[REDACTED]

From: Sevillia, Max
To: Corey Owens
Cc: Justin Kintz
Subject: Re: Uber / NYC
Date: Thursday, January 23, 2014 12:27:06 PM

---

Corey, it was great running into you earlier today. We should plan lunch next time you are in town.

Justin, it's great to meet you over email. Let's see if we can connect in person over the next few weeks.

Max

On Jan 23, 2014, at 11:39 AM, "Corey Owens" <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Mistyped Max's email the first time, trying again

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[REDACTED]

On Thu, Jan 23, 2014 at 11:36 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Max, great to run into you today, and congrats on the new gig. At some point soon you should meet Justin Kintz on our team; Justin runs regional public policy for us out of DC, and covers NYC policy issues.

Justin, Max and I go a ways back to leg affairs at the ACLU. Max is now running the federal affairs office for Mayor de Blasio out of DC.

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[REDACTED]

From: Justin Kintz
To: Sevillia, Max
Cc: Corey Owens
Subject: Re: Uber / NYC
Date: Monday, January 27, 2014 3:25:25 PM

---

Max,

Great to meet you, as well. Are you available to grab a cup of coffee and get acquainted next Monday, Feb. 3?

Thanks,

Justin

Justin Kintz
Public Policy
Uber Technologies
kintz@uber.com
[REDACTED]

On Thu, Jan 23, 2014 at 12:27 PM, Sevillia, Max <msevillia@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Corey, it was great running into you earlier today. We should plan lunch next time you are in town.

Justin, it's great to meet you over email. Let's see if we can connect in person over the next few weeks.

Max

On Jan 23, 2014, at 11:39 AM, "Corey Owens" <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Mistyped Max's email the first time, trying again

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[REDACTED]

On Thu, Jan 23, 2014 at 11:36 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Max, great to run into you today, and congrats on the new gig. At some point soon you should meet Justin Kintz on our team; Justin runs regional public policy for us out of DC, and covers NYC policy issues.

Justin, Max and I go a ways back to leg affairs at the ACLU. Max is now running the federal affairs office for Mayor de Blasio out of DC.

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies

|

|

From: Seignious, Sandy
To: Crysten Glawe
Subject: Re: Connecting you
Date: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 4:58:54 PM

---

Good afternoon,

No sorry has a meeting at that time. Are you available for a conference call tomorrow at 11:30am?

Sent from my iPhone

On Mar 26, 2014, at 4:53 PM, "Crysten Glawe" <crysten@uber.com> wrote:

Hello Sandy,

Does Peter have any time to connect on Friday, March 28th? Perhaps, around 9:00am ET?

Kindest regards,

Crysten Glawe | Public Policy & Corporate Communications

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 4:32 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey Corey, great to meet you. Sandy can you work with Crysten to find some time for us to catch up asap?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 02:13 PM
To: Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>; Crysten Glawe <crysten@uber.com>
Cc: PWR [redacted] Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Connecting you

Peter, good to be in touch. Would love to chat soon to learn more about the Mayor's priorities. If that sounds good to you, I'll ask Crysten to find some time.

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[redacted]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 12:22 PM, Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Peter,
Tried connect you up with our team on Monday but had some email bounces/etc.

Please meet Corey Owens, our Head of Public Policy. Would be good for you two to check in on NYC. Corey- Peter is Mayor De Blasio's senior advisor.

I'll leave it to you two.

Thanks,
Lane

Lane Kasselmann
Communications
Uber Technologies, Inc.
[REDACTED]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 9:15 AM, PWR <[REDACTED]>
wrote:

PWR
[REDACTED]

From: Seignious, Sandy
To: "Crysten Glawe"
Subject: RE: Connecting you
Date: Thursday, March 27, 2014 11:46:26 AM

---

Good morning Crysten,

Peter is not available tomorrow. Can you please send me times for next week?

Thanks

Sandy

From: Crysten Glawe mailto:[crysten@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 5:12 PM
To: Seignious, Sandy
Subject: Re: Connecting you

Hello Sandy,

Unfortunately, Corey is traveling much of tomorrow. Below is Corey's availability on Friday, March 28th. Will any of these time frames work? Thank you!

- 8:00am-10:00am ET
- 10:30am-12:00pm ET
- 3:15-3:45pm ET

Best,

Crysten Glawe | Public Policy & Corporate Communications

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 4:58 PM, Seignious, Sandy <sseignious@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Good afternoon,

No sorry has a meeting at that time. Are you available for a conference call tomorrow at 11:30am?

Sent from my iPhone

On Mar 26, 2014, at 4:53 PM, "Crysten Glawe" <crysten@uber.com> wrote:

Hello Sandy,

Does Peter have any time to connect on Friday, March 28th? Perhaps, around 9:00am ET?

Kindest regards,

Crysten Glawe | Public Policy & Corporate Communications
[REDACTED]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 4:32 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey Corey, great to meet you. Sandy can you work with Crysten to find some time for us to catch up asap?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 02:13 PM
To: Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>; Crysten Glawe <crysten@uber.com>
Cc: PWR [REDACTED]; Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Connecting you

Peter, good to be in touch. Would love to chat soon to learn more about the Mayor's priorities. If that sounds good to you, I'll ask Crysten to find some time.

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[REDACTED]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 12:22 PM, Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Peter,
Tried connect you up with our team on Monday but had some email bounces/etc.

Please meet Corey Owens, our Head of Public Policy. Would be good for you two to check in on NYC. Corey- Peter is Mayor De Blasio's senior advisor.

I'll leave it to you two.

Thanks,
Lane

Lane Kasselmann
Communications
Uber Technologies, Inc.
[REDACTED]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 9:15 AM, PWR <[REDACTED]> wrote:

PWR
[REDACTED]

From: Seignious, Sandy
To: "Crysten Glawe"
Subject: RE: Connecting you
Date: Friday, March 28, 2014 3:50:40 PM

---

Good afternoon Crysten,

Can you please send me additional dates and times for next week?

Thank you

Sandy

From: Crysten Glawe mailto:[crysten@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 4:53 PM
To: Seignious, Sandy
Subject: Re: Connecting you

Hello Sandy,

Does Peter have any time to connect on Friday, March 28th? Perhaps, around 9:00am ET?

Kindest regards,

Crysten Glawe | Public Policy & Corporate Communications

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 4:32 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hey Corey, great to meet you. Sandy can you work with Crysten to find some time for us to catch up asap?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, March 26, 2014 02:13 PM
To: Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>; Crysten Glawe <crysten@uber.com>
Cc: PWR [redacted]; Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Connecting you

Peter, good to be in touch. Would love to chat soon to learn more about the Mayor's priorities. If that sounds good to you, I'll ask Crysten to find some time.

Corey Owens
Uber Technologies
[redacted]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 12:22 PM, Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Peter,
Tried connect you up with our team on Monday but had some email bounces/etc.

Please meet Corey Owens, our Head of Public Policy. Would be good for you two to check in on NYC. Corey- Peter is Mayor De Blasio's senior advisor.

I'll leave it to you two.

Thanks,
Lane

Lane Kasselmann
Communications
Uber Technologies, Inc.
[REDACTED]

On Wed, Mar 26, 2014 at 9:15 AM, PWR [REDACTED] wrote:

PWR
[REDACTED]

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "lane@uber.com"
Subject: Reporters to reach out to
Date: Tuesday, July 08, 2014 5:04:11 PM

---

Mike Isaac at the NYT: mike.isaac@nytimes.com, [REDACTED]
Rebecca Harshbarger at the NY Post: rharsbarger@nypost.com, [REDACTED]
Erin Durkin at the Daily News: edurkin@nydailynews.com, [REDACTED]

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "lane@uber.com"
Subject: RE: Reporters to reach out to
Date: Tuesday, July 08, 2014 5:04:37 PM

---

Here's some background we shared on all the work we do to work with innovative e-hail companies:

TLC App Fact Sheet

TLC is working with innovative companies to provide for-hire service to consumers across New York City. Apps are currently legally being used to arrange rides with taxis, boro taxis, liveries, and black cars. Examples of some of these disruptive app companies that are working with the City include:

- Uber (taxis, boro taxis, black cars)
- Hailo (taxis, liveries)
- TaxiMagic (taxis, black cars under sister app SedanMagic)
- Gett (black cars)
- Whisk (liveries)

In addition, existing industry players have introduced their own apps to meet customer demand for for-hire service and payment. Examples include:

- Carmel (livery base)
- CMT (TPEP/LPEP Provider offering RideLinq payment app)
- VeriFone (TPEP/LPEP Provider offering Way2Ride payment app and pending E-Hail application)

E-Hail Usage

- 325,288 unique users requested an E-Hail using an approved app and 7,644 taxi drivers / 2,238 boro taxi drivers completed E-Hail trips in the first year of the pilot program
- There were a total of 2.5 million E-Hail requests resulting in 766,732 rides completed in yellow taxis (plus an additional 342,704 rides completed in boro taxis)
- E-Hail is serving parts of the City that don't traditionally see taxi service: 68% of E-Hailed taxi rides were pickups in either northern Manhattan or the outer boroughs excluding the airports vs. 6.37% of all yellow taxi pickups originating in those same areas

FHV App Affiliated Vehicles (as of 7/7/14)

Base #	Class	Name	Vehicles
B02617*	Black Car	Weiter	2,396
B02598*	Black Car	Hinte	2,386
B02682*	Black Car	Schmecken	2,113
B02512*	Lux Limo	Unter	709
B02764*	Black Car	Danach	10
B02765*	Black Car	Grun	9
B00256	Livery	Carmel	765

*Uber-owned bases make up 7,623 of all vehicle affiliations

Cost of obtaining a new FHV driver's license is $185: fingerprinting fee of $75 + one year license fee of $84 + drug test fee of $26.

Apps operating legally in New York City carry all the same benefits as other parts of our industry:

- Driver Safety and Security: drug testing upon license issuance / annually thereafter, defensive driving course upon license issuance / every three years thereafter, fingerprinting + background checks including perpetual vetting against DCJS and DMV offenses, critical driver / persistent violator programs, taxi school including English proficiency (required for taxi and boro taxi drivers only)

- Vehicle Safety and Emissions Inspections:
  - Yellow taxis: 3 times a year at TLC site
  - FHV: 5 times every 2 years at DMV site + 1 time every 2 years at TLC site
  - Boro taxis: 2 times a year at TLC site
- Equal Access:
  - Accessibility: Local Law and TLC Rules require FHV: to provide equivalent service to passengers in wheelchairs as non-wheelchair passengers
  - Refusals: Local Law and TLC Rules require FHV: to transport a passenger to any destination within the City of New York, the counties of Westchester or Nassau, or Newark Airport. Refusals are not permitted without justifiable grounds.

---

From: Norvell, Wiley
Sent: Tuesday, July 08, 2014 5:04 PM
To: 'lane@uber.com'
Subject: Reporters to reach out to

Mike Isaac at the NYT: mike.isaac@nytimes.com, [REDACTED]
Rebecca Harshbarger at the NY Post: rharsbarger@nypost.com, [REDACTED]
Erin Durkin at the Daily News: edurkin@nydailynews.com, [REDACTED]

Wiley Norvell
Deputy Press Secretary
Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio
(212) 788-2958
(917) 428-8307 (mobile)
wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov
@wileynorvell

From: Lane Kasselmann
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: Reporters to reach out to
Date: Tuesday, July 08, 2014 6:19:20 PM

---

got it, thanks.

On Tue, Jul 8, 2014 at 2:04 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Mike Isaac at the NYT: mike.isaac@nytimes.com, [REDACTED]

Rebecca Harshbarger at the NY Post: rharshbarger@nypost.com, [REDACTED]

Erin Durkin at the Daily News: edurkin@nydailynews.com, [REDACTED]

Wiley Norvell

Deputy Press Secretary

Office of New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio

\(212\) 788-2958788-2958)

\(917\) 428-8307428-8307) (mobile)

wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov

@wileynorvell

From: Nicole Benincasa
To: bstang@dot.nyc.gov
Cc: Calise, Victor
Subject: Access to Independence event + uberWAV
Date: Friday, September 26, 2014 6:25:40 PM
Attachments: uberWAV.pdf
Access To Independence 2014.pdf

---

Good evening, Bonnie:

It was great to speak with you earlier, and I hope you are having an enjoyable Friday. I wanted to follow up regarding Uber's participation in the MOPD- and NYCDOT-sponsored Access to Independence event on 9/30. We are very interested in helping to educate the public about our new accessible transportation option for the outer boroughs.

Since launching uberWAV on August 7th, we have received some fantastic feedback from both consumers and partner drivers about the new accessibility option. Please see the attached uberWAV deck for further information about our progress.

Can you please provide more information about how we can participate in the event?

Have a great weekend,
Nicole

--

Nicole Benincasa

Policy & Regulatory Associate, New York

e: nic@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

PRIORITIZING ACCESSIBILITY

U B E R

Uber is evolving the way the world moves. By seamlessly connecting riders to drivers through our app, we create more transportation alternatives for riders and increase business for drivers, connecting customers to the highest quality transportation with the fastest response time.

We have prioritized creating a more reliable and efficient wheelchair accessible option for New Yorkers.

U B E R

WHEELCHAIR ACCESSIBILITY WITH uberWAV

Users in NYC can now request a wheelchair accessible ride in the outer boroughs with Uber's new uberWAV option.

U B E R

HOW IT WORKS

- 1) Open up your Uber app
- 2) Select uberT in the slider at the bottom of the app
- 3) Tap the WAV option
- 4) Set your location and request, and we'll find you the nearest available driver

U B E R

uberWAV's IMPACT

uberWAV is widely available in the outer-boroughs, especially areas traditionally underserved by existing transportation options. Since uberWAV launched on August 7th:

- Hundreds of trips have been completed
- Hundreds of TLC Passenger Assistance-trained drivers have been on-boarded
- We have established ongoing quality controls

U B E R

RIDER SENTIMENT

"There is a huge need for spontaneous and RELIABLE transportation in NYC, especially in the outer boroughs. And we don't just travel alone. We travel with friends and families and co-workers like everyone else. That's why accessible vehicles and trained drivers are so important. Too few of either and you lose reliability and spontaneity." - Jean, uberWAV rider

"Well obviously Uber recognizes the need, which shows that Uber execs are really willing to think outside the box! That said, I realize the challenges you are facing in rolling out in the outer boroughs first considering that historically, Manhattan still has the most "action", but I don't have to tell you that Brooklyn has been nipping at its heels for some time. For those of us who would like to go to the Brooklyn Museum, Coney Island on a whim, the Barclay's Center or a concert at some funky dive out there, accessible Uber [is] awesome! - Jaqueline, uberWAV rider

U B E R

PLEASE JOIN US IN SPREADING THE WORD TO NEW YORKERS!

Josh Mohrer, GM | josh@uber.com

Nicole Benincasa, Policy | nic@uber.com

Kate Doyle, Marketing | kate.doyle@uber.com

Annie Duvnjak, Operations | annied@uber.com

U B E R

ACCESS TO INDEPENDENCE

A Transportation Expo

The New York City Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities (MOPD) in collaboration with the New York City Department of Transportation (DOT) cordially invite you to: ACCESS TO INDEPENDENCE

"Access to Independence is an Accessible Transportation Expo Designed to Educate the Public About Accessible Transportation Options Available in New York City" Victor Calise, Commissioner, MOPD

ACCESS TO INDEPENDENCE

September 30, 2014
10 AM - 2 PM

Columbus Park, Brooklyn NY
(North side of the park)

Columbus Park is adjacent to Brooklyn Borough Hall

Access to Independence Participants Include:

- NYC Department of Transportation (DOT)
- MTA New York City Transit
- MTA Access-A-Ride
- NYC Taxi & Limousine Commission
- NYC Department of Education
- Jewish Community Council of Greater Coney Island
- Interagency Council of Developmental Disabilities Agencies (IAC)

Directions:

By Subway: 2,3,4,5 to Borough Hall, entrance/exits are within the park. R to Court St, walk one block east towards Cadman Plaza W. A,C,F, R to Jay St-Metro Tech, walk two block west towards Adams St.

By Bus: The following Brooklyn bus routes are adjacent to the park 25, 26, 38, 41, 45, 52, 57, and 103. Please check with the MTA for additional bus routes.

Contact Information

To participate please register online at: www.nyc.gov/mopd or Call 311

From: Nicole Benincasa
To: btsang@dot.nyc.gov
Cc: Kate Doyle; Josh Mohrer; Calise Victor
Subject: Re: Access to Independence event + uberWAV
Date: Monday, September 29, 2014 11:44:34 AM

---

Good morning Bonnie,

I hope you had a great weekend, and thank you again for chatting with me on Friday evening. Please let me know if Uber may participate in tomorrow's event; we are very excited for the opportunity.

Best,
Nicole

On Fri, Sep 26, 2014 at 6:28 PM, Nicole Benincasa <nic@uber.com> wrote:

Good evening, Bonnie:

It was great to speak with you earlier, and I hope you are having an enjoyable Friday. I wanted to follow up regarding Uber's participation in the MOPD- and NYCDOT-sponsored Access to Independence event on 9/30. We are very interested in helping to educate the public about our new accessible transportation option for the outer boroughs.

Since launching uberWAV on August 7th, we have received some fantastic feedback from both consumers and partner drivers about the new accessibility option. Please see the attached uberWAV deck for further information about our progress.

Can you please provide more information about how we can participate in the event?

Have a great weekend,
Nicole

--

Nicole Benincasa

Policy & Regulatory Associate, New York

e: nic@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Nicole Benincasa

Policy & Regulatory Associate, New York

e: nic@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Puvogel, Matthew
Bcc: russell.Schmid@nyct.com; [Fredericksen, Donna](mailto:Fredericksen, Donna); Kenneth Stuart \(kenneth.stuart@nyct.com\); j.lauer@jccgci.org; Glenn Godin \(glenn@iacny.org\); [Bransky, Ken <kbransky@panynj.gov>](mailto:Bransky, Ken <kbransky@panynj.gov>) (kbransky@panynj.gov); Karen Gourgey; dorcas.conde@va.gov; [Joyce, Patrick \(TLC\) \(joycep@tlc.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Joyce, Patrick (TLC) (joycep@tlc.nyc.gov)); [Arroyo, Quemuel \(qarroyo@dot.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Arroyo.Quemuel (qarroyo@dot.nyc.gov)); [Ramirez, Denise \(dramirez1@dot.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Ramirez, Denise (dramirez1@dot.nyc.gov)); [Haber, Staci \(shaber@dot.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Haber, Staci (shaber@dot.nyc.gov)); mwashington@nywt.com; [Ayesha McGowan \(amcgowan@intandembike.org\)](mailto:Ayesha.McGowan (amcgowan@intandembike.org)); [Fred Metacarpa \(DCAS\) <fmetacarpa@dcas.nyc.gov>](mailto:Fred.Metacarpa (DCAS) <fmetacarpa@dcas.nyc.gov>) (fmetacarpa@dcas.nyc.gov); michael.Lavery@parks.nyc.gov; [Manuel Accimeus \(Manny.Accimeus@parks.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Manuel.Accimeus (Manny.Accimeus@parks.nyc.gov)); "earl h"; "Nelson, David J."; "Mike Lampert"; "mginsberg@frconversions.com" (mginsberg@frconversions.com); sgarcia12@schools.nyc.gov; [Jaffe Ariana \(AJaffe5@schools.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Jaffe.Ariana (AJaffe5@schools.nyc.gov)); [Fresquez, Eli <efresquez@OEM.NYC.GOV>](mailto:Fresquez, Eli <efresquez@OEM.NYC.GOV>) (efresquez@OEM.NYC.GOV); "Jason DaSilva"; mbalka@lighthouseguild.org; [Frank McCrea \(fmccrea@aging.nyc.gov\)](mailto:Frank.McCrea (fmccrea@aging.nyc.gov)); "sringel@brooklynbp.nyc.gov"; "nic@uber.com"; "Kelly@iacny.org"; "mwilder4@schools.nyc.gov"; "mgarcia96@schools.nyc.gov"; "pdonaldson@schools.nyc.gov"; "Dperry@icsny.org"; "Garcia@icsny.org"; "samuel.forde@nyct.com" (samuel.forde@nyct.com); angela.bonnette@nyct.com; "reginald.baron@nyct.com"; "cdwyer@oem.nyc.gov"; "yhsin@oem.nyc.gov"; [Davidt, Kevin G \(kdavitt@lirr.org\)](mailto:Davidt, Kevin G (kdavitt@lirr.org))
Subject: Thank you
Date: Wednesday, October 01, 2014 1:59:19 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

I would like to say thank you to all who assisted and attended Access to Independence yesterday September 30th at Columbus Park. Without your participation this event would not have been such a success. We look forward to holding this again in the coming year, and we appreciate your continued support. Thank you

Matthew Puvogel | Transportation Coordinator
Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities
100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor | New York, NY 10038
O: 212.788.8948 | F: 212.312.0960

Follow Us | MOPD | Facebook | Twitter

Confidentiality Notice: This e-mail communication and any attachments may contain confidential and privileged information for the use of the designated recipients named above. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that you have received this communication in error and that any review, disclosure, dissemination, distribution or copying of it or its contents is prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify me immediately by replying to this message and deleting it from your computer. Thank you

Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities

From: Nicole Benincasa
To: Calise, Victor
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Annie Duvnjak; Kate Doyle
Subject: Thank you + uberWAV update
Date: Wednesday, October 01, 2014 4:14:09 PM
Attachments: uberWAV.pdf

---

Hi Commissioner Calise:

It was great to see you at MOPD & DOT's truly inspiring Access to Independence event yesterday. Thank you again for inviting Uber to participate. As we discussed during the event, I wanted to provide you an update since our meeting at the end of July.

Since launching uberWAV on August 7th, we have received some fantastic feedback from both consumers and partner drivers about the new accessibility option. Please see the attached uberWAV deck for further information about the product and our progress.

As always, please feel free to reach out with any questions.

Best,
Nicole

--

Nicole Benincasa

Policy & Regulatory Associate, New York

e: nic@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

PRIORITIZING ACCESSIBILITY

U B E R

Uber is evolving the way the world moves. By seamlessly connecting riders to drivers through our app, we create more transportation alternatives for riders and increase business for drivers, connecting customers to the highest quality transportation with the fastest response time.

We have prioritized creating a more reliable and efficient wheelchair accessible option for New Yorkers.

U B E R

WHEELCHAIR ACCESSIBILITY WITH uberWAV

Users in NYC can now request a wheelchair accessible ride in the outer boroughs with Uber's new uberWAV option.

U B E R

HOW IT WORKS

- 1) Open up your Uber app
- 2) Select uberT in the slider at the bottom of the app
- 3) Tap the WAV option
- 4) Set your location and request, and we'll find you the nearest available driver

U B E R

uberWAV's IMPACT

uberWAV is widely available in the outer-boroughs, especially areas traditionally underserved by existing transportation options. Since uberWAV launched on August 7th:

- Hundreds of trips have been completed each week
- Hundreds of TLC Passenger Assistance-trained drivers have been on-boarded
- We have established ongoing partner driver quality controls

U B E R

RIDER SENTIMENT

"There is a huge need for spontaneous and RELIABLE transportation in NYC, especially in the outer boroughs. And we don't just travel alone. We travel with friends and families and co-workers like everyone else. That's why accessible vehicles and trained drivers are so important. Too few of either and you lose reliability and spontaneity." - Jean, uberWAV rider

"Well obviously Uber recognizes the need, which shows that Uber execs are really willing to think outside the box! That said, I realize the challenges you are facing in rolling out in the outer boroughs first considering that historically, Manhattan still has the most "action", but I don't have to tell you that Brooklyn has been nipping at its heels for some time. For those of us who would like to go to the Brooklyn Museum, Coney Island on a whim, the Barclay's Center or a concert at some funky dive out there, accessible Uber [is] awesome! - Jaqueline, uberWAV rider

U B E R

PLEASE JOIN US IN SPREADING THE WORD TO NEW YORKERS!

Josh Mohrer, GM | josh@uber.com

Nicole Benincasa, Policy | nic@uber.com

Kate Doyle, Marketing | kate.doyle@uber.com

Annie Duvnjak, Operations | annied@uber.com

U B E R

From: Nicole Benincasa
To: Puvogel, Matthew
Subject: Re: Thank you
Date: Saturday, October 04, 2014 5:05:11 PM
Attachments: image001.png

---

Hi Matthew,

Thank you for having Uber participate in Access to Independence! We were honored to be a part of the event, and I look forward to continuing our efforts to provide accessible transportation options to NYC residents.

Please do keep in touch, and feel free to reach out to me should you have any questions about Uber.

Best,
Nicole

On Wed, Oct 1, 2014 at 1:59 PM, Puvogel, Matthew <mpuvogel@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

I would like to say thank you to all who assisted and attended Access to Independence yesterday September 30th at Columbus Park. Without your participation this event would not have been such a success. We look forward to holding this again in the coming year, and we appreciate your continued support. Thank you

Matthew Puvogel | Transportation Coordinator

Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities

100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor | New York, NY 10038

O: 212.788.8948 | F: 212.312.0960

Follow Us | MOPD | Facebook | Twitter

Confidentiality Notice: This e-mail communication and any attachments may contain confidential and privileged information for the use of the designated recipients named above. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that you have received this communication in error and that any review, disclosure, dissemination, distribution or copying of it or its contents is prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify me immediately by replying to this message and deleting it from your computer. Thank you

--

Nicole Benincasa

Policy & Regulatory Associate, New York

e: nic@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities

From: Puvoael, Matthew
Bcc: Edith M. Prentiss; Luda Demikhovskaya \(ld261@optonline.net\); JRibnick@dorotusa.org; Jeannette Christie \(ChristieJ@LighthouseGuild.org\); Jean Ryan; Glenn Godin \(glenn@iacny.org\); "nic@uber.com"; Joyce, Patrick \(TLC\) \(joycep@tlc.nyc.gov\); Fresquez, Eli <efresquez@OEM.NYC.GOV> \(efresquez@OEM.NYC.GOV\); Jackson, Marianne \(mjackson@OEM.NYC.GOV\); Ramirez, Denise \(dramirez1@dot.nyc.gov\); Karen Gourgev; "Jason DaSilva"; Eckert, Jason \(OCFS\); mbalka@lighthouseguild.org; "Mike Lampert"; "Noel, Christopher \(Parks\)"; Manuel Accimeus \(Manny.Accimeus@parks.nyc.gov\); "Kelly@iacny.org"; Jaffe Ariana \(AJaffe5@schools.nyc.gov\); "mwilder4@schools.nyc.gov"; "mgarcia96@schools.nyc.gov"; "pdonaldson@schools.nyc.gov"; sqarcia12@schools.nyc.gov; "dorcac.conde@va.gov"; Dperry@icsny.org; "Garcia@icsny.org"; j.lauer@iccqi.org; "yhsin@oem.nyc.gov"; "cdwyer@oem.nyc.gov"; "mkurtz@unitedspinal.org"; Gordon Rothman; info@danielsmusic.org; info@wheelchairsportsfederation.org; "Julia Macbeth"; "Bobbi Wailes"; "rajur@nychhc.org"; "Randall.Mark@nychhc.org"; "Dooha, Susan; jpeters@bcd.org; bret.eisenberg@bils.org; Arroyo, Quemuel \(qarroyo@dot.nyc.gov\); Haber, Staci \(shaber@dot.nyc.gov\); ispalter@bmcc.cuny.edu; Jacquelyn, Flaum; Administrator \(administrator@artbeyondsight.org\); Avesha McGowan \(amcgowan@intandembike.org\); Lester Marks \(LMarks@LighthouseGuild.org\); Frank McCreia \(fmccreia@aging.nyc.gov\); "MGuerrero@aging.nyc.gov"; "Jennifer.Teich@ahrcnyc.org"; "mfridas2@schools.nyc.gov"; gsantamoore@schools.nyc.gov; "jzembruski@msnyc.org"; "ezeira@tenement.org"; "JWortel@aging.nyc.gov"; "pwolff@cidny.org"; "wayne@cchr.nyc.gov"; mcush@visionsvcb.org; "ptobin@unitedspinal.org"; Carla Sullivan \(carla@danielsmusic.org\); "nsheth@ChristopherReeve.org"; "Celeste.Sequire@nycha.nyc.gov"
Subject: NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit
Date: Tuesday, October 07, 2014 2:38:21 PM
Attachments: image001.png
NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit.pdf

Good Afternoon. The Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities and the NYC Department of Sanitation will host the NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit on October 22, 2014 from 11-1PM at the Lighthouse Guild for the blind. If the enclosed flyer could be circulated to all I would greatly appreciate it. Thank you

NYC Winter Weather Access
and Mobility Summit

The Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities (MOPD) in partnership with the Department of Sanitation (DSNY) cordially invites you to:

NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit

The NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit is a conference which will focus on the steps that people with disabilities and their loved ones can take to ensure safe travel during the winter months.

Topics that will be discussed in the panel include:

-

Winter weather preparedness

-

How to report lack of accessibility and hazardous or unsafe conditions in your home or community?

list end

People are encouraged to ask questions and raise issues of interest to them.

NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit

October 22, 2014

The Lighthouse Guild for the Blind

Time: 11AM - 1PM

Please register at www.nyc.gov/mopd or Call 311

For travel information please call MTA's 511

Designated AAR Location: 111 East 59th between Park and Lexington Ave.

(left side)

Matthew Puvogel | Transportation Coordinator

Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities

100 Gold Street, 2nd Floor | New York, NY 10038

O: 212.788.8948 | F: 212.312.0960

Follow Us | MOPD | Facebook | Twitter

Confidentiality Notice: This e-mail communication and any attachments may contain confidential and privileged information for the use of the designated recipients named above. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that you have received this communication in error and that any review, disclosure, dissemination, distribution or copying of it or its contents is prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify me immediately by replying to this message and deleting it from your computer. Thank you

Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities

NYC Winter Weather Access

and Mobility Summit

The Mayor's Office for People with Disabilities (MOPD) in partnership with the Department of Sanitation (DSNY) cordially invites you to:

NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit

The NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit is a conference which will focus on the steps that people with disabilities and their loved ones can take to ensure safe travel during the winter months.

Topics that will be discussed in the panel include:

- Winter weather preparedness
- How to report lack of accessibility and hazardous or unsafe conditions in your home or community?

People are encouraged to ask questions and raise issues of interest to them.

NYC Winter Weather Access and Mobility Summit

October 22, 2014

The Lighthouse Guild for the Blind

Time: 11AM - 1PM

Please register at www.nyc.gov/mopd or Call 311

For travel information please call MTA's 511

Designated AAR Location: 111 East 59th between Park and Lexington Ave.
(left side)

Mayor's Office for
People with Disabilities

From: David Plouffe
To: Santucci, Laura
Subject: Call
Date: Thursday, October 23, 2014 5:53:24 PM

---

Laura

I jknow you must be in crisis management mode given the health situation (we are dealing with it to in a much more minor way) but I have a timely issue to discuss with you if you have 5 mins.

Hope you are enjoying what must be one of the rides of a lifetime

David

From: Santucci, Laura
To: David Plouffe
Subject: Re: Call
Date: Thursday, October 23, 2014 5:55:13 PM

---

Hello! Calling in a minute

> On Oct 23, 2014, at 5:53 PM, "David Plouffe" <plouffe@uber.com> wrote:
>
> Laura
>
> I jknow you must be in crisis management mode given the health situation (we are dealing with it to
in a much more minor way) but I have a timely issue to discuss with you if you have 5 mins.
>
> Hope you are enjoying what must be one of the rides of a lifetime
>
> David
>
>

From: David Plouffe
To: Santucci, Laura
Subject: Re: Our CEO
Date: Monday, November 03, 2014 6:19:09 PM

---

Congrats (I hope on your new, temp assignment). Should be a blast.

Let me know if we should redirect mtg request or if you can still work thru.

> On Oct 31, 2014, at 10:42 AM, Santucci, Laura <LSantucci@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>

> David,

> Will circle back ASAP.

>

>> On Oct 31, 2014, at 8:52 AM, "David Plouffe" <daplouffe@icloud.com> wrote:

>>

>>

>> Laura

>>

>> Would the Mayor and you be available on Nov 13 to meet with Travis Kalanick? We'd love to provide an update on the impact Uber is having in NYC and talk thru how to build on that. Think it would be interesting for you and he to get a fuller understanding of the growth and econ impact, among others.

>>

>> Travis is receiving an award from the Iraq and Afghanistan Vets Assn that night in NYC for our program to hire returning vets, which is going well.

>>

>> Thanks

>>

>> David

>>

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC
Date: Thursday, November 06, 2014 10:52:07 AM

---

Thanks for checking in by text. Unfortunately, to answer your question, no we're not good. The TLC is still pushing the rule, so the same business and privacy issues are in play, just delayed a few weeks. Plus, from conversations with Meera, it's clear that some type of base shutdown proceedings are STILL on the table if we don't produce this data.

I think our proactive cooperation during the Ebola incident in late October showed that we are a good corporate citizen. As for the TLC: we're certainly happy to help the Commission respond to specific incidents with tailored trip information that does not put consumer privacy in jeopardy, just like we routinely cooperate with law enforcement when they request help with an investigation. What we won't do is surrender sensitive data en masse when the TLC refuses to protect that data from public disclosure.

Frankly speaking, these rules are a complete mess, and the privacy issues they raise (not to mention the convoluted dispatch rules) are far too nuanced to be addressed fully between now and Nov. 20 under threat of license revocation. I suspect Uber and City Hall can work this out so it's a win for everybody involved, but to do that we need the TLC to slow this down and give you and I time to hammer out the specifics. If this actually goes to a vote on the 20th then we need to start educating our NYC rider base ASAP, which is a hard genie to put back in the bottle once it's out. Let me know if we can hop on the phone soon to talk this out.

Corey

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 3:43 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ok, thanks.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 01:41 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Justin Kintz <kintz@uber.com>; Lane Kasselman <lane@uber.com>
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Peter I'm about to hop on a flight w no wifi, so if/when you have an update on your end please contact Justin or Lane on our team.

On Monday, October 27, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Got it.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 07:58 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

I'll be at [REDACTED] just call when you're free

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Yup

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Ragone, Peter
<pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Can talk in 30. Work?

---

From: Corey Owens [mailto:corey@uber.com]
Sent: Sunday, October 26, 2014 03:47 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, can we discuss this tonight or tomorrow? I spoke with the TLC on Friday (I assume at your suggestion, Meera said "City Hall told me to call"), and they continue to threaten to revoke our base licenses, presumably as soon as tomorrow. They're not leaving us with a lot of options here and I'm hoping you and I can sort this out without need for a messy public debate about the TLC and consumer privacy.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Oct 23, 2014 at 6:03 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Sorry to bother you at the hospital Peter, but need to get this on your radar ASAP. The TLC has threatened to revoke Uber's base license if we don't hand over records of every trip in the last three months - including license plate of car and precise location of pickup location - by tomorrow COB.

They do not currently have authority to demand transmittal like this, they won't guarantee confidentiality of the data, and it represents a potentially serious breach of rider/driver privacy (as illustrated here - <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>).

The TLC is considering a rulemaking on this subject among others. For them to threaten us like this, especially while we're cooperating so closely with your Department of Health on this ebola scare, a demonstration that we're happy to leverage our data when cause is shown, seems pretty out of line.

I think there's a happy compromise here, but there's very little time. Would like to speak with you about this as soon as you can get free.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC
Date: Thursday, November 06, 2014 10:53:57 AM

---

Also, we've been planning on hiring an engineering team in NYC - <https://www.uber.com/jobs/34837> - worth talking about that as well.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:51 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Thanks for checking in by text. Unfortunately, to answer your question, no we're not good. The TLC is still pushing the rule, so the same business and privacy issues are in play, just delayed a few weeks. Plus, from conversations with Meera, it's clear that some type of base shutdown proceedings are STILL on the table if we don't produce this data.

I think our proactive cooperation during the Ebola incident in late October showed that we are a good corporate citizen. As for the TLC: we're certainly happy to help the Commission respond to specific incidents with tailored trip information that does not put consumer privacy in jeopardy, just like we routinely cooperate with law enforcement when they request help with an investigation. What we won't do is surrender sensitive data en masse when the TLC refuses to protect that data from public disclosure.

Frankly speaking, these rules are a complete mess, and the privacy issues they raise (not to mention the convoluted dispatch rules) are far too nuanced to be addressed fully between now and Nov. 20 under threat of license revocation. I suspect Uber and City Hall can work this out so it's a win for everybody involved, but to do that we need the TLC to slow this down and give you and I time to hammer out the specifics. If this actually goes to a vote on the 20th then we need to start educating our NYC rider base ASAP, which is a hard genie to put back in the bottle once it's out. Let me know if we can hop on the phone soon to talk this out.

Corey

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 3:43 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ok, thanks.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 01:41 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Justin Kintz <kintz@uber.com>; Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Peter I'm about to hop on a flight w no wifi, so if/when you have an update on your end please contact Justin or Lane on our team.

On Monday, October 27, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Got it.

---

From: Corey Owens [mailto:corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 07:58 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

I'll be at [REDACTED], just call when you're free

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Yup

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Ragone, Peter
<pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Can talk in 30. Work?

---

From: Corey Owens [mailto:corey@uber.com]
Sent: Sunday, October 26, 2014 03:47 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, can we discuss this tonight or tomorrow? I spoke with the TLC on Friday (I assume at your suggestion, Meera said "City Hall told me to call"), and they continue to threaten to revoke our base licenses, presumably as soon as tomorrow. They're not leaving us with a lot of options here and I'm hoping you and I can sort this out without need for a messy public debate about the TLC and consumer privacy.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Oct 23, 2014 at 6:03 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Sorry to bother you at the hospital Peter, but need to get this on your radar ASAP. The TLC has threatened to revoke Uber's base license if we don't hand over records of every trip in the last three months - including license plate of car and precise location of pickup location - by tomorrow COB.

They do not currently have authority to demand transmittal like this, they won't guarantee confidentiality of the data, and it represents a potentially serious breach of rider/driver privacy (as illustrated here - <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>).

The TLC is considering a rulemaking on this subject among others. For them to threaten us like this, especially while we're cooperating so closely with your Department of Health on this ebola scare, a demonstration that we're happy to leverage our data when cause is shown, seems pretty out of line.

I think there's a happy compromise here, but there's very little time.
Would like to speak with you about this as soon as you can get free.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: David Plouffe
To: Santucci, Laura
Subject: Meeting
Date: Friday, November 07, 2014 4:06:39 PM

---

Sorry to pester, but any chance Mayor can meet with our CEO on the 14th?

From: Santucci, Laura
To: David Plouffe
Subject: Re: Meeting
Date: Saturday, November 08, 2014 1:12:41 PM

---

Not a pester at all. I should have final word on Monday when Mayor returns from Puerto Rico.

I can still handle limited city business while doing the bid but am putting colleague Dom Williams on this as well. I will connect you two on Monday.

On Nov 7, 2014, at 4:06 PM, "David Plouffe" <plouffe@uber.com> wrote:

> Sorry to pester, but any chance Mayor can meet with our CEO on the 14th?
>
>

From: David Plouffe
To: Santucci, Laura
Subject: Re: Meeting
Date: Saturday, November 08, 2014 8:00:08 PM

---

Thanks.

> On Nov 8, 2014, at 1:12 PM, Santucci, Laura <LSantucci@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
>
> Not a pester at all. I should have final word on Monday when Mayor returns from Puerto Rico.
>
> I can still handle limited city business while doing the bid but am putting colleague Dom Williams on this as well. I will connect you two on Monday.
>
>
>
>> On Nov 7, 2014, at 4:06 PM, "David Plouffe" <plouffe@uber.com> wrote:
>>
>> Sorry to pester, but any chance Mayor can meet with our CEO on the 14th?
>>
>>

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 8:37:32 AM

---

Hey Peter, got time to talk today?

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:53 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Also, we've been planning on hiring an engineering team in NYC - <https://www.uber.com/jobs/34837> - worth talking about that as well.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:51 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Thanks for checking in by text. Unfortunately, to answer your question, no we're not good. The TLC is still pushing the rule, so the same business and privacy issues are in play, just delayed a few weeks. Plus, from conversations with Meera, it's clear that some type of base shutdown proceedings are STILL on the table if we don't produce this data.

I think our proactive cooperation during the Ebola incident in late October showed that we are a good corporate citizen. As for the TLC: we're certainly happy to help the Commission respond to specific incidents with tailored trip information that does not put consumer privacy in jeopardy, just like we routinely cooperate with law enforcement when they request help with an investigation. What we won't do is surrender sensitive data en masse when the TLC refuses to protect that data from public disclosure.

Frankly speaking, these rules are a complete mess, and the privacy issues they raise (not to mention the convoluted dispatch rules) are far too nuanced to be addressed fully between now and Nov. 20 under threat of license revocation. I suspect Uber and City Hall can work this out so it's a win for everybody involved, but to do that we need the TLC to slow this down and give you and I time to hammer out the specifics. If this actually goes to a vote on the 20th then we need to start educating our NYC rider base ASAP, which is a hard genie to put back in the bottle once it's out. Let me know if we can hop on the phone soon to talk this out.

Corey

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 3:43 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ok, thanks.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 01:41 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Justin Kintz <kintz@uber.com>; Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Peter I'm about to hop on a flight w no wifi, so if/when you have an update on your end please contact Justin or Lane on our team.

On Monday, October 27, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Got it.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 07:58 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

I'll be at [REDACTED] just call when you're free

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Yup

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Can talk in 30. Work?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Sunday, October 26, 2014 03:47 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, can we discuss this tonight or tomorrow? I spoke with the TLC on Friday (I assume at your suggestion, Meera said "City Hall told me to call"), and they continue to threaten to revoke our base licenses, presumably as soon as tomorrow. They're not leaving us with a lot of options here and I'm hoping you and I can sort this out without need for a messy public debate about the TLC and consumer privacy.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Oct 23, 2014 at 6:03 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Sorry to bother you at the hospital Peter, but need to get this on your radar ASAP. The TLC has threatened to revoke Uber's base license if we don't hand over records of every trip in the last three months - including license plate of car and precise location of pickup location - by tomorrow COB.

They do not currently have authority to demand transmittal like this, they won't guarantee confidentiality of the data, and it represents a potentially serious breach of rider/driver privacy (as illustrated here - <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>).

The TLC is considering a rulemaking on this subject among others. For them to threaten us like this, especially while we're cooperating so closely with your Department of Health on this ebola scare, a demonstration that we're happy to leverage our data when cause is shown, seems pretty out of line.

I think there's a happy compromise here, but there's very little time. Would like to speak with you about this as soon as you can get free.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Santucci, Laura
To: plouffe@uber.com; Williams, Dominic
Subject: Request for Meeting
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 8:52:01 AM

---

David,

We will be in touch soon on your request for a meeting.

I've included Dom Williams here who is point in City Hall on all TLC related business.

Talk soon.

Laura

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 1:36:35 PM

---

3p Eastern?

On Monday, November 10, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Sure. What time works?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, November 10, 2014 05:37 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, got time to talk today?

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:53 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Also, we've been planning on hiring an engineering team in NYC -
<https://www.uber.com/jobs/34837> - worth talking about that as well.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:51 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Thanks for checking in by text. Unfortunately, to answer your question, no we're not good. The TLC is still pushing the rule, so the same business and privacy issues are in play, just delayed a few weeks. Plus, from conversations with Meera, it's clear that some type of base shutdown proceedings are STILL on the table if we don't produce this data.

I think our proactive cooperation during the Ebola incident in late October showed that we are a good corporate citizen. As for the TLC: we're certainly happy to help the Commission respond to specific incidents with tailored trip information that does not put consumer privacy in jeopardy, just like we routinely cooperate with law enforcement when they request help with an investigation. What we won't do is surrender sensitive data en masse when the TLC refuses to protect that data from public disclosure.

Frankly speaking, these rules are a complete mess, and the privacy issues they raise (not to mention the convoluted dispatch rules) are far too nuanced to be addressed fully between now and Nov. 20 under threat of license revocation. I suspect Uber and City Hall can work this out so it's a win for everybody involved, but to do that we need the TLC to slow this down and give you and I time to hammer out the specifics. If this actually goes to a vote on the 20th then we need to start educating our NYC rider base ASAP, which is a hard genie to put back in the bottle once it's out. Let me know if we can hop on the phone soon to talk this out.

Corey

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 3:43 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ok, thanks.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 01:41 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Justin Kintz <kintz@uber.com>; Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Peter I'm about to hop on a flight w no wifi, so if/when you have an update on your end please contact Justin or Lane on our team.

On Monday, October 27, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Got it.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 07:58 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

I'll be at [REDACTED] just call when you're free

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Yup

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Can talk in 30. Work?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Sunday, October 26, 2014 03:47 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, can we discuss this tonight or tomorrow? I spoke with the TLC on Friday (I assume at your suggestion, Meera said "City Hall told me to call"), and they continue to threaten to revoke our base licenses, presumably as soon as tomorrow. They're not leaving us with a lot of options here and I'm hoping you and I can sort this out without need for a messy public debate about the TLC and consumer privacy.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Oct 23, 2014 at 6:03 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Sorry to bother you at the hospital Peter, but need to get this on your radar ASAP. The TLC has threatened to revoke Uber's base license if we don't hand over records of every trip in the last three months - including license plate of car and precise location of pickup location - by tomorrow COB.

They do not currently have authority to demand transmittal like this, they won't guarantee confidentiality of the data, and it represents a potentially serious breach of rider/driver privacy (as illustrated here - <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>).

The TLC is considering a rulemaking on this subject among others. For them to threaten us like this, especially while we're cooperating so closely with your Department of Health on this ebola scare, a demonstration that we're happy to leverage our data when cause is shown, seems pretty out of line.

I think there's a happy compromise here, but there's very little time. Would like to speak with you about this as soon as you can get free.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 4:50:09 PM

---

Sure. I'll call you then.

On Monday, November 10, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Could do 4pm pst.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, November 10, 2014 10:05 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

3p Eastern?

On Monday, November 10, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Sure. What time works?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, November 10, 2014 05:37 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, got time to talk today?

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:53 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Also, we've been planning on hiring an engineering team in NYC -
<https://www.uber.com/jobs/34837> - worth talking about that as well.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:51 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Thanks for checking in by text. Unfortunately, to answer your question, no we're not good. The TLC is still pushing the rule, so the same business and privacy issues are in play, just delayed a few weeks. Plus, from conversations with Meera, it's clear that some type of base shutdown proceedings are STILL on the table if we don't produce this data.

I think our proactive cooperation during the Ebola incident in late October showed that we are a good corporate citizen. As for the TLC: we're certainly happy to help the Commission respond to specific incidents with tailored trip information that does not put consumer privacy in jeopardy, just like we routinely cooperate with law enforcement when they request help with an investigation. What we won't do is surrender sensitive data en masse when the TLC refuses to protect that data from public disclosure.

Frankly speaking, these rules are a complete mess, and the privacy issues they raise (not to mention the convoluted dispatch rules) are far too nuanced to be addressed fully between now and Nov. 20 under threat of license revocation. I suspect Uber and City Hall can work this out so it's a win for everybody involved, but to do that we need the TLC to slow this down and give you and I time to hammer out the specifics. If this actually goes to a vote on the 20th then we need to start educating our NYC rider base ASAP, which is a hard genie to put back in the bottle once it's out. Let me know if we can hop on the phone soon to talk this out.

Corey

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 3:43 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ok, thanks.

---

From: Corey Owens [<mailto:corey@uber.com>]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 01:41 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Justin Kintz <kintz@uber.com>; Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Peter I'm about to hop on a flight w no wifi, so if/when you have an update on your end please contact Justin or Lane on our team.

On Monday, October 27, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Got it.

---

From: Corey Owens [<mailto:corey@uber.com>]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 07:58 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

I'll be at [REDACTED] just call when you're free

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Yup

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Can talk in 30. Work?

---

From: Corey Owens [<mailto:corey@uber.com>]
Sent: Sunday, October 26, 2014 03:47 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, can we discuss this tonight or tomorrow? I spoke with the TLC on Friday (I assume at your suggestion, Meera said "City Hall told me to call"), and they continue to threaten to revoke our base licenses, presumably as soon as tomorrow. They're not leaving us with a lot of options here and I'm hoping you and I can sort this out without need for a messy public debate about the TLC and consumer privacy.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Oct 23, 2014 at 6:03 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:

Sorry to bother you at the hospital Peter, but need to get this on your radar ASAP. The TLC has threatened to revoke Uber's base license if we don't hand over records of every trip in the last three months - including license plate of car and precise location of pickup location - by tomorrow COB.

They do not currently have authority to demand transmittal like this, they won't guarantee confidentiality of the data, and it represents a potentially serious breach of rider/driver privacy (as illustrated here - <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>).

The TLC is considering a rulemaking on this subject among others. For them to threaten us like this, especially while we're cooperating so closely with your Department of Health on this ebola scare, a demonstration that we're happy to leverage our data when cause is shown, seems pretty out of line.

I think there's a happy compromise here, but there's very little time. Would like to speak with you about this as soon as you can get free.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 7:02:05 PM

---

Trying the [REDACTED] number but just keeps ringing.

On Monday, November 10, 2014, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Sure. I'll call you then.

On Monday, November 10, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Could do 4pm pst.

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, November 10, 2014 10:05 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

3p Eastern?

On Monday, November 10, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Sure. What time works?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Monday, November 10, 2014 05:37 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, got time to talk today?

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:53 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Also, we've been planning on hiring an engineering team in NYC -
<https://www.uber.com/jobs/34837> - worth talking about that as well.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Nov 6, 2014 at 10:51 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Thanks for checking in by text. Unfortunately, to answer your question, no we're not good. The TLC is still pushing the rule, so the same business and privacy issues are in play, just delayed a few weeks. Plus, from conversations with Meera, it's clear that some type of base shutdown proceedings are STILL on the table if we don't produce this data.

I think our proactive cooperation during the Ebola incident in late October showed that we are a good corporate citizen. As for the TLC: we're certainly happy to help the Commission respond to specific incidents with tailored trip information that does not put consumer privacy in jeopardy, just like we routinely cooperate with law enforcement when they request help with an investigation. What we won't do is surrender sensitive data en masse when the TLC refuses to protect that data from public disclosure.

Frankly speaking, these rules are a complete mess, and the privacy issues they raise (not to mention the convoluted dispatch rules) are far too nuanced to be addressed fully between now and Nov. 20 under threat of license revocation. I suspect Uber and City Hall can work this out so it's a win for everybody involved, but to do that we need the TLC to slow this down and give you and I time to hammer out the specifics. If this actually goes to a vote on the 20th then we need to start educating our NYC rider base ASAP, which is a hard genie to put back in the bottle once it's out. Let me know if we can hop on the phone soon to talk this out.

Corey

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 3:43 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Ok, thanks.

---

From: Corey Owens [<mailto:corey@uber.com>]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 01:41 PM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Justin Kintz <kintz@uber.com>; Lane Kasselmann <lane@uber.com>
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Peter I'm about to hop on a flight w no wifi, so if/when you have an update on your end please contact Justin or Lane on our team.

On Monday, October 27, 2014, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Got it.

---

From: Corey Owens [<mailto:corey@uber.com>]
Sent: Monday, October 27, 2014 07:58 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

I'll be at [REDACTED] just call when you're free

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com>
wrote:

Yup

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Oct 27, 2014 at 10:48 AM, Ragone, Peter
<pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Can talk in 30. Work?

---

From: Corey Owens [<mailto:corey@uber.com>]
Sent: Sunday, October 26, 2014 03:47 PM

To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Uber NYC

Hey Peter, can we discuss this tonight or tomorrow? I spoke with the TLC on Friday (I assume at your suggestion, Meera said "City Hall told me to call"), and they continue to threaten to revoke our base licenses, presumably as soon as tomorrow. They're not leaving us with a lot of options here and I'm hoping you and I can sort this out without need for a messy public debate about the TLC and consumer privacy.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Thu, Oct 23, 2014 at 6:03 PM, Corey Owens
<corey@uber.com> wrote:

Sorry to bother you at the hospital Peter, but need to get this on your radar ASAP. The TLC has threatened to revoke Uber's base license if we don't hand over records of every trip in the last three months - including license plate of car and precise location of pickup location - by tomorrow COB.

They do not currently have authority to demand transmittal like this, they won't guarantee confidentiality of the data, and it represents a potentially serious breach of rider/driver privacy (as illustrated here - <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>).

The TLC is considering a rulemaking on this subject among others. For them to threaten us like this, especially while we're cooperating so closely with your Department of Health on this ebola scare, a demonstration that we're happy to leverage our data when cause is shown, seems pretty out of line.

I think there's a happy compromise here, but there's very little time. Would like to speak with you about this as soon as you can get free.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter; Karin Srisilpanand
Subject: Peter / DAP
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 7:57:11 PM

---

Peter, thanks for the call earlier. David's in SF this week so let's definitely try to get you two in a room. Karin can help find a time that works for you both.

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Karin Srisilpanand
To: Ragone, Peter
Subject: Re: Peter / DAP
Date: Monday, November 10, 2014 8:24:18 PM

---

Thanks Corey for the introduction; I'm moving you to bcc.

Hello Peter,

Please let me know what your availability is for this week. Happy to get you and David together.

I currently have David at our SF HQ on the following dates/ times:

Weds, Nov 12 12:30pm - 2:00pm
Thurs, Nov 13 10:30 - 11:30am
Fri, Nov 14 12:30 - 2:30pm

Would any of the above work for you? If not, please let me know what you do have and I'll see what I can do!

We are located at 1455 Market Street between 10th and 11th Street.

Karin

Karin Srisilpanand
Policy & Strategy
Email karinsris@uber.com
Direct +1 415.842.3507
Mobile +1 415.518.8227

On Mon, Nov 10, 2014 at 4:57 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Peter, thanks for the call earlier. David's in SF this week so let's definitely try to get you two in a room. Karin can help find a time that works for you both.

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Karin Srisilpanand
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: Corey Owens
Subject: Re: Peter / DAP
Date: Tuesday, November 11, 2014 11:55:47 AM

---

Peter,

I spoke to Sandy this morning and you are confirmed for 1:00pm PT here at Uber HQ with David Plouffe.

Address: 1455 Market Street (between 10th and 11th Street)
Please come to the 4th Floor.

Kaitlyn, our receptionist will call David or myself upon your arrival upstairs.

See you then.

Karin Srisilpanand
Policy & Strategy
Email karinsris@uber.com
Direct +1 415.842.3507
Mobile +1 415.518.8227

On Mon, Nov 10, 2014 at 4:57 PM, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
Peter, thanks for the call earlier. David's in SF this week so let's definitely try to get you two in a room. Karin can help find a time that works for you both.

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: David Plouffe
Subject: TLC Summons and Suspension of Uber License
Date: Wednesday, November 12, 2014 10:47:51 AM
Attachments: Summonses-Failure to Comply with Electronic Trip Record Directives.pdf

---

Peter, today we received formal notice from TLC saying our license to operate will be suspended next Friday if we don't hand over the volumes of data they've demanded. They still haven't guaranteed confidentiality, they still haven't justified why they need this data given our history of cooperating when actual cause is shown, and they still haven't explained how this doesn't threaten the privacy of millions of New Yorkers, except "well taxi does it," which remains a baffling response.

I continue to be hopeful that cooler heads can prevail and a reasonable solution can be found if given the opportunity.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Raymond C. Scanlon - Deputy Commissioner
Uniformed Services Bureau
25-55 BQE West
Woodside, New York 11377
+1 718 391 5501 tel

UNTER LLC
27-55 JACKSON AVENUE
LONG ISLAND CIT, NY, 11101

Date: 10/28/2014
License:

Summons # FC0000336

The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission charges you with violating TLC Rule:

§59B-13(j)(1): Cooperate with the Commission
Penalty: $200 and Suspension until compliance

According to TLC records, on 10/9/2014 the Commission issued you the attached directive ordering you to provide electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Per Commission records, you failed to do so.

You must appear for a hearing:

Where: OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal – 33 Beaver St, 19th Floor, New York, NY 10004
When: 11/21/2014 at 10:30 AM

At the hearing:

1. You may bring a lawyer or a representative authorized by the OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal. You may also bring witnesses and any evidence that supports your case.
2. If the judge finds you in violation of TLC Rule 59B-13(j)(1), you will be fined $200, and your license will be immediately suspended until you comply with the directive.
3. If you do not come to the hearing, OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal will find you guilty by default and impose a $200 fine and suspend your license until compliance.
4. If you want to change the date of the hearing, you must call OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal at least five (5) business days before the hearing date at (718)391-5718

I certify that a true copy of this summons was inserted by me in an envelope addressed to the named Respondent at the address noted on the Notice of Scheduled Hearing, which is the last mailing address filed with the commission listed in TAMIS, and deposited in the normal course of business, on the date below, in a box at the TLC Beaver Street facility which is labeled "agency mail", the contents of which are delivered to the TLC Mail Service the next business day. Based on a conversation with Nicholas Venezia, The Assistant Commissioner who oversees the mailroom, my understanding is that the practice of the TLC Mail Service is to place metered first class postage on the envelope and deposit the envelope in an official United States Postal Service receptacle no later than one (1) business day after receipt of the envelope by the TLC mail service.

PRINT NAME: Winters, Crystal SIGNATURE:  DATE: 10/28/2014

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Rodney Stiles - Director of Research & Evaluation
Policy & External Affairs Department
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004
212-676-1183

Unter LLC
27-55 Jackson Avenue
Long Island City, NY 11101

October 9, 2014

RE: Directive for Electronic Dispatch Records

ATTN: [REDACTED]

You are receiving this letter as a follow up to the directive sent September 26, 2014, requesting electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. TLC is extending the deadline for submission of electronic trip records from Thursday, October 9, 2014, to Friday, October 24, 2014. Please find below a copy of the original directive with the submission deadline updated.

Pursuant to Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) Rules § 59B-13(j)(1) and 59B-19(a)(1), you are directed to provide the TLC with a list of all trip record information for all dispatched trips occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Please include at a minimum, the following elements for each trip dispatched by your base:

- Date of trip
- Time of trip
- Passenger's pick up location
- Driver's For-Hire License number
- Vehicle's For-Hire License number

You are hereby directed to submit the above referenced trip records electronically by Friday, October 24, 2014.

You must submit all information described above. Failure to respond to this Directive may result in a summons for a violation of TLC Rule §59B-13(j), and if found guilty you may be fined $200 and your license may be suspended until you comply with this directive.

If you have questions, please contact Ben Kurland at research@tlc.nyc.gov or 212-676-1207.

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Raymond C. Scanlon - Deputy Commissioner
Uniformed Services Bureau
25-55 BQE West
Woodside, New York 11377
+1 718 391 5501 tel

HINTER LLC
27-55 JACKSON AVE
LONG ISLAND CIT, NY, 11101

Date: 10/28/2014
License:

Summons # FC0000333

The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission charges you with violating TLC Rule:

§59B-13(j)(1): Cooperate with the Commission
Penalty: $200 and Suspension until compliance

According to TLC records, on 10/9/2014 the Commission issued you the attached directive ordering you to provide electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Per Commission records, you failed to do so.

You must appear for a hearing:

Where: OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal – 33 Beaver St, 19th Floor, New York, NY 10004
When: 11/21/2014 at 9:00 AM

At the hearing:

1. You may bring a lawyer or a representative authorized by the OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal. You may also bring witnesses and any evidence that supports your case.
2. If the judge finds you in violation of TLC Rule 59B-13(j)(1), you will be fined $200, and your license will be immediately suspended until you comply with the directive.
3. If you do not come to the hearing, OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal will find you guilty by default and impose a $200 fine and suspend your license until compliance.
4. If you want to change the date of the hearing, you must call OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal at least five (5) business days before the hearing date at (718)391-5718

I certify that a true copy of this summons was inserted by me in an envelope addressed to the named Respondent at the address noted on the Notice of Scheduled Hearing, which is the last mailing address filed with the commission listed in TAMIS, and deposited in the normal course of business, on the date below, in a box at the TLC Beaver Street facility which is labeled "agency mail", the contents of which are delivered to the TLC Mail Service the next business day. Based on a conversation with Nicholas Venezia, The Assistant Commissioner who oversees the mailroom, my understanding is that the practice of the TLC Mail Service is to place metered first class postage on the envelope and deposit the envelope in an official United States Postal Service receptacle no later than one (1) business day after receipt of the envelope by the TLC mail service.

PRINT NAME: Winters, Crystal SIGNATURE:

DATE: 10/28/2014

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Rodney Stiles – Director of Research & Evaluation
Policy & External Affairs Department
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004
212-676-1183

Hinter LLC
27-55 Jackson Avenue
Long Island City, NY 11101

October 9, 2014

RE: Directive for Electronic Dispatch Records

ATTN:

You are receiving this letter as a follow up to the directive sent September 26, 2014, requesting electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. TLC is extending the deadline for submission of electronic trip records from Thursday, October 9, 2014, to Friday, October 24, 2014. Please find below a copy of the original directive with the submission deadline updated.

Pursuant to Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) Rules § 59B-13(j)(1) and 59B-19(a)(1), you are directed to provide the TLC with a list of all trip record information for all dispatched trips occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Please include at a minimum, the following elements for each trip dispatched by your base:

- Date of trip
- Time of trip
- Passenger's pick up location
- Driver's For-Hire License number
- Vehicle's For-Hire License number

You are hereby directed to submit the above referenced trip records electronically by Friday, October 24, 2014.

You must submit all information described above. Failure to respond to this Directive may result in a summons for a violation of TLC Rule §59B-13(j), and if found guilty you may be fined $200 and your license may be suspended until you comply with this directive.

If you have questions, please contact Ben Kurland at research@tlc.nyc.gov or 212-676-1207.

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Raymond C. Scanlon - Deputy Commissioner
Uniformed Services Bureau
25-55 BQE West
Woodside, New York 11377
+1 718 391 5501 tel

WEITER LLC
27-55 JACKSON AVENUE
LIC, NY, 11101

Date: 10/28/2014

License:

Summons # FC0000332

The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission charges you with violating TLC Rule:

§59B-13(j)(1): Cooperate with the Commission
Penalty: $200 and Suspension until compliance

According to TLC records, on 10/9/2014 the Commission issued you the attached directive ordering you to provide electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Per Commission records, you failed to do so.

You must appear for a hearing:

Where: OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal – 33 Beaver St, 19th Floor, New York, NY 10004
When: 11/21/2014 at 8:30 AM

At the hearing:

1. You may bring a lawyer or a representative authorized by the OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal. You may also bring witnesses and any evidence that supports your case.
2. If the judge finds you in violation of TLC Rule 59B-13(j)(1), you will be fined $200, and your license will be immediately suspended until you comply with the directive.
3. If you do not come to the hearing, OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal will find you guilty by default and impose a $200 fine and suspend your license until compliance.
4. If you want to change the date of the hearing, you must call OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal at least five (5) business days before the hearing date at (718)391-5718

I certify that a true copy of this summons was inserted by me in an envelope addressed to the named Respondent at the address noted on the Notice of Scheduled Hearing, which is the last mailing address filed with the commission listed in TAMIS, and deposited in the normal course of business, on the date below, in a box at the TLC Beaver Street facility which is labeled "agency mail", the contents of which are delivered to the TLC Mail Service the next business day. Based on a conversation with Nicholas Venezia, The Assistant Commissioner who oversees the mailroom, my understanding is that the practice of the TLC Mail Service is to place metered first class postage on the envelope and deposit the envelope in an official United States Postal Service receptacle no later than one (1) business day after receipt of the envelope by the TLC mail service.

PRINT NAME: Winters, Crystal SIGNATURE:

DATE: 10/28/2014

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Rodney Stiles - Director of Research & Evaluation
Policy & External Affairs Department
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004
212-676-1183

Weiter LLC
27-55 Jackson Avenue
Long Island City, NY 11101

October 9, 2014

RE: Directive for Electronic Dispatch Records

ATTN:

You are receiving this letter as a follow up to the directive sent September 26, 2014, requesting electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. TLC is extending the deadline for submission of electronic trip records from Thursday, October 9, 2014, to Friday, October 24, 2014. Please find below a copy of the original directive with the submission deadline updated.

Pursuant to Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) Rules § 59B-13(j)(1) and 59B-19(a)(1), you are directed to provide the TLC with a list of all trip record information for all dispatched trips occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Please include at a minimum, the following elements for each trip dispatched by your base:

- Date of trip
- Time of trip
- Passenger's pick up location
- Driver's For-Hire License number
- Vehicle's For-Hire License number

You are hereby directed to submit the above referenced trip records electronically by Friday, October 24, 2014.

You must submit all information described above. Failure to respond to this Directive may result in a summons for a violation of TLC Rule §59B-13(j), and if found guilty you may be fined $200 and your license may be suspended until you comply with this directive.

If you have questions, please contact Ben Kurland at research@tlc.nyc.gov or 212-676-1207.

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Raymond C. Scanlon - Deputy Commissioner
Uniformed Services Bureau
25-55 BQE West
Woodside, New York 11377
+1 718 391 5501 tel

SCHMECKEN LLC
27-55 JACKSON AVENUE
LIC, NY, 11101

Date: 10/28/2014
License:

Summons # FC0000334

The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission charges you with violating TLC Rule:

§59B-13(j)(1): Cooperate with the Commission
Penalty: $200 and Suspension until compliance

According to TLC records, on 10/9/2014 the Commission issued you the attached directive ordering you to provide electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Per Commission records, you failed to do so.

You must appear for a hearing:

Where: OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal – 33 Beaver St, 19th Floor, New York, NY 10004
When: 11/21/2014 at 9:30 AM

At the hearing:

1. You may bring a lawyer or a representative authorized by the OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal. You may also bring witnesses and any evidence that supports your case.
2. If the judge finds you in violation of TLC Rule 59B-13(j)(1), you will be fined $200, and your license will be immediately suspended until you comply with the directive.
3. If you do not come to the hearing, OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal will find you guilty by default and impose a $200 fine and suspend your license until compliance.
4. If you want to change the date of the hearing, you must call OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal at least five (5) business days before the hearing date at (718)391-5718

I certify that a true copy of this summons was inserted by me in an envelope addressed to the named Respondent at the address noted on the Notice of Scheduled Hearing, which is the last mailing address filed with the commission listed in TAMIS, and deposited in the normal course of business, on the date below, in a box at the TLC Beaver Street facility which is labeled "agency mail", the contents of which are delivered to the TLC Mail Service the next business day. Based on a conversation with Nicholas Venezia, The Assistant Commissioner who oversees the mailroom, my understanding is that the practice of the TLC Mail Service is to place metered first class postage on the envelope and deposit the envelope in an official United States Postal Service receptacle no later than one (1) business day after receipt of the envelope by the TLC mail service.

PRINT NAME: Winters, Crystal SIGNATURE:

DATE: 10/28/2014

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Rodney Stiles - Director of Research & Evaluation
Policy & External Affairs Department
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004
212-676-1183

Schmecken LLC
27-55 Jackson Avenue
Long Island City, NY 11101

October 9, 2014

RE: Directive for Electronic Dispatch Records

ATTN: [REDACTED]

You are receiving this letter as a follow up to the directive sent September 26, 2014, requesting electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. TLC is extending the deadline for submission of electronic trip records from Thursday, October 9, 2014, to Friday, October 24, 2014. Please find below a copy of the original directive with the submission deadline updated.

Pursuant to Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) Rules § 59B-13(j)(1) and 59B-19(a)(1), you are directed to provide the TLC with a list of all trip record information for all dispatched trips occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Please include at a minimum, the following elements for each trip dispatched by your base:

- Date of trip
- Time of trip
- Passenger's pick up location
- Driver's For-Hire License number
- Vehicle's For-Hire License number

You are hereby directed to submit the above referenced trip records electronically by Friday, October 24, 2014.

You must submit all information described above. Failure to respond to this Directive may result in a summons for a violation of TLC Rule §59B-13(j), and if found guilty you may be fined $200 and your license may be suspended until you comply with this directive.

If you have questions, please contact Ben Kurland at research@tlc.nyc.gov or 212-676-1207.

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Raymond C. Scanlon - Deputy Commissioner
Uniformed Services Bureau
25-55 BQE West
Woodside, New York 11377
+1 718 391 5501 tel

DANACH-NY,LLC
27-55 JACKSON AVENUE
LIC, NY, 11101

Date: 10/28/2014
License:

Summons # FC0000335

The New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission charges you with violating TLC Rule:

§59B-13(j)(1): Cooperate with the Commission
Penalty: $200 and Suspension until compliance

According to TLC records, on 10/9/2014 the Commission issued you the attached directive ordering you to provide electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Per Commission records, you failed to do so.

You must appear for a hearing:

Where: OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal - 33 Beaver St, 19th Floor, New York, NY 10004
When: 11/21/2014 at 10:00 AM

At the hearing:

1. You may bring a lawyer or a representative authorized by the OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal. You may also bring witnesses and any evidence that supports your case.
2. If the judge finds you in violation of TLC Rule 59B-13(j)(1), you will be fined $200, and your license will be immediately suspended until you comply with the directive.
3. If you do not come to the hearing, OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal will find you guilty by default and impose a $200 fine and suspend your license until compliance.
4. If you want to change the date of the hearing, you must call OATH Taxi and Limousine Tribunal at least five (5) business days before the hearing date at (718)391-5718

I certify that a true copy of this summons was inserted by me in an envelope addressed to the named Respondent at the address noted on the Notice of Scheduled Hearing, which is the last mailing address filed with the commission listed in TAMIS, and deposited in the normal course of business, on the date below, in a box at the TLC Beaver Street facility which is labeled "agency mail", the contents of which are delivered to the TLC Mail Service the next business day. Based on a conversation with Nicholas Venezia, The Assistant Commissioner who oversees the mailroom, my understanding is that the practice of the TLC Mail Service is to place metered first class postage on the envelope and deposit the envelope in an official United States Postal Service receptacle no later than one (1) business day after receipt of the envelope by the TLC mail service.

PRINT NAME: Winters, Crystal SIGNATURE:

DATE: 10/28/2014

Meera Joshi - Commissioner
Rodney Stiles - Director of Research & Evaluation
Policy & External Affairs Department
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004
212-676-1183

Danach-NY LLC
27-55 Jackson Avenue
Long Island City, NY 11101

October 9, 2014

RE: Directive for Electronic Dispatch Records

ATTN: [REDACTED]

You are receiving this letter as a follow up to the directive sent September 26, 2014, requesting electronic trip record information for all trips dispatched through your base occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. TLC is extending the deadline for submission of electronic trip records from Thursday, October 9, 2014, to Friday, October 24, 2014. Please find below a copy of the original directive with the submission deadline updated.

Pursuant to Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) Rules § 59B-13(j)(1) and 59B-19(a)(1), you are directed to provide the TLC with a list of all trip record information for all dispatched trips occurring between April 1, 2014 and September 30, 2014. Please include at a minimum, the following elements for each trip dispatched by your base:

- Date of trip
- Time of trip
- Passenger's pick up location
- Driver's For-Hire License number
- Vehicle's For-Hire License number

You are hereby directed to submit the above referenced trip records electronically by Friday, October 24, 2014.

You must submit all information described above. Failure to respond to this Directive may result in a summons for a violation of TLC Rule §59B-13(j), and if found guilty you may be fined $200 and your license may be suspended until you comply with this directive.

If you have questions, please contact Ben Kurland at research@tlc.nyc.gov or 212-676-1207.

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: plouffe@uber.com
Subject: Re: TLC Summons and Suspension of Uber License
Date: Monday, November 17, 2014 5:04:14 PM

---

I'm actually in NYC right now Peter, happy to chat by phone or in person tonight.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Nov 17, 2014 at 5:01 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You guys available for a call today or tomorrow?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, November 12, 2014 10:47 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: David Plouffe <plouffe@uber.com>
Subject: TLC Summons and Suspension of Uber License

Peter, today we received formal notice from TLC saying our license to operate will be suspended next Friday if we don't hand over the volumes of data they've demanded. They still haven't guaranteed confidentiality, they still haven't justified why they need this data given our history of cooperating when actual cause is shown, and they still haven't explained how this doesn't threaten the privacy of millions of New Yorkers, except "well taxi does it," which remains a baffling response.

I continue to be hopeful that cooler heads can prevail and a reasonable solution can be found if given the opportunity.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: plouffe@uber.com
Subject: Re: TLC Summons and Suspension of Uber License
Date: Monday, November 17, 2014 7:12:53 PM

---

Tried giving you a ring Peter. Let me know when you're free.

On Monday, November 17, 2014, Corey Owens <corey@uber.com> wrote:
I'm actually in NYC right now Peter, happy to chat by phone or in person tonight.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

On Mon, Nov 17, 2014 at 5:01 PM, Ragone, Peter <pragone@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You guys available for a call today or tomorrow?

---

From: Corey Owens mailto:[corey@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, November 12, 2014 10:47 AM
To: Ragone, Peter
Cc: David Plouffe <plouffe@uber.com>
Subject: TLC Summons and Suspension of Uber License

Peter, today we received formal notice from TLC saying our license to operate will be suspended next Friday if we don't hand over the volumes of data they've demanded. They still haven't guaranteed confidentiality, they still haven't justified why they need this data given our history of cooperating when actual cause is shown, and they still haven't explained how this doesn't threaten the privacy of millions of New Yorkers, except "well taxi does it," which remains a baffling response.

I continue to be hopeful that cooler heads can prevail and a reasonable solution can be found if given the opportunity.

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

From: Corey Owens
To: Ragone, Peter; Joshi, Meera \(TLC\)
Subject: Letters to TLC RE Privacy
Date: Wednesday, November 19, 2014 1:36:39 PM
Attachments: Letter re Privacy Concerns with Proposed Rule Change to §59B-19.docx
CDT Letter to NYC TLC.pdf

---

Peter and Meera,

Please find attached, in case you haven't seen, letters from privacy and civil liberties groups calling for delay of the vote tomorrow to allow for further discussion and consideration of the complex data issues at play.

Corey

--

corey owens | public policy @ uber technologies | +1-415-637-9373 | @Uber_PubPolicy

November 19, 2014

Taxi and Limousine Commission
Office of Legal Affairs
33 Beaver Street – 22nd Floor
New York, New York 10004
VIA EMAIL to tlcrules@tlc.nyc.gov

Re: Privacy Concerns with Proposed Rule Change to §59B-19

Dear Commission:

It has come to our attention that the Commission intends to vote later this week on a proposed amendment to §59B-19 of the Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) rules. Under the current rule, all For Hire Vehicle Base Owners must maintain records of the date, time, and location of the passenger to be picked up, as well as the driver's For Hire License number for each trip dispatched. Base Owners are required to make such records available for inspection by the TLC upon request. These rules enable the TLC to access specific records as needed for protecting rider safety.

The proposed change, however, would require Base Owners not only to maintain such records for TLC inspection, but to provide all such records to the TLC routinely regardless of need. This proposal is not a run-of-the-mill rule change. The result is a consolidation of vast amounts of information about the private trip records of millions of passengers, with significant implications for their Fourth Amendment rights. The proposed change provides no guidance regarding the format in which the data must be submitted or the frequency with which it must be submitted, leaving such questions to be "prescribed by the Commission." There are no safeguards in place for protecting the information or ensuring that only the narrowest set of information needed is collected. Previous news reports demonstrate how the compilation of such vast databases by the TLC can reveal very private geolocation information about who is traveling and precisely when and where.<sup>1</sup>

Given the significance of this proposed rule change for the privacy and safety of millions of riders, we urge the Commission to engage in a more in-depth consultative process with privacy organizations and the public about how to achieve the Commission's goals without endangering rider privacy and safety before bringing the proposed change to a vote. A rule change of such significance deserves sufficient forethought and discussion.

Sincerely,

---

<sup>1</sup> See, e.g., <http://gawker.com/the-public-nyc-taxicab-database-that-accidentally-track-1646724546>.

Taxi and Limousine Commission

November 19, 2014

Page 2

American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee

Electronic Frontier Foundation

Center for Technology and Democracy

The Constitution Project

Constitutional Alliance

Defending Dissent Foundation

KEEPING THE INTERNET
OPEN • INNOVATIVE • FREE

www.cdt.org

1634 Eye Street, NW
Suite 1100
Washington, DC 20006

November 19, 2014

Taxi and Limousine Commission
Office of Legal Affairs
33 Beaver Street – 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004

To Whom It May Concern:

The Center for Democracy & Technology (CDT) writes regarding the proposed amendments to the New York Taxi and Limousine Commission's (TLC) rules governing For-Hire Vehicles (FHVs) and their bases. While the hearing on these rules has already taken place, we urge the TLC to act deliberately in promulgating new rules and to take steps, detailed below, to protect individual privacy when collecting data about vehicles, passengers, and rides.

The TLC states that these changes are designed to make it easier to identify vehicles to protect consumers and enforce safety, as well as to protect drivers in the case of Workers Compensation claims. We agree that these goals are important. However, while the proposed changes to the rules may effectuate those goals, they also create a host of other issues that may imperil individual privacy. A key new requirement in the proposed rules would mandate that records be regularly transmitted to the TLC. These records must contain the date, time, and location of a passenger pickup; the driver's license number; the vehicle's license number, and the TLC license number of the base that dispatched the vehicle and the base affiliated with the vehicle. Previously, those records were available for TLC inspection, but were not required to be transmitted to the TLC on an ongoing basis.

The data contained in these records contains personal information that may identify individual drivers and passengers and, over time, could be used to track individuals and their movements with a high level of accuracy. While it is clear that the intention for these modifications is not to create such dossiers, any bulk collection and storage of personal data increases the likelihood that data may be misused or accessed without authorization. It is for this reason that CDT has consistently advocated that entities that collect information do so in restricted ways, for specifically delineated purposes, rather than collect massive amounts of data for potential, unspecified future uses. In this case, while the TLC's intentions of protecting consumers and drivers are laudable, the data collection requirements do not meet this standard.

While one data point in isolation may not provide much detail about one person, when combined over time data sets can provide a great deal of information about individuals. At present, the TLC is only requiring base to transmit information regarding the pickup location of passengers. While this type of collection does not provide much information about passengers, it does provide a detailed overview of driver movements during a shift, which affects their privacy as employees.

Additionally, should the TLC expand these requirements — for example, by requiring the dropoff location to also be transmitted — much more detailed profiles of individual passengers could be created, implicating their privacy interests. For example, a pick up early in the morning at a residential address is a clear indication of where someone lives – allowing for relative ease in linking that trip to a particular person. If at a later date the TLC chooses to collect more data concerning individual trips, it would dramatically increase the possible privacy risks. Recent news stories have highlighted the possibility of identifying individuals and their movements by using data collected from taxis in New York,<sup>1</sup> emphasizing the need for caution in this area, and for the TLC to think proactively about how to protect the privacy of the data it collects through strong security measures.

Rather than constantly transmit data back to the TLC — which would make it easier for unauthorized third parties to access that data — dispatchers should instead be required to maintain databases (using strong security measures such as encryption) for access upon request or necessity. By doing so, the TLC would necessarily limit the scope of its data collection, ensuring that it would be less likely to suffer a catastrophic data breach and reducing the governmental costs of maintaining its own security program. Requiring the dispatchers to maintain these records (and mandating security standards) would still allow the TLC to protect consumers and drivers, in the event of an accident or when needed for an investigation, and access records expeditiously, without requiring the massive transmission of individual data.

Should the TLC decide to proceed with the proposed regulations, we would recommend it mandate robust security standards, including but not limited to encryption, when data is transmitted from dispatchers to the TLC. This would reduce the likelihood of data breach. The TLC should also only retain data for a limited period, which would limit the repercussions from a breach. Given the seriousness of these concerns and the complex policy questions raised by the proposed changes, we hope that the TLC chooses to extend the review process to allow for a more thorough discussion among stakeholders with interests and expertise in this area. However, should the original timetable stand, we hope that the TLC takes the above points into account when revising its regulations. Should you have any further questions, please feel free to contact CDT at 202.637.9800.

---

<sup>1</sup> <http://research.neustar.biz/2014/09/15/riding-with-the-stars-passenger-privacy-in-the-nyc-taxicab-dataset/>

Regards,

Chris Calabrese
Senior Policy Director

Justin Brookman
Director, Consumer Privacy Project

G.S. Hans
Policy Counsel

From: Team Uber NYC
To: Monzon, Clark Nikko
Subject: 'Tis the season for holiday parties and FREE Uber rides!
Date: Monday, December 01, 2014 4:12:08 PM

Hi Victor,

The holidays are just around the corner and we all know what that means—party season has begun! Whether you're throwing an ugly sweater party, or planning a swanky soiree for your office, we've got you covered with safe, reliable, FREE rides for your guests.

Request FREE rides for your guests here

Not the party planner? Feel free to forward this email along to the appropriate person!

Have questions? Send us a note to SupportNY@uber.com.

Happy Holidays!
Team Uber NYC

Follow Us On:

Uber Technologies, Inc. | Unsubscribe
Uber Technologies Inc. 706 Mission Street San Francisco, CA 94102 USA

From: Raquel Rosenberg
To: digital@media.nyc.gov
Subject: Uber NYC Inquiry
Date: Friday, December 19, 2014 2:52:28 PM

---

Hi Made in NY Team,

My name is Raquel, and I'm a Marketing Manager here at Uber NYC with a focus on small, local business and tech companies.

I'm writing to see how Uber's team might get involved with Made In NYC and the different opportunities that come with being affiliated with the organization.

It would be great for us to set up a time to chat to discuss a bit further. Please let me know what works best for your team.

I look forward to speaking soon! Happy Holidays!

Best,
Raquel

--

Raquel Rosenberg

Marketing Manager, New York

e: raquel@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Josh Mohrer
To: Joshi, Meera \(TLC\); Williams, Dominic; Ragone, Peter
Cc: Nicole Benincasa; Michael Allegretti
Subject: How can Uber help?
Date: Monday, January 26, 2015 10:47:18 AM

---

Hi Meera,

I wanted to send a quick note before the storm gets underway and let you know that my colleagues and I at Uber stand ready to assist you and the City. For example, I can send messages to Uber partners instructing them to stay off the roads during clean up, or asking them to focus on certain areas with otherwise limited transportation options during the storm.

Feel free to call me at any time. My cell is [REDACTED]

Stay safe,
Josh

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: David Plouffe for Uber
To: Monzon, Clark Nikko
Subject: Choice is a Powerful Thing
Date: Thursday, January 29, 2015 9:41:56 AM

Victor,

Ridesharing helps make cities safer. A new study we conducted with Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) shows just how powerful choice can be: Since we launched uberX in California, drunk-driving crashes decreased by 60 per month for drivers under 30. That's 1,800 crashes likely prevented over the past 2 ½ years.

When empowered with more safe, reliable and affordable transportation options like Uber, people are making better, smarter choices that are making our roads safer for everyone. Learn more on our blog.

To promote safe rides home during the weekend of the Big Game, Uber will donate $1 to MADD for every trip taken on Sunday, February 1, 2015 between 3:00 PM and 12:00 AM ET when riders enter the promo code THINKANDRIDE.

Uber and MADD will keep working to ensure a safe ride is always within reach and drunk driving crashes become a thing of the past.

Sincerely,
David Plouffe
SVP of Policy & Strategy, Uber

ENCOURAGE FRIENDS TO #THINKANDRIDE

Uber Technologies Inc.
1455 Market Street San Francisco, CA 94103

Get Help   Unsubscribe

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Walzak, Phil
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Uber Letter to TLC
Date: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 7:02:24 PM
Attachments: ATT00001.htm

---

Phil,

We haven't met, but my colleague at Uber, Matt Wing, passed along your email address. I run public policy for Uber in NYC.

We wanted to give you a heads-up about the attached letter that was sent to the TLC earlier today. We thought it would be appreciated.

Feel free to reach back to either of us if you want to discuss.

Best,

Michael

Michael Allegretti
Uber Technologies, Inc.

allegretti@uber.com

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Per our convo
Date: Thursday, February 26, 2015 4:19:43 PM
Attachments: 2015.02.25 - Letter to TLC.pdf

---

Hey man,

per our convo the letter is attached.

We believe the guy who foiled for this data has a website which posts tons of cab data and literally says "Happy Hacking" hence our concerns.

My policy counterpoint also flagged for Phil - but I wanted to raise with you since TLC is in your bucket.

Forgot to ask, you doing drinks on friday?

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com>
Date: Wed, Feb 25, 2015 at 7:02 PM
Subject: Uber Letter to TLC
To: "PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov" <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Cc: Matthew Wing <matt.wing@uber.com>

Phil,

We haven't met, but my colleague at Uber, Matt Wing, passed along your email address. I run public policy for Uber in NYC.

We wanted to give you a heads-up about the attached letter that was sent to the TLC earlier today. We thought it would be appreciated.

Feel free to reach back to either of us if you want to discuss.

Best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

CONFIDENTIAL

February 25, 2015

VIA ELECTRONIC MAIL

Chris Wilson
Deputy Commissioner, Legal Affairs/General Counsel
Taxi & Limousine Commission (TLC), Office of Legal Counsel
33 Beaver Street, 22nd Floor
New York, NY 10004

RE: *New York Public Officers Law (“FOIL”) Request for Trip Data

Dear Chris:

Thank you for your letter dated February 4, 2015, informing my clients, Weiter LLC, Hinter LLC, Schmecken LLC, Danach-NY, LLC, and Unter LLC (collectively, “Respondents”), of a FOIL request for “[a]ll FHV trip data from April 2014 through Mid-September 2014.” That request, dated January 6, 2015, is signed by somebody named Christopher Whong, who left blank spaces on the FOIL request form for name, address, telephone number, and email address. We have concerns about this FOIL request.

First, although your letter is dated February 4, 2015—a month after the date of the FOIL request—my clients did not receive it via U.S. mail until February 23, 2015. Given the vagaries of snail mail, my clients respectfully submit that correspondence sent to us through electronic mail in addition to U.S. mail will allow them to be in a better position to respond most expeditiously to any requests you might have.

Second, as you know, the trip data sought is highly sensitive. Respondents provided the data to the TLC under protest, and specifically informed the TLC that public disclosure of the data would inflict substantial injury on their business and would also constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. We further told the TLC that for these reasons, the trip data is exempt from disclosure, pursuant to Public Officers Law §§ 87(2)(b) and (d).

Third, inasmuch as Respondents complied with Public Officers Law § 89(5)(a) and made an appropriate request that the trip data be exempted from disclosure, Section 89(5)(a)(3) requires that the TLC exempt the materials from disclosure and segregate them for 15 days to rule on the request. Under the statute, we believe the TLC must consider our request.

Chris Wilson
February 25, 2015
Page 2

Fourth, your letter suggests that you are not obligated to inform Respondents of any FOIL requests or that the TLC has discretion to grant a request and make disclosures without notifying Respondents. Yet the statute provides that when a request is made of an excepted record, the TLC “shall”—a word of mandate—“inform the person who requested the exception” (i.e., Respondents) and “permit” that party to state the reasons that non-disclosure is justified. Public Officers Law § 89(5)(b)(1)-(2). The TLC must rule on this request within seven days, id. at (b)(3), and this ruling is appealable before any disclosure can be made, id. at (5)(c) & (d).

In other words, FOIL requires that whenever a requester makes a FOIL request for excepted records or records subject to a claim for exception, the TLC must alert us and permit us—before complying with any request for disclosure—to submit a written statement of the necessity for granting the exception. Respondents specifically wish to invoke their rights pursuant to § 89(5), as is their legal right under the statute.

Fifth, to this end, and pursuant to Public Officers Law § 89(5)(b)(2), please allow this letter to serve as Respondents’ written statement of the necessity of granting their request for exception for the trip data submitted and now demanded in Christopher Whong’s FOIL request. These records constitute a virtual catalog of Respondents’ entire business in New York City. They document their total volume of ride requests. They allow competitors to map out the boroughs that see the most demand for Respondents’ services. They let rivals chart the times of day when rides are sought or the days on which demand swells. For someone interested in data analysis—like this semi-anonymous FOIL requestor—the data is an extensive portrait of commercially secret data. We hope you can agree that it is no less sensitive than complete sales figures are to a merchant. Disclosure would substantially injure Respondents’ commercial position.

While Christopher Whong studiously avoids giving any identifying or contact information in his request, we also note that there is a website at the URL chriswhong.com, which publicly posts massive quantities of trip data and states, “Happy hacking!” If the FOIL requester and the website operator are one and the same, we can infer that if the TLC grants Christopher Whong’s request, he will similar post all of it and invite public “hacking,” which will cause irreparable harm to Respondents’ business.

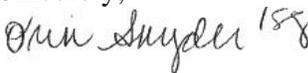

In summary, FOIL not only protects these records, it singles them for special procedures of notice and appeal. Even if the TLC disagrees with our position on the exceptions, the statute provides us with avenues of appeal. Accordingly, we believe that the TLC must keep the excepted records at issue confidential until these rights are exhausted.

GIBSON DUNN

Chris Wilson
February 25, 2015
Page 3

Please call me if you would like to discuss. We thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Orin Snyder" followed by a stylized flourish.

Orin Snyder

cc: Sherry Cohen, Assistant Commissioner of TLC USB Prosecution

From: Tyler, Kaitlin
To: "Jenny Avallon"; Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 9:53:33 AM

---

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon [mailto:javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,
Jenny

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!
Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,
Jenny

_____

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!
Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn
*Community Engagement
Specialist*
kmcglynn@tnc.org
\(212\) 997-6408997-6408) (Phone)
\(212\) 997-8451997-8451) (Fax)
nature.org

The Nature Conservancy
New York City Office
322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

Jenny Avallon
Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC
e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon
Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC
e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Matthew Wing
To: Walzak, Phil
Cc: Michael Allegretti
Subject: Re: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 1:06:22 PM
Attachments: MayorBillDeBlasioCollaboration.docx
MayorBillDeBlasioCollaboration.docx

---

Hey Phil,

Following up on this exchange - we at Uber NYC spent some time putting together ideas on how we could collaborate with City Hall on several different administration priorities.

We would love a chance to bring our team in to discuss these ideas with members of the administration as well as hear any other thoughts on ways we can support the Mayor's agenda.

A copy of the plan - is attached and below and I am ccing my colleague Michael Allegretti who put it all together.

Let us know if there is a convenient day sometime in the near future to talk.

Thanks
Matt

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;

- Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

- Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;
- Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and
- Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

On Fri, Feb 13, 2015 at 9:46 PM, Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com> wrote:

No worries on the reply. I can only imagine how crazy your life is.

My rec would be a meeting with whomever you think is best at city hall or the agency world (dot etc).

We can come to the table with a bunch of ideas focused on transportation and tech. If you want me to put together a brief memo/outline first on potential initiatives so you have a better sense of who to include I am happy to do so.

Hope you get some rest this weekend

Sent from my iPhone

On Feb 13, 2015, at 10:25 PM, Walzak, Phil <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey man

Apologies for tardy reply

Thanks for your msg, and congrats on the Uber gig - I know Emil Michael a bit, his sister Nancy is fmr girlfriend and really good friend.

Yes wud love to find ways to do more on tech and vision zero, all good stuff...what's best way to proceed - welcome thoughts, and will look at how to integrate on tech adv board

Thanks again, look fwd to talking more

---

From: Matthew Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, February 12, 2015 01:28 PM
To: Walzak, Phil
Subject: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board

Hi Phil,

This is Matt Wing (formerly from the Cuomo shop) - now with Uber.

First congrats on your promotion! While I'm sure Peter is a big loss, the Mayor is lucky to have you ready to step into his shoes. If you guys are still looking for a press secretary, there were a couple of folks who were interested in taking that role with Cuomo that might make good candidates for you since John Kelly is now in that role with him.

Second, we at Uber noticed the Mayor's announcement today of an advisory board for the Tech Talent Pipeline which looks great. We would love to be a part of this or any other similar efforts by the City to grow the tech industry/community in New York especially since a lot of companies we know and work with were included. I don't know if it's already too late, but I wanted to put it out there that if you were interested we would love to discuss joining the board.

Also please keep us in mind for any future efforts on this or any other area we can be helpful. We have some ideas, for example, of how we could partner with DOT in support of Vision Zero given our presence on the road and the real time info we get.

All the best,
Matt Wing

Who's who of Silicon Alley turn out for de Blasio

The first meeting of the city's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is the biggest collection yet of private tech sector influence since Bill de Blasio took over City Hall.

ARTICLE

COMMENTS

BY THORNTON MCENERY

FEBRUARY 12, 2015 10:45 A.M.

Print

Email

Reprints

Comment

SHARE

If things seem quiet on Silicon Alley Thursday morning, that might be because NYC tech's biggest names are all in one room at the Empire State Building.

Mayor Bill de Blasio and his Tech Talent Pipeline director, Kristen Titus, are convening the first meeting of the initiative's advisory board, a roster of 25 executives who represent a collective workforce of 40,000 people in the New York city innovation economy. The meeting is the biggest signal yet that the mayor's $10 million public-private partnership is bringing more New Yorkers into the tech economy by creating a dialogue between Silicon Alley's strongest players and City Hall policy makers.

"Our goal with this group is to define the job needs in their sector and find ways to train people to fill those needs," said Ms. Titus. "These people have direct, hands-on experience with this world."

And what big hands they have. Crain's has obtained a list of the advisory board, which reads like a who's who of the New York city tech ecosystem. In addition to investors extraordinaire Fred Wilson and Kevin Ryan, the board includes entrepreneurs like Etsy's Chad Dickerson, Shutterstock's Jon Oringer and Facebook co-founder/New Republic publisher Chris Hughes. The roster of advisers also lists Alley insiders like Google's William Floyd and investor/entrepreneur David Tisch.

The collective volume of private-sector influence on the advisory board is something that was commonplace under the Bloomberg administration, but is striking for Mr. de Blasio and his team, who have had an uneasy relationship with Silicon Alley, and even some members of the Tech Talent Pipeline board.

But that is where Ms. Titus comes in. As someone who has shifted between the private and public sectors (having worked at one point for Mr. Hughes) she has been charged with bringing this group together. "We're terribly excited to have this caliber around the table," she said. "Getting all of these people in one room will be a very powerful moment."

That room is in the New York offices of LinkedIn, which will not only play host to the meeting but will also release a report on the city's tech economy. That data reportedly shows that one in every five New York city businesses employs tech talent, with a variety of sectors growing their share of tech jobs.

"Home for us is definitely Silicon Valley, but it's also New York," said LinkedIn co-founder Allen Blue. "The people here today really speak to the mayor's commitment to this project. We want to do whatever we can to help fire up this effort."

LinkedIn's findings are sure to be a topic of conversation at the closed-press event, but the overall idea will be leveraging these new relationships to create more hometown tech talent and funnel it directly to Silicon Alley.

The full list of the Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is below:

- Allen Blue, Co-Founder, LinkedIn
- Shankar Arumugavelu, CIO, Verizon Wireless
- Judy Spitz, CIO, Verizon
- Fred Wilson, Partner, Union Square Ventures
- Kevin Ryan, Chairman, Gilt Groupe; Founder, MongoDB, Business Insider, Zola
- Don Duet, Co-Head of Technology, Goldman Sachs
- Serkan Piantino, Head of Facebook New York
- Chad Dickerson, CEO, Etsy
- Jon Oringer, CEO, Shutterstock
- Yancey Strickler, CEO, Kickstarter
- Charles Phillips, CEO, Infor
- William Floyd, Head of External Affairs, Google NY
- Marissa Shorenstein, President, AT&T New York
- Oliver Kharraz, Founder & President, ZocDoc
- Max Haot, CEO, Livestream
- David Fullerton, VP of Engineering, Stack Overflow
- Eliot Horowitz, Co-Founder and CTO, MongoDB
- Jon Williams, Co-founder, CTO Club
- John Paul Farmer, Director of Tech & Civic Innovation, Microsoft NY
- Andrew Pile, CTO, Vimeo
- David Tisch, Co-founder, Techstars; Head of Startup Studio, Cornell Tech; Managing Partner, BoxGroup
- Chris Hughes, Co-Founder, Facebook; Publisher, The New Republic
- Ali Marano, Head of Technology and Social Good, JP Morgan
- Brandon Atkinson, Chief People Person, AppNexus
- Jocelyn Leavitt, Co-Founder and CEO, Hopscotch

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;
- Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

- Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;
- Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and
- Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;
- Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes

pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

- Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;
- Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and
- Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

From: Matthew Wing
To: Wolfe, Emma
Subject: Fwd: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 1:08:49 PM
Attachments: MayorBillDeBlasioCollaboration.docx

---

Hey Emma,

I sent in this plan to Phil as a follow up to a back and forth we had regarding the Mayor's tech talent pipeline.

Wanted to pass on to you as well since we were talking about this the other week. The Uber folks here are dying to find some ways to help support the Mayor's agenda and have a lot of resources to do meaningful stuff.

If you have any thoughts/advice on how we can get a meeting on the books, I would greatly appreciate it.

Thanks
Matt

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Matthew Wing <matt.wing@uber.com>
Date: Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 1:05 PM
Subject: Re: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
To: "Walzak, Phil" <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Cc: Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com>

Hey Phil,

Following up on this exchange - we at Uber NYC spent some time putting together ideas on how we could collaborate with City Hall on several different administration priorities.

We would love a chance to bring our team in to discuss these ideas with members of the administration as well as hear any other thoughts on ways we can support the Mayor's agenda.

A copy of the plan - is attached and below and I am ccing my colleague Michael Allegretti who put it all together.

Let us know if there is a convenient day sometime in the near future to talk.

Thanks
Matt

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;
- Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

- Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;

- Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and
- Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

On Fri, Feb 13, 2015 at 9:46 PM, Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com> wrote:

No worries on the reply. I can only imagine how crazy your life is.

My rec would be a meeting with whomever you think is best at city hall or the agency world (dot etc).

We can come to the table with a bunch of ideas focused on transportation and tech. If you want me to put together a brief memo/outline first on potential initiatives so you have a better sense of who to include I am happy to do so.

Hope you get some rest this weekend

Sent from my iPhone

On Feb 13, 2015, at 10:25 PM, Walzak, Phil <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey man

Apologies for tardy reply

Thanks for your msg, and congrats on the Uber gig - I know Emil Michael a bit, his sister Nancy is fmr girlfriend and really good friend.

Yes wud love to find ways to do more on tech and vision zero, all good stuff...what's best way to proceed - welcome thoughts, and will look at how to integrate on tech adv board

Thanks again, look fwd to talking more

---

From: Matthew Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]

Sent: Thursday, February 12, 2015 01:28 PM

To: Walzak, Phil

Subject: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board

Hi Phil,

This is Matt Wing (formerly from the Cuomo shop) - now with Uber.

First congrats on your promotion! While Im sure Peter is a big loss, the Mayor is lucky to have you ready to step into his shoes. If you guys are still looking for a press secretary, there were a couple of folks who were interested in taking that role with Cuomo that might make good candidates for you since John Kelly is now in that role with him.

Second, we at Uber noticed the Mayor's announcement today of an advisory board for the Tech Talent Pipeline which looks great. We would love to be a part of this or any other similar efforts by the City to grow the tech industry/community in New York especially since a lot of companies we know and work with were included. I don't know if its already too late, but I wanted to put it out there that if you were interested we would love to discuss joining the board.

Also please keep us in mind for any future efforts on this or any other area we can be helpful. We have some ideas, for example, of how we could partner with DOT in support of Vision Zero given our presence on the road and the real time info we get.

All the best,
Matt Wing

Who's who of Silicon Alley turn out for de Blasio

The first meeting of the city's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is the biggest collection yet of private tech sector influence since Bill de Blasio took over City Hall.

ARTICLECOMMENTS

BY THORNTON MCENERY

FEBRUARY 12, 2015 10:45 A.M.

PrintEmailReprintsCommentSHARE

If things seem quiet on Silicon Alley Thursday morning, that might be because NYC tech's biggest names are all in one room at the Empire State Building.

Mayor Bill de Blasio and his Tech Talent Pipeline director, Kristen Titus, are convening the first meeting of the initiative's advisory board, a roster of 25 executives who represent a collective workforce of 40,000 people in the New York city innovation economy. The meeting is the biggest signal yet that the mayor's $10 million public-private partnership is bringing more New Yorkers into the tech economy by creating a dialogue between Silicon Alley's strongest players and City Hall policy makers.

"Our goal with this group is to define the job needs in their sector and find ways to train people to fill those needs," said Ms. Titus. "These people have direct, hands-on experience with this world."

And what big hands they have. Crain's has obtained a list of the advisory board, which reads like a who's who of the New York city tech ecosystem. In addition to investors extraordinaire Fred Wilson and Kevin Ryan, the board includes entrepreneurs like Etsy's Chad Dickerson, Shutterstock's Jon Oringer and Facebook co-founder/New Republic publisher Chris Hughes. The roster of advisers also lists Alley insiders like Google's William Floyd and investor/entrepreneur David Tisch.

The collective volume of private-sector influence on the advisory board is something that was commonplace under the Bloomberg administration, but is striking for Mr. de Blasio and his team, who have had an uneasy relationship with Silicon Alley, and even some members of the Tech Talent Pipeline board.

But that is where Ms. Titus comes in. As someone who has shifted between the private and public sectors (having worked at one point for Mr. Hughes) she has been charged with bringing this group together. "We're terribly excited to have this caliber around the table," she said. "Getting all of these people in one room will be a very powerful moment."

That room is in the New York offices of LinkedIn, which will not only play host to the meeting but will also release a report on the city's tech economy. That data reportedly shows that one in every five New York city businesses employs tech talent, with a variety of sectors growing their share of tech jobs.

"Home for us is definitely Silicon Valley, but it's also New York," said LinkedIn co-founder Allen Blue. "The people here today really speak to the mayor's commitment to this project. We want to do whatever we can to help fire up this effort."

LinkedIn's findings are sure to be a topic of conversation at the closed-press event, but the overall idea will be leveraging these new relationships to create more hometown tech talent and funnel it directly to Silicon Alley.

The full list of the Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is below:

- Allen Blue, Co-Founder, LinkedIn
- Shankar Arumugavelu, CIO, Verizon Wireless
- Judy Spitz, CIO, Verizon
- Fred Wilson, Partner, Union Square Ventures
- Kevin Ryan, Chairman, Gilt Groupe; Founder, MongoDB, Business Insider, Zola
- Don Duet, Co-Head of Technology, Goldman Sachs
- Serkan Piantino, Head of Facebook New York
- Chad Dickerson, CEO, Etsy
- Jon Oringer, CEO, Shutterstock
- Yancey Strickler, CEO, Kickstarter
- Charles Phillips, CEO, Infor
- William Floyd, Head of External Affairs, Google NY
- Marissa Shorenstein, President, AT&T New York
- Oliver Kharraz, Founder & President, ZocDoc
- Max Haot, CEO, Livestream
- David Fullerton, VP of Engineering, Stack Overflow
- Eliot Horowitz, Co-Founder and CTO, MongoDB

- Jon Williams, Co-founder, CTO Club
- John Paul Farmer, Director of Tech & Civic Innovation, Microsoft NY
- Andrew Pile, CTO, Vimeo
- David Tisch, Co-founder, Techstars; Head of Startup Studio, Cornell Tech; Managing Partner, BoxGroup
- Chris Hughes, Co-Founder, Facebook; Publisher, The New Republic
- Ali Marano, Head of Technology and Social Good, JP Morgan
- Brandon Atkinson, Chief People Person, AppNexus
- Jocelyn Leavitt, Co-Founder and CEO, Hopscotch

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;
- Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes

pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

- Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;
- Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and
- Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

From: Jenny Avallon
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56:12 PM

---

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,

Jenny

[Redacted signature]

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!

Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,

Jenny

[Redacted signature]

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!

Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn

Community Engagement

Specialist

kmcglynn@tnc.org

\(212\) 997-6408997-6408) (Phone)

\(212\) 997-8451997-8451) (Fax)

nature.org

The Nature Conservancy

New York City Office

322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Tyler, Kaitlin
To: "Jenny Avallon"
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:23:52 PM

---

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon [mailto:javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,
Jenny

_____

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,
Jenny

_____

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!
Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM

To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,
Jenny

_____

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!
Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn
*Community Engagement
Specialist*
kmcglynn@tnc.org
\(212\) 997-6408 (Phone)
\(212\) 997-8451 (Fax)
nature.org

The Nature Conservancy
New York City Office
322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Jenny Avallon
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:39:59 PM

---

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,

Jenny

_____

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,

Jenny

[Redacted]

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!

Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,

Jenny

_____

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!

Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn

Community Engagement

Specialist

kmcglynn@tnc.org

\(212\) 997-6408997-6408) (Phone)

\(212\) 997-8451997-8451) (Fax)

nature.org

The Nature Conservancy
New York City Office

322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Tyler, Kaitlin
To: "Jenny Avallon"
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, February 27, 2015 4:11:48 PM

---

You too!

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:40 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,
Jenny

_____

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,
Jenny

_____

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,
Jenny

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!
Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,
Jenny

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!
Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn
*Community Engagement
Specialist*
kmcglynn@tnc.org
(212) 997-6408 (Phone)
(212) 997-8451 (Fax)
nature.org

The Nature Conservancy
New York City Office
322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

Jenny Avallon
Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC
e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon
Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC
e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Wolfe, Emma
To: "Matthew Wing"
Cc: DeLoach, Michael; Carrion, Marco A.
Subject: RE: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
Date: Sunday, March 01, 2015 6:48:38 PM

---

Thanks matt

We'll run the traps over here and think about opportunities

From: Matthew Wing [mailto:matt.wing@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 1:08 PM
To: Wolfe, Emma
Subject: Fwd: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board

Hey Emma,

I sent in this plan to Phil as a follow up to a back and forth we had regarding the Mayor's tech talent pipeline.

Wanted to pass on to you as well since we were talking about this the other week. The Uber folks here are dying to find some ways to help support the Mayor's agenda and have a lot of resources to do meaningful stuff.

If you have any thoughts/advice on how we can get a meeting on the books, I would greatly appreciate it.

Thanks
Matt

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Matthew Wing <matt.wing@uber.com>
Date: Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 1:05 PM
Subject: Re: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
To: "Walzak, Phil" <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Cc: Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com>

Hey Phil,

Following up on this exchange - we at Uber NYC spent some time putting together ideas on how we could collaborate with City Hall on several different administration priorities.

We would love a chance to bring our team in to discuss these ideas with members of the administration as well as hear any other thoughts on ways we can support the Mayor's agenda.

A copy of the plan - is attached and below and I am ccing my colleague Michael Allegretti who put it all together.

Let us know if there is a convenient day sometime in the near future to talk.

Thanks
Matt

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;
- Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

- Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;
- Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and
- Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

On Fri, Feb 13, 2015 at 9:46 PM, Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com> wrote:
No worries on the reply. I can only imagine how crazy your life is.

My rec would be a meeting with whomever you think is best at city hall or the agency world (dot etc).

We can come to the table with a bunch of ideas focused on transportation and tech. If you want me to put together a brief memo/outline first on potential initiatives so you have a better sense of who to include I am happy to do so.

Hope you get some rest this weekend

Sent from my iPhone

On Feb 13, 2015, at 10:25 PM, Walzak, Phil <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey man

Apologies for tardy reply

Thanks for your msg, and congrats on the Uber gig - I know Emil Michael a bit, his sister

Nancy is fmr girlfriend and really good friend.

Yes wud love to find ways to do more on tech and vision zero, all good stuff...what's best way to proceed - welcome thoughts, and will look at how to integrate on tech adv board

Thanks again, look fwd to talking more

---

From: Matthew Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, February 12, 2015 01:28 PM
To: Walzak, Phil
Subject: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board

Hi Phil,

This is Matt Wing (formerly from the Cuomo shop) - now with Uber.

First congrats on your promotion! While Im sure Peter is a big loss, the Mayor is lucky to have you ready to step into his shoes. If you guys are still looking for a press secretary, there were a couple of folks who were interested in taking that role with Cuomo that might make good candidates for you since John Kelly is now in that role with him.

Second, we at Uber noticed the Mayor's announcement today of an advisory board for the Tech Talent Pipeline which looks great. We would love to be a part of this or any other similar efforts by the City to grow the tech industry/community in New York especially since a lot of companies we know and work with were included. I don't know if its already too late, but I wanted to put it out there that if you were interested we would love to discuss joining the board.

Also please keep us in mind for any future efforts on this or any other area we can be helpful. We have some ideas, for example, of how we could partner with DOT in support of Vision Zero given our presence on the road and the real time info we get.

All the best,
Matt Wing

Who's who of Silicon Alley turn out for de Blasio

The first meeting of the city's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is the biggest collection yet of private tech sector influence since Bill de Blasio took over City Hall.

- ARTICLE
- COMMENTS

BY THORNTON MCENERY
FEBRUARY 12, 2015 10:45 A.M.

- Print
- Email
- Reprints
- Comment

If things seem quiet on Silicon Alley Thursday morning, that might be because NYC tech's biggest names are all in one room at the Empire State Building.

Mayor Bill de Blasio and his Tech Talent Pipeline director, Kristen Titus, are convening the first meeting of the initiative's advisory board, a roster of 25 executives who represent a collective workforce of 40,000 people in the New York city innovation economy. The meeting is the biggest signal yet that the mayor's $10 million public-private partnership is bringing more New Yorkers into the tech economy by creating a dialogue between Silicon Alley's strongest players and City Hall policy makers.

SHARE

"Our goal with this group is to define the job needs in their sector and find ways to train people to fill those needs," said Ms. Titus. "These people have direct, hands-on experience with this world."

And what big hands they have. Crain's has obtained a list of the advisory board, which reads like a who's who of the New York city tech ecosystem. In addition to investors extraordinaire Fred Wilson and Kevin Ryan, the board includes entrepreneurs like Etsy's Chad Dickerson, Shutterstock's Jon Oringer and Facebook co-founder/New Republic publisher Chris Hughes. The roster of advisers also lists Alley insiders like Google's William Floyd and investor/entrepreneur David Tisch.

The collective volume of private-sector influence on the advisory board is something that was commonplace under the Bloomberg administration, but is striking for Mr. de Blasio and his team, who have had an uneasy relationship with Silicon Alley, and even some members of the Tech Talent Pipeline board. But that is where Ms. Titus comes in. As someone who has shifted between the private and public sectors (having worked at one point for Mr. Hughes) she has been charged with bringing this group together. "We're terribly excited to have this caliber around the table," she said. "Getting all of these people in one room will be a very powerful moment."

That room is in the New York offices of LinkedIn, which will not only play host to the meeting but will also release a report on the city's tech economy. That data reportedly shows that one in every five New York city businesses employs tech talent, with a variety of sectors growing their share of tech jobs.

"Home for us is definitely Silicon Valley, but it's also New York," said LinkedIn co-founder Allen Blue. "The people here today really speak to the mayor's commitment to this project. We want to do whatever we can to help fire up this effort."

LinkedIn's findings are sure to be a topic of conversation at the closed-press event, but the overall idea will be leveraging these new relationships to create more hometown tech talent and funnel it directly to Silicon Alley.

The full list of the Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is below:

Allen Blue, Co-Founder, LinkedIn

Shankar Arumugavelu, CIO, Verizon Wireless

Judy Spitz, CIO, Verizon

Fred Wilson, Partner, Union Square Ventures

Kevin Ryan, Chairman, Gilt Groupe; Founder, MongoDB, Business Insider, Zola

Jon Duet, Co-Head of Technology, Goldman Sachs

Serkan Piantino, Head of Facebook New York

Shad Dickerson, CEO, Etsy

Jon Oringer, CEO, Shutterstock

Rancey Strickler, CEO, Kickstarter

Charles Phillips, CEO, Infor

William Floyd, Head of External Affairs, Google NY

Marissa Shorenstein, President, AT&T New York

Olivier Kharraz, Founder & President, ZocDoc

Max Haot, CEO, Livestream

David Fullerton, VP of Engineering, Stack Overflow

Eliot Horowitz, Co-Founder and CTO, MongoDB

Jon Williams, Co-founder, CTO Club

John Paul Farmer, Director of Tech & Civic Innovation, Microsoft NY

Andrew Pile, CTO, Vimeo

David Tisch, Co-founder, Techstars; Head of Startup Studio, Cornell Tech; Managing Partner, BoxGroup

Chris Hughes, Co-Founder, Facebook; Publisher, The New Republic

Ali Marano, Head of Technology and Social Good, JP Morgan

Brandon Atkinson, Chief People Person, AppNexus

Jocelyn Leavitt, Co-Founder and CEO, Hopscotch

From: Matt Wing
To: Wolfe, Emma
Cc: DeLoach, Michael; Carrion, Marco A.
Subject: Re: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
Date: Sunday, March 01, 2015 6:59:48 PM

---

Awesome thanks. Feel free to call me with any questions [REDACTED] if needed

Sent from my iPhone

On Mar 1, 2015, at 6:48 PM, Wolfe, Emma <EWolfe@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks matt
We'll run the traps over here and think about opportunities

From: Matthew Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 1:08 PM
To: Wolfe, Emma
Subject: Fwd: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board

Hey Emma,

I sent in this plan to Phil as a follow up to a back and forth we had regarding the Mayor's tech talent pipeline.

Wanted to pass on to you as well since we were talking about this the other week. The Uber folks here are dying to find some ways to help support the Mayor's agenda and have a lot of resources to do meaningful stuff.

If you have any thoughts/advice on how we can get a meeting on the books, I would greatly appreciate it.

Thanks
Matt

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Matthew Wing <matt.wing@uber.com>
Date: Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 1:05 PM
Subject: Re: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board
To: "Walzak, Phil" <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Cc: Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com>

Hey Phil,

Following up on this exchange - we at Uber NYC spent some time putting together ideas on how we could collaborate with City Hall on several different administration priorities.

We would love a chance to bring our team in to discuss these ideas with members of the administration as well as hear any other thoughts on ways we can support the Mayor's agenda.

A copy of the plan - is attached and below and I am ccing my colleague Michael Allegretti who put it all together.

Let us know if there is a convenient day sometime in the near future to talk.

Thanks
Matt

Opportunities for Collaboration between Uber NYC & Mayor Bill de Blasio's Administration

---

Supporting Vision Zero

Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's innovative Vision Zero initiative. As an organization that has thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our data and engineering resources in creative ways that can help the City continue to make progress on achieving Vision Zero.

In support of Vision Zero, Uber will:

- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Share information about new pockets of high traffic incident areas that meet certain thresholds;
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Commit to strict enforcement of chronic speeders by setting a framework where driver partners found to be regularly speeding are first reprimanded, then suspended twice, then deactivated;
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Partner with City Hall to organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines, hosted at Uber HQ and City Hall;
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Explore creating an in-app feature or quarterly email survey to allow riders and driver partners to offer feedback on danger zones and opportunities for safety enhancements;
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Place a PSA from the Mayor on our mandatory driver safety video;
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Offer benefits for driver partners that meet certain safety thresholds; and
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

Creating Up to 10,000-15,000 New Jobs in New York City

While many Uber driver partners come from the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thousands more are new entrants to this fourth largest economic market in New York City. We are committed to onboarding more driver partners from outside of the existing for-hire vehicle industry, thus ensuring that jobs created by Uber are increasingly net new jobs for New York. In 2015, our goal is to see 10,000-15,000 men and women join the for-hire vehicle industry, but we can only do this with City

Hall's help. In 2014, for-hire vehicle licensing waiting times tripled from roughly 20 days to roughly 60 days. We would like to work collaboratively with City Hall to figure-out ways to shorten these licensing waiting periods, and if required, are prepared to provide resources to assist in the effort.

Supporting Proposed Expansion of NYC Ferry Service

Many of New York City's existing ferry stops in places like Red Hook and the Rockaways, and new ones proposed in the State of the City in places like Soundview and Long Island City, are in locations far away from subways, bus stops and other transit. Uber's average 3-4 minutes pickup ETAs in NYC make it a good resource for ensuring more New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their transportation needs.

To help promote expanded ferry service and encourage New Yorkers to use it, Uber will:

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Offer a promotional discount for ferry commuters;

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Direct supply of vehicles using the Uber platform near ferry landings to ensure reliable service; and

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Pay for advertisements on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

Providing Tech Support to Key City Services and Initiatives

Uber has some of the best engineers in the tech industry. We would welcome opportunities to help City Hall strategize about about ways to improve key City services and initiatives, leveraging our in-house talent wherever possible, to help tackle challenges like tracking snow removal, implementing the City ID program, and speeding-up clearance rate for NYCHA maintenance requests. We would commit to monthly meetings between relevant agency engineers and Uber engineers, with the understanding that Uber would help the City establish best practices that Uber has tested.

On Fri, Feb 13, 2015 at 9:46 PM, Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com> wrote:
No worries on the reply. I can only imagine how crazy your life is.

My rec would be a meeting with whomever you think is best at city hall or the agency world (dot etc).

We can come to the table with a bunch of ideas focused on transportation and tech. If you want me to put together a brief memo/outline first on potential initiatives so you have a better sense of who to include I am happy to do so.

Hope you get some rest this weekend

Sent from my iPhone

On Feb 13, 2015, at 10:25 PM, Walzak, Phil <PWalzak@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hey man

Apologies for tardy reply

Thanks for your msg, and congrats on the Uber gig - I know Emil Michael a bit, his sister Nancy is fmr girlfriend and really good friend.

Yes wud love to find ways to do more on tech and vision zero, all good stuff...what's best way to proceed - welcome thoughts, and will look at how to integrate on tech adv board

Thanks again, look fwd to talking more

---

From: Matthew Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, February 12, 2015 01:28 PM
To: Walzak, Phil
Subject: Mayor's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board

Hi Phil,

This is Matt Wing (formerly from the Cuomo shop) - now with Uber.

First congrats on your promotion! While Im sure Peter is a big loss, the Mayor is lucky to have you ready to step into his shoes. If you guys are still looking for a press secretary, there were a couple of folks who were interested in taking that role with Cuomo that might make good candidates for you since John Kelly is now in that role with him.

Second, we at Uber noticed the Mayor's announcement today of an advisory board for the Tech Talent Pipeline which looks great. We would love to be a part of this or any other similar efforts by the City to grow the tech industry/community in New York especially since a lot of companies we know and work with were included. I don't know if its already too late, but I wanted to put it out there that if you were interested we would love to discuss joining the board.

Also please keep us in mind for any future efforts on this or any other area we can be helpful. We have some ideas, for example, of how we could partner with DOT in support of Vision Zero given our presence on the road and the real time info we get.

All the best,
Matt Wing

Who's who of Silicon Alley turn out for de Blasio

The first meeting of the city's Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is the biggest collection yet of private tech sector influence since Bill de Blasio took over City Hall.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->
<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->

ARTICLE

COMMENTS

BY THORNTON MCENERY <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]--> Print
FEBRUARY 12, 2015 10:45 A.M. <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]--> Email

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]--> Reprints

If things seem quiet on Silicon Alley Thursday morning, that <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]--> Comment

might be because NYC tech's <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]--> biggest names are all in one <!--[if !supportLists]-->○ <!--[endif]-->

room in the Empire State

SHARE <~WRD000.jpg><~WRD000.jpg><~WRD000.jpg><~WRD000.jpg> Building.

Mayor Bill de Blasio and his Tech Talent Pipeline director, Kristen Titus, are convening the first meeting of the initiative's advisory board, a roster of 25 executives who represent a collective workforce of 40,000 people in the New York city innovation economy. The meeting is the biggest signal yet that the mayor's $10 million public-private partnership is bringing more New Yorkers into the tech economy by creating a dialogue between Silicon Alley's strongest players and City Hall policy makers.

"Our goal with this group is to define the job needs in their sector and find ways to train people to fill those needs," said Ms. Titus. "These people have direct, hands-on experience with this world." And what big hands they have. Crain's has obtained a list of the advisory board, which reads like a who's who of the New York city tech ecosystem. In addition to investors extraordinaire Fred Wilson and Kevin Ryan, the board includes entrepreneurs like Etsy's Chad Dickerson, Shutterstock's Jon Oringer and Facebook co-founder/New Republic publisher Chris Hughes. The roster of advisers also lists Alley insiders like Google's William Floyd and investor/entrepreneur David Tisch.

The collective volume of private-sector influence on the advisory board is something that was commonplace under the Bloomberg administration, but is striking for Mr. de Blasio and his team, who have had an uneasy relationship with Silicon Alley, and even some members of the Tech Talent Pipeline board. But that is where Ms. Titus comes in. As someone who has shifted between the private and public sectors (having worked at one point for Mr. Hughes) she has been charged with bringing this group together. "We're terribly excited to have this caliber around the table," she said. "Getting all of these people in one room will be a very powerful moment."

That room is in the New York offices of LinkedIn, which will not only play host to the meeting but will also release a report on the city's tech economy. That data reportedly shows that one in every five New York city businesses employs tech talent, with a variety of sectors growing their share of tech jobs.

"Home for us is definitely Silicon Valley, but it's also New York," said LinkedIn co-founder Allen Blue. "The people here today really speak to the mayor's commitment to this project. We want to do whatever we can to help fire up this effort."

LinkedIn's findings are sure to be a topic of conversation at the closed-press event, but the overall idea will be leveraging these new relationships to create more hometown tech talent and funnel it directly to Silicon Alley.

The full list of the Tech Talent Pipeline advisory board is below:

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Allen Blue, Co-Founder, LinkedIn

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Shankar Arumugavelu, CIO, Verizon Wireless

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Judy Spitz, CIO, Verizon

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Fred Wilson, Partner, Union Square Ventures

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Kevin Ryan, Chairman, Gilt Groupe; Founder, MongoDB, Business Insider, Zola

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Don Duet, Co-Head of Technology, Goldman Sachs

-[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Serkan Piantino,

Head of Facebook New York

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Chad Dickerson,
CEO, Etsy

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Jon Oringer,
CEO, Shutterstock

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Yancey Strickler,
CEO, Kickstarter

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Charles Phillips,
CEO, Infor

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->William Floyd,
Head of External Affairs,
Google NY

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Marissa
Shorenstein, President,
AT&T New York

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Oliver Kharraz, Founder & President,
ZocDoc

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Max Haot, CEO,
Livestream

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->David Fullerton,
VP of Engineering, Stack
Overflow

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Eliot Horowitz,
Co-Founder and CTO,
MongoDB

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Jon Williams,
Co-founder, CTO Club

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->John Paul Farmer, Director of Tech &
Civic Innovation, Microsoft
NY

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--
-[endif]-->Andrew Pile,
CTO, Vimeo

-.[if !supportLists]-->• <!--

-[endif]-->David Tisch, Co-founder, Techstars; Head of Startup Studio, Cornell Tech; Managing Partner, BoxGroup

• <![endif]-->Chris Hughes, Co-Founder, Facebook; Publisher, The New Republic

• <![endif]-->Ali Marano, Head of Technology and Social Good, JP Morgan

• <![endif]-->Brandon Atkinson, Chief People Person, AppNexus

• <![endif]-->Jocelyn Leavitt, Co-Founder and CEO, Hopscotch

From: Matt Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FYI TLC budget
Date: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:55:24 AM

---

Hi Wiley

Just wanted to let you know that Uber is doing a morning Ed board with Crains where we are saying we want the TLC budget to be increased to help cut down on licensing delays and help us bring 10k new drivers from outside the black car/taxi industry onto the platform.

Its not negative, not calling on the Mayor to do anything - we are in fact emphasizing that the licensing delay is probably our fault for adding so many cars and that we are willing to pay into helping increase tlc resources - but just wanted to give you a heads up in case there is incoming.

Let me know any concerns/issues
Matt

Sent from my iPhone

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Matt Wing"
Subject: RE: FYI TLC budget
Date: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:56:03 AM

---

Aight. Thanks dude.

-----Original Message-----

From: Matt Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:55 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FYI TLC budget

Hi Wiley

Just wanted to let you know that Uber is doing a morning Ed board with Crains where we are saying we want the TLC budget to be increased to help cut down on licensing delays and help us bring 10k new drivers from outside the black car/taxi industry onto the platform.

Its not negative, not calling on the Mayor to do anything - we are in fact emphasizing that the licensing delay is probably our fault for adding so many cars and that we are willing to pay into helping increase tlc resources - but just wanted to give you a heads up in case there is incoming.

Let me know any concerns/issues
Matt

Sent from my iPhone

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Matt Wing"
Subject: RE: FYI TLC budget
Date: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:56:55 AM

---

Can we grab coffee? I like that we are able to communicate directly on this stuff and want to iron out a conveyor belt/rules of engagement to help us get along!

-----Original Message-----

From: Matt Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:55 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: FYI TLC budget

Hi Wiley

Just wanted to let you know that Uber is doing a morning Ed board with Crains where we are saying we want the TLC budget to be increased to help cut down on licensing delays and help us bring 10k new drivers from outside the black car/taxi industry onto the platform.

Its not negative, not calling on the Mayor to do anything - we are in fact emphasizing that the licensing delay is probably our fault for adding so many cars and that we are willing to pay into helping increase tlc resources - but just wanted to give you a heads up in case there is incoming.

Let me know any concerns/issues
Matt

Sent from my iPhone

From: Matt Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FYI TLC budget
Date: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 10:59:26 AM

---

Absolutely! Thursday or Friday work?

Sent from my iPhone

> On Mar 3, 2015, at 9:56 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
>
> Can we grab coffee? I like that we are able to communicate directly on this stuff and want to iron out a conveyor belt/rules of engagement to help us get along!
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: Matt Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
> Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:55 AM
> To: Norvell, Wiley
> Subject: FYI TLC budget
>
> Hi Wiley
>
> Just wanted to let you know that Uber is doing a morning Ed board with Crains where we are saying we want the TLC budget to be increased to help cut down on licensing delays and help us bring 10k new drivers from outside the black car/taxi industry onto the platform.
>
> Its not negative, not calling on the Mayor to do anything - we are in fact emphasizing that the licensing delay is probably our fault for adding so many cars and that we are willing to pay into helping increase tlc resources - but just wanted to give you a heads up in case there is incoming.
>
> Let me know any concerns/issues
> Matt
>
>
> Sent from my iPhone

From: Lauren Miura
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Jenny Avallon; Katharine McGlynn; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 10:31:00 AM

---

Hi all, unfortunately Kat and I are BOTH home sick today (there must be something going around our office). Can we catch up with you all next week by phone to hear what you're thinking for Earth Day?

Thanks,
Lauren

On Feb 27, 2015, at 4:11 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You too!

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:40 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM

To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,

Jenny

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!

Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM

To: Katharine McGlynn

Cc: Lauren Miura

Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,

Jenny

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!

Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn
*Community Engagement
Specialist*
kmcglynn@tnc.org
\(212\) 997-6408997-6408) (Phone)
\(212\) 997-8451997-8451) (Fax)
nature.org

<image001.gif>

The Nature Conservancy
New York City Office
322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

<image002.gif>

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image004.jpg>

<image004.jpg>

<image004.jpg>

From: Jenny Avallon
To: Lauren Miura
Cc: Tyler, Kaitlin; Katharine McGlynn; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 10:39:15 AM

---

Hi Lauren,

So sorry to hear that! Hope you both feel better soon.

No problem about today, we can still head down to meet with Dabash & Kaitlin and update your team next week. What time is best?

Thanks!
Jenny

On Fri, Mar 6, 2015 at 10:30 AM, Lauren Miura <lmiura@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi all, unfortunately Kat and I are BOTH home sick today (there must be something going around our office). Can we catch up with you all next week by phone to hear what you're thinking for Earth Day?

Thanks,
Lauren

On Feb 27, 2015, at 4:11 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You too!

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:40 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,
Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]

Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM

To: Tyler, Kaitlin

Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian

Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,

Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,

Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!

Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,

Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!

Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn <image001.gif> The Nature Conservancy <image002.gif>
New York City Office

Community Engagement

322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Specialist

kmcglynn@tnc.org

(212) 997-6408 (Phone)

(212) 997-8451 (Fax)

nature.org

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image004.jpg> <image004.jpg> <image004.jpg>

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Tyler, Kaitlin
To: "Jenny Avallon"; Lauren Miura
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 10:49:54 AM

---

Thanks for letting us know, Lauren. I hope you both feel better soon!

Jenny- We are looking forward to meeting you and your team this afternoon.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, March 06, 2015 10:39 AM
To: Lauren Miura
Cc: Tyler, Kaitlin; Katharine McGlynn; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Lauren,

So sorry to hear that! Hope you both feel better soon.

No problem about today, we can still head down to meet with Dabash & Kaitlin and update your team next week. What time is best?

Thanks!
Jenny

_____

On Fri, Mar 6, 2015 at 10:30 AM, Lauren Miura <lmiura@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi all, unfortunately Kat and I are BOTH home sick today (there must be something going around our office). Can we catch up with you all next week by phone to hear what you're thinking for Earth Day?

Thanks,
Lauren

On Feb 27, 2015, at 4:11 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You too!

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:40 PM

To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,
Jenny

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!
Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,
Jenny

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!
Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn <
*Community Engagement
Specialist*
kmcglynn@tnc.org
(212) 997-6408 (Phone)
(212) 997-8451 (Fax)
nature.org

The Nature Conservancy <
New York City Office
322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image004.jpg> <image004.jpg> <image004.jpg>

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

UUUU

| |

From: The Office of Mayor de Blasio
To: allegretti@uber.com
Subject: You are invited to a reception celebrating the Commission on the Status of Women
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 12:12:15 PM

---

The Mayor
and
First Lady of the City of New York

with UN WOMEN

invite you to an intimate reception
in celebration of the

COMMISSION ON THE STATUS OF WOMEN

and to honor

BEIJING+20
CAMPAIGN

Monday, March 9, 2015

6:00 PM – 8:00 PM

Gracie Mansion
East End Avenue
and 88th Street, Manhattan

The Mayor and First Lady of the City of New York
with UN Women
invite you to an intimate reception in celebration of the Commission on the Status of Women
and to honor
Beijing+20 Campaign
Monday, March 9, 2015
6:00 PM - 8:00 PM
Gracie Mansion
East End Avenue and 88th Street, Manhattan

Space is limited.

Please RSVP by Thursday, March 5, 2015

Yes, I am attending

No, I will not attend

From: The Office of Mayor de Blasio
To: lindsay.elin@uber.com
Subject: You are invited to a reception celebrating the Commission on the Status of Women
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 12:14:24 PM

---

The Mayor
and
First Lady of the City of New York

with UN WOMEN

invite you to an intimate reception
in celebration of the

COMMISSION ON THE STATUS OF WOMEN

and to honor

BEIJING+20
CAMPAIGN

Monday, March 9, 2015

6:00 PM – 8:00 PM

Gracie Mansion
East End Avenue
and 88th Street, Manhattan

The Mayor and First Lady of the City of New York
with UN Women
invite you to an intimate reception in celebration of the Commission on the Status of Women
and to honor
Beijing+20 Campaign
Monday, March 9, 2015
6:00 PM - 8:00 PM
Gracie Mansion
East End Avenue and 88th Street, Manhattan

Space is limited.

Please RSVP by Thursday, March 5, 2015

Yes, I am attending

No, I will not attend

From: Jenny Avallon
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Edward Casabian; Katharine McGlynn; Matthew Wing
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 2:50:00 PM

---

Hi Kaitlin,

We're on our way but going to be 5-10 minutes late. So sorry about that.

See you soon!

Thanks,
Jenny

—

Sent from Mailbox

On Fri, Mar 6, 2015 at 10:49 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks for letting us know, Lauren. I hope you both feel better soon!

Jenny- We are looking forward to meeting you and your team this afternoon.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, March 06, 2015 10:39 AM
To: Lauren Miura
Cc: Tyler, Kaitlin; Katharine McGlynn; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Lauren,

So sorry to hear that! Hope you both feel better soon.

No problem about today, we can still head down to meet with Dabash & Kaitlin and update your team next week. What time is best?

Thanks!

Jenny

<~WRD000.jpg>

On Fri, Mar 6, 2015 at 10:30 AM, Lauren Miura <lmiura@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi all, unfortunately Kat and I are BOTH home sick today (there must be something going around our office). Can we catch up with you all next week by phone to hear what you're thinking for Earth Day?

Thanks,

Lauren

On Feb 27, 2015, at 4:11 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You too!

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]

Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:40 PM

To: Tyler, Kaitlin

Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian

Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,
Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]

Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM

To: Tyler, Kaitlin

Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian

Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,

Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,

Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,

Jenny

_____

< ~WRD222.jpg >

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!

Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,

Jenny

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!

Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn    <image001.gif>    The Nature Conservancy    <image002.gif>
New York City Office
Community Engagement    322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
Specialist    New York, NY 10001

kmcglynn@tnc.org
\(212\) 997-6408997-6408) (Phone)
\(212\) 997-8451997-8451) (Fax)
nature.org

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--

[ ] |

<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image004.jpg> <image004.jpg> <image004.jpg>

--

<~WRD000.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image001.jpg>

<image001.jpg>

<image001.jpg>

From: Tyler, Kaitlin
To: "Jenny Avallon"
Cc: Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Edward Casabian; Katharine McGlynn; Matthew Wing; Halpin, Stephanie
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up
Date: Friday, March 06, 2015 2:51:29 PM

---

Not a problem at all. We're flexible!

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, March 06, 2015 2:50 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Edward Casabian; Katharine McGlynn; Matthew Wing
Subject: RE: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

We're on our way but going to be 5-10 minutes late. So sorry about that.

See you soon!

Thanks,
Jenny

—
Sent from Mailbox

On Fri, Mar 6, 2015 at 10:49 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks for letting us know, Lauren. I hope you both feel better soon!

Jenny- We are looking forward to meeting you and your team this afternoon.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, March 06, 2015 10:39 AM
To: Lauren Miura
Cc: Tyler, Kaitlin; Katharine McGlynn; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Lauren,

So sorry to hear that! Hope you both feel better soon.

No problem about today, we can still head down to meet with Dabash & Kaitlin and update your team next week. What time is best?

Thanks!

Jenny

<~WRD000.jpg>

On Fri, Mar 6, 2015 at 10:30 AM, Lauren Miura <lmiura@tnc.org> wrote:
Hi all, unfortunately Kat and I are BOTH home sick today (there must be something going around our office). Can we catch up with you all next week by phone to hear what you're thinking for Earth Day?

Thanks,
Lauren

On Feb 27, 2015, at 4:11 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

You too!

From: Jenny Avallon [<mailto:javallon@uber.com>]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 3:40 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Perfect! I'll send a calendar invite over now.

Have a great weekend.

Best,

Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 12:23 PM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

3pm at our office works very well! We're located at 253 Broadway, 8th Floor (between Warren and Murray). Once you go through security and arrive on the 8th floor, please ring the bell on the left hand side of the double glass doors. Our office will be on your right when you walk in.

We look forward to meeting everyone.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 2015 2:56 PM
To: Tyler, Kaitlin
Cc: Katharine McGlynn; Lauren Miura; Negash, Dabash; Matthew Wing; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kaitlin,

Sounds great! I'm looping in our Ed & Matt from our team as well.

It looks like we're all free from 3pm onwards next Friday -- would that work for you? We're happy to come down to your office to make it easier on your team.

Looking forward to it!

Best,
Jenny

On Fri, Feb 27, 2015 at 6:53 AM, Tyler, Kaitlin <KTyler@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Good morning, Jenny-

We would love to meet with you and your team to discuss opportunities to partner. Friday of next week works well for Dabash and I. We are flexible on timing and location.

Let me know what works best for you. I look forward to meeting.

Best,
Kaitlin

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 2015 6:27 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura; Tyler, Kaitlin; Negash, Dabash
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi all,

Kat -- thanks for the intro! Great to meet you via email, Kaitlin & Dabash.

I'm not sure how much background Kat & Laura gave you during their meeting, but our team would love to find a way to help support your Earth Day volunteer initiatives. I understand transportation is a major obstacle when coordinating a city-wide opportunity such as this and I think our carpooling product, uberPOOL, could be a great solution both for connecting volunteers socially & cutting back on CO2 emissions during this very important day.

I'd love for us all to meet and discuss further. Would you have time Thursday or Friday of next week to either come visit us at our office in Chelsea or for my team to come to your office? Happy to work around your schedule.

Thanks,

Jenny

<~WRD222.jpg>

On Tue, Feb 24, 2015 at 2:27 PM, Katharine McGlynn <kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Thank you so much – we will be interested to hear about how your Earth Day plans move forward and how we might be involved.

Lauren and I had a great call with Gena Upshaw from NYC Service and are definitely planning on listing our Earth Day Beach Clean Up on their site to gain more volunteers. Gena suggest that I introduce you to their Partnerships Director Kaitlin Tyler and their Capacity Building Director Dabash Negash, both copied here, for futher conversation around working together.

Let me know if you need anything else right now, and perhaps we can connect again in the first or second week of March to touch base?

Thanks again!

Kat

From: Jenny Avallon mailto:[javallon@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 19, 2015 4:46 PM
To: Katharine McGlynn
Cc: Lauren Miura
Subject: Re: Earth Day Follow Up

Hi Kat,

Hope you're both doing well & staying warm!

I'm still waiting on some updates from our team on our Earth Day strategy, but I looped them all in on our call & everyone was very excited. I will keep you posted as our approach here develops.

Do you have any updates from your meeting with NYC Service? I'd love to be able to incorporate them here too.

Best,
Jenny

On Thu, Feb 19, 2015 at 11:39 AM, Katharine McGlynn

<kmcglynn@tnc.org> wrote:

Hi Jenny,

Lauren and I just wanted to check in and see if you'd had a chance to get input from your team and if you had further thoughts about how we might best be able to work together during April for Earth Month?

We really enjoyed our preliminary conversation and are interested to know if you had other ideas or general thoughts on how we should move forward. Lauren and I are free most of the day tomorrow if you'd like to jump on the phone.

Looking forward to continuing the conversation. Stay warm!

Kat

---

Katharine McGlynn
*Community Engagement
Specialist*
kmcglynn@tnc.org
\(212\) 997-6408997-6408) (Phone)
\(212\) 997-8451997-8451) (Fax)
nature.org

 The Nature Conservancy
New York City Office
322 Eighth Avenue, 16th Floor
New York, NY 10001

Information contained in this electronic communication and any attachments transmitted within may contain information that is LEGALLY PRIVILEGED, CONFIDENTIAL OR EXEMPT FROM DISCLOSURE UNDER APPLICABLE LAW. It is only for the use of the individual to whom it is addressed. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any review, release, retransmission, copying, dissemination or other use of, or taking any action in reliance upon this communication, is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please immediately notify the sender by reply e-mail and permanently delete the material from your computer and destroy any printed copies. Receipt by anyone other than the intended recipient is not a waiver of any attorney-client, attorney work product or other privileges.

--

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

--
<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--
<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image003.jpg> <image003.jpg> <image003.jpg>

--
<~WRD222.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image004.jpg> <image004.jpg> <image004.jpg>

--
<~WRD000.jpg>

Jenny Avallon

Lead Marketing Manager, Partnerships | NYC

e: javallon@uber.com | w: www.uber.com/nyc

<image001.jpg>

<image001.jpg>

<image001.jpg>

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: "Matt Wing"
Subject: RE: FYI TLC budget
Date: Friday, March 13, 2015 2:18:44 PM

---

Soooooo...today is now crap. Let's do next week.

-----Original Message-----

From: Matt Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 10:59 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FYI TLC budget

Absolutely! Thursday or Friday work?

Sent from my iPhone

> On Mar 3, 2015, at 9:56 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

>

> Can we grab coffee? I like that we are able to communicate directly on this stuff and want to iron out a conveyor belt/rules of engagement to help us get along!

>

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Matt Wing [<mailto:matt.wing@uber.com>]
> Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:55 AM
> To: Norvell, Wiley
> Subject: FYI TLC budget

>

> Hi Wiley

>

> Just wanted to let you know that Uber is doing a morning Ed board with Crains where we are saying we want the TLC budget to be increased to help cut down on licensing delays and help us bring 10k new drivers from outside the black car/taxi industry onto the platform.

>

> Its not negative, not calling on the Mayor to do anything - we are in fact emphasizing that the licensing delay is probably our fault for adding so many cars and that we are willing to pay into helping increase tlc resources - but just wanted to give you a heads up in case there is incoming.

>

> Let me know any concerns/issues

> Matt

>

>

> Sent from my iPhone

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FYI TLC budget
Date: Friday, March 13, 2015 2:20:00 PM

---

totally ok - just tell me the day and Ill make it work.

gonna call you real quick on a heads up

On Fri, Mar 13, 2015 at 2:18 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Soooooo...today is now crap. Let's do next week.

-----Original Message-----

From: Matt Wing mailto:[matt.wing@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 10:59 AM
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: FYI TLC budget

Absolutely! Thursday or Friday work?

Sent from my iPhone

> On Mar 3, 2015, at 9:56 AM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
>

> Can we grab coffee? I like that we are able to communicate directly on this stuff and want to iron out a conveyor belt/rules of engagement to help us get along!

>
> -----Original Message-----

> From: Matt Wing mailto:[matt.wing@uber.com]
> Sent: Tuesday, March 03, 2015 9:55 AM
> To: Norvell, Wiley
> Subject: FYI TLC budget

>
> Hi Wiley

>
> Just wanted to let you know that Uber is doing a morning Ed board with Crains where we are saying we want the TLC budget to be increased to help cut down on licensing delays and help us bring 10k new drivers from outside the black car/taxi industry onto the platform.

>
> Its not negative, not calling on the Mayor to do anything - we are in fact emphasizing that the licensing delay is probably our fault for adding so many cars and that we are willing to pay into helping increase tlc resources - but just wanted to give you a heads up in case there is incoming.

>
> Let me know any concerns/issues

> Matt

>

>

> Sent from my iPhone

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Williams, Dominic
Subject: Great to see you + next steps..
Date: Friday, March 13, 2015 5:45:22 PM

---

Dom,

So good to see you yesterday at City Hall! Great surprise man...

I think that our meeting went well and I personally appreciated the tact that FDM Shorris took with us. I recognize that we are somewhat controversial in the eyes of many incumbents in the for-hire industry. We want to collaborate, and knowing that you and I can connect one-on-one, will go a long way.

To that end, want to grab a drink in the next few weeks? Let me know, and in the meantime, I'll be following-up on the stuff that we discussed during the session.

Have a good weekend...

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Williams, Dominic
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: f/u from UberNYC re Collaboration w/ City Hall
Date: Monday, March 30, 2015 10:49:32 AM
Attachments: UberNYC Memo to NYC CityHall 03\_30\_2015.docx.docx

---

Dom,

Hope all is well!

Attached please find a memo from Josh Mohrer and me at UberNYC to you and First Deputy Mayor Tony Shorris. I would be grateful if you and he could review and be back in touch. We are eager to work with City Hall to support the Mayor's vision in the ways outlined.

And let's get a drink on the books. It would be great to catch-up after all these years.

All the best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

TO: NYC First Deputy Mayor Anthony Shorris; Dominic Williams
FR: Josh Mohrer; Michael Allegretti
CC: TLC Commissioner Meera Joshi; David Plouffe, George Capalino
DT: March 30, 2015
RE: Opportunities for Collaboration between UberNYC & City Hall

---

Following our March 12, 2015 meeting, we wanted to share proposed next steps for how we might work together to support Mayor de Blasio's Vision Zero pedestrian safety initiative, his goal of expanding ferry service across the five boroughs, and his effort to enhance the PlaNYC process. We look forward to your feedback.

#1 Supporting Vision Zero: Uber strongly supports Mayor Bill de Blasio's Vision Zero initiative. As an organization with thousands of driver partners on New York City roads, we want to do our part to enhance this effort and utilize our resources in creative ways to help the City continue to make progress.

Uber would therefore like to work with the Department of Transportation to:

- Organize quarterly roundtables between driver partners and City traffic officials around enforcement guidelines;
- Explore ways to gather anecdotal information that we receive from riders and driver partners about traffic and pedestrian danger zones that they see during pick-ups, drop-offs and rides, and provide such information to City traffic officials to help guide future safety enhancements; and
- Produce and disseminate rider and driver messaging about how best to safely make a connection (don't stand in the street, place the pin in the right directional location, etc.).

We would be grateful for an introduction by your office to the appropriate DOT official to start the process.

Additionally, Uber would like to include a PSA from Mayor de Blasio in our mandatory safety video, shown to all incoming driver partners, highlighting the importance of pedestrian safety on the roads.

We would be grateful for your assistance in securing the Mayor's agreement and arranging this filming.

#2 Supporting Expansion of NYC Ferry Service: Many of New York City's existing and proposed ferry stops are far away from subways, bus stops and other public transit. Uber's average 3-4 minute pickup time makes it a good resource for ensuring New Yorkers can easily use expanded ferry service for their daily transportation needs.

Uber would therefore like to work with the Economic Development Corporation to:

- Offer a promotional discounts for ferry commuters;
- Proactively inform driver partners of opportunities for pick-ups near ferry landings; and
- Advertise on ferries to inform passengers that Uber rides are readily available to help them seamlessly complete their commutes.

We had already reached-out to Kyle Kimball to discuss working together, but given his imminent departure, we would be grateful for an introduction by your office to the appropriate EDC official to start the process.

#3 Supporting PlaNYC: Uber is having a direct, positive impact on the way thousands of New Yorkers move around the city everyday, and can therefore be a meaningful resource for the PlaNYC initiative.

Uber would therefore like to inform the PlaNYC process through a written submission:

We would be grateful for an introduction by your office to the appropriate PlaNYC official to start the process, recognizing that time is of the essence.

From: Matt Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley; Walzak, Phil
Subject: Video of cop and uber driver-partner
Date: Tuesday, March 31, 2015 7:18:52 AM

---

Hey Phil and Wiley

I am getting a bunch of calls from press over this video of a cop using inflammatory language and seeming to mistreat one of our Uber driver partners.

Wanted to give you a heads up that we will likely be giving a written comment later this morning in response. I will pass it on once it's done.

Feel free to call me if you want to discuss [REDACTED]

Matt

Sent from my iPhone

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley; Walzak, Phil
Subject: Re: Video of cop and uber driver-partner
Date: Tuesday, March 31, 2015 10:00:12 AM

---

FYI below is the comment we are providing in response to inquiries. We will not be pushing this with any press or providing any interviews etc.

So you know so far I have gotten inquiries from the Daily News, WCBS, DNA Info and Huffington Post. Again feel free to call me with any concerns [REDACTED]

Comment:

"We are disheartened by this officer's behavior and appreciate the NYPD investigating the incident. We have reached out to the driver to provide any support he needs."

On Tue, Mar 31, 2015 at 7:19 AM, Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Phil and Wiley

I am getting a bunch of calls from press over this video of a cop using inflammatory language and seeming to mistreat one of our Uber driver partners.

Wanted to give you a heads up that we will likely be giving a written comment later this morning in response. I will pass it on once it's done.

Feel free to call me if you want to discuss [REDACTED]

Matt

Sent from my iPhone

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley; Walzak, Phil
Subject: Re: Video of cop and uber driver-partner
Date: Tuesday, March 31, 2015 11:47:49 AM

---

FYI - we have slightly modified our statement as some more facts have come in. Again I am only giving this in response to inquiries. Also an FYI several TVs have tried to get in touch with the driver for interviews through us but we are not giving out his info to media out of respect for his privacy. He has not told us that he plans to do any interviews on his own, but since he is an independent contractor we can't dictate how he handles press.

Updated comment:

"The behavior in the video is wrong and unacceptable and we appreciate the NYPD investigating the incident. We are in touch with our driver-partner who was subjected to this terrible experience and will continue to provide any support he needs."

On Tue, Mar 31, 2015 at 10:00 AM, Matthew Wing <wing@uber.com> wrote:

FYI below is the comment we are providing in response to inquiries. We will not be pushing this with any press or providing any interviews etc.

So you know so far I have gotten inquiries from the Daily News, WCBS, DNA Info and Huffington Post. Again feel free to call me with any concerns [REDACTED]

Comment:

"We are disheartened by this officer's behavior and appreciate the NYPD investigating the incident. We have reached out to the driver to provide any support he needs."

On Tue, Mar 31, 2015 at 7:19 AM, Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Phil and Wiley

I am getting a bunch of calls from press over this video of a cop using inflammatory language and seeming to mistreat one of our Uber driver partners.

Wanted to give you a heads up that we will likely be giving a written comment later this morning in response. I will pass it on once it's done.

Feel free to call me if you want to discuss [REDACTED]

Matt

Sent from my iPhone

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell Wiley
Subject: Fwd: PRESS INQUIRY: Uber + TLC Licenses for Gothamist
Date: Saturday, May 02, 2015 5:48:14 PM

---

Hey Wiley,

Sorry to bother you on a Saturday, but I wanted to flag the inquiry I got below. Putting aside the questionable decision to pitch an alleged sexual assault to score political points on FHV rules, you might want to tell Allan Fromberg that we advised the rider involved in this incident to report the driver to the TLC and 311. She told us that she has in fact filed a complaint with the TLC so any delay with the license is on their end.

Of course I know this stuff isn't coming from you, but it would be nice if giving a heads up wasn't a one way street from me to you. Happy to discuss a way to try and figure that out in the future. I would really like to avoid escalating this conflict in general, but to be frank my folks are pretty livid that the TLC would push a story about sexual assault especially since we did what the new rules would require.

Thanks
-Matt

Begin forwarded message:

Hi Matt,

We were contacted by the TLC re: this week's alleged Uber passenger assault, and told that the Commission can't pull the driver's license unless a passenger reports an assault through 311, thanks to a rule that doesn't require Uber to alert the TLC after a complaint is made. Does Uber have a comment on this?

Thanks.

Rebecca

--

Rebecca Fishbein
www.gothamist.com
rebecca@gothamist.com
212-796-4200 x 7031
twitter.com/bfishbfish

From: Norvell, Wiley
To: Matthew Wing
Subject: Re: PRESS INQUIRY: Uber + TLC Licenses for Gothamist
Date: Saturday, May 02, 2015 6:19:20 PM

---

I'll talk to Dom and we will figure out a modus vivendi. Sorry—wasn't aware of this.

---

From: Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com>
Date: Saturday, May 2, 2015 at 5:49 PM
To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: Fwd: PRESS INQUIRY: Uber + TLC Licenses for Gothamist

Hey Wiley,

Sorry to bother you on a Saturday, but I wanted to flag the inquiry I got below. Putting aside the questionable decision to pitch an alleged sexual assault to score political points on FHV rules, you might want to tell Allan Fromberg that we advised the rider involved in this incident to report the driver to the TLC and 311. She told us that she has in fact filed a complaint with the TLC so any delay with the license is on their end.

Of course I know this stuff isn't coming from you, but it would be nice if giving a heads up wasn't a one way street from me to you. Happy to discuss a way to try and figure that out in the future. I would really like to avoid escalating this conflict in general, but to be frank my folks are pretty livid that the TLC would push a story about sexual assault especially since we did what the new rules would require.

Thanks
-Matt

Begin forwarded message:

Hi Matt,

We were contacted by the TLC re: this week's alleged Uber passenger assault, and told that the Commission can't pull the driver's license unless a passenger reports an assault through 311, thanks to a rule that doesn't require Uber to alert the TLC after a complaint is made. Does Uber have a comment on this?

Thanks.

Rebecca

--

Rebecca Fishbein
www.gothamist.com

rebecca@gothamist.com

212-796-4200 x 7031

twitter.com/bfishbfish

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley
Subject: Re: PRESS INQUIRY: Uber + TLC Licenses for Gothamist
Date: Saturday, May 02, 2015 6:21:03 PM

---

Thanks - really appreciate it. Happy to chat or do whatever I can on my end too.

On Sat, May 2, 2015 at 6:19 PM, Norvell, Wiley <WNorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
I'll talk to Dom and we will figure out a modus vivendi. Sorry—wasn't aware of this.

---

From: Matt Wing <matt.wing@uber.com>
Date: Saturday, May 2, 2015 at 5:49 PM
To: Wiley Norvell <wnorvell@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Subject: Fwd: PRESS INQUIRY: Uber + TLC Licenses for Gothamist

Hey Wiley,

Sorry to bother you on a Saturday, but I wanted to flag the inquiry I got below. Putting aside the questionable decision to pitch an alleged sexual assault to score political points on FHV rules, you might want to tell Allan Fromberg that we advised the rider involved in this incident to report the driver to the TLC and 311. She told us that she has in fact filed a complaint with the TLC so any delay with the license is on their end.

Of course I know this stuff isn't coming from you, but it would be nice if giving a heads up wasn't a one way street from me to you. Happy to discuss a way to try and figure that out in the future. I would really like to avoid escalating this conflict in general, but to be frank my folks are pretty livid that the TLC would push a story about sexual assault especially since we did what the new rules would require.

Thanks
-Matt

Begin forwarded message:

Hi Matt,

We were contacted by the TLC re: this week's alleged Uber passenger assault, and told that the Commission can't pull the driver's license unless a passenger reports an assault through 311, thanks to a rule that doesn't require Uber to alert the TLC after a complaint is made. Does Uber have a comment on this?

Thanks.

Rebecca

--

Rebecca Fishbein

www.gothamist.com

rebecca@gothamist.com

212-796-4200 x 7031

twitter.com/bfishbfish

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvel Willey
Subject: Fwd: Polly Trottenberg
Date: Thursday, May 07, 2015 5:29:43 PM

---

I am assuming that this heads up is thanks to you - I really appreciate it.

Congrats on the budget today - I am sorry if I caused you any stress in the lead up, should have kept my mouth shut and let you deal with bigger issues.

Hope you get some rest.

----- Forwarded message -----
From: Matthew Wing <wing@uber.com>
Date: Thu, May 7, 2015 at 5:29 PM
Subject: Re: Polly Trottenberg
To: "Gastel, Scott" <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov>
Cc: "Tsang, Bonny" <htsang@dot.nyc.gov>

Got it.

Thanks again for giving us the heads up and passing on - we really appreciate it. I doubt we will say anything in response beyond pointing to POOL and our other efforts to reduce congestion, but obviously I will let you know if we do weigh in.

I am hopeful we can meet in the near future and start discussing these issues and more importantly find ways we can potentially collaborate. Personally I am a huge fan of the Commissioner and would love it if we could work together on ways we can help with vision zero and other priorities for you guys.

On Thu, May 7, 2015 at 5:10 PM, Gastel, Scott <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov> wrote:

Here is what she said

"Potentially now we think Uber is starting to play a role in more traffic."

She also said to Kate Hinds after that a lot of this is speculative but something we are looking at as there is an increase in congestion in mid-town there are more UBER drivers and your own data leans heavily toward trips being in Manhattan. We'd seen this <http://blog.uber.com/nyc-4-year-anniversary-05-04-2015>

Dana Rubinstein also followed up and was there today.

From: Matthew Wing mailto:[wing@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 07, 2015 12:39 PM
To: Gastel, Scott
Cc: Tsang, Bonny
Subject: Re: Polly Trottenberg

Hi Scott,

Really appreciate the heads up - if you could send the tape along when you get a minute that would be great.

Just saw the tweet - I know Michael Allegritti has been in touch with Juan Martinez from DOT, but I think we would love to discuss more the traffic impact of Uber and ways we can productively work with DOT to address any issues, including focusing on our uberPOOL option which has the goal of taking 1 million cars off NYC streets.

On Thu, May 7, 2015 at 12:35 PM, Gastel, Scott <SGastel@dot.nyc.gov> wrote:

I just want to give you a heads up she made a comment in regards to Uber and traffic. You may have heard. Kate Hinds and a few other have tweeted on if from the Trans Hudson event at One world trade. Happy to discuss and will send comments off tape in a few.

Scott Gastel

DOT Press Secretary
[REDACTED]

.....
This message and any attachments are solely for the individual(s) named above and others who have been specifically authorized to receive such and may contain information which is confidential, privileged or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, any disclosure, copying, use or distribution of the information included in this message and any attachments is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us by reply e-mail and immediately and permanently delete this message and any attachments. Thank you.

NYC – Department of Transportation
.....

.....
This message and any attachments are solely for the individual(s) named above and others who have been specifically authorized to receive such and may contain information which is confidential, privileged or exempt from disclosure under applicable law. If you are not the intended recipient, any disclosure, copying, use or distribution of the information included in this message and any attachments is strictly prohibited. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us by reply e-mail and immediately and permanently delete this message and any attachments.

Thank you.

NYC – Department of Transportation
.....

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "ed@uber.com"
Subject: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 9:53:11 AM

---

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,
Jessie

—
Jessica Singleton
Digital Director @nycgov
@jessay286

From: Josh Mohrer
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:18:13 AM

---

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

| Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Josh Mohrer"
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: RE: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:21:30 AM

---

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer [mailto:josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,
Jessie

—
Jessica Singleton
Digital Director @nycgov
@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Josh Mohrer
To: Singleton, Jessica; Michael Allegretti
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 3:42:07 PM

---

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Josh Mohrer
Cc: Singleton, Jessica; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 3:48:33 PM

---

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:04:29 PM

---

Calling you back in 20!

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:18:35 PM

---

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: RE: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 8:24:55 PM

---

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,
Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,
Jessie

—
Jessica Singleton
Digital Director @nycgov
@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Josh Mohrer
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Michael Allegretti; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 8:41:19 PM

---

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com>

wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 |
allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: Josh Mohrer
Cc: Michael Allegretti; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 9:01:49 PM

---

Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 |
allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 9:18:15 PM

---

Yes.

And I really appreciated our call today Jessie. We are moving in a good direction and I look forward to sitting down on Monday. Many thanks, Michael

On May 28, 2015, at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica

Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti
<allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer
<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED]. or
[REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer
<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica
<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian
Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697
8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o:
646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Edward Casabian
To: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015 9:59:41 PM

---

Glad you were able to get in touch with our team! Hope to see you soon.

Ed

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:53 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:55:49 AM

---

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED], or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer [mailto:josh@uber.com]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer

<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Michael Allegretti"
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: RE: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57:28 AM

---

Likewise. Can we do 11 AM?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,
Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM

To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer [<mailto:josh@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,
Jessie

---

Jessica Singleton
Digital Director @nycgov
@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 10:11:48 AM

---

Literally, I can do anytime AFTER 11:30...

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 9:57 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Likewise. Can we do 11 AM?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica
<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED], or [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer [<mailto:josh@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer
<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Josh Mohrer
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 10:15:11 AM

---

I can do 1130

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 10:13 AM, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:
Literally, I can do anytime AFTER 11:30...

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 9:57 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Likewise. Can we do 11 AM?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica
<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer
<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica
<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or 4232767577

From: Josh Mohrer [<mailto:josh@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer
<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Josh Mohrer"; Michael Allegratti
Subject: RE: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 10:36:33 AM

---

Great. Im at [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer [mailto:josh@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 10:17 AM
To: Michael Allegratti
Cc: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?

I can do 1130

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 10:13 AM, Michael Allegratti <allegratti@uber.com> wrote:
Literally, I can do anytime AFTER 11:30...

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 9:57 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Likewise. Can we do 11 AM?

From: Michael Allegratti mailto:[allegratti@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,
Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED].

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer [<mailto:josh@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>

Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015

Subject: quick call?

To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,
Jessie

—
Jessica Singleton
Digital Director @nycgov
@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--
Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--
michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--
michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--
Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Josh Mohrer
To: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 11:22:27 AM

---

I'll be calling you shortly -- so that you have it handy, here is the section that talks about app approval:

(i) Modification of FHV Dispatch Application. Any modification to the FHV Dispatch Application after the Commission has issued a License for such FHV Dispatch Application that would materially alter any of the following: (1) functionality, performance characteristics, security measures, or technical environment of the FHV Dispatch Application or related services; (2) interfaces to the Software, Hardware, network, or other FHV Dispatch Application components; (3) the manner in which the FHV Dispatch Application or related services are provided. The addition or modification of a component allowing payment through the FHV Dispatch Application constitutes a Modification. A Modification of FHV Dispatch Application does not include: (4) fixes and/or maintenance patches necessary to conform the FHV Dispatch Application or any of its components or related services to the requirements set forth in §77-20 of these Rules; (5) security patches to the extent such fixes or patches are necessary in the FHV Dispatch Application Provider's good faith judgment to maintain the continuity of the FHV Dispatch Application or related services or to correct an event or occurrence that would, if uncorrected, substantially prevent, hinder or delay proper operation of the FHV Dispatch Application or related services; and (6) modifications to the user interfaces that do not materially alter the FHV Dispatch Application's functionality or the manner in which FHV Dispatch Application services are provided.

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 10:36 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great. Im at [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 10:17 AM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?

I can do 1130

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 10:13 AM, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Literally, I can do anytime AFTER 11:30...

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 9:57 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Likewise. Can we do 11 AM?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,

Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer [<mailto:josh@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer
<josh@uber.com> wrote:

Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,

Jessie

—

Jessica Singleton

Digital Director @nycgov

@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Josh Mohrer"
Subject: RE: quick call?
Date: Friday, May 29, 2015 11:23:17 AM

---

Thanks. I've had this in front of me for a while! Just wondering if you have your marked up version with suggested language (unless that is what is below..)

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 11:24 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?

I'll be calling you shortly -- so that you have it handy, here is the section that talks about app approval:

(i) Modification of FHV Dispatch Application. Any modification to the FHV Dispatch Application after the Commission has issued a License for such FHV Dispatch Application that would materially alter any of the following: (1) functionality, performance characteristics, security measures, or technical environment of the FHV Dispatch Application or related services; (2) interfaces to the Software, Hardware, network, or other FHV Dispatch Application components; (3) the manner in which the FHV Dispatch Application or related services are provided. The addition or modification of a component allowing payment through the FHV Dispatch Application constitutes a Modification. A Modification of FHV Dispatch Application does not include: (4) fixes and/or maintenance patches necessary to conform the FHV Dispatch Application or any of its components or related services to the requirements set forth in §77-20 of these Rules; (5) security patches to the extent such fixes or patches are necessary in the FHV Dispatch Application Provider's good faith judgment to maintain the continuity of the FHV Dispatch Application or related services or to correct an event or occurrence that would, if uncorrected, substantially prevent, hinder or delay proper operation of the FHV Dispatch Application or related services; and (6) modifications to the user interfaces that do not materially alter the FHV Dispatch Application's functionality or the manner in which FHV Dispatch Application services are provided.

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 10:36 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Great. Im at [REDACTED]

From: Josh Mohrer mailto:[josh@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 10:17 AM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Singleton, Jessica
Subject: Re: quick call?

I can do 1130

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 10:13 AM, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:
Literally, I can do anytime AFTER 11:30...

On Fri, May 29, 2015 at 9:57 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Likewise. Can we do 11 AM?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Friday, May 29, 2015 9:57 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer
Subject: Re: quick call?

- Ed to BCC

Jessie, to keep our conversation moving forward as you try to set-up a meeting between our two sides on Monday, I would love for you and Josh to chat today about the tech review issue. I would join too. My schedule is wide open, so I will work around both of your schedules.

Michael

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 9:01 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep. 2:30 or later but let me get a more specific answer from a few colleagues. Assuming afternoon works?

On May 28, 2015, at 20:41, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:

Michael and I compared schedules earlier and Monday would be best. Is that possible for you?

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Great to talk to you, Michael. Let's have you all to City Hall next week. Any days in particular good / bad?

In meantime, really would like to clarify the misunderstanding around the modifications... feel free to give me a ring tonight/tomorrow to check in about the question we discussed on the phone today.

Eager to have you here and appreciate your time today.

Thanks all,
Jessie

---

From: Singleton, Jessica
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 4:19 PM
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

Just left you a vm.

On May 28, 2015, at 15:48, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Look forward to speaking with you Jessie...

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 3:43 PM, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hi Jessie,

The hearing went very long, sorry for the delay in getting back to you. Michael Allegretti from our team gave you a call on both numbers but got voicemail - you can reach him back directly at [REDACTED]

J

On Thu, May 28, 2015 at 10:21 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Yep, what times work for you? [REDACTED] or [REDACTED].

From: Josh Mohrer [<mailto:josh@uber.com>]
Sent: Thursday, May 28, 2015 10:20 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Edward Casabian
Subject: Re: quick call?

with correct email address this time.

On Thursday, May 28, 2015, Josh Mohrer <josh@uber.com> wrote:
Hey Jessie,

What's your number, I can give you a call in the next couple of hours.

Josh

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov>
Date: Thursday, May 28, 2015
Subject: quick call?
To: "ed@uber.com" <ed@uber.com>

Hi Ed – Am sure you're busy this morning but wondering if you have time for a quick call?

Let me know!

Thanks,
Jessie

---

Jessica Singleton
Digital Director @nycgov
@jessay286

--

Edward Casabian

Senior Marketing Manager, New York

e: ed@uber.com | p: 617 697 8586 w: www.uber.com/nyc

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

--

Josh Mohrer | Uber NYC

■

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27:18 PM

---

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Michael Allegretti"; Williams, Dominic
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: RE: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 5:15:45 PM

---

Hi Michael, Josh, Krishna --

Thanks for making the time yesterday. Very helpful conversation.

More soon. Feel free to ping in the meantime: [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27 PM
To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Thank You + Next Steps

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Re: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Monday, June 08, 2015 5:31:36 PM

---

Jessie/Dom - hope you are both well. Wanted to touch base going into this week and see if you had any new details to pass along. We are eager to see a draft of the new proposed rules well in advance of June 22, and per our discussion, are hopeful that you can help ensure we get that opportunity. Many thanks! Michael

On Tue, Jun 2, 2015 at 5:15 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Michael, Josh, Krishna --

Thanks for making the time yesterday. Very helpful conversation.

More soon. Feel free to ping in the meantime: [REDACTED], or [REDACTED]

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27 PM
To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Thank You + Next Steps

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: Michael Allegretti
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Re: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Wednesday, June 10, 2015 9:45:06 AM

---

Thanks for checking in. I'll get back to you directly about this soon. My understanding is that you all are in touch with Commissioner Joshi, also.

Thanks guys,
Jessie

On Jun 8, 2015, at 17:31, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Jessie/Dom - hope you are both well. Wanted to touch base going into this week and see if you had any new details to pass along. We are eager to see a draft of the new proposed rules well in advance of June 22, and per our discussion, are hopeful that you can help ensure we get that opportunity. Many thanks! Michael

On Tue, Jun 2, 2015 at 5:15 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Michael, Josh, Krishna --

Thanks for making the time yesterday. Very helpful conversation.

More soon. Feel free to ping in the meantime:  or

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27 PM
To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Thank You + Next Steps

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Re: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Wednesday, June 10, 2015 10:53:34 AM

---

Many thanks Jessie, and yes, I am also in regular contact with Meera as well. Am just trying to keep both lines of communication open and focused as we move into the final stages of this process. Appreciate anything you can do. My best, Michael

On Wed, Jun 10, 2015 at 9:45 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks for checking in. I'll get back to you directly about this soon. My understanding is that you all are in touch with Commissioner Joshi, also.

Thanks guys,
Jessie

On Jun 8, 2015, at 17:31, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Jessie/Dom - hope you are both well. Wanted to touch base going into this week and see if you had any new details to pass along. We are eager to see a draft of the new proposed rules well in advance of June 22, and per our discussion, are hopeful that you can help ensure we get that opportunity. Many thanks! Michael

On Tue, Jun 2, 2015 at 5:15 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Michael, Josh, Krishna --

Thanks for making the time yesterday. Very helpful conversation.

More soon. Feel free to ping in the meantime: [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27 PM
To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Thank You + Next Steps

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--
michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--
michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Michael Allegretti"
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: RE: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Thursday, June 11, 2015 3:54:10 PM

---

Hi all -- wondering if you have a few minutes to check in this afternoon?

Thanks!
Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Wednesday, June 10, 2015 10:53 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Re: Thank You + Next Steps

Many thanks Jessie, and yes, I am also in regular contact with Meera as well. Am just trying to keep both lines of communication open and focused as we move into the final stages of this process. Appreciate anything you can do. My best, Michael

On Wed, Jun 10, 2015 at 9:45 AM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Thanks for checking in. I'll get back to you directly about this soon. My understanding is that you all are in touch with Commissioner Joshi, also.

Thanks guys,
Jessie

On Jun 8, 2015, at 17:31, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Jessie/Dom - hope you are both well. Wanted to touch base going into this week and see if you had any new details to pass along. We are eager to see a draft of the new proposed rules well in advance of June 22, and per our discussion, are hopeful that you can help ensure we get that opportunity. Many thanks! Michael

On Tue, Jun 2, 2015 at 5:15 PM, Singleton, Jessica
<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Hi Michael, Josh, Krishna --

Thanks for making the time yesterday. Very helpful conversation.

More soon. Feel free to ping in the meantime: [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27 PM

To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Thank You + Next Steps

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Re: Thank You + Next Steps
Date: Thursday, June 11, 2015 6:11:32 PM

---

Good to speak with you Jessie. Will be back in touch soon regarding deeper collaboration. Many thanks! Michael

On Jun 11, 2015, at 3:54 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi all -- wondering if you have a few minutes to check in this afternoon?

Thanks!

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti [<mailto:allegretti@uber.com>]
Sent: Wednesday, June 10, 2015 10:53 AM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Williams, Dominic; Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi
Subject: Re: Thank You + Next Steps

Many thanks Jessie, and yes, I am also in regular contact with Meera as well. Am just trying to keep both lines of communication open and focused as we move into the final stages of this process. Appreciate anything you can do. My best, Michael

On Wed, Jun 10, 2015 at 9:45 AM, Singleton, Jessica

<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks for checking in. I'll get back to you directly about this soon. My understanding is that you all are in touch with Commissioner Joshi, also.

Thanks guys,
Jessie

On Jun 8, 2015, at 17:31, Michael Allegretti <allegretti@uber.com> wrote:

Jessie/Dom - hope you are both well. Wanted to touch base going into this week and see if you had any new details to pass along. We are eager to see a draft of the new proposed rules well in advance of June 22, and per our discussion, are hopeful that you can help ensure we get that opportunity. Many thanks! Michael

On Tue, Jun 2, 2015 at 5:15 PM, Singleton, Jessica

<JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Hi Michael, Josh, Krishna --

Thanks for making the time yesterday. Very helpful conversation.

More soon. Feel free to ping in the meantime: [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]

Jessie

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]

Sent: Tuesday, June 02, 2015 3:27 PM

To: Williams, Dominic; Singleton, Jessica

Cc: Josh Mohrer; Krishna Juvvadi

Subject: Thank You + Next Steps

Dom/Jessie,

Happy we sat down yesterday and I appreciate your willingness to help guide this process to the right conclusion.

As discussed, we look forward to seeing draft language well in advance of June 18 and will wait to hear from you or TLC with such language.

Also, I trust we underscored why review of our user interface is akin to review of our software. The notion that the front end and back end are somehow different just doesn't hold-up. Absent the TLC approving scripts for livery shops, it creates a double standard, but perhaps more importantly, it creates a startling precedent in the eyes of the tech community. Enforce the rules through bases.

Finally, we are watching the various lawsuits brought by taxi, black car shops, and now credit unions against the city and want you to know that we are here to assist from behind the scenes, however might be helpful, without waiving privilege for either side. We are in touch with the TLC on this matter, but I wanted to flag for you as well.

I am confident that we can start to move forward on a more sound and collaborative footing.

My best,

Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Call w/ Uber
Date: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 3:29:58 PM

---

Jessie, per our conversation, Matt and I are available to chat with TLC an CH press. We will both make ourselves available this afternoon as suits their schedules. But in the meantime, anything you can to expedite us seeing these things will help inform our ability to craft a statement. Thanks! Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Re: Call w/ Uber
Date: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 4:36:24 PM

---

Ok.

On Tue, Jun 16, 2015 at 4:33 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks guys. I'll get back to you soon with a few times for the call.

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 3:30 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Call w/ Uber

Jessie, per our conversation, Matt and I are available to chat with TLC an CH press. We will both make ourselves available this afternoon as suits their schedules. But in the meantime, anything you can to to expedite us seeing these things will help inform our ability to craft a statement. Thanks! Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Singleton, Jessica
To: "Michael Allegretti"
Cc: Matthew Wing; Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: RE: Call w/ Uber
Date: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 5:26:00 PM

---

How about 5:45?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 4:36 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Re: Call w/ Uber

Ok.

On Tue, Jun 16, 2015 at 4:33 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:
Thanks guys. I'll get back to you soon with a few times for the call.

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 3:30 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Call w/ Uber

Jessie, per our conversation, Matt and I are available to chat with TLC an CH press. We will both make ourselves available this afternoon as suits their schedules. But in the meantime, anything you can do to expedite us seeing these things will help inform our ability to craft a statement. Thanks! Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Matthew Wing
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Michael Allegretti; Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: Re: Call w/ Uber
Date: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 5:33:02 PM

---

That works for us. Do you need a call in number?

On Tue, Jun 16, 2015 at 5:25 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

How about 5:45?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 4:36 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Re: Call w/ Uber

Ok.

On Tue, Jun 16, 2015 at 4:33 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks guys. I'll get back to you soon with a few times for the call.

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 3:30 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Call w/ Uber

Jessie, per our conversation, Matt and I are available to chat with TLC an CH press. We will both make ourselves available this afternoon as suits their schedules. But in the meantime, anything you can to expedite us seeing these things will help inform our ability to craft a statement. Thanks! Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Michael Allegretti
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing; Norvell, Wiley; Allan J. Fromberg
Subject: Re: Call w/ Uber
Date: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 5:34:06 PM

---

We can do it. Let's use this number: [REDACTED] (PIN [REDACTED])

On Tue, Jun 16, 2015 at 5:25 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

How about 5:45?

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 4:36 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Re: Call w/ Uber

Ok.

On Tue, Jun 16, 2015 at 4:33 PM, Singleton, Jessica <JSingleton@cityhall.nyc.gov> wrote:

Thanks guys. I'll get back to you soon with a few times for the call.

From: Michael Allegretti mailto:[allegretti@uber.com]
Sent: Tuesday, June 16, 2015 3:30 PM
To: Singleton, Jessica
Cc: Matthew Wing
Subject: Call w/ Uber

Jessie, per our conversation, Matt and I are available to chat with TLC an CH press. We will both make ourselves available this afternoon as suits their schedules. But in the meantime, anything you can to expedite us seeing these things will help inform our ability to craft a statement. Thanks! Michael

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

--

michael allegretti | public policy @ uber technologies | c: 917.270.5167 | o: 646.927.0574 | allegretti@uber.com

From: Matthew Wing
To: Norvell, Wiley; Singleton, Jessica; Allan J. Fromberg
Cc: Michael Allegretti
Subject: Uber statement on TLC rules - confidential.
Date: Wednesday, June 17, 2015 4:17:20 PM

---

Hey folks,

We have had some press reachout on the rules being posted so we plan to provide the following statement in the next 30 minutes to those who asked and then blast wide a bit later. Please do not provide this to media until after we have sent it ourselves - I will loop back with this group when that has happened.

Any concerns/thoughts etc feel free to let me know or if you want to discuss you can reach me at [REDACTED]

Thanks again for everything on this and we look forward to continuing to work together.
Matt

